Miss Burt got into the boat with Mr. Reiter for a lark and handled the stern oars in a manner that showed she wasn't "green." The waves were coming very high and most of them breaking, and it was no easy task to handle the small boat. Both occupants found that it required their entire attention to keep it from capsizing. They had been out but a short time, when a young lad about 15 years old, whose name could not be ascertained, but who wore a Ross suit and was said to be an excursionist, was carried beyond the bar by the strong current and after a short struggle threw up his hands in despair.

He sank twice and the crowds watching him thought he must perish before aid could reach him, but the boat occupants had seen his distress and with difficulty rowed toward him. Reiter sprang from his seat and seizing the large life preserver threw it to the drowning boy.

Just here is where Miss Burt's nerve, strength and skill came in and made the rescue possible. With the immense waves beating against the boat and threatening immediate disaster, she grasped the oars firmly and with amazing coolness kept the light craft steady. It was hard work and her arms and shoulders ached, but she could not rest until Reiter had pulled the exhausted lad safely into the boat. Then they rowed ashore, while the crowds cheered the brave rescue.

There were many other rescues at the Lillagore grounds, especially in the morning, when the tide was high, and Kirk and Bosey Reiter were kept on the jump constantly. One woman who was brought ashore by Kirk after a hard struggle soon ventured in again and a second time was brought back to safety. Then she was satisfied to go to her bathhouse and dress.

ACCUSED OF PERJURY IN FAIR CASE.

Claimed That Louis Mausanne and His Wife Testified Falsely.

Louis Mausanne, one of the witnesses in the Fair will case, and Mme. Mausanne, his wife, have been accused of perjury by the Juge d'Instruction, who has charge of the proceedings. Mausanne is one of the Frenchmen who came to this country to testify that he witnessed the automobile accident that resulted in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Fair, and that Mr. Fair died before his wife. When he returned to Paris he was arrested on the charge of giving false testimony, and the matter has made a considerable stir, it being charged that his prosecution was due to the influence of wealthy persons who were interested in proving that Mrs. Fair died first.

Mrs. Fair, it will be remembered, was the daughter of Mrs. Hannah Nelson, of New Market.

—The secret of the low prices that prevail at Neuman Brothers is that they receive their supplies in large quantities. For instance, today they received 35 baskets of Maryland melons, five crates of genuine Colorado Rockyford melons, 25 baskets of fancy Delaware peaches and 25 baskets of fancy Jersey peaches.

IMPROMPTU CHICKEN HUNT

EXCITING SPORT THIS MORNING AT NORTH AVENUE STATION.

Fowls Escaped From Crate and Made Lots of Trouble Before They Were Captured.

An exciting chicken hunt was the diversion offered those at the North Avenue Station this morning. In lifting a crate of live fowl to the baggage truck, a board became loose and before it could be replaced, eight of the ten chickens within had made their escape and were off down the track at a good clip. Immediately a chase was organized by the baggage men, cabbies and large corps of loafers and small boys invariably on hand and the pursuit continued for the next half hour.

Plenty of sport was furnished by the agility of the fowls when cornered. It was particularly amusing to see the group of small boys flush up a bird and essay to drive it into the hands of the huntsman. The frightened hen would rush down the platform, wildly squaking amid the shouts and missiles of the pursuers. By clever dodging it would evade the line of men stretched across the end and would escape them entirely, leaving only a bunch of feathers in the hand of the would be captor. The situation became maddening after a time and the hunters' ranks so reinforced at the end that the last bird to be caught was finally cornered, triumphantly grabbed by the feet and brought back to the crate amid the cheers of those assembled.

Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION.

Frederick Andrews Leader of Assembly at Lake George—Helpful Motto Chosen.

The report from the Silver Bay Convention, Young Men's Christian Association, held at Lake George from July 31 to August 9, indicates that it was one of the most successful yet held. Frederick H. Andrews, of Central avenue, was chairman of the convention and presided over the various sessions.

A unique and helpful motto for the convention was chosen by Mr. Andrews and widely distributed. This is the motto:

"May every soul that touches mine,
Be it the slightest contact, get therefrom some good—
Some little grace, one kindly thought,
One aspiration yet unfelt, one bit of courage for the darkening sky,
One gleam of faith to brave the thickening fills of life,
One glimpse of brighter skies beyond the gathering mists,
To make this life worth while, and heaven a surer heritage!"

Absorption by L. V. R. R.

Once more the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, under the name of Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, of New Jersey, has consolidated six subsidiary roads of New Jersey, with a capital stock of $16,454,000 in $100 shares. The companies absorbed are Lehigh Valley Terminal Railway, 23 miles; Greenville and Hudson Railway, 2½ miles; Middlesex Railway, 13 miles; Perth Amboy and Raritan Railway, 6 miles; Pittston Branch Railway, 4 miles; Easton and Amboy Railway, 69 miles.

Death of a Little Child.

Elizabeth Hensell, two years and eight months old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hensell, of 1424 West Front street, died this morning after at short illness with diphtheria. The family moved here from Philadelphia, two weeks ago, the husband being employed as a machinist in one of the local shops. The remains will be taken to Philadelphia tomorrow for interment.

Popular Dunellen Man Died.

John J. Hartnett, of Grove street, Dunellen, died yesterday at his home after a two weeks illness. He was twenty-seven years of age and exceedingly popular among his large circle of friends. The funeral will be Monday morning from St. John's R. C. Church, of Dunellen.

NEARLY GORED BY A BULL

CHARLES MANN AND HIS FAMILY HAD AN EXCITING EXPERIENCE.

Were Gathering Berries—Maddened Animal Missed Them by a Few Seconds Only.

Charles Mann, a colored barber, of Watchung avenue, near East Fifth street, yesterday, while gathering blackberries with his family near Dog Tavern, had an exciting experience with a maddened bull. Had it not been for his presence of mind, he, with his wife and children, might have been gored to death.

Father and mother, accompanied by their two children, climbed over a low fence and were gathering some of the fruit which grows in large quantities in the fields in that locality. Suddenly their attention was drawn to a large bull which was slowly approaching with head lowered, pawing the earth and emitting short, angry bellows.

Little attention was paid to the animal until he made a sudden dash for the quartette who fled for their lives. A low stone fence was near by and the father, catching up the youngest child, carried it to the fence and then hurried back for the second. The mother had taken the third and all climbed over a few seconds before the bull came rushing up. One of the children had a red hat on which aroused the animal's fury.

The escape was narrow, and Mrs. Mann is still suffering from the shock of her experience.

DANCED ON DIAMOND.

St. Mary's Baseball Club Gave the Second of Their Summer Night's Carnivals Last Evening.

Dancing on a baseball diamond is something of a novelty but over four hundred people enjoyed the waltz and two step on the large platform erected on St. Mary's baseball field on West Fourth street last evening. It was the second of the mid-summer night's carnivals held at the grounds by the St. Mary's nine and was even more successful than the first. The committee in charge consisted of Henry Wierenga, chairman; James Kane, William Connolly, R. J. Birmingham, John Doyle and John P. Owens. Representatives of baseball nines from Westfield, Scotch Plains, Dunellen, Bound Brook and New Brunswick were present. The music was provided by Eugene O'Rielly.

FIRST DEATH AT CAMP.

Little Child of Mr. and Mrs. John Howell Expires at King's Daughters Home—Sick a Long Time.

The first death to occur this year at the King's Daughters' Baby Camp on the mountain was that of George Howell, a five-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Howell, of 476 West Front street. The little fellow had been sick for some time and was taken to the camp as a last resort. He was attended by Dr. W. Kempton Browning. Death came on the day the child was five months old. The funeral will be held from the parents' home tomorrow at 2 o'clock.

Farmers at Riverside Park.

The farmers of Somerset and Middlesex Counties gathered at Riverside Park yesterday on their annual outing held under the Middlesex County Board of Freeholders. Fully three thousand were out and there were addresses, athletic games and vaudeville for all.

Death of Harlin Child.

Kenneth Harlin, aged two months and twenty-four days, son of Samuel and Martha Harlin, of 309 West Second street, died this morning. The interment will be Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Hillside Cemetery.

Adjourned Case.

The case of Charles Barry, who was arrested Wednesday for a violation of the cabmen's ordinance, has been postponed until Monday, Aug. 31, at the petition of S. S. Swackamer, his attorney.

Scaffolding Gave Way.

Several men at work on the ceiling of the new Lincoln building, on Park avenue, were shaken up this noon by the fall of the scaffolding on which they were standing. Nobody was injured.

Patent to Plainfielder.

In the list of patents granted to Plainfielders during the month past is one to W. Hubart, of this city. His patent is for a combined fire escape and ladder.

John V. Beekman, of West Eighth street, has returned home from Asbury Park.

LITTLE COLORED GIRL PLAYED WITH FIRE

Esther Martin, of Cottage Place, Fell Into Flames and Narrowly Escaped Death.

SAVED BY JNO. VENABLE

WAS TRYING TO BUILD A BON-FIRE WITH HER COMPANIONS.

Seriously Burned About the Face and Body—Was Only Three Years Old—Venable Rolled Her in Dust and Extinguished the Flames.

Esther Martin, colored, three years old, a step daughter of Mrs. William Hooper, of Cottage place, was frightfully burned about the body, head, face and arms, yesterday noon, by falling into a bon fire in the street in front of her home. Her life was saved by John Venable, a coachman, who picked the child out of the blazing pile of sticks and extinguished the flames with his own hands.

Mrs. Hooper was at Asbury Park attending her brother and son who are ill there. In her absence Esther, in company with Leila Hopper, Arthur Martin and several other little children started a fire in the gutter. When the blaze began to die out the youngsters searched for more small sticks to keep it alive. Little Esther secured a stick and was running to place it on the fire when her dress caught. In her fright, she started to run but stumbled and fell directly into the fire. In an instant the flames had enveloped her body and her screams could be heard almost a block away.

Venable was visiting his home in the neighborhood and saw the child lying in the fire and the other children scampering away, screaming loudly for help. It was but an instant before he was at the child's side and was rolling her in the dust. He tore the flaming clothes from her and then carried her, in a semi-conscious condition, to her home near Richmond street.

Dr. Jenkins was called in and upon examination found that the little girl was frightfully injured about the abdomen and limbs. Her chest, neck and face were blistered and her arms were terribly burned. This morning it was reported that her condition was much improved although she is not out of danger.

LOOK FOR THE BAND.

New York Cigar Man Arrested for Selling Inferior Goods.

The arrest of Henry Silberstone, a cigar dealer at No. 283 Bowery, charged with having refilled cigar boxes, marked the beginning of a war that will be waged by the United States Internal Revenue agents against dealers all over the city who have been engaged in similar practices. For some months past a large cigar concern has been greatly annoyed by complaints that inferior cigars were being sold under its label, and notified the revenue agents.

Silberstone is alleged to have bought several boxes of "Cremo" cigars, and after selling the genuine article at the regular price (five cents), refilled the boxes with a cheaper article, which he sold at eight for 25 cents, explaining to his customers that the only difference in the cigars was in the matter of the bands.

The cheap cigar was sold without a label, while the real "Cremos" have bands about them. In this manner Silberstone is alleged to have made a profit of considerably more than 100 per cent. He was arraigned before Commissioner Shields and held for examination before the Federal Grand Jury.

A cigar manufacturer interested in the case, said:

"Substitution of cigars or refilling of boxes has been going on for some time. We have spent thousands of dollars advertising one particular brand of cigars, and it is the name of this cigar that has been illegally used.

"The bands were placed upon our goods to protect our customers against just such a fraud. The Federal authorities expect a number more of arrests shortly. There are Federal and State penalties."—From N. Y. American.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

The average person would not believe it possible for anyone residing in Plainfield to be wholly ignorant of the existence of the King's Daughters' baby camp on the mountain, yet such was the fact recently and the person ignorant was no less an individual than the superintendent of a large Sunday-school. At a session of his school the "super" was making a strong appeal for a charity of a similar nature to the Netherwood home. After the session a friend spoke to the superintendent reminding him of the baby camp on the mountain conducted by the King's Daughters. The Sunday-school worker expressed great surprise and said that he had never heard of it. A good laugh followed at the expense of the superintendent who promised to investigate. He ought to subscribe to The Daily Press.

The joys of automobiling were conclusively exhibited to a large crowd of West Front street pedestrians for nearly three hours yesterday afternoon. A large electric automobile had serious internal complications while cruising through town and stopped almost in front of the Babcock building. It was confined to the roadbed for the remainder of the afternoon.

There was a crew of two, a man and a woman, the man travelling in the capacity of machinist and the woman as mechanical engineer. They presented an amusing spectacle. The woman perched on the seat reading directions from the Automobile Blue Book of repairs, and the man, hot and coatless, under, over, in front, behind and at the side of the machine like a restless spirit, tightening a bolt here, oiling there, and tapping generally all over, occasionally encouraged from the seat by a "now try it" or "that's the seat of the trouble" and finally at short intervals "the book says here"—and a long extract thick with technical terms.

Pedestrians offered advice too, suggesting the certain remedy for the difficulty and other autos circled about, tooting their horns and revelling in the misfortune of their fellow machine. But such things will end, and the "seat of the trouble" was finally found. The crowd melted away and the big machine trekked on again along the pike.

According to Astrologer Gustave Meyer, of Hoboken, today will be a most remarkable and eventful one for our country and Government. It is today that he prophesies injury to President Roosevelt and has warned him to guard against burns and scalds and accidents to his limbs. He also reads in the stars great danger to our navy from foreign powers. Believers in these prophesies translate such navy troubles as foretelling the disaster to the battleship Massachusetts and the trouble between the Canadian gunboat and the American fishing smack on Lake Erie.

In his letter of prophesies for the month, Professor Meyer writes in part as follows:

"Strikes and riots will be much in evidence during the month and I fear that our soldiers will be called out to surpress disorder. We shall hear of some scandal or outrage committed against the fair sex and considerable trouble will be seen among the press and clergy. Great disorder and trouble in mines is forecasted and some great danger threatens theatres, hotels or summer resorts. Great panics will occur in the speculative world and Wall street will experience some of the greatest slumps in history, many a prominent firm going to the wall. I also fear that some great calamity will occur on the ocean or that some fine vessel will sink to the bottom.

"The United States will also experience some very destructive storms, either tornadoes or cyclones. The places most seriously effected will be in the Eastern and Western States and New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C.

"During August 14, 21, 22 and 23 some great calamity is indicated to our children and several Wall street firms are destined to fail. Uncle Sam must guard against a great revenue trouble.

"On the 14th it will be found highly advisable for our navy department to warn naval commanders to guard vessels with the greatest care, otherwise great calamities are indicated. Uncle Sam should not place too much trust in his foreign friends.

"I fear that President Roosevelt will meet with some accident to his lower extremities on the 14th and he must guard against burns and scalds."

From these stellar readings it will be seen that much of this prophesy may refer to events which have already happened and which are known to be imminent.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

The New York Painting and Decorating Company in Park avenue is showing some very fine wall-papers of the latest design, making a selection easy. The company also contracts to hang the paper. First-class painting is a specialty.

If you have had any trouble whatever with your milk supply, it will be to your advantage to let Wm. Lindsay & Sons, of Mountain avenue, serve you. They guarantee the milk and cream sold by them to be absolutely pure.

Mary had a little lamb, it made the children laugh;
Mary bought a camera to take a photograph.
She took a picture of the lamb?
And thought it quite a wrinkle
Because she bought the Kodak from F. W. Van Winkle.

Mary had a little fan, whose blades went circling round.
It made her room the coolest that ever she had found.
She went not to the mountains
Nor sought the sea beach slope
Because she bought the fan, you see, of William Henry Pope.

Now Mary was a thoughtful girl, of course she did things right;
She wanted to secure a dress that would be nice and light.
She stopped in stores on every hand.
And then she carried home,
In height of glee and happiness, a dress she bought of Boehm.

Jerry Foss, of Park avenue, has large consignments of fish every morning. He selects his own goods right in the market and long experience has trained him how to choose the best. Soft shell and shedder crabs are in season now and can be secured fresh from the grounds every day at the store. Weak fish, bluefish and porgies are several cents cheaper than elsewhere.

At J. W. VanSickle's North avenue meat market, it is always possible to find a great variety of fresh and salt meats. He is in the front rank of meat sellers in this city and always has on hand good stock of fresh, red, juicy meats—the choicest cuts. All kinds of poultry and game in season. The store is headquarters for Philadelphia scrapple of superior quality, fresh daily.

Bathing and tubbing this warm summer weather is deprived of half its pleasure and value without the use of pure soap. C. M. Nagle's Violet Ammonia soap and his Demulcent Cream of Witch Hazel soap increase the health value of baths a hundred per cent. These soaps are made especially for Nagle from the purest materials and are of great value in beautifying the skin and keeping it smooth and soft.

Eat All You Want.

Persons troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia can eat all they want if they will take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. This remedy prepares the stomach for the reception, retention, digestion and assimilation of all of the wholesome food that may be eaten, and enables the digestive organs to transform the same into the kind of blood that gives health and strength. Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

The New Jersey Central will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk on Sunday, Aug. 16, 1903. Round trip, $1.50; child, 75c., from Plainfield at 9:22 a. m. Mauch Chunk is one of the most charming mountain resorts in this section. The trip over the gravity railroad to Summit and Mt. Pisgah is one of scenic grandeur and a trip that will never be forgotten. After the trip over the Switchback you should go to Glen Onoko where you will find beautiful little cascades, caverns and like attractions. 8 11 td c

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by L. PER CENT OF MOB VIOLENCE SMALL Early Conditions Often Imbitter Men Against Employers—Lawlessness of a Few Should Not Condemn All.

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Thomas Kidd opened the discussion at the assembly here on "The Labor Unions and the Mob Spirit." He asserted the leaders in labor riots were usually recent converts to unionism flushed with the possession of power.

One explanation of riots advanced by him was that thousands of workingmen have been imbittered by conditions of their childhood and experiences in later life with the company store, and the other evidences of greed and power arrayed against them have made them more desperate.

Mr. Kidd insisted, however, that the percentage of riot in labor troubles was very small, saying that records of 25,000 strikes in seven years show less than 1 per cent attended by riots.

The employment of detectives and agents who excite the men to violence, said Mr. Kidd, places much responsibility upon certain employers. Organized labor, said he, was not responsible for the employment of private police during the anthracite strike, for the white capping of miners in Colorado, nor for the riots at Danville and Evansville.

The lawlessness of the few, he insisted, should not obscure the good citizenship of the majority of trade unionists. To "properly conduct" unions to please the employers would make them valueless to the workmen.

The employer claims the right to conduct his own business, and the union insists upon the right to pass judgment upon conditions under which the work is done.

The bribe taking unionist is no more guilty than the bribe taking employer. The feeling between union and nonunion men was not surprising to him in view of the great benefits secured by the sacrifices of the few.

CHILEAN MINISTRY RESIGNS.

Owing, It Is Said, to the Popular Feeling Against Riesco.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 14.—Owing to a political crisis the ministry has resigned. Important political changes are expected. The Moderate Liberals will probably join the Liberal alliance, leaving the Balmacedists and Conservatives to form a new ministry.

The cabinet which has just resigned was formed April 7, headed by Rafael Sotomayor as minister of foreign affairs. In addition to the complications with her neighbors Chile has had a great deal of trouble recently with extensive strikes, and when President Riesco opened the new congress June 1 the dispatches reported that his message was coldly received by the public owing to the numerous promises made by him which had not been redeemed.

Veterans Filling San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Several hundred members of the G. A. R. have been added to the advance guard already in the city awaiting the opening next Monday of the thirty-seventh national encampment. The majority of these arrivals recorded their names at the bureau of registration and information. The lists show that they came from twenty-eight states and territories. Accompanying them were probably three times as many tourists, relatives of the Grand Army men and members of allied orders, who are taking advantage of the low excursion rates to visit the Golden State.

Negro Burglar Held In Dedham Jail.

QUINCY, Mass., Aug. 14.—Sam Scott, the negro charged with breaking and entering the house of Charles W. Clifford and murderously assaulting Clifford and his brother-in-law, George Heal, was held for the grand jury and remanded to Dedham jail. Scott, the police say, has admitted his guilt. Both Heal and Clifford were seriously injured by the negro, whom they had interrupted in robbing the house. Both were cut in many places. Heal has been in a dangerous condition for some days.

Alleged Fake Pension Examiner.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14.—Jervis Maxwell Jewell was held for the federal grand jury by United States Commissioner Rogers on the charge of falsely representing himself as a pension examiner. Witnesses testified as to Jewell's operations, which are said to have extended over Maryland, Virginia, New Jersey and Delaware.

Fatal Shooting by Lunatic.

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 14.—At Winfield, Kan., a man with a revolver and a shotgun fired both into the crowd attending a band concert and killed three people outright and wounded eight or ten others. He then killed himself. He is supposed to have been demented.

Mistake Has Fatal End.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 14.—Miss Maud Espy is dead at the summer home of her father, Major John Espy of this city, having eaten toad-stools which she had mistaken for mushrooms. Mrs. Espy was poisoned also, but will recover.

CZAR'S NEW VICEROY

Admiral Alexieff's New Honor a Token of Peace.

RESPONSIBLE ONLY TO THE EMPEROR

M. de Witte's Policy In Russian Cabinet Has Triumphed Over That of the Warlike Kuropatkin's Imperial Ideas.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 14.—A new viceroyalty, comprising the Amur district and Kwangtung province (created August, 1899), has been established. Heretofore the Amur district has been controlled by a governor general.

A ukase signed by the czar and now promulgated appoints Vice Admiral Alexieff, aid-de-camp general to the czar, as viceroy of this far eastern territory. He will be vested with supreme authority in all the branches of the civil administration, the direction of which will no longer be in the hands of the ministries.

The appointment of Vice Admiral Alexieff as viceroy of the Amur district and Kwangtung province is most important, as it indicates the triumph of M. de Witte, the Russian finance minister, and the policy of peace over General Kuropatkin, the minister of war, and that it is a significant step toward the settlement of the existing differences both with China and Japan. There has existed for years a sharp division in the cabinet over the far eastern policy, and General Kuropatkin and a majority of the ministers insisted that the actual annexation of Manchuria should be secured immediately at any cost of money or credit. On the other hand, M. de Witte steadily opposed taking any step to precipitate hostilities between Russia and any other power in the east. He is confident that time only is needed to bring about all that Russia desires in Manchuria, as the chancellor of the exchequer is anxious to secure the benefits of annexation at the least possible cost. So sharp was the dissension between the two parties that when General Kuropatkin visited the far east he avowed his intention not to set foot in Manchuria, declaring that it was De Witte's affair and not his.

M. de Witte has triumphed not only by securing the selection of Vice Admiral Alexieff, who is the emperor's personal friend, but by managing to exclude the action of the cabinet in Manchurian matters in the future by making the viceroy responsible solely to the czar himself. Kuropatkin's forward policy will therefore be relaxed if not abandoned, and M. de Witte will have a free hand in dealing with the Manchurian question.

Vesuvius' Eruptions Cause Panic.

ROME, Aug. 14.—Vesuvius is again causing intense alarm in the surrounding region, the eruptions of the volcano being very heavy. This alarming activity which followed the shocks of earthquake is augmenting. The detonations are very loud and almost continuous, while from a fresh opening at the base of the principal crater two streams of lava are issuing, which within a few hours covered a wide tract of ground. One stream has covered ground already arid from previous eruptions, but the other is going swiftly toward the village of Ottajano, the direction taken by the famous eruption of 1872. The whole district around the volcano is shaken by frequent earth shocks, and a perfect panic prevails, the population crowding the churches to pray or gathering in open spaces for safety. Experts, however, affirm that so far there is no reason to fear a serious disaster.

Indians Will Move to Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—The commissioner of Indian affairs has received a telegram from Indian School Superintendent Thackeray, located at the Shawnee Indian agency in Oklahoma, notifying him that a large number of the Kickapoo Indians and some of the Shawnees are preparing to remove to Mexico within the next few days and asking for instructions. He adds that to hold them probably would require the assistance of troops and also volunteers the statement that the proposed change of base on the part of the Indians is instigated by designing white men.

Engine Crew Killed at Melrose.

TRYON CITY, N. C., Aug. 14.—A through freight train from Asheville to Spartanburg ran away on Saluda mountain, and the engine and thirteen cars were derailed near Melrose and are a total wreck. Engineer J. H. Averill and Fireman Hair were killed and are under the wreckage. Brakeman W. B. Sherrill had both legs cut off. Engineer Averill was a son of Colonel J. H. Averill of Charleston. He stayed on his engine with the fireman, doing all he could to check the speed of the train until the engine buried him.

Held For Alleged Mint Robbery.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—Robert J. Kilpatrick, an employee of the United States mint here, was held in $2,500 bail by United States Commissioner Craig charged with the theft of $858 from the mint. The evidence against Kilpatrick is purely circumstantial. He emphatically denied his guilt.

Admiral Cervera Resigns.

MADRID, Aug. 14.—Vice Admiral Cervera, who surrendered to the American fleet off Santiago, Cuba, has resigned the post of chief of staff of the navy, to which he was appointed in December, 1902.

MINERS CALLED OUT.

Contractors For Tunnel Refuse to Discharge Nonunion Men.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Aug. 14.—Union miners working in the drainage tunnel were called out by their executive officers. The tunnel, which will drain most of the big mines of the district, would have been completed in another week at the rate of progress heretofore maintained. The strike was ordered in consequence of the refusal of Superintendent Bainbridge to employ only union men.

"We will complete that tunnel if it takes the United States army to protect the work and if it is necessary for us to put on our working clothes and do the labor ourselves," said President Samuel Bernard of the El Paso Mining company, which has the contract for building the tunnel.

It is not unlikely that rich mine owners and high salaried miners will go into the big bore to take the places of the men called out.

There are now about 4,000 miners idle in the district. The operators have announced their determination to resume operations as soon as men can be secured, preference being given to former employees. The owners characterize the action of the officers of the Western Federation of Miners in calling the strike in the absence of any grievance as "arbitrary and unjustifiable" and announce that "all men applying for work will be protected to the last degree."

PONTIFF IS BETTER.

Receives Cardinal Satolli and Foreign Representatives.

ROME, Aug. 14.—The pope has received Cardinal Satolli, who inquired regarding the appointment of a new secretary of state in succession to Cardinal Rampolla, and again suggested Vincenzo Vannutelli as the best fitted for the position. Cardinal Satolli then proposed the appointment of Father Edward Fowler, secretary to the Rev. J. J. Harty, as a domestic prelate to the pontiff, which post carries with it the title of monsignor. The pope granted the request, and a brief making the appointment was issued immediately.

Cardinal Gibbons will come to Rome to assist at the consecration on Saturday of the Rev. J. J. Harty as archbishop of Manila, which is to be performed by Cardinal Satolli in the Franciscan Church of St. Anthony. On Sunday the pope will receive the new archbishop and Father Fowler in private audience. The former will receive the pallium from Cardinal Macchi on Monday and will leave Rome the same night.

The pope received the ministers of Peru, Uruguay and Argentina, who presented their credentials and greetings from their governments on the occasion of his election.

Jett-White Case May Be a Mistrial.

CYNTHIANA, Ky., Aug. 14.—In the case of Jett and White Judge L. H. Fryer, commonwealth's attorney, made the closing argument. He said to the jurors that if they turned these men loose they might as well go home and let anarchy and assassination reign. The case then went to the jury. Later Judge Osborne directed Sheriff Leach to call the jury from the room. He asked them if they had reached their verdict. Foreman McCauley said they had not. The court then put them again in charge of the sheriff and told them that after supper they might discuss the case among themselves and then retire for the night. They are to report this morning. Judge Osborne stated that he intended keeping them over Sunday if they did not sooner render a verdict. It is the opinion of all that a mistrial will be the result.

Police Exhibit at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14.—The exposition management declares that the criminal exhibit from the police department will be the largest and most complete ever shown. A complete rogues' gallery with photographs and figures of the different types of criminals of all parts of the world will be collected and classified. There will be galleries of famous chiefs of police and detective departments and students of penology. The evolution of the policeman and his weapons from earliest history and of penal institutions, identification and measuring methods, torture and death will be illustrated.

Accused of Shanghaiing.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Aug. 14.—It is reported here that the state department at Washington has ordered an investigation to be held here of the alleged shanghaiing of two boys, Joseph F. Rucker of Atlanta and John W. Seage of Savannah. Two seamen, John Kelly and Harry Oleson, have been arrested charged with the crime. It is understood that the two boys were carried on board the steamship Kambira, which sailed for Santos, Brazil.

HELD ON FRONTIER.

Tzoncheff, President of Macedonian Committee, Arrested.

AMERICAN ATTITUDE IS CRITICISED

Insurgents Have Occupied Kliusura and Pissordere—England Looked to For Help as the Pioneer Land of Liberty.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 14.—General Tzoncheff, president of the Macedonian committee, and his friend, Colonel Jankoff, both of whom are ex-officers in the Bulgarian army, have been arrested by the Bulgarian police near the Macedonian frontier under the suspicion that they were on their way to join the revolutionists.

Ali Riza Pasha has been dismissed from his post as vali of Monastir and has been exiled to Tripoli.

The pourparlers at Yildez kiosk with M. Zinovieff, the Russian ambassador, relative to the murder of M. Rostkovski, the Russian consul at Monastir, continue. The Turks apparently desire to avoid the execution of the murderer, the gendarme named Halim, while the Russians insist that he shall be publicly executed in order to serve as a warning. The Russian embassy also considers that the indemnity of $40,000 offered to the widow is insufficient.

The insurgents have occupied Kliusura and Pissordere, and the Albanian rebels have been disastrously defeated in the Debyrsko region. At Yenije-i-Varbar 200 insurgents, helped by 600 well armed peasants, are resisting the military garrison.

The Macedonian leaders have expressed themselves as greatly disappointed with what they assert is the distinctly hostile attitude of America toward their cause as manifested in the utterances of the press. Dr. Christo Tartercieff, one of the presidents of the central international Macedonian committee, has stated that his party was convinced that American newspapers had been bought with Turkish gold.

"There seems to be no other explanation of the tone of their articles," said he. "They are not only unsympathetic toward the movement, but decidedly inimical to it. It is impossible that such an attitude could arise from ignorance of the true state of affairs in a country so intelligent as America, and it is also difficult to believe that the impression created by the Miss Stone affair could have so prejudiced the American press.

"Real, practical intervention by the powers only can stop the fighting of the insurgents. Failing in such, the campaign will be prosecuted to the bitter end. The band now fighting in the vilayet of Monastir consists of 9,000 to 10,000 men, mostly young and enthusiastic and trained in the use of arms. Their number could be quadrupled were it not that the difficulty of feeding such an army renders its increase inadvisable.

"The Turkish troops are badly clothed and demoralized. They have repeatedly refused to march against the insurgents, who are well supplied with arms and ammunition, chiefly purchased from the Turkish soldiers, who sold their guns for cash almost within sight of the barracks of Monastir. By the plentiful employment of money insurgent bands have been enabled to smuggle any quantity of guns across the frontier, and the highest Turkish officials have readily accepted insurgent gold.

"The committee lives in daily hope that the powers will recognize the justice of their cause and intervene. The friends of the cause look chiefly to England as the pioneer land of liberty to assist them."

The Macedonians in Greece have petitioned Premier Ralli for permission to cross the frontier with arms in order to join their brethren in Macedonia. M. Ralli refused to grant the permission and counseled them to remain quiet.

Reports from various districts of Macedonia say that the outbreak is steadily progressing and is now extending northward from Monastir and also toward Salonika. Numbers of new adherents are daily joining the insurgent bands.

It is reported that Turkish troops destroyed the village of Leskovatz and fourteen other places in the district of Uskub and that the insurgents have burned the villages of Nakoletz and Krani, inhabited by Albanians, and the Turkish village of Kashani. It is stated that when the insurgents captured the Turkish mail a few days ago they carried off $125,000.

Plot to Murder Domingo Ruler.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—Dispatches from Santo Domingo say that a plot to murder General Alejandro Wos y Gil, the president, has been discovered and that there have been many arrests. President Wos y Gil overthrew the former president, General Horatio Vasquez, at the time of the revolution last spring and proclaimed himself president, being subsequently elected. His election was proclaimed by congress July 22.

Mine Owners' Ultimatum.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Aug. 14.—The mine owners of the Cripple Creek district have fixed a date on or before which the miners who are now out on strike may return to work at the union scale of wages, provided they withdraw from the federation. The time set has not been made public.

Officer From Philippines Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 14.—Second Lieutenant Ralph Miller, Company I, Sixth cavalry, is dead at the Army General hospital here after an operation. Lieutenant Miller had just returned from the Philippines with his squadron.

The Daily Press has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield.—Printer's Ink.

Advertising is the backbone of business. Buying, advertising and selling are the three graces of merchandising. —Printers Ink.

The achievement of the man who obtains gold from lead and other base metals is nothing to that of the Kansas farmer who has "got religion" from Senator Ben Tillman.

Despite the quietude of the summer, the local merchants state that business has been excellent during the past month. It would have to be a dull time indeed to have "nothing doing" in the business line in Plainfield.

A theatre in Plainfield is a time-honored and usually fruitless topic for discussion and speculation. That there is a field for the presentation of high class dramas in the city nobody doubts. The need is for capitalists with the courage to sink money into the enterprise, and for men with executive ability to manage it.

There is the chance, it is said, that Music Hall will be called into service again, but nothing definite has been decided in the matter. The rumor that a new and expensive theatre will be built has little reason for existence. The project is impracticable. It would be impossible, in the first place, to obtain the funds necessary to be subscribed by people in Plainfield. Then the selection of a site would present new difficulties; and, it is doubtful finally if the returns from such an undertaking would be sufficient ever to meet the expense of building.

The thing to do is to take the hall already available and to use it for strictly first-class shows only. If the high class character of the productions be insisted upon from the start, there could be no failure for lack of support. This matter of presenting clean plays should be the first, last and strictest rule observed. A trial of low comedies and vaudeville performances of a questionable sort has already been made in Plainfield and proved a flat failure financially as well as every other way.

A theatre manager in Plainfield should present the best actors and actresses of the day as well as high class plays. The nearness of Plainfield to New York would make this easily possible. Whenever unable to present plays and players of this calibre he should darken his doors. That would be his only wise policy from a business standpoint as well as in accordance with the wishes of all Plainfield theatre-goers whose patronage is worth the having. As to the question of support, no citizen would take the trouble and expense of going to New York to see a performance when he could see the same kind in Plainfield. Then, too, he would probably attend four shows in Plainfield where he would go to New York once. Others from the city and surrounding towns would become frequent patrons who never think of attending a New York production.

Frank T. Clawson, with his sister and son, of West Seventh street, left this morning for a two weeks' vacation at the mountains.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The Watchungs will cross bats with the Garwood A. C. tomorrow afternoon on the Lincoln avenue grounds. The last game played with this team proved to be extremely interesting and the Watchungs succeeded in getting but one man more around the bases than the visitors. The Garwood team is strong at the bat and will no doubt give the locals boys a good tussle. The game is scheduled for 3:30.

George Huff is spending today at Seawaren fishing. He is quite elated over his recent catches of weak fish and is contemplating starting a fish market which he feels confident he would be able to supply by his own efforts.

The street committee, of the borough, report that they are all prepared and have all the requirements for improving the streets, excepting the necessary funds.

Mrs. Josephine Dunham and granddaughter, Geraldine, will leave tomorrow for Port Chester, N. Y., where they will spend some time visiting relatives.

Fred Vail, as a representative from the Juniors, attended the excursion and convention of the various divisions of that lodge at Atlantic City yesterday.

Formal announcement of the engagement of Miss Mamie Teel, of this place, to Ralph Fowle, of Princeton University, has been made.

Terry Roynane has resigned from the Railroaders baseball team. He claims the training has caused him to lose considerable flesh.

The Whittier School library will be open for the benefit of citizens of the borough tomorrow afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

New poles have been erected along the line of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company during the past week.

Manager Smith, of the Dunellen A. C., was in town last evening making final arrangements for Saturday's game.

Hugh Birch with his road and line journeyed to Green brook last evening and returned with three nice eels.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Bogardus left this morning for an extended visit at Ocean Grove.

Mrs. Charles Whyhusky has returned home after a week's visit with friends at High Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Sutphen are rejoicing at the safe arrival of a baby girl.

Considerable work in the way of grading is being done around the depot.

William Conly has been entertaining Fred Swazer, of Readville, N. J.

Miss Nellie Brown has been entertaining out-of-town friends.

Miss Enid Fonda is suffering from a slight illness.

NEW MARKET.

The Y. M. A. baseball team will clash with the Plainfield A. A. tomorrow afternoon on Nelson field. The Plainfield team is considered to be much stronger than the locals, but the New Market boys have been playing some snappy ball of late and with Squiers in the box, expect to give a good account of themselves. The game will be called at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Nelson Giles, of Plainfield, has been visiting her sister, Miss Alice Pierce, for the past few days.

Messrs. Joseph and Gasper Waglow took in the Juniors' excursion to Atlantic City yesterday.

Mrs. Harry Machamer was confined to the house a few days this week with a slight illness.

Harry Hummer has resigned his position at the Levering & Garrigues' Iron Works.

Charles E. Rogers is entertaining friends from Brooklyn this week.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

This will be the lineup against Westfield in the game at Recreation Park tomorrow afternoon: McManus, lf; Brogan, c; Kavanagh, rf; Allen, 1b; Davis, p; Bosterli, 2b; Williams, 3b; Cruzius, ss; Flannery, cf. Manager Johnston says he will not pad the team to win any one of the series. What Manager Denman's lineup will be is uncertain, although when a team defeats Westfield there is generally a reorganization effected before the next game.

The Friday evening prayer meeting at the Baptist Church tonight will be in charge of Rev. Mr. Shott Part of the hour's service will be devoted to a study of the Sunday-school lesson for next Sunday.

The gutters, which were torn up and left in bad shape when the water mains were laid through the village, have all been scraped and rolled and are once more in good condition.

The new culvert over Front street and Park avenue crossing is completed and is a decided improvement over the old wooden one which has done service for the past five years.

If the locals will only maintain their batting record when they meet Westfield tomorrow, the 'Plains fans will have another chance to crow over their old rivals.

Bass are biting fairly well at the several lakes through the valley. Hardly a week passes but what some follower of the rod and reel makes a nice catch.

The members of the Farther Light Society, of the Baptist Church, will resume their monthly meetings during the first week in September.

A good sized delegation from Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., were on the Benevolent Council's excursion to Atlantic City, yesterday.

The mid-summer festival and dance of the St. Mary's ball team, of Plainfield, was attended by a number from the village.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Frank McCabe has taken a position at the Aluminum Press Company's plant.

Howard Terhune has handed in his resignation to the Aluminum Press Company.

Thomas Chamberlain has resigned his position at the Potter Press Company's plant.

William O'Neill has resigned his position with the Potter Press Company. He will soon resume his studies at Yale College.

George Rittenhouse, of the Potter Press Company, is detained at home by illness. He is in danger of an attack of typhoid fever.

The erection of the new Garwood signal posts along the Long Branch division of the Jersey Central is attracting considerable attention.

George Cose, of Grant avenue, has taken a position with the Manganese Steel Safe Company. Mr. Cose will act for the firm as a "road man."

Riotous scenes followed an attempt made by the Westinghouse Electric Company at its Bridge street branch yesterday to get men to work in the Pittsburg shops as strike breakers. An advertisement appeared in several of the New York papers yesterday morning offering tempting places to machinists. Many local men saw the ad and there was a noticable lack of hands in some of the shops in the afternoon. All went well and the services of the hundred and fifty men advertised for were almost engaged when the inevitable walking delegate put in an appearance. In ten minutes the gentleman of the oratorical propensity had the men on his side and then things began to happen. The air was full of oaths, inkstands, ledgers and day books and by the time the hurricane was over the office looked like a junk heap.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

The third degree was worked on three candidates at the meeting of Unity Lodge, K. of P., last evening.

Benevolent Council, No. 256, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets this evening. Reports will be made of the American Day, celebrated at Atlantic City yesterday.

DeWitt is the Name.

When you go to buy Witch Hazel Salve look for the name DeWitt on every box. The pure, unadulterated Witch Hazel is used in making DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which is the best salve in the world for cuts, burns, bruises, boils, eczema and piles. The popularity of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, due to its many cures, has caused numerous worthless conterfeits to be placed on the market. The genuine bears the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Miss Lillian Hill, of this city, is the guest of friends in South Easton, Pa.

Up the Hudson.

History teaches us that Hudson, in his trip up the river which bears his name, was highly pleased with the marvelous scenic surroundings. Were he to make the trip today words would not express his delight, for in addition to nature's handiwork the embellishments by man have made the Hudson one of the grandest spots in the country. The New Jersey Central will run in connection with steamer St. Johns a popular priced excursion up the Hudson on Sunday, August 16, 1903. Rate to be $1.00 and train will leave Plainfield at 8:52 a. m. Fare for children half of above rate. Steamer St. Johns is one of the famous Sandy Hook fleet and is the best appointed and fastest excursion boat in the harbor. 8 7 td

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Contray to the usual custom, Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes will remain at home this summer instead of visiting Saratoga. He has spent his vacations at the above place for many years.

Lester Burwell, of Philadelph'a, the boy cornet player, who rendered selections at the East Third Street mission last evening, will be at the mission Sunday evening and assist in the musical part of the service.

Rev. Mr. Lockwood, of Pittsfield, Mass., who occupies the pulpit at the First Baptist Church Sunday, only a short time ago resigned his pastorate at Ossining, N. Y., to go to Pittsfield. He is considered a very able divine.

The Crescent Avenue Christian Endeavor Society will conduct the meeting at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp tonight at 8 o'clock. S. H. Voorhees will lead the meeting. A good attendance is desired. Leave the North Avenue station on the 7:15 o'clock trolley.

E. Boyd Smack, of Long Branch, who is organist at the Crescent Avenue Church during the month of August, has made many friends by his very satisfactory work at the church. He has much ability and has been highly complimented by the music committee from the church.

—Marcus Silbert, who recently purchased the building now occupied by John H. Tier, in Park avenue, will take possession October 1.

ECHO OF THE PULLMAN STRIKE

Population Statistics Are Expanding —Winners and Losers at the Local Racing Tracks for the Season— A Street Car Problem.

Chicago.—An echo of the Pullman strike of 1894 is heard in the selling of that portion of the real estate in the town of Pullman that is not needed for the manufacturing business of the company.

A Street in the Town of Pullman.

Pullman was one of the first of the towns built by manufacturing corporations for its employes. It is a beautiful town, beautiful because one master man designed all its buildings, laid out its parks and driveways and streets, but it was not a popular idea with the employes who were to live there. The company owned every building in the town, including the schools, the churches, the hotel, the theater, the stores, etc. The residences varied from very pretentious homes to rows of well kept tenements, each of which looked and was exactly alike.

All of these buildings were rented by the company to its employes, the rent being deducted from their earnings in the factory. During 1894, when wages were at their lowest in the factory, many of the employes made but little more than enough to pay the rent, and the company was inexorable in its collections. The strike was the result of these conditions, and the suit questioning the right of the company, under its charter, to hold real estate as a landlord, was a result of the strike. The supreme court of the state handed down the final decision in the case five years ago. It was against the company, and ordered a sale of the land not needed for manufacturing purposes. Before the last of October the company must have disposed of all of this surplus land. That which is unoccupied is being sold in large tracts to other manufacturing concerns. Portions of the town may be razed to make room for new factories.

Fortunes on the Races.

The local racing season is practically over. Washington park closed its gates some time ago, after $45,000,000 had passed through the hands of the bookmakers. From the betting standpoint it was the heaviest season that track has known, and for some of the bookmakers it was the most disastrous.

Pouring It Into the Bookmaker's.

But throughout the season it was the small better who took the money. Such plungers as Gates, Drake and Lambert quit the season heavy losers. They had one pooled bet of $60,000 and left that sum with the fortunate bookmakers. On another race Drake placed $40,000 on Runnels with the bookmakers Weller, O'Leary and Cartwright—and lost.

It was the season of the man who places $100, or some such sum, on each race. This class of betters carried away with them heavy winnings. They picked the long shots, and it was a season for long shots.

For the same reason it was a more than usually profitable season for the women, who are partial to the horses on which the largest odds are offered, and their winnings have inspired a betting fever among the fair sex such as the city never knew before. One La Salle street establishment engaged in the business of making books has gone so far as to furnish special rooms for lady customers, and the place is heavily patronized every day.

Of the bookmakers Joe Yeager, he of Hot Springs gambling house fame, is the new king. He counts his winnings at about $500,000. O'Leary, the richest bookmaker in the world, says he would have quit the track if it had not been for upholding his reputation as a sport. Such are the ups and downs of the gambler.

A City of Three Million.

The Three Million club is typical of Chicago. Its object is to boom the city, and every patriotic Chicagoan is not only entitled to, but is expected to enroll himself as a member by conforming to the constitution of the club, which provides that he must maintain at all times that the city has more than 3,000,000 people, and that he must be willing to fight to maintain that position.

Three Million Club's Symbol.

The Three Million club is but the expansion of the Two Million club, which was organized about the time of taking the last federal census. Members of the club, and all patriotic Chicagoans, have never ceased to maintain that the figures which credit Chicago with less than 2,000,000 people are untrue and unreliable.

The expansion of the club is due to population figures secured from several sources. The new city directory contains 654,000 names. New York figures her population by the multiple of five and one-third for the names in the directory. Granting Chicago the same multiple and her population would now be 3,488,000. Figuring that 10 per cent. of the population of the city are registered voters the city would contain in the neighborhood of 4,000,000 people.

It is a fairly safe estimate to say that Chicago has in the neighborhood of 2,500,000 people at the present time, and judging from the past history of the city it will be surprising if the census of 1910 does not show many more than 3,000,000 people in the city. For the past 20 years the city has been practically doubling its population every ten years, and while the ratio of increase cannot be expected to continue, yet it will undoubtedly be large enough to give the city 3,000,000 people by the time the next census is taken.

A Worthy Charity.

Every large city has what might be styled peculiar charitable institutions. They are outside the regular line of recognized charity, and are often conducted on peculiar lines, and founded by people with a hobby. Some of these peculiar charities are worthy of support from the general public, others are not.

Type of the Shelter Home Woman.

One that is worthy, though it is seldom heard of in the city, is the Shelter Home in Chicago. It is the only institution of the kind in the country, though Boston has a charity organized along somewhat similar lines.

At the unpretentious building on Fifty-first street boulevard and Vincennes avenue any woman, no matter who she is, may find shelter from the world for a time, and no questions asked, and to it come all sorts and conditions of women. They are assured of a place to sleep and something to eat for a time, at least, while they may make an effort to pick up the lost threads that have made them an object of charity.

More than all else, it is a haven for old women. They go there seeking an opportunity to do something that will pay for the care they receive, and, if possible, find a home with some family that is willing to keep them for what little assistance they can render. It is surprising, too, how many of these old women find employment of this kind through the Shelter Home, and how much of the assistance is rendered by people of the poorer classes. It is to this class, more than to the wealthy, that Mrs. Marguerite Price, the matron, looks for assistance for her charges.

Open Cars May Have to Go.

At the same time the city is attempting to force concessions from the street railway company, and secure better service for the people before granting new franchises, the companies are seriously considering a move which will impose new hardships on the public.

The Peril of the Open Car.

It is probable that the open summer cars will be abolished, and the closed, or winter, cars, used throughout the entire year. Officials of the companies say this is necessary because of the increasing number of accidents caused by the open cars.

Nine out of every ten of the accidents for which the open cars are blamed happen to women who persist in getting on backwards. With the closed cars it is possible for the conductor or motorman to watch the passengers, as they must get off at the ends of the car, but this is not so with the open cars, and women have never learned to wait until a car stops or to face the front when getting off.

Aside from these accidents the car companies favor the open car. It will carry a third more passengers, which means a third more receipts. It is also possible to make better time with them than with the closed cars, as the passengers can get on and off more quickly, and the saving of a few seconds at each stop means many dollars in the companies' pockets in the aggregate.

But these advantages are more than offset by the loss through personal injury suits brought by women who persist in getting off backward.

WRIGHT A. PATTERSON.

Weeping Animals.

It is true that some animals really shed tears. Ruminants, in particular, are noted for crying very easily. All hunters know that the deer can weep. But also of the bear it is claimed that he sheds tears when he feels that his last hour has come. The dog weeps easily, and so does the ape. It is well known that the elephant weeps when wounded or unable to escape the hunter. Some marine mammals are also said to weep. Thus the dolphin is said to shed abundant tears in his hour of death. But we must not imagine that these tears are due to emotion or fear of death. They are merely a connection between the wounded part of the body and the lachrymal glands, which are strongly developed in many animals.—N. Y. Tribune.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

THE FALL FASHIONS.

Baggy Blouses Will Be Out of Vogue as Street Waists.

I am not sorry to write and I think few will be sorry to read that the day of loose and baggy blouses as street waists is over, and we are going to have snug fitting waists in tailor gowns and long and half long tight fitting coats of different kinds. Some of the new models on which the manufacturers are now working are very neat and pretty, while some of them, especially such as are to be worn in visiting, are really elegant in form and in finish. The material in vogue for these new suits is as mannish as is possible, including covert, cheviot, cloth, herringbone, tweed and mixtures, also many cloths with zibeline finish. Herringbone in soft drabs and browns so interwoven that one can scarcely pick out any one color makes very stylish suits.

There are many slight differences in the shapes of these suits, particularly as to the coat, but they are all snug to the waist line with the skirts half to three-quarter length. A few have as a sop to Cerberus a sort of stole tab down each side of the front, but the majority are plain and carefully tailor finished. Buttons, large and medium, are used as a trimming on one which is shown herewith, and they are applied on the skirt as well as waist. Another style which will be very much liked has a three-quarter length and the fronts loose, while the back is fitted. This is a good shape for every reason, and it may be noticed that there are pockets! The sleeves are for the present mostly flowing, some of them having deep upturned cuffs more or less ornamented.

These semiloose coats are made of kersey, tweed, cloth, cheviot, moleskin and of cravenette. A handier garment was never invented, but they are made to be worn with any kind of dress, while the other styles are only to be worn as a suit.

There is a novelty in the corset coat, and this also goes with the skirt of the same material. There are several variations of this. One has a cunning little cutaway skirt effect where the coattail is ten inches deep in the back and nothing in front. The back of the coat is fitted like a man's coat, ending, however, at the belt, which is of the material stitched on both edges. The fronts are adjusted to the figure by two seams tailor stitched on each side and reaching the shoulders. There is a narrow vest of white satin closed with gilt buttons. There are buttons down one side of the waist and buttonholes on the other, put there for ornament, for they are not useful at all. A small mannish collar of black velvet and small self revers complete the waist. The sleeves are not far from plain coat shape, with deep, upturned cuffs. The skirt is strapstitched on every seam, and clusters of three buttons are set on along the two front breadths. The material is flecked cheviot.

A corset coat I recently saw was made of fine brown broadcloth, the skirt being of the same. The skirt was cut in many gores, each seam being slot stitched from top to bottom. No other trimming was put on the skirt. The coat, which was open in front with eleven buttons—practical ones—was made in many pieces of the material cut so the seams all started at the neck and extended to the bottom edge, which was about twelve inches below the waist line. These seams were so shaped that they caused the coat to follow the outlines of the figure to perfection. And it must be a perfect figure to wear this worthily. Each seam all around was slot stitched on both sides, like the skirt, and the long, plain coat shaped sleeves were done in the same way. All edges were tailor stitched as sole finish, but with so much seaming and stitching no other trimming could be desired. These corset coats will certainly have a great vogue.

In the suits intended for rather more dressy occasions than a simple promenade collarless shapes obtain. Some have wide collars that can be left off if occasion demands. Very handsome tailor gowns with close coats and full full skirts are very abundant among the fall suits, and as they are made with a fine vest of satin or silk, prettily embroidered, they are quite fine enough for visiting, receptions and luncheons. Nearly all of the velvet suits have the skirts long and [illegible] and are finished with all the [illegible] and care which are distinguishing features of the tailor garment. Velvet has gained a solid place in fashion today. HENRIETTE ROUS[illegible]

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyrighted, 1903, by The Robert Company.

At the barred aperture that served for window on the southward front, a dark face peered forth in malignant hate as the speakers strode by. But it shrank back, when the sentry once more tossed his carbine to the shoulder, and briskly trudged beneath the bars. Six Indians shared that prison room, four of their number destined to exile in the distant East—to years, perhaps, within the casemates of a seaboard fort—the last place on earth for a son of the warlike Sioux.

"They know their fate, I understand," said Blake, as the general moved on again.

"Oh, yes. Their agent and others have been here with Indian Bureau orders, permitting them to see and talk with the prisoners. Their shackles are to be riveted on tonight. Nearly time now, isn't it?"

"At tattoo, sir. The whole guard forms then, and the four are to be moved into the main room for the purpose. I am glad this is the last of it."

"Yes, we'll start them with Flint at dawn in the morning. He'll be more than glad to get away, too. He hasn't been over lucky here, either."

A strange domestic—(the McGrath having been given warning and removed to Sudsville) showed them into the trader's roomy parlor, the largest and most pretentious at the post. Hay had lavished money on his home and loved it and the woman who had so adorned it. She came in almost instantly to greet them, looking piteously into the kindly bearded face of the general, and civilly, yet absently, welcoming the others. She did not seem to realize that Field, who had stood in silence by the side of Capt. Blake, had been away. She had no thought, apparently, for any one but the chief himself,—he who held the destinies of her dear ones in the hollow of his hand. His first question was for Fawn Eyes, the little Ogallala maiden whose history he seemed to know. "She is well and trying to be content with me," was the reply. "She has been helping poor Nanette. She does not seem to understand or realize what is coming to him. Have they—ironed him—yet?"

"I believe not," said the general. "But it has to be done to-night. They start so early in the morning."

"And you won't let her see him, general. No good can come from it. She declares she will go to him in the morning, if you prohibit it to-night," and the richly jeweled hands of the unhappy woman were clasped almost in supplication.

"By morning he will be beyond her reach. The escort starts at six."

"And—these gentlemen here—" She looked nervously, appealingly about her. "Must they—all know?"

"These and the inspector general. He will be here in a moment. But, indeed, Mrs. Hay, it is all known, practically," said the general, with sympathy and sorrow in his tone.

"Not all—not all, general! Even I don't know all—She herself has said so. Hush! She's coming."

She was there! They had listened for swish of skirts or fall of slender feet upon the stairway, but there had not been a sound. They saw the reason as she halted at the entrance, lifting with one little hand the costly Navajo blanket that hung as a portiere. In harmony with the glossy folds of richly dyed wool, she was habited in Indian garb from head to foot. In two black, lustrous braids, twisted with feather and quill and ribbon, her wealth of hair hung over her shoulders down the front of her slender form. A robe of dark blue stuff, rich with broidery of colored bead and bright-hued plumage, hung, close clinging, and her feet were shod in soft moccasins, also deftly worked with bead and quill. But it was her face that chained the gaze of all, and that drew from the pallid lips of Lieut. Field a gasp of mingled consternation and amaze. Without a vestige of color; with black circles under her glittering eyes; with lines of suffering around the rigid mouth and with that strange pinched look about the nostrils that tells of anguish, bodily and mental, Nanette stood at the doorway, looking straight at the chief. She had no eyes for lesser lights. All her thought, apparently, was for him—for him whose power it was, in spite of vehement opposition, to deal as he saw fit with the prisoner in his hands. Appeal on part of Friends Societies, Peace and Indian Associations had failed. The President had referred the matter in its entirety to the general commanding the field, and the general had decided. One moment she studied his face, then came slowly forward. No hand extended. No sign of salutation—greeting—much less of homage. Ignoring all others present, she addressed herself solely to him.

"Is it true you have ordered him in irons and to Fort Rochambeau?" she demanded.

"It is."

"Simply because he took part with his people when your soldiers made war on them?" she asked, her pale lips quivering.

"You well know how much else there was," answered the general, simply. "And I have told you he deserves no pity—of yours."

"Oh, you say he came back here a spy!" she broke forth, impetuously. "It is not so! He never came near the post—nearer than Stabber's village, and there he had a right to be. You say 'twas he who led them to the warpath—that he planned the robbery here and took the money. He never knew they were going, till they were gone. He never stole a penny. That money was loaned him honestly— and for a purpose—and with the hope and expectation of rich profit thereby."

"By you, do you mean?" asked the general, calmly, as before.

"By me? No! What money had I? He asked it and it was given him—by Lieut. Field."

A gasp that was almost a cry following instantly on this insolent assertion—a sound of stir and start among the officers at whom she had not as yet as much as glanced, now caused the girl to turn one swift, contemptuous look their way, and in that momentary flash her eyes encountered those of the man she had thus accused. Field stood like one turned suddenly to stone, gazing at her with wild, incredulous eyes. One instant she seemed to sway, as though the sight had staggered her, but the rally was as instantaneous. Before the general could interpose a word, she plunged on again:

"He, at least, had a heart and conscience. He knew how wrongfully Moreau had been accused—that money was actually needed to establish his claim. It would all have been repaid if your soldiers had not forced this wicked war, and—" and now in her vehemence her eyes were flashing, her hand uplifted, when, all on a sudden, the portiere was raised the second time, and there at the door way stood the former inspector general, "Black Bill." At sight of him the mad flow of words met sudden stop. Down, slowly down, came the clinched, uplifted hand. Her eyes, glaring as were Field's a moment agone, were fixed in awful fascination on the grizzled face. Then actually she recoiled as the veteran officer stepped quietly forward into the room.

"And what?" said he, with placid interest. "I haven't hear you rave in many a moon, Nanette. You are your mother over again—without your mother's excuse for fury."

But a wondrous silence had fallen on the group. The girl had turned rigid. For an instant not a move was made, and, in the hush of all but throbbing hearts, the sound of the trumpets pealing forth the last notes of tattoo came softly through the outer night.

Then sudden, close at hand, yet muffled by double door and windows, came other sounds—sounds of rush and scurry—excited voices—cries of halt! halt!—the ring of a carbine—a yell of warning—another shot, and Blake and the aide-de-camp sprang through the hallway to the storm door without. Mrs. Hay, shuddering with dread, ran to the door of her husband's chamber beyond the dining room. She was gone but a moment. When she returned the little Ogallala maid, trembling and wild-eyed, had come running down from aloft. The general had followed into the lighted hallway—they were all crowding there by this time—and the voice of Capt. Ray, with just a tremor of excitement about it, was heard at the storm door on the porch, in explanation to the chief.

"Moreau, sir! Broke guard and stabbed Kennedy. The second shot dropped him. He wants Fawn Eyes, his sister."

A scream of agony rang through the hall, shrill and piercing. Then the wild cry followed:

"You shall not hold me! Let me go to him, I say—I am his wife!"

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide on two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

CANADIAN CUP WON.

Hannan Pilots the Irondequoit to Victory at Toronto.

TORONTO, Aug. 14.—The Irondequoit, the American challenger for the Canadian cup, won the deciding race of the series, thus wresting the trophy from across the water. It will now rest in the Rochester Yacht club until some Canadian boat shall bring it back.

The race was a triangular one, seven miles to a leg. Though the weather was not to the Irondequoit's liking, the betting was 5 to 4 on her.

Hannan on the Irondequoit had the better of Jarvis on the Strathcona in jockeying for the start, and the American yacht went flying across the line with a small lead.

The Strathcona gained thirty seconds on her rival on the second leg, and some had hopes that she would possibly overhaul the other on the last reach home. The American boat finally dashed across the finish line with the foam flying over her headsails and the lee rail awash.

The credit for the victory is accorded by all yachtsmen to Arthur Hannan of New York, the Corinthian sailor, who was called here to take charge after the professional skipper, Mr. Barr, had lost the first two races. Mr. Hannan got here in the nick of time for the third race, being put aboard as the yachts were awaiting the preparatory gun.

He won that race, the next and the final, wresting the cup from Canada and redeeming the Irondequoit from the stigma of defeat.

Official time at finish: Irondequoit, 2h. 40m. 55s.; Strathcona, 2h. 42m. 17s.

Virgin Soil Won Amsterdam.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 14.—The attendance was large at the track of the Saratoga association. The Amsterdam, a mile event for three-year-olds and upward, was the star event. Six horses faced the starter, but Highlander was left at the post. As they came out of the chute Tam O'Shanter and Elsie L. showed in front. They raced together all the way, but H. Callahan found an opening in the stretch between them through which he steered Virgin Soil, winning by three parts of a length from Elsie, who was a length and a half in front of Tam O'Shanter.

The Alis team will probably not meet Scotch Plains again until Labor Day. On that day there will probably be two games, one on Crescent Oval and the other at Scotch Plains.

The baseball games scheduled for tomorrow which are of local interest include Alis at New Brunswick, St. Mary's against Hope Y. M. A., and Scotch Plains against Westfield, at Westfield.

ROD AND REEL.

Gilbert Murray, Patrick Muldoon and William Riley, of this city, left this morning for a day's fishing trip at Boynton Beach.

W. V. Moy and Maurice Audsley took an outing to Perth Amboy yesterday and put in a few hours fishing. They returned with eight good-sized weak fish. The men are much encouraged over their luck and will make another trip next week when they will spend the entire day on the water.

AMUSEMENTS.

Another week of big attractions at the Pain Fireworks Enclosure, Manhattan Beach, opens Monday. It is a week of specialties. The dinner to Capt. Leslie C. Bruce, of the victorious rifle team which won back the "Palma Trophy" to America, will be followed immediately by a special display of fireworks in honor of the guest of the evening. As it happens, the Knights of Pythias have also arranged to be down on that evening, so that, what with the riflemen and Knights, the enclosure will have quite a military appearance. Tuesday evening the honors are divided between the Grand Army of the Republic and the Scotchmen in the city. The Order of Eagles and the Woodmen will have special attractions Wednesday. There will be a political night Thursday, when the Republican Clubs of Greater New York meet, and on Friday that noble order, the Odd Fellows will attend, as will a large delegation from New Jersey, to do honor to their State. There are great surprises in store for those who attend Saturday evening, but as all arrangements have not yet been completed, the announcement of what is to take place will be made later.

The cast of the Christian now playing at the Academy of Music, has probably never before been equalled in any presentation of the play. Edward J. Morgan is seen in his original role of John Storm—probably the last time in which he will ever appear in the character—while the Glory Quayle is Miss Clara Blandick, whose impersonation of the role that Viola Allen made famous, has won for her marked distinction and much favorable comment. The list also includes George Woodward as Archdeacon Wealthy, Guy Nichols as Parson Quayle, Mrs. Georgia Dickson as Mrs. Callendar, and Carrie and Edith Merrilees, all of the above named having played the roles in which they are now appearing, in the original cast, when Miss Allen first presented "The Christian at The Knickerbocker Theatre. All the remaining members of the cast have filled conspicuous roles in subsequent productions of "The Christian" and among them such capable artists as Frank C. Bangs, Clarence Handyside, Harold Hartsell, Thurlow Bergen, Stanton Elliott, Frank Bixby, Misses Beth Franklyn, Jessie Bradford, Evangeline Irving, Mrs. A. Perrin, etc.

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and developement. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Famous Names.

President Roosevelt esteems his election as a member of the New Jersey Historical Society a great honor—according to a letter from him read at the recent meeting of that body. He is right, for upon the society's roll of members are names of distinguished men among which even that of the present President of the United States may not be the most conspicuous.—Hoboken Observer.

Is Needed in Plainfield.

A lady who has made complaint against the whistle of the peripatetic peanut vendor is not only the victim of its nerve-racking noise; but she seems to be the only one with sufficient backbone to make her protest in such a form as to warrant either the health or police department to suppress the nuisance. Some less offensive method should be adopted by the peddler to advertise his coming.—Trenton Times.

Child Labor on Farms.

While great sympathy is being expressed for the youngsters, who perform easy tasks in glass factories ten hours a day, five and a half days a week, nothing is said of the miserable little drudges on farms, especially in creameries and milk farms, who toil from daylight to dark. The State might turn its philanthropic eyes on these poor slaves while trying to solve the child labor problem.—Trenton Correspondent of New York Herald.

Newspaper Gas.

To the majority of Jerseymen who read the New York Herald and New York Press the two special columns signed respectively by "Trenton" and "Freehold" are a constant source of wonder and surprise. If the two papers run those two columns with any idea that they interest or instruct residents of New Jersey they may as well be discontinued for the absolutely stale, flat and profitless matter therein printed is as thoroughly unreliable as it is tiresome. Drivel takes the place of comment; superficial observations are set forth with all the dignity of great truths. Give Jerseymen the news and relegate these moralizers upon the events of the day to the fartherest seat in the rear.—Asbury Park Press.

Farmers Their Victims.

Some of the farmers of the State have been neatly victimized by a pair of sharpers. They claim to be representatives of the State Agricultural Station who are collecting specimens. Well-to-do farmers are asked to certify to the locality which furnished the specimens. A few days later the farmers receive notice from a justice of the peace that the specimens of Canada thistle, wild parsnip, etc., and the certificate have been used as evidence in a successful action which necessitates the payment of a heavy fine. The sharpers have taken advantage of an old law that imposes a fine upon owners who allow noxious weeds to go to seed upon their property. Half of the fine goes to the complainant. In some sections the sharpers are receiving a handsome income from farmers favorably inclined to scientific investigation. — Elizabeth Evening Journal.

Contract for Erecting Administration Building Awarded.

The contract for erecting New Jersey's administration building for the St. Louis Exposition has been awarded, by the commissioners to a St. Louis construction company. Fifteen thousand dollars is the contract price. There were several bidders from this State, but ex-Governor Voorhees and the other members of the commission thought the work might be done at less inconvenience by a man better acquainted with his surroundings and particularly so, as his estimate was lower than those from New Jersey. Mr. Voorhees, who is chairman of the commission, said that he thought the building would be completed by the first of November.

PLAINFIELD'S NEXT ASSEMBLYMAN

Who He Will Be Is Causing No End of Speculation in Political Circles.

DETAILS OF SITUATION

COUNCILMAN BUCKLE AND FORMER SHERIFF KIRK CONSIDERED.

City Clerk J. T. MacMurray Would Probably Decline to Run—Fowler-Kean Factions a Strong Factor as of Old—Fowler for Senate?

The question as to who will be Plainfield's next representative in the lower house of the State Legislature, to succeed the present incumbent, William Newcorn, whose term expires this year, is just now agitating the minds of a few politicians, who are taking an interest in politics at an early stage of the game.

While the nomination of City Clerk J. T. MacMurray has been talked of by many, it is understood on good authority that he does not want it, but that he would like to see James F. Buckle, now president of the Common Council, go to the Assembly. Mr. Buckle's term as councilman will expire this year, and as he has served five years as a city father it is not considered likely that he will accept a renomination.

It is no secret that the City Clerk and the popular Councilman are close political and social friends and being residents of the First Ward, they naturally would like to see a representative from that ward in the assembly. It is also understood that Mr. Buckle would like to go to the Assembly, provided he is assured of the support of his party in the fight.

That Mr. Buckle will not have an easy matter in getting the nomination, is well-known from the fact that in other political circles the name of William T. Kirk, former sheriff, and a close friend of Senator John Kean, is being prominently mentioned for the place in the Assembly. This at once brings the two county factions together in a clash. Mr. MacMurray is close to Congressman Charles N. Fowler and, of course, the latter would do all in his power to help Mr. MacMurray in working out a happy solution to his plans for Plainfield Whether there is a sufficient amount of political strength to give Mr. Buckle the nomination, remains to be seen. It must be remembered that in the last election Senator Kean won a notable victory through the election of Sheriff Coriell. He supported the Plainfielder and after a great fight placed him, through the aid of his own party friends and others outside of his party.

There seems now to be no doubt that Congressman Fowler and Senator Kean will clash in the political fight which will be to the finish. Of course, there may be other candidates for the Assembly before the primaries are held, but thus far the two most formidable candidates are James F. Buckle and William T. Kirk and while they are the best of good friends, should they be selected to make the fight for the nomination, the strongest political forces of each man would be brought into action.

It seems to be the general opinion that, as Senator Kean has more interest in Plainfield than Congressman Fowler from the fact that he has property holdings here in the Plainfield Water Supply Company, he will be willing to spend more money in this vicinity than his political rival. Furthermore if he is looking for future honors in the Senate it would mean considerable to him to have his man chosen for the Assembly. On the other hand it is said that Congressman Fowler would like to go to the United States Senate and is therefore anxious that some one friendly to him be chosen in the lower house. In all events the fight will be a merry one and well worth following up.

Council Meeting Adjourned.

For the lack of a quorum no regular meeting of the North Plainfield Common Council was held last evening as announced. Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., and Clerk Frank Rowley were the only members present. The next meeting will be on a date to be selected by Mayor Smalley.

Still Another Night's Carnival.

NATURALIZATION PAPERS.

Can be Taken Out August 19—Committee Gives Particulars.

Assemblyman Wm. Newcorn has arranged with County Clerk Howard to have the latter's office opened Wednesday evening, August 19, at which time naturalization papers can be secured. The naturalization committee from this city, consisting of John Cose, John Keely, H. G. Adams and James Morrison, will meet in Assemblyman Newcorn's office Monday evening to make arrangements for going to Elizabeth on Wednesday evening and those desiring to take out papers can meet the committee or send their names in. The committee will go to Elizabeth Wednesday evening on the 7:03 train and anyone desiring their papers can meet the committee at that time.

FORMER RESIDENT.

Death of John H. French, at One Time Prominent in City Affairs.

John H. French, a resident of North Plainfield for many years, died early yesterday morning at his home, 150 Macon street, in Brooklyn, after a short illness. Word of the death was received by D. W. Littell, treasurer of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, of which order Mr. French was a member. For many years Mr. French was a well-known clothier here, his store being on West Front street. He was at one time a member of the Common Council, also of the Reform Club, of which he was president. He owned considerable property both in the borough and city. Several years ago he and his family moved to Brooklyn, where they have lived ever since. Surviving Mr. French is a wife and three daughters. The interment will be in the family plot in New Brunswick, on Monday.

EXPERT RIFLEMEN.

Chosen to Compete for Second Regiment Team—Those Selected.

Col. D. F. Collins has detailed nine officers and enlisted men to compete for places on the Second Regiment Rifle team. Among them is Captain Martin, of Co. K. They are: Lieut.-Colonel Joseph F. Clime, Burlington; Capt. Horace M. Bell, inspector of rifle practice, Haskell; Capt. Wm. B. Martin, of Elizabeth, commander of Company K, of Plainfield; Captain Robert W. Watson, Company H, of New Brunswick; Capt. Wm. Libbey, Company L, of Princeton; First Lieut. E. Yard Breese, battalion adjutant, of Trenton; Battalion Sergeant-Major Richard W. Evans, of Newark; and Sergeant A. Gibby Spencer and Private Wm. M. Hooley, Company M, of Somerville.

Five will be selected. Captains Bell and Martin and Sergeant Major Evans are pretty sure of places. Capt. Bell will be captain of the team.

Maltreated His Horse.

Nicholas Denemora, a stone cartman, of Scotch Plains, was arrested this morning by William N. Pangborn, the local representative of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, for overloading his horse. The man was fined $50 by Justice Clark, of Scotch Plains. It was charged that Denemora was compelling a weak, half starved horse, to haul a load of 8,250 pounds.

Thrown From Her Carriage.

While driving a fractious horse, Thursday, Mrs. Thomas Kolb, of West Fifth street, was thrown from her carriage. The horse became frightened about five miles from the city and balked, stumbling and falling to the ground. Mrs. Kolb was heavily thrown and sustained several bruises. The horse kicked the dash board of the rig to pieces and broke one of the shafts, badly wrenching other parts of the wagon.

Didn't Take Care of His Cows.

Because he failed to observe the ordinance of the Borough Board of Health regarding the proper care of cows, Charles Barry was fined $20 and costs yesterday morning in Justice William E. Mattison's court. The Board of Health, however, suggested that sentence be suspended if the defendant agreed to correct his mistake within three days. This he promised to do.

Not in the Directory.

The Union County Standard, of yesterday, reports the marriage of Frank DeLaney and Mrs. Mary Blunt, of Plainfield, by Recorder Toucey, of Westfield, on Sunday last at Westfield. The Plainfield directory does not give the name of either party.

—Headquarters for fruit and vegetables in this city is Neuman Brothers. For Monday they will have on hand 50 baskets of fancy Jersey peaches, 30 baskets of fine Delaware peaches besides the regular assortment of choice fruit.

CITY'S SPLENDID FIRE RECORD

Total Loss From Conflagrations During Present Year Amounts to Only $835.

FIRES FEW AND FEEBLE

CAUSES, TIME AND METHODS OF EXTINGUISHING THEM.

Chief Doane Acts on the Doctrine That the First Five Minutes at a Fire Are the Most Valuable—Record Up to Date.

Few of our citizens realize when they see the fire apparatus making a quick dash through the streets to the scene of some conflagration to how great an extent Plainfield owes her popularity as a home city to the efficiency of this department. No other city in Union county of the size of Plainfield has a fire department so completely equipped, so efficient and so quick to arrive at the scene of action.

The success of the department is conclusively revealed in the work of the past eight months. There have been fifty-six fires in this city since December thirty-first of last year and these have been extinguished with such promptness that the losses have amounted to but $835, $685 of which has been to buildings and $150 to contents. The probable key to this record is the doctrine of Chief Doane that the first five minutes at a fire are the most valuable five minutes. To this end the running gear's perfect condition, horses' speed and drivers' skill have contributed much.

Sparks from locomotives, together with defective heating apparatus have been the principal causes of fires in this city, during the year; twelve fires having resulted from each in the last half year. Aside from this there have been 9 chimney fires, 6 from unknown causes, 2 from gas jets, 3 from children and matches, 3 from bonfires, 3 from lamps and the remainder from various causes, no two of which are alike. Of the 56 alarms received at headquarers 25 have been from box alarms, 25 by telephone, and 6 verbal.

More fires have been conquered by hand extinguishers than in any other way. Sixteen conflagrations were nipped in the bud in this way "in the first five minutes." Thirteen fires have been extinguished by the chemical engine while it has been necessary to lay a hose line for but eleven. Four have been extinguished by pails of water and at the remainder there has been no duty for the firemen.

At one time in the history of the department, day and night fires were of the same number for some months but recently almost ninety per cent. of the fires have been in the day time. Of these eleven have been in the morning from four until eleven, thirteen at the dinner hour, from eleven to one, twenty-eight in the afternoon from one to nine and the remaining four at night. By a finer subdivision it is seen that there have been more fires at the time of kindling the fire in the morning and at noon time than at any other hour of the day.

DEATH OF MARY THOMAS.

News Received This Morning—Child Died at South Williamstown, Mass.

Word was received by Walter Peterson, of Belvidere avenue, of the death at an early hour this morning, of Mary, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Lewis Thomas, of 1216 Watchung avenue. The death occurred at South Williamstown, Mass., where the family has been spending the summer. The child had been complaining for some time past from rheumatism. Dr. Hedges was the attending physician. The family will return home tonight bringing the remains of the child for interment in this city. Arrangements for the funeral will be made later.

Brooklyn Girl Betrothed.

The engagement of Thomas H. Stafford, of Grove street, to Miss Edith Makenzie, of Brooklyn, was announced today. The bride-to-be is an exceedingly popular young woman among a large circle of metropolitan friends and Stafford is engaged in the printing in this city.

MRS. WERNER DIED UNFRIENDED AND ALONE

Neighbors Discovered Her Dead in Bed Yesterday at Her Home on New Street.

STRICKEN BY APOPLEXY

HAD CONSIDERABLE MONEY TO HER CREDIT IN BANKS.

Neighbors Had Not Seen Her for a Week and Became Alarmed—It is Thought She Had a Sister in Chicago—No Family.

Mrs. Elizabeth Werner, a widow, seventy years old, was found dead in her bed in her apartments at 115 New street yesterday afternoon as announced exclusively in yesterday's Daily Press. She had probably been dead forty-eight hours as decomposition had already set in. The discovery was made by neighbors who had missed her for almost a week and it is now believed that she had been ill in her room for several days without being able to let any of her friends in the neighborhood know of her condition.

The dead woman lived alone and did not mingle with her neighbors. It was not an uncommon thing for her to remain in her rooms alone for long periods. Mrs. Charles Anderson, a next door neighbor, noticed that she had not been about as usual and communicated her suspicions to friends. They secured a ladder and entered the house by the window.

On the bed, apparently asleep, lay the lone occupant of the room. Harry Bush, a fireman, who lives on Orchard place, near by, was passing and noticed the commotion. He was asked to notify the police and Officers McCarthy and Moses Quass were sent to the place.

The body was taken to George Cole's undertaking parlors where the funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 8:45. The interment will be in the Samptown Cemetery, where the remains of Mrs. Werner's husband are interred.

County Physician Westcott viewed the remains last evening and said that death was due to a stroke of apoplexy, his statement contradicting the rumor that suicide had been committed. A search of her effects at her home showed that the woman had accounts in several New York banks. One bank book showed deposits of $360, another $20 still credited to her from an original deposit of $150. Insurance and other papers were found. In a small bag was $20 in gold and some coins.

It is said that Mrs. Werner has a sister living somewhere in Chicago and an effort will be made to locate her. Mr. Werner died three years ago.

BLUE BANDS REWARD MERIT

BRAID ON ARMS OF MOTORMEN AND CONDUCTORS.

Denotes Faithful Service—Adopted Recently—Rules Regulating Their Use.

Passengers riding upon the local trolley cars have noticed that the conductors and motormen are wearing on their sleeves blue bands. Some of the older employes of the road wear gold braid which denotes longer service.

The braids went on the arms of the motormen and conductors when the Public Service Corporation took hold of the local road. It was in line with other improvements and changes contemplated by the corporation. There were hundreds of men in their employ who have been in the service of the various roads ever since electric traction was introduced in New Jersey. When their salaries were raised, in proportion to the length of time in which they have handled the controller and the brake, the company decided to place on the uniforms of their faithful employes these decorations.

The blue band on a conductor's sleeve signifies that he has been collecting fares honestly for one year. When he has obtained five of them he receives a gold one.

Horses Broke Whiffletree.

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges' coachman got into difficulties with his team which became frightened by a train at the North Avenue station and started to run away. The man jumped from the rig and succeeded in holding the fractious animals but not before both whiffletrees of the runabout were broken.

BOROUGH TAXES JUMP SKYWARD

Rate for Coming Year Will be Increased From Twelve to Fourteen Points.

WITHDRAWAL OF STOCK

FROM THE COUNTY, AND COST OF NEW ENGINE HOUSE ARE REASONS.

Increase in Assessed Valuation of Property Offset by Withdrawal of Bank Stock by A. C. Brunson From the County.

An increase of from twelve to fourteen points in the North Plainfield tax rate is probable this year. This is due partly to the withdrawal from the borough of 861 shares of the First National Bank from the taxable property of the borough by A. J. Brunson, vice president of the bank, and partly to the fact that the bonds for the construction of the engine house are now outstanding and that there are other public obligations. The Daily Press of June 16 told exclusively of the withdrawal of the shares to Atlantic county in order to benefit by the lower tax rate in that county. The shares, as they were assessed last year, are worth $65 each, amounting practically to $56,000 for the entire block of 861 shares. They would be taxed something over $1,000. This meant that the people of North Plainfield would be taxed to raise an additional $1,000 in order to meet the deficit caused by the withdrawal of the stock.

Last year the tax rate was $2.50 but this year it will, according to the figures of the assessor, amount approximately to $2.62 or $2.64. The withdrawal of bank stock will increase the rate six or eight points and the cost of the new engine house will also bring up an additional six or eight points, making a total of about fourteen.

Another interesting fact regarding the assessed valuation of North Plainfield this year is that in four years the actual increase has hardly been apparent. Last year the property valuation in the borough amounted to $2,409,000, while this year it will be $2,415,000. There has been an increase in the valuation of property in North Plainfield during the past year of something like $60,000, but this has been offset by the withdrawal of the stock to Atlantic county and the cost of the engine house together with other unforeseen public obligations.

It has been the aim of Mayor Smalley and the Common Council to keep the tax rate in North Plainfield down to the same amount as last year but the action of Mr. Brunson and the unexpected increase in the cost of erecting the engine house has caused the tax rate to soar in spite of their efforts. The increase will probably mean that the sewer project and the widening of Somerset street will have to be deferred until some future time.

PARTICULAR CARE.

Will be Exercised in Appointments to District Election Boards—County Board to Meet.

The Union County Board of Elections will meet Thursday, Aug. 20, to organize formally, and the names of those to serve on the district boards of elections will be presented.

It is understood that more than usual care will be exercised this year in making such appointments.

Immediately following the presentation of names of those whose appointment is asked the clerk of the board, S. Ruling Byne, will forward to each person named an election blank, which must be filled out and promptly returned.

The blanks ask the usual questions as to the full name of the nominee, age, occupation, residence, ward and distric, political affiliations, prior experience in the position, knowledge of the present law on registry of voters and methods of conducting an election and the opportunity which the nominee has had for qualifying himself for service as a member of the district board. Another question which must be answered is, "Have you ever been convicted of any violation of the laws of the State of New Jersey or of the United States? If so, what offense?"

Unique Name.

An exchange says that Ringoes, Hunterdon County, has the distinction of being the only place of that name in the world. It was named for Phillip Ringo, who erected a mill in that vicinity about 1730.

RED MEN TO PLAY BALL.

Local Tribes Will Line Up on the Diamond Next Saturday.

Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, Improved Order Red Men, met last evening, adopted two pale-faces, worked the chief's degree, and enjoyed a smoker and refreshments. The question of a baseball game between a team from this tribe and one from Wetumpkah Tribe, was discussed and arrangements for the game completed. It will be played next Saturday.

The first game between these teams was won by Miantonomo Tribe, the second was called at the fifth inning on account of rain and the third game was a twelve inning one and a tie. Great interest is evidenced in the next game and Wetumpkah Tribe say that they will win if they have to hire the Alis team to do it.

ALSO A COMPLAINANT.

Mrs. VanFleet Joins in Petition Asking That Mental Condition of S. C. Dayton be Investigated.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Basking Ridge, Aug. 15—A commission, consisting of Mayor Charlton A. Reed, of Morristown; Calvin D. Smith, of Bernardsville, and Thomas Day, tax collector of Bernards Township, was appointed Thursday by Vice Chancellor Pitney to inquire into the mental condition of Samuel C. Dayton, of Basking Ridge. The commission was issued upon the petition of Joseph B. Brown and Mary F. Blair, of Basking Ridge and Mrs. Lottie A. VanFleet, of New Market, formerly of Plainfield, married daughters of Mr. Dayton. Accompanying the petition and annexed thereto are several affidavits of reputable citizens of this village, who allege that Dayton is of unsound mind. Britton D. Evans, the medical director of the State Hospital at Morris Plains, also makes an affidavit, setting forth the fact that, after an examination made by him at the home of Dayton, he found him to be suffering from senile decay, feeble in mind and incapable of properly caring for himself or his estate.

"Uncle Sam," as he is familiarly known throughout this section, is in his eighty-ninth year, and has for several years past been failing mentally, having developed queer ideas as to his children's interest in him, finally ignoring them altogether and employing a Mrs. Hill as a housekeeper, to care for him. Dayton is a man of considerable wealth, owning a large amount of property around this village, as well as several properties in Brooklyn. From the Brooklyn properties alone he derives an annual income of over $1,000, yet, with all this, his money seems to disappear, and his children have no knowledge as to what disposition he makes of it, except surmising that undue influence is being brought by some one.

RUNAWAY HORSE.

Was Frightened by Trolley and Fell to Sidewalk—Little Damage.

Robert Hand, Jr., son of Frank Hand, of Grandview avenue, got into difficulties at about half past nine this morning while trying to drive his father's bay horse into Blimm's stables on Somerset street. The animal was attached to Mr. Hand's buggy and, as the lad started to turn out from the street, it became frightened at a passing trolley car, stumbled on the sidewalk and fell. Getting up it bolted through the hotel yard where it was caught by Chief Marshal Campbell. The harness was pretty well broken up but no especial damage was done to the carriage.

Death of George Butscher.

George Butscher, died this morning at the age of 66 years, at his home at 451 West Fourth street. Death followed a stroke of paralysis. The funeral will be held Monday, August 17, at 9:30 and from St. Mary's R. C. Church at 10 o'clock. A solemn requiem mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Mr. Butscher was a member of the Exempt Firemen's Association and assisted in the organization of Warren Engine Company, No. 3. He is survived by two sons and three daughters, Phillip, John, Mary, Josephine and Mrs. Lena Lyons. He was employed by R. H. McCullough for over nine years.

Violated Hunting Laws.

Albert and James Calloway, of Prideville, will be given a hearing in Justice Smalley's court in North Plainfield tonight at 7 o'clock on a charge of hunting with hounds in Warren Township. They were arrested Sunday by Game Warden Hawkins and Deputy Wickoff.

New Trolley Line.

The first franchise for a trolley in Morris county, was recently granted by the Council at Dover. It is understood that the line will run from Rockaway to Wharton.

ENDEAVORERS WILL CONVENE AT ORANGE

Rev. Titus E. Davis, of This City, Will Read His Treasurer's Report.

PROGRAMME IN DETAIL

WILL BE THE SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION OF N. J. SOCIETY.

To be Held October 15 and 16 in the First Presbyterian Church of Orange—Sessions Morning and Afternoon—List of Speakers.

Rev. Titus E. Davis, of this city, will be present to read his report as treasurer of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union, at its seventeenth annual convention to be held at the First Presbyterian Church in Orange, October 15 and 16.

This is the provisional programme so far as prepared:

Delegates will be called to order at 10:30 o'clock on the morning of the fifteenth by A. W. Abbott, president of the Orange Union, and devotional exercises, addresses of welcome by representatives of the city, Rev. Dr. Charles Townsend, pastor of the Church, and others will be made. The response will be by Rev. W. T. S. Lumbar, State president. The morning session will be devoted to reports from the State secretary, Miss Ida B. Stephens, of Hackettstown; the treasurer, Rev. Titus E. Davis, of Plainfield, and the superintendent of the press department, Alfred B. Johnson, of South Orange, as well as to miscellaneous business and the appointment of committees.

At the afternoon session Rev. Dr. Cornelius Brett, of Jersey City, will preside and after a devotional service reports will be made by Mrs. Joseph S. Peacock, of Camden, superintendent of the correspondence department; Mrs. Florence Rudolph, of Jersey City, superintendent of work among the colored people, and Rev. J. C. Austerberry, of Milville, for the committee on Christian citizenship and Sunday observance. An address by Rev. Dr. Beniah L. Whitman, of Philadelphia, and a talk on Christian citizenship by a speaker to be announced, will follow.

John T. Sproull, of Arlington, who is first vice president of the union, will preside at the evening session, which will be opened with a service of song. President Lumbar will deliver his annual address, Rev. Frederick C. Klein, of Newark, will report as superintendent of the evangelistic department, and the convention sermon will be preached by Rev. Dr. John F. Carson, of Brooklyn, on the topic "Personal Work in Soul-winning."

Arthur N. Pierson, of Westfield, superintendent of the fresh air department, will report at the morning session on Friday, and will conduct an open parliament. Rev. William D. Stultz, of Mansquan, second vice president, will preside. Charles A. Cook, of Bloomfield, will report for the Bible study department and conduct an open parliament on the question "What Are We Doing with the Bible?" Rev. Dr. Edward P. Ingersoll, of New York Bible Society, will make an address on "What is the Bible Doing for the World?" A quiet hour" will be conducted by Rev. Ambrose White Vernon, pastor of Grove Street Congregational Church, East Orange. Robert M. Alberts, of Jersey City, superintendent of the missionary department, will report, and the missionary address will be delivered by Rev. Dr. John H. Wyckoff, of the Arcot Mission, India.

Friday afternoon sessions will be held in Central Presbyterian Church as well as in the First Church. At the former the third vice president, Rev. Dr. A. W. Bailey, of Atlantic City, will preside, and a report will be made by Rev. George C. Horter, of Camden, superintendent of the junior department, who will conduct an open parliament on junior work. At 2 o'clock the juniors will form in line at the soldiers' monument and march to the First Church, where a junior rally will be held, Rev. Mr. Horter presiding. The exercises will be in charge of Mrs. Mary E. Klein, superintendent of the Essex County Junior Christian Endeavor Union.

At the business session Friday night reports will be made by committees, and the election of officers, the presentation of banners and an address by Rev. Dr. Francis E. Clark, president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, will follow.

The music at the convention will be in charge of Professor H. C. Lincoln, director of the Philadelphia Convention Choral Society. Prominent soloists will sing, in addition to the large chorus.

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

William Carlson, employed by the Potter Press Company, is visiting friends in Somerville today.

Robert Gow, foreman of the tool room at the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, left today for a week's sojourn at Asbury Park.

Alfred Berry Marsh, of the Potter Press Company, left today for Lake Hopatcong, where he will spend two weeks at "Camp Hope."

A Century press was set up at the Campbell Press Company's plant yesterday for the purpose of taking a snap-shot. The picture was taken by John Neagle, the local weather man.

The shipyards at Elizabethport shut down because there was no money with which to pay the men. It is believed that the plant will remain closed for a year. This means that $15,000 weekly will be drawn from circulation in Elizabeth.

It is rumored that Delegate Parks will call out the Elizabeth workers soon. If such is the fact work will be suspended on the large plant of the Milliken Steel Works. This plant is being hurried to completion, and when finished, will employ several hundred machinists.

Rufus Larew, of the Pond Machine Tool Company's plant, met with a painful accident while at work yesterday. Larew was chipping with a hammer and chisel when the hammer slipped and struck him on the forefinger of his left hand, splitting it below the first joint. He will be deprived of the use of his hand for several days.

PERSONAL.

George Force, of West Front street, is sojourning at Delaware Water Gap, for a time.

Miss Lillie Weigmann, of West Front street, will spend next week at Asbury Park.

Miss Elizabeth Piker, of West Front street, is taking a vacation at Atlantic City.

Mrs. Stillman, of Texas, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barlow, of Prospect place.

Miss Ella Conover, of Elmwood place, has returned from a short visit at High Bridge.

Ralph L. Morrow, city editor of The Daily Press, is slowly recovering from a severe illness.

Mrs. Dennis Reagan, of this city, has returned from a visit with her parents at High Bridge.

Mrs. James Cooper and daughter, Miss Anna Cooper, of Plainfield, have been visiting relatives in Raritan.

Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer and family, of Summit avenue, have been visiting relatives at Whitehouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conover and son, Ernest, of Elmwood place, are enjoying a driving trip to Quakertown.

Miss Stella Apgar, of Woodhull & Martin's store, will return to her position on Monday after a two weeks' vacation.

Rev. Francis E. Whiteside, who has been visiting relatives in Philadelphia for several days, has returned to this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swackhamer, of this city, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Swackhamer, of Whitehouse.

Rev. and Mrs. F. B. Newman, of Trenton, are spending a few days with Mr. Newman's parents in West Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Greer, of Grove street, will leave tomorrow for Asbury Park, where they will spend a portion of their vacation.

Charles Geise, of Elm place, has been spending a few days at High Bridge. While in Hunterdon County, Mr. Geise caught three fine bass, one of which weighed over three pounds.

L. T. Timpson, of East Sixth street, has returned from Lake George, where he has been enjoying an outing with his family. Mrs. Timpson and the children will return home later.

Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

The New Jersey Central will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk on Sunday, Aug. 16, 1903. Round trip, $1.50; child, 75c., from Plainfield at 9:22 a. m. Mauch Chunk is one of the most charming mountain resorts in this section. The trip over the gravity railroad to Summit and Mt. Pisgah is one of scenic grandeur and a trip that will never be forgotten. After the trip over the Switchback you should go to Glen Onoko where you will find beautiful little cascades, caverns and like attractions. 8 11 td c

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Too much care cannot be taken with the purchasing of meats. The health of the family depends upon the kind of meats eaten. By purchasing them at Smalley Brothers, on North avenue, the best can be secured at the lowest prices.

For a comparatively small sum of money one can buy many household furnishings at the Gayle Hardware Company's store and have the satisfaction of knowing that the goods are all perfect and guaranteed to be as represented.

In these days there is so much imitation of jewelry, diamonds, silverware, etc., that it is gratifying to trade with J. Hervey Doane, the Park avenue jeweler. His goods are of the best quality and you make no mistake in buying them.

Did it ever occur to you that Weinberger, the clothier, is selling men's and boys' clothing just as cheaply as New York dealers? If there is any dissatisfaction with his suits he will gladly make good. Examine his stock and be convinced.

To be content with life, it is necessary to trade with a first-class grocer. W. W. Dunn, of Lincoln place, makes a specialty of catering to residents of the Park and therefore his stock is one of the best in this city. Quality high, prices right.

Charles Conover & Company, painters and decorators, of Elmwood place, have recently secured a number of large contracts in this city, and they will be pleased to quote prices on the best class of work, either in painting, decorating or papering.

All people, the weak, the strong, the small or the hearty eater, relish Endress' meats. The best of meats can be found daily at his market on West Front street. Special cuts of roast beef, lamb and veal on hand today. Best of quality, best of price—for you.

You take big chances when you have a prescription compounded from memory. If you need a prescription compounded often, take it to Hodge's on East Front sreet and he will keep it on file so that it will not get lost. Personal attention to the preparation of all prescriptions.

VanArsdale has the whole town beaten when it comes to shoe strings for watch fobs. He has them in the biggest assortment of colors, having eleven colors in all. Seventy-one gross arrived Thursday afternoon. He is now selling the regular five-cents-a-pair black and white, red and white and blue and white laces for a cent apiece and has a lot of new grey laces which are very sporty for the same price. VanArsdale runs the save money shoe store.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mary Whiton, of Madison avenue, has returned from her annual vacation.

Frank VanNest, of Raritan, has been visiting Plainfield friends for a short time.

Miss Freda Kaiser, of this city, has returned from a visit with her father at Raritan.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cain, of this city, have returned from a visit with relatives in Raritan.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger F. Murray, of Madison avenue, have returned from their summer outing.

Joseph Bowlby, of this city, has been visiting his parents at Glen Gardner for a few days.

Guernsey Nevius, formerly of Plainfield, now of Chicago, is visiting among friends in this city.

C. B. Stout, of Centreville, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Aaron M. Higgins, of Liberty street.

The Misses Scully, of this city, have been visiting their father, Thomas Scully, of East Millstone.

Miss Ethel Lorton, of Watchung avenue, is spending a couple of weeks with Mrs. Aletta Huff, of Centreville.

John Simpson and family, of West Sixth street, are spending the month of August with friends in Yonkers, N. Y.

Mrs. D. N. VanVliet, of Washington Park, left yesterday for Pike County, Pa., where she will remain for a month.

"Mrs. Ford, of Plainfield, has been the guest of her son on North street, this week," says the Jersey City Journal, of Thursday, "and last night visited Star of Palisade Lodge. Mrs. Ford is an enthusiastic member of the Order of Shepherds of Bethlehem in Plainfield."

Driving Out the Enemy.

These are the days of colds, sharp and sudden, attacking throat and lungs, and leading to consequences one does not like to think about. Caspian and Olivewood Win.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Excellent sport marked the closing day of the Empire City grand circuit meeting. The 2:18 trot brought a field of eleven to the wire, with Caspian, the choice, at 6 to 5. In a most exciting finish he won from Hie Boy by a neck, with Dillon Boy a good third. The favorite had an easier time in the second heat, winning by a length. Strathlane was a hot choice for the first pace, selling at 100 to 45 for the field. He won the first heat in good style, but was defeated by Olivewood easily in slower time in the next heat. The judges decided to change drivers and put up John Curry behind Strathlane. The result was a superb finish, as the two heat winners fought the battle all down the stretch, and as they shot under the wire it looked like a dead heat. The judges caught Olivewood's nose in front, and the verdict was popular. Curry was also applauded for his great drive.

Dick Welles Set a World's Record.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Dick Welles won the special match with E. E. Smathers' Grand Opera at Harlem and in doing so set a new world's record for one mile on a circular track. The winner's time was 1:37 2-5, which is one-fifth of a second off the record made by Allan-a-Dale at Washington park this spring. The race did not amount to much as a contest, as Grand Opera was at no time near Dick Welles, the latter winning in a common canter. It was the universal opinion of horsemen who saw the race that Dick Welles could have run the mile in 1:37 flat had he been extended.

Divination at Spa.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 15.—The weather was fair and warm and the track dry. The day's feature event, for two-year-olds, was won rather easily by Andrew Miller's Divination, ridden by Redfern, in 1:07 2-5, the track record for which distance, 1:06, was created by J. B. Haggin's Ada Nay last year, carrying 111 pounds. Four lengths separated Divination from A. Belmont's Dick Turpin, the second horse.

New Yorkers Win at Tennis.

CLAYTON, N. Y., Aug. 15.—In the finals of a three days' tournament held on the Frontenac courts and participated in by many of the leading society people of the Thousand Islands the mixed doubles were won by Miss Clover Boldt and A. C. Smidt, both of New York, who defeated Miss Margaret Taylor of South Orange, N. J., and Paul Tomlinsen of Elizabeth, N. J., by the score of 0-6, 2-6, 6-0, 6-3 and 6-3.

Doherty Brothers Win Finals.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 15.—H. L. Doherty and Reginald F. Doherty have scored in overwhelming fashion over the American tennis experts. The English tennis champions won both the finals in the singles and doubles in the tournament on the courts of the Meadow club. H. L. Doherty defeated William A. Larned, the American champion, in three sets by the score of 6—1, 6—2, 6—1.

Iole Surprised Sports.

BUFFALO, Aug. 15.—The feature of the day's card at Fort Erie was the handicap for two-year-olds at five furlongs. The result was a great surprise, for Iole, a long shot, came with a rush at the end. Neither of the favorites, St. Juvenal nor Marshal Ney, was prominent.

Rainland Won at Kinloch Park.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15.—Rainland, the 7 to 5 favorite, won the feature, a handicap at six furlongs, by a length at Kinloch park. Mafalda, second choice, came second. In the sixth race Joe Goss, an odds on favorite, was left at the post.

Jurors In Jett-White Trial For Hanging Both.

COMPROMISED ON A LIFE SENTENCE

The Trial For Murder of Marcum Brings a Conviction—The First Outcome of Loss of Twenty-seven Lives In Feuds.

CYNTHIANA, Ky., Aug. 15.—Curtis Jett and Thomas White have been found guilty of the assassination of James B. Marcum at Jackson, Ky., and the punishment of each fixed at life imprisonment. The verdict was returned at a time when there were but few persons in the court room. The only attorney present was County Attorney Webster. Jett received the verdict with comparative indifference and calmness. White, who has been apparently under a severe strain during the trial, flushed up and his eyes filled with tears.

At their trial held in Jackson last month one juror hung the jury to the last on the question of guilt, and this time one juror hung the jury for twenty-four hours on the question of sentence. The first ballot was 11 to 1 for conviction of both defendants, and the second was unanimous for both. The first ballot on the sentence was 7 for death and 5 for life imprisonment. The separate ballots on Jett's case stood 11 for hanging and 1 for life sentence, and this result was not changed in subsequent votes, Jasper King, a former deputy sheriff, voting alone until a compromise was reached for life sentence for both.

Charges have been preferred against Juror Jasper King for attempting to hang the jury.

Attorneys Blanton and Golden, for the defense, were absent when the jury came into court, and Judge Osborne sent for them and told them to make their motion for a new trial. The motion was thereupon filed and the court took it under advisement. Colonel Byrd, who prosecuted the prisoners, said he was disappointed in the case, as he had hoped for a verdict affixing the death penalty.

D. D. Hurst, the father-in-law of Marcum, said that they might as well have tried the men in Breathitt county as here.

The case has been on trial almost three weeks, having been begun July 27. At the first trial at Jackson the jury disagreed, and it is believed that the present verdict is a compromise with a juror opposed to capital punishment.

There have been twenty-seven lives lost within the past two years in the Hargis-Cockrill feud in Breathitt county, and this is the first conviction.

No arrests or indictments had been made until last May, when the troops were ordered to Jackson to protect the grand jury and afterward the trial jury and witnesses. Jett is still under indictment, charged with killing Town Marshal Cockrill.

Merchants' Bank of Duluth Fails.

DULUTH, Minn., Aug. 15.—The alleged embezzlement of $45,000 of the funds of the Commercial Banking company, for which E. E. Johnson, the trusted clerk of the bank, is under arrest, has brought about the failure of the Merchants' bank of Duluth, which has closed its doors. President Smith in a statement says that the failure is due to a run on the bank resulting from the closing of the Commercial Banking company's institution. This is the fourth bank suspending business as a result of the alleged embezzlement.

Train Wrecked, Two Dead.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 15.—A special from Maxton, N. C., says an excursion train of eleven cars returning from Wilmington collided head on with the caboose of a watermelon freight on the main line of the Seaboard. The freight engine had gone for water, the flagman went to sleep and failed to flag the excursion train. The caboose was burned, the engine, tender and first coach demolished. Flagman T. F. Jones of Lumberton and a negro passenger named Gardner were killed.

Why the Bank Failed.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15.—W. E. P. Duvall, the expert appointed to examine the books of the lately suspended City Trust and Banking company, has filed a report, in which it is alleged that the troubles of the bank are due to loans made by Treasurer Frank J. Kohler to himself and personal friends. These unauthorized loans aggregated $154,000, of which $55,000 was loaned to Kohler himself. Kohler has left Baltimore and is said to be in the west.

Fatal Wreck on Pennsylvania.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 15.—East bound passenger train No. 22 on the Pennsylvania railroad was wrecked at the Cincinnati Northern railway crossing at Van Wert, O. Engineer Charles Eaton of Fort Wayne was killed. Fireman Boggs of Fort Wayne was fatally injured and a number of passengers received injuries more or less serious.

Dollar Wheat at Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 15.—"Dollar wheat" was at last seen on Change for the first time since the Leiter corner in 1898. It was cash wheat, and there were sales at that figure. Later $1.02 was asked and $1.01 bid, with no sales. The September option touched 85, the highest point in fourteen years.

Three Criminals Garroted.

HAVANA, Aug. 15.—Three men were garroted in Santa Clara province for the murder and robbery of a planter. All claimed to be innocent and refused the ministrations of a priest. Their relatives had come to Havana and had pleaded unavailingly with President Palma for clemency.

JAMAICA WANTS FOOD

Thousands at Port Antonio Homeless and Starving.

FEW BUILDINGS SURVIVED THE STORM

Sole Supply of Food Is Unripe Bananas Cooked In the Open. Railroad Sheds Filled With Refugees.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 15.—There are heartrending scenes all over the eastern and northern portions of the island of Jamaica. At Port Antonio thousands of homeless and starving people have sought shelter in the old prison and the few other buildings which survived the hurricane. Those who could not be thus accommodated are cowering in the lee of ruined walls and dismantled piazzas.

The railroad sheds and waiting rooms are filled with women and children. The merchants of the place are feeding the hungry to the best of their ability, but the majority are depending upon green, unripe bananas knocked down by the storm. The bananas are boiled in kerosene tins over open fires made from the debris of destroyed buildings.

This is their sole food supply, and it will be exhausted in nine or ten days. Similar conditions prevail at Annotta Bay, Buff Bay, Orange Bay, Port Maria, Manchioneal, Morant Bay, Bowden and other smaller seaports. In the interior the distress is equally acute. Scarcely a peasant's home is standing. Even the dwellings of the planters which are built of substantial stone have been unroofed with few exceptions.

The misery of the peasants' families is indescribable. Their homes and belongings have been literally blown away, and they are contriving rude shelters from fallen trees, palm boughs and banana leaves. Owing to the continued unsettled weather, with occasional torrential rains, these shelters afford practically no protection. Efforts are being made at Kingston to relieve the immediate wants of some localities by subscriptions of food and clothing, but the local efforts at best are totally inadequate. Unless immediate shipments of foodstuffs come from America deaths by starvation are inevitable.

The local hospitals in the wind swept districts are crowded with injured, and the death list is increasing. One man was beheaded at Port Antonio by a flying sheet of galvanized roofing. Many were seriously wounded by falling houses, trees and walls. Several houses located on the banks of the streams were carried away by the floods. The fate of their inmates is unknown, but it is feared that there have been many deaths from this cause.

The bulk of the Blue mountain coffee has been ruined, and the pimento groves, which stood for centuries, have been obliterated. It is now estimated that the loss on the island will reach $15,000,000.

Many villages on the island of Martinique suffered severely. Houses were blown down, trees uprooted and the crops ruined. At Mornevert the barracks of the gendarmerie collapsed, wounding two men. In this neighborhood the plantations were entirely destroyed. At Tivoli, which appears to have been the center of the greatest destruction, houses were blown over. The greater portion of the dwellings at St. Joseph were demolished or unroofed. The orphan asylum, the municipal building and the barracks of the gendarmerie were greatly damaged. Here also the church was ruined. At Chesmorne many houses were also unroofed and six persons were wounded. Beau Sejour was severely damaged. At Trinite several hundred houses were destroyed or unroofed and six schooners were driven ashore. One sailor was killed.

To Chester A. Arthur's Memory.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., Aug. 15.—Final announcement was made of the arrangements for the dedication Aug. 20 of the monument erected by the state of Vermont at Fairfield to mark the birthplace of President Chester A. Arthur. Ex-Congressman H. H. Powers of Morrisville will preside, and the speakers will be Hon. William E. Chandler, secretary of the navy under President Arthur, and Hon. Robert T. Lincoln.

White Caps Whipped Man to Death.

DUPUYER, Mont., Aug. 15.—Fourteen masked men, supposed to be cattlemen, took a herder from the sheep camp of Joe Sturgeon and, carrying him ten miles into the mountains, tied him to a tree and whipped him to death. They shot many of the herder's sheep and drove the remainder away. Sheriff Taylor and a posse are in pursuit of the White Caps.

Navesink Bank Is Closed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The Navesink National bank of Red Bank, N. J., was closed by direction of the acting comptroller of the currency after a conference by telephone with National Bank Examiner W. A. Mason, who has been engaged during the past few days in making a special examination of the bank.

Kentucky Has Hailstorm.

OWENSBORO, Ky., Aug. 15.—A section two miles square in Daviess county was visited by a destructive hailstorm. The damage to crops and property is estimated at over $50,000. Many acres of tobacco were ruined.

Lord Salisbury's Condition.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—Lord Salisbury, who has been seriously ill for two days, passed a fairly restful night. There is no material change, though Lord Robert Cecil says his father seems slightly stronger.

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily. Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder.

If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one or more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the entire body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders.

I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pains I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me. MRS. J. W. COOLBAUGH, Milo Center, N. Y.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Report Shows Favorable Conditions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Although the demoralization in the stock market was not due to depression in legitimate trade it threatened to cause a setback in business by unsettling confidence and rendering the money market unfavorable to the inauguration of new undertakings. Fortunately the season of liquidation appears to have ended without producing anything more disturbing than the postponement of several projected enterprises, and, with the restoration of confidence, investors are resuming consideration of these plans. From $84.20 on Saturday, the lowest point since 1900, the average of the sixty leading railway shares recovered over $3 and the principal industrial stocks made a still better showing.

Earnings of railways for August thus far show an average gain of 7.7 per cent over last year's figures and 16.3 per cent compared with 1901. Distribution of merchandise is very heavy, more interruption to traffic being recorded, and in staple lines prices are steady. Preparations for fall trade are vigorous, many manufacturers working overtime to fill importunate orders. Collections are fully as prompt as usual for the season, although in some lines there is less inclination to discount bills.

Bank exchanges for the week at New York were 5.6 per cent smaller than a year ago and 21.7 per cent larger than in 1902. At other leading cities there were gains of 7.2 and 17.9 respectively.

Farm products are firmly held, corn exhibiting notable strength owing to many private dispatches emphasizing the unusually slow progress toward maturity. Official figures of grain progress up to Aug. 1 indicate a larger total yield than the average for preceding years, although in no case is there prospect of a new record. Prices are sufficiently high to make up for a considerable loss in quality, and another prosperous season for agriculturists seems assured unless greater injury occurs than now seems imminent.

Wheat receipts for the week were 3,737,162 bushels, against 7,093,109 last year.

THE HURRICANE.

Tropical Storm Still Hovers In the Gulf of Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The tropical storm is still in the gulf of Mexico and apparently near the middle of the western portion. Some slight indications of its presence have been afforded by set swells that have been reported from Pensacola to Corpus Christi.

No reports have been received from Yucatan, but the director of the Mexican Central observatory reports that the storm is apparently in the center of the gulf and moving toward the coast of Tamaulipas with diminishing intensity. Tamaulipas is the state directly south of the extreme southern portion of Texas.

It is still considered dangerous for vessels to sail to or from west gulf ports. Hurricane warnings have been ordered displayed on the Texas coast.

Army Staff Officers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Two general orders have been issued by General Young as chief of staff of the army under the new law. The first states that in compliance with the instructions of the president he (General Young) relinquishes command of the army and assumes the duties of chief of staff. The second order announces the assignment of officers as assistants to the chief of staff: Major General Henry C. Corbin, adjutant general; Brigadier General William H. Carter; Brigadier General Wallace F. Randolph, chief of artillery.

Miners Are Lawabiding.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Aug. 15.—The strike committee issued a reply to the mine owners' manifesto which declared their intention to reopen their mines and called upon the men to return to work. The reply says that the miners quit work for a principle and will not go back until ordered to do so by their officers. It adds: "Regarding the offer of protection for men who desire to return to work no protection will be necessary because the miners are lawabiding men, and no trouble is anticipated."

Reported Lynching at Hartsfield.

ALBANY, Ga., Aug. 15.—Reports received here are to the effect that a white man named Thompson and King Wrightman, a negro, had been lynched at Hartsfield, in Colquitt county, sixty miles southeast of this place, for assaulting a white woman near Hartsfield. As soon as the assault was reported a posse was instantly organized. Wrightman, the negro, fled and had been hiding in the swamps. Thompson remained quietly at home and, it is said, made no attempt to escape.

Rochester Veterans Indorse Miles.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Aug. 15.—At the session of the Union Veterans' union national encampment a resolution was passed commending the administrative acts of Lieutenant General Nelson A. Miles. No reference was made to the differences between General Miles and the administration, but the majority of the delegates express themselves as disapproving the alleged slights that have been put upon General Miles by high officials of the government.

Mills to Succeed Tiernon.

BOSTON, Aug. 15.—It has become known unofficially that the successor of Brigadier General Tiernon as commander of the artillery forces in the forts forming the Boston defense is to be Colonel Samuel Myers Mills, at present in charge of the artillery maneuvers at Fort Preble, Portland.

A TURKISH SUCCESS

Sultan's Forces Have Occupied Krushevo.

CONSUL'S ASSASSIN PUT TO DEATH

Many Minor Engagements Reported In Monastir—The Porte Offers £16,000 to the Widow of M. Rostkowski.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 15.—The Turkish troops which have been operating against Krushevo, the Macedonian town which was held by the revolutionists, have relieved that place. Seven battalions had been concentrated there. The insurgent force which held the town was said to number several thousand men.

The Turkish gendarme Halim, who murdered M. Rostkowski, the Russian consul at Monastir, last Saturday, has been convicted and put to death.

The Turkish government has offered to pay £16,000 to the family of the murdered consul.

A number of encounters between revolutionists and government detachments have occurred in the vilayet of Monastir.

The insurgents attacked the village of Gumenidje, in the vilayet of Salonika. The attacking party threw bombs, but, according to official dispatches, was repulsed with heavy loss.

The ambassadors of the various powers have demanded that the porte guarantee protection to the consuls and subjects of their respective countries at Monastir. The grand vizier, Ferid Pasha, promised that effective measures should be adopted to that end.

The operations of the insurgents have created a panic in Monastir. The least movement on the part of the revolutionary committees results in the closing of the shops.

Similar conditions prevail in Salonika. The inhabitants are in constant fear that the slightest move on the part of the committees will cause massacres of the Bulgarians by Mussulmans.

A railway bridge fifteen yards long between Florina and Kenali has been blown up by the insurgents. The outbreak at the village of Gumenidje was a fiasco. The 150 villagers were relieved by a Turkish battalion from Salonika, which stopped at Gumenidje.

A revolutionary band numbering 1,500 has appeared in the Czernarka district.

A large quantity of ammunition intended for the Macedonian insurgents has been confiscated in the custom house at Belgrade. It was packed in wooden cases marked "Hardware" and "Nails."

Pope Receives Irish Knight.

ROME, Aug. 15.—The pope received in private audience several cardinals, archbishops and bishops. He also received Sir Thomas Esmonde, the representative of the Irish parliamentary party. Sir Thomas was left alone with the pontiff, and when he wished to kneel the pope most amiably stretched out his hand and asked him to be seated at his side. Sir Thomas Esmonde presented the congratulations of the Irish party upon the pope's accession, and the pontiff was much gratified, saying that the Irish were a very dear, loyal people and that he wished them all prosperity and happiness. Bishop Hendrick will be consecrated as bishop of Cebu on the 23d inst. at the Church of Santa Prassede. Cardinal Satolli will officiate at the ceremony. The pope has appointed Cardinal Martinelli protector of the congregation of the Sisters of Providence of Indianapolis, Ind.

Mining Disaster In Sicily.

ROME, Aug. 15.—A horrible disaster has occurred in the sulphur mine near Caltanissetta, Sicily. Gas in the mine became ignited and obstructed the exit of a hundred miners. The mine boss directed all the employees to save themselves if they could, while he, with five others, bravely remained on the spot in order to try to extinguish the fire. Three of the miners have died, and many others, although they succeeded in reaching the open air, are horribly burned and maimed. The mine boss and his five companions found an unused exit and escaped, but their condition is desperate.

Massachusetts Badly Damaged.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 15.—The battle ship Massachusetts, which sustained serious damage by contact with the pinnacle of Egg rock in this harbor on Wednesday last, has fifteen holes in her bottom, and a part of her rudder is gone. It is said that the water in the center of the ship has rendered her machinery useless and that in all probability she will have to be towed to drydock. Immense quantities of ammunition, coal and other stores have been removed from the ship.

Murder Suspect Held.

UNION CITY, Ind., Aug. 15.—The body of Daniel Rudolph, a thrashing machine operator near Rossville, ten miles northeast of this city, was found, with a bullet hole through the head, and his daughter Sadie, aged fifteen, was discovered in an unconscious condition, with a wound in the head, apparently made by a glancing revolver shot. George Potter, in the employ of Rudolph, was arrested.

Bank Closed, Cashier Gone.

MONTGOMERY, Minn., Aug. 15.—The Farmers and Merchants' bank of this place was not opened for business, and the whereabout of the cashier, B. A. Krainer, is unknown. The deposits run from $50,000 to $60,000, and the liabilities are estimated at $150,000.

While respect for our courts and judiciary is highly essential to the well being and order of all law abiding communities, yet courts and judges should see well that they do not abuse the power vested in their hands. The Missouri "contempt case" is what we have in view. It is certainly unfortunate that so called contempt cases could not be submitted to a jury. Any measure that shall sustain the highest respect for our courts is in the interests of civilization.

Up the Hudson.

History teaches us that Hudson, in his trip up the river which bears his name, was highly pleased with the marvelous scenic surroundings. Were he to make the trip today words would not express his delight, for in addition to nature's handiwork the embellishments by man have made the Hudson one of the grandest spots in the country. The New Jersey Central will run in connection with steamer St. Johns a popular priced excursion up the Hudson on Sunday, August 16, 1903. Rate to be $1.00 and train will leave Plainfield at 8:52 a. m. Fare for children half of above rate. Steamer St. Johns is one of the famous Sandy Hook fleet and is the best appointed and fastest excursion boat in the harbor. 8 7 td

TOLD IN WASHINGTON

Semi-Newsy Gossip from the Seat of the National Government.

CONTROVERSY OVER MILLER.

Magnificent Pillars of the Treasury Building Are Crumbling—How Gen. Davis Won Fame—The Son of Ben Wade.

Washington.—William A. Miller has become a national character all of a sudden. A few days ago he was simply a former assistant foreman of the bindery of the government printing office — discharged at that. Nothing heroic or attractive about a figure like that and no particular reason apparently why he should be forced into the public eye.

W. A. Miller.

But Miller was fortunate enough—or unfortunate enough—as others may prefer to regard it—to have incurred the enmity of the Bookbinder's union, of which he was a member, and to have had it entered on the records that his dismissal from the government printing office was due to his expulsion from the union. Then he became a national figure. President Roosevelt, to whose attention the matter was called, looked into the case and came to the conclusion that no organization had a right to dictate to the United States government what sort of men should be employed, and that the only expression on that subject must come through a duly enacted law of congress.

The law as it stands now expressly prohibits any such discrimination as that which worked to Millers detriment, and the president ordered that Miller should be reinstated. Whether he will remain in the government service remains to be seen.

The government printing office hereafter is to be an open shop, with all that the term implies. It will not help the members of the union to strike, because if they do they cannot get back under the law, without the special permission of the civil service commission, which they in striking would defy. Moreover, if they were to strike, the government would undoubtedly meet them by introducing machines in the printing office, which labor influence has hitherto succeeded in keeping congress from permitting.

Treasury Building Crumbling.

The pillars of the United States treasury are crumbling. That is not so startling a statement as it seems on first reading; because the pillars have nothing whatever to do with the financial stability of the concern. They are the sandstone columns on the east front which for a generation and more have presented to the view of visitors to Washington the finest Doric architecture in this country.

Hundreds of Cracks and Fissures.

There are 30 of them, each of them about 40 feet high, and taken together they create an imposing facade, which has won the admiration of architects the world over.

But, imposing as they are in appearance, there is a note of insincerity about them. They are built in pieces, each pillar containing seven separate sections, and they are built of sandstone. The columns on the north front of the treasury, on the contrary, are solid monoliths of Quincy granite, and while they are not so many in number, they are more impressive for that very reason.

Last summer Secretary Shaw bethought himself to clean the sandstone pillars on the east front, and he put to work on them a sand blast machine that in a few weeks had peeled from the surface the accumulated dust and grime of 30 years. The cleansing process has had two results. It has revealed to the most heedless eye the lines of division between the sections of the columns, and it has disclosed hundreds of cracks and fissures which hitherto had not been suspected. Some of the columns are cracked in scores of places like sunbaked mud, waiting only for water to settle and freeze there in order to wreck the entire column. In other places fragments of stone can be pulled out which crumble between the fingers like dry bread. It is proposed now to coat the columns with nicolite, a preparation which it is said will seal up the pores in the stone, rendering it impervious to water and acids. It is reckoned that this process may preserve the columns for 30 or 40 years longer; but sooner or later they will all have to be replaced by granite.

Whistler in Washington.

There is an old house at the corner of Twelfth and E streets, the lower floor of which is now occupied by a beer saloon, which 50 years ago had the distinction of harboring that eccentric genius, James Wehell Whistler.

A Bohemian Dinner with Whistler.

Whistler had lived so long in England when he died recently that few people ever thought of him as an American and yet he was born in Lowell, Mass., was a cadet for a time at West Point and was an humble employe of the coast and geodetic survey in Washington before he went abroad to live.

While Whistler was doing draughtsman's work in the coast and geodetic survey he had a little room in the house at Twelfth and E, two flights up and scantily furnished. He lived there as best he could on his pay of $1.50 a day. Finally he got into trouble with the landlord because he insisted on stopping on the way down stairs in the morning to scribble pictures on the unpapered walls. When the landlord remonstrated Whistler replied: "Now, now, never mind! I'll not charge you anything for the decoration." But in the end the artist had to seek other lodgings.

When Whistler was in Washington he had a friend in the Russian Charge d'Affaires de Stoeckl, who had been a friend also of the young man's father. Whistler invited De Stoeckl to dinner one night. He called for the diplomat in a cab, and they stopped at the grocer's, the confectioner's and the tobacconist's on the way in order to pick up the ingredients of the dinner. Then they climbed the rickety stairway to Whistler's den, and the Russian waited in amused surprise while Whistler flitted about the room preparing the repast. De Stoeckl used to say it was the most delightful dinner he ever attended in Washington.

Whistler was here only a little more than a year. Then he quit the government service without regret on either side and a little later sailed for the other side, where he remained until he died.

Feat of Gen. Davis.

Maj. Gen. George W. Davis, who has just been retired for age, has a splendid record as a soldier in two wars and as commander of the department of the Philippines, but probably he will be remembered longest in the service on account of his feat in connection with the completion of the Washington monument.

Major General Davis.

In 1884, when congress made an appropriation of $100,000 toward the completion of the monument, the chief of engineers examined that part of the shaft which had been standing for half a century and discovered that it was out of plumb. But just how much out of plumb nobody could say. The shaft was 197 feet high and looked like a factory chimney, and it didn't stand straight. That was sufficient to cast doubt on the possibility of raising it over 300 feet higher in the air, but nobody in the engineer's department could get at the problem.

Davis happened to be stationed in Washington and he said he could fix it. He was not an engineer, but an infantry officer, but they gave him a chance to try. The difficulty was in causing the plumb bobs or weights at the end of a string 197 feet long to remain perfectly steady while the observations were being made. Davis very simply got a barrel of New Orleans molasses and poured it into a glass vessel of the same size. The consistency of the mollasses kept the weight at the end of the string from swaying in the air; while the glass and the fluid were transparent enough to enable the variations to be accurately observed. It was found that the shaft was five feet out of plumb. Then came the question of straightening it and again the engineers were at fault. Again the infantry officer came to the rescue, and the president asked him to undertake the job. He straightened the shaft.

To Succeed Davis.

Davis' successor in the Philippines will be James F. Wade, now a major general who is interesting if for no other reason because he is the son of old Ben Wade, the militant senator from Ohio, who was president pro tem. of the senate when Andrew Johnson was president and who would have succeeded to the presidency had the single vote been forthcoming that was needed for Johnson's impeachment.

Senator Ben Wade Was Aggressive.

Wade has been regarded as one of the most fortunate officers in the army. His promotion for many years was exceedingly rapid and there was more or less jealousy among other officers for that reason, as it was inevitable there should be. But about the time of the war with Spain Wade's luck seemed to go back on him. He remained a brigadier general while others were promoted above him, until it really began to be talked of in the army that Wade was being shabbily treated.

He has the reputation of being a good, thorough officer, and he had a fine record in Cuba, but he is quite the antithesis of his distinguished father. Ben Wade was a stalwart, aggressive fellow who always seemed to be eager to get into a fight. The son is a quiet and modest gentleman, a good soldier, but not a born scrapper.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

Some Dainty Toilets For Street and Country Wear.

A most exquisite toilet recently seen in Paris was of cream sole de chine made with a cape collar of Irish point mixed with black chantilly lace and further decorated with Louis XV. bows of silver sequins and edged with a green and white fringe. The waist was encircled with a soft band of green peau de soie caught with Louis XV. clasps. The skirt was accordion plaited and decorated on the hips with the same Irish crochet and black chantilly lace, which also inserted the very full hem. The sleeves consisted of the material and two laces, disclosing the most attractive undersleeve of finely accordion plaited cream chiffon.

BATHING SUIT.

The hats of the autumn promise to be larger than ever.

An exceedingly smart tennis gown is of white linen with the skirt clearing the ground all around and box plaited from the waist. It is finished at the lower edge with three straight ruffles of different widths. The bodice is arranged in three large box plaits back and front, each plait terminating in a large embroidered motif below a shaped yoke piece of stitched linen. It was finished with a high collar and a chic stock.

The cut shows a bathing suit of embroidered red brilliantine.

FASHION NOTES.

Skirts More Voluminous—The Fashionable Coats of the Moment.

There is no doubt that skirts are becoming more voluminous and sleeves fuller than ever before, while dress is becoming more and more complicated with its insertions, incrustations and bands of muslin, chiffon and lace.

Half the coats are cut bolero fashion and the other half three-quarter length with snugly fitting waist lines. The long shoulders and pelerine collars are more popular than ever.

The accordion plaited skirts are very smart and are becoming to both tall and short people, if they have slender figures.

Although the hairdressers are trying to introduce the smoothly parted hair with the simple coil at the back of the neck, the styles demand a more fluffy type of hairdressing, and the loose wave and general fullness will be with us some time longer. The wreath is again revived especially for the debutante, whose favorite colors are white and rose pink.

MUSLIN GOWN.

Dead white Irish point lace is singularly heavy and hot in appearance, but the eye turns in pleasant relief to ecru tinted lace of filmy kind, which reminds one that the feeling for [illegible] blond lace is very much on the increase, as also is the furore for loose lace paletot. It is the very daintiest, quaintest and most adorable thought La Mode has permitted us to entertain for some time.

The illustration shows a pin spotted muslin gown.

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1903, by The Robert Company.

CHAPTER XXIV.

That was a gruesome night at Frayne. Just at tattoo the door leading to the little cell room had been thrown open, and the sergeant of the guard bade the four prisoners come forth—all warriors of the Ogallala band and foremost of their number was Eagle Wing, the battle leader. Recaptured by Crabb and his men after a desperate flight and fight for liberty, he had apparently been planning ever since a second essay even more desperate. In sullen silence he had passed his days, showing no sign of recognition of any face among his guards until the morning Kennedy appeared—all malice forgotten now that his would-be slayer was a helpless prisoner, and therefore did the Irishman greet him jovially. "That man would knife you if he had half a chance," said the sergeant. "Watch out for him!"

"You bet I'll watch out," said Kennedy, never dreaming that, despite all search and vigilance, Moreau had managed to obtain and hide a knife.

In silence they had shuffled forth into the corridor. The heavy portal swung behind them, confining the other two. Another door opened into the guardroom proper, where stood the big, red hot stove and where waited two blacksmiths with the irons. Once in the guard room, every window was barred, and members of the guard, three deep, blocked in eager curiosity the doorway leading to the outer air. In the corridor on one side stood three infantry soldiers, with fixed bayonets. On the other, facing them, three others of the guard. Between them shuffled the Sioux, "Wing" leading. One glance at the waiting blacksmiths was enough. With the spring of a tiger, he hurled himself, head foremost and bending low, straight at the open doorway, and split his way through the astonished guards like center rush at football, scattering them right and left; then darted round the corner of the guardhouse, agile as a cat.

And there was Kennedy confronting him! One furious lunge he made with gleaming knife, then shot like an arrow, straight for the southward bluff. It was bad judgment. He trusted to speed, to dim starlight, to bad aim, perhaps; but the little Irishman dropped on one knee and the first bullet tore through the muscles of a stalwart arm; the second, better aimed, pierced the vitals. Then they were on him, men by the dozen, in another instant, as he staggered and fell there, impotent and writhing.

They bore him to the cell again—the hospital was too far—and Waller and his aides came speedily to do all that surgery could accomplish, but he cursed them back. He raved at Ray, who entered, leading poor, sobbing little Fawn Eyes, and demanded to be left alone with her. Waller went out to minister to Kennedy, bleeding fast, and the others looked to Ray for orders when the door was once more opened and Blake entered with Nanette.

"By the general's order," said he, in brief explanation and in an instant she was on her knees beside the dying Sioux. There and thus they left them. Waller said there was nothing to be done. The junior surgeon, Tracy—he whom she had so fascinated only those few weeks before—bent and whispered: "Call me if you need. I shall remain within hearing." But there came no call. At taps the door was once more softly opened and Tracy peered within. Fawn Eyes, rocking to and fro, was sobbing in an abandonment of grief. Nanette, face downward, lay prone upon a stilled and lifeless heart.

Flint and his escort duly went their way, and spread their story as they camped at Laramie and "the Chug." The general tarried another week at Frayne. There was still very much to keep him there; so, not until he and "Black Bill" came down did we at other stations learn the facts. The general, as usual, had little to say. The colonel talked for both.

A woeful time, it seems, they had had with poor Nanette when at last it became necessary to take her away from her dead brave. She raged and raved at even her pleading aunt. Defiant of them all, from the general down, and reckless of law or fact, she vowed it was all a conspiracy to murder Moreau in cold blood. They gave him the knife, she declared, although it later developed that she had tossed it through the open window. They had given him the chance to escape—the sight of Kennedy, "who had striven to kill him twice before," and then of the blacksmiths, with their degrading shackles—all just to tempt him to make a dash for freedom—just as they had lured and murdered Crazy Horse—Crazy Horse, his brave kinsman, not ten years before—then had placed a dead shot on the path to life and liberty—a man who killed him in cold blood, as deliberately planned. These were her accusations, and that story took strong hold in certain circles in the far east.

Nanette said many other things before her final breakdown; and Hay and his sorrowing wife found their load of care far heaviest, for the strain of Indian blood, now known to all, had steeled the soul of the girl against the people at Fort Frayne, men and women both, against none so vehemently as those who would have shown her sympathy, none so malignantly as those who had suffered for her sake.

This was especially true of Field. In the mad hope of "getting justice," as she termed it, for the dead, she had demanded speech of the general, and, in presence of "Black Bill" and the surgeon, he had given her a hearing. It proved fatal to her cause, for in her fury at what she termed "the triumph of his foes," she lost all sense of right or reason, and declared that it was Field who had warned Stabber's band and sent them fleeing to unite with Lame Wolf—Field who took the trader's horses and rode by night with Kennedy to warn them it was Webb's intention to surround the village at dawn and make prisoners of the men. It was Field, she said, who furnished the money Moreau needed to establish his claim to a gold mine in the Black Hills, the ownership of which would make them rich and repay Field a dozen times over. It was Field who sought to protect her kindred among the Sioux in hopes, she said it boldly, of winning her. But the general had heard enough. The door was opened and Ray and Blake were ushered in. The former briefly told of the finding of her note in Field's room the night the adjutant was so mysteriously missing. The note itself was held forth by the inspector general and she was asked if she cared to have it opened and read aloud. Her answer was that Field was a coward, a dastard to betray a woman who had trusted him.

"Oh, he didn't," said Blake dryly. "'Twas just the other way. He couldn't be induced to open his head, so his friends took a hand. You got word of the outbreak through your Indian followers. You wrote to Field and sent the note by Pete, bidding him join you at that godless hour, telling him that you would provide the horses and that you must ride to Stabber's camp to see Moreau for the last time, as he was going at once to the Black Hills. You made Field believe he was your half brother, instead of what he was. You brought Moreau back to the post and took something. I can't say what, down to him from Mr. Hay's—he waiting for you on the flats below the trader's corral. You should have worn your moccasins, as well as a divided skirt, that night instead of French-heeled bottines. The rest—others can tell."

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Like the Dungeons of Old Is This Jail in Arizona

Hewn from Solid Rock Like the Prison of Monte Cristo—Thrilling Rescue of an Inmate During the Flood of 1891.

IT IS strange in this enlightened age to find in use a dungeon hewn from the solid rock after the fashion of the historic Chauteau d'If. But such a place exists, and in the United States at that. It is the "cooler" of Clifton, Ariz.

It is cut off into the rocky side of the mountain, a sort of T-shaped tunnel, with an adobe hut at the base of the T for an entrance. There are two small apertures to admit air, so cut above that only for a few minutes on sunshiny days do the rays reach the two cells which compose the jail.

The crossbar of the T tunnel is divided into the two cells, each 6x12 feet, and when a visit was made to the place a few weeks ago they had six Mexicans in one cell and four Chinese in the other. When the sun's rays disappear candles are lighted. Reading or even card playing is impossible. One candle is allowed each cell.

Sanitation there is none, drinking water is brought to the prisoners in cans, and as for baths and shaving, that would sound to a criminal of that country like stopping in a palace. After 100 days in such a place a prisoner reappears looking like a dime museum representative of a wild man.

To intensify the bad conditions, the weather in that part of Arizona is almost continually hot. To think of a place not as large as an ordinary bathroom containing 12 to 14 drunken Mexicans, as is often the case after payday, carries one far back in history.

The jailer is about as queer as the jail. He has a grizzled visage, covered with almost white whiskers, and hair to match. Neither hair nor whiskers have been cut or trimmed for years. In the past he has done duty as a miner, but now he earns his three meals by keeping the keys to the iron door and bringing food and water to the prisoners.

The jail was blasted out of the rock in 1880 by the Longfellow Mining company, and used by them to put away the miners when they had partaken of too much firewater.

As the town of Clifton grew and became more pretentious a jail was found necessary, and the city officials have, with the permission of the mining company, made use of the dungeon.

The river flows between the city and the "cooler." A story is told how, during the flood of 1891, a character of Clifton known as "Friday" came near "passing in" through the route said to be in force in some of the Russian prisons.

"Friday" had done something which put him out of society for a short retirement and was enjoying the solitude when the flood broke on the town. The river rose in a single night and carried away the only bridge for a known distance that led to the other side. Higher and higher rose the river, and by the middle of the next day it had touched the adobe house at the entrance of the jail. "Friday" had been forgotten in the excitement. In viewing the rise of the water some one thought of poor "Friday."

A brilliant thought struck the sheriff. He painted a large sign, "Get Friday Out of the Bullwax," and stood it up so that the miners on the other side could read it. Signals were passed back that it was understood, and shortly they could be seen working along the cliff to the jail.

It was impossible to work the bars free, so they had to cut another opening down through the top. This was ticklish work, for it means blasting, and a heavy charge would have finished "Friday." All the day and night they worked, taking the rock away in blasts as large as they dared use, but it was slow work at the best, and by morning it became a race between the rescuing party and the flood.

Just before noon, nearly 24 hours after the sign had been painted, the last charge sent a shower of rock on the poor man and the opening was made large enough to set him free. "Friday" was found in the water to his waist and bleeding from the last blast, but by the time the waters had subsided and he was able to get to town he was none the worse for his experience except that he became a better citizen through his wholesome fear of the county jail.

STRANGER IN GOTHAM.

Starts to Explore the Wonders of Broadway and Gets Into All Kinds of Trouble.

It was evident, says the New York Press, that a dignified stranger from the south had come to town for the first time and was exploring Broadway. He stole a glance at the flower girl on the corner and jammed his left shoulder into a Wall street banker. Both grunted. As he turned to apologize to the banker a blow in his side whirled him around, bringing him face to face with a young woman who seemed in a dreadful hurry. He sprang lightly aside to let her pass and came down on the toe of a portly Vesey street merchant, who scowled viciously, paid no attention to his "I beg youah pahdon, sir," and hastened on. A long beam on the head of an Italian swung round, taking the stranger's silk hat off. His quick stoop to rescue it suddenly checked the rapid progress of a member of congress, who swore softly. The impact sent Sir Dignity down toward the pavement so fast that he put one hand through the crown of his hat. Gathering in the wreck, he started to straighten up, when the back of his head caught the chin of the garter man of the Park bank, putting that worthy's jaw out of business.

A kind-hearted policemen then gave him some useful advice, which he thus jotted down in his memorandum book: "To see Broadway: Push right along as if you are trying to catch a train. Look neither to the right nor left. Don't see anybody. Don't try to get out of anybody's way. Never stop to apologize, even though you knock a man in the gutter. Walk straight ahead and he will think it was his own fault. Don't lose your temper."

NICE SORT OF GHOST.

Spirit of a Woman Leads an Old Prospector to Fabulously Rich Vein of Gold.

Old John Willis, a prospector, who has been a familiar figure on the streets of Pendleton, Ore., for several years, will prospect no more—he has found a gold mine so rich as to place him in the ranks of the country's millionaires.

Willis has just returned from a long visit to the Blue mountains, and the tale he tells is remarkable, to say the least. With him he brought a sack full of big nuggets, which have been examined by half the assayers, who pronounce them pure gold running nearly $22 per ounce.

The aged prospector has interested two of the bankers of this section in his find, and a party of workmen will proceed at once to the claims of Willis in the hills.

Willis has always been a man of mystery. He appeared on the streets of Pendleton many years ago, but as to his history he always has been silent. That there was a romance in his life he had admitted, but the nature of it he never would disclose.

He has been regarded as eccentric in many ways, and when he announced on his return the other day that he had named his mine the "Haunted Luck" he was looked on as unbalanced.

It is the claim of Willis that he was led into the mine, which he claims is a world-beater, by the ghost of a woman named Lucy. This woman has been with him in the spirit, he says, for more than 25 years, and to her he lays his good fortune.

This is the first time that gold has been found in considerable quantity in the Blue mountains.

ROD AND REEL.

Gilbert Murray and Patrick Muldoon, who went fishing yesterday at Perth Amboy, returned to this city late last night with a catch of thirty weak fish and two big eels.

The West End Fishing Club went for a day's sport on the Raritan yesterday. When they departed their bait cans were heavy and their hearts were light. On their return their cans were light but their hearts were exceedingly heavy because their catch had fallen far below their anticipations. The three men in the boat, to say nothing of the dog, were Patrick Muldoon, James Day and Gilbert Murray.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

If there is any place in this State where dishonesty would be least expected it is at Ocean Grove. This resort had its origin in a religious purpose. It was planned as a seaside campmeeting ground, and for many years it enjoyed the confidence of the weary thousands who rested within its sacred precincts as the one place upon this continent where thieves would not break through and steal, and where dishonesty could gain no foothold. In its early days, when tents were largely in excess of more permanent dwellings, men and women left their money and jewels protected with nothing stronger than the double bowknots with which the flaps of the tents were tied together. It was a little earthly Eden of repose and rest and perfect safety, says the Newark News.

But the serpeant entered; the thief gained access; the money and the jewels were stolen, and now even the tents are few in number, and strong houses with bolted doors and iron fastenings on the windows tell a tale sadly suggestive of the change that has taken place in Ocean Grove. It is true that the campmeeting features are maintained, and that a vast auditorium holding 10,000 or more worshippers has been built. It cannot be denied that tabernacle services, young people's meetings, beach meetings and regular services in a dozen churches, more or less, present tangible evidences that the religious foundations of the early days of Ocean Grove have been enlarged and built upon; but when 5,000 cents are taken up at a single collection from an audience of 10,000, as was recently done, it would seem as if the true religious spirit of former days had lost in depth when it had gained in breadth, and had been thinned out amazingly.

To add to the unpleasant suggestions which Ocean Grove's expansion forces upon the minds, the presiding bishop, addressing 8,000 worshippers in the auditorium last Sunday morning, denounced the dishonesty practiced every day within the very limits of the auditorium itself. It appears that among the thousands who attend the religious meetings and oratorios that are held in this great building there are at each service from seventy-five to 100 persons who lose articles of clothing, books, souvenirs, mementoes, etc. Those who find them know that they are lost, know that their owners want them, know that they may be prized far beyond their intrinsic value, know where to take them, but only about one person in five is honest enough to see that the aricles are handed to the superintendent of the building. Four people out of five who find lost articles, after listening to the sweet, inspiring music, and hearing the most eloquent and forceful sermons, will steal the articles they find by wilfully taking them home and appropriating them to their own use.

If an Apache Indian ties up his tepee and sticks a little twig in the ground in front of it, he can go away and be gone for an hour or a year, and when he returns he will find his tent absolutely untouched by his tribesmen. Whatever is his is held to be sacredly his by the inviolable rules of uncivilized honesty. Not so in Ocean Grove. Whatever is lost there by one person and found by another is appropriated by the latter four times out of every five; and this in the sacred precincts of the house of worship. Nor is it necessary to heap too great contumely on Ocean Grove for this gross dishonesty—the more gross because it is petty. It is well-nigh universal among civilized people. It is the dishonesty of little things, growing out of the lack of profound moral conviction; the failure to appreciate that theft is theft, be the stolen article of great vaue or small. It is highly probable that ninety-nine out of a hundred of the Ocean Grove Auditorium petty thieves would be shocked at the idea of taking a hundred or a thousand dollars, yet they will steal a little book, a ring, a watch charm or something of the kind that they find in a church pew. It is a little singular, to say the least, that the fundamental principles of right and wrong are so lightly applied in the places in wihch they are taught.

RAGGED WORK IN SATURDAY'S BASEBALL

Scotch Plains Appeared to Have Stage Fright in Their Game With Westfield.

FIELDING WAS WEAK

ST. MARY'S AND HOPE HAD A BATTING BEE AND COMEDY OF ERRORS.

Aeolians Went to Asbury Park and Downed the Locals—Results of Other Games—Alis Management Could Not Arrange Game.

Poor playing was the rule in Saturday's baseball games. Scotch Plains' infield worked like a lot of "selling platers" and were responsible for most of Westfield's five runs. Westfield played clean-cut baseball. Considerable "dummy" work characterized the St. Mary's-Hope game, as the score of 18 to 10 indicates. Alis did not appear on the diamond as their management had been obliged to cancel the game scheduled with New Brunswick.

WESTFIELD, 5; SCOTCH PLAINS, 1.

The Scotch Plains' ball team, Saturday afternoon, went down in defeat before Westfield at Recreation Park, in one of the poorest games of the season. The home team played rings around Manager Johnston's colts and had they been able to bunch hits would have snowed them under. Westfield put up a fine game in the field and on bases and Scotch Plains played like a lot of "barn stormers" doing a one-night stand. The only redeeming feature of their exhibition was the work of the outfield. The infielders seemingly outdid themselves in their efforts to present the game to Westfield. Several little infield flies were allowed to come down to earth while the players did the "you first my dear Gaston" act. Chick's work at short was ragged. Several balls went through him that he would have "eaten up" in other games. As to throwing he could not seem to find first base at all; but he was not the only offender.

It is a wonder Davis pitched as good a game as he did, with such support back of him. When little pop flies to the infield have to be recorded as hits, it is enough to take the heart out of any pitcher. The two teams meet again on Saturday afternoon on the Westfield diamond and unless the Scotch Plains team recover from their dope Manager Denman's pets will add another victory to their list.

ST. MARY'S, 18; HOPE, 10.

"Aw Gee, I could do better'n that myself," said a juvenile fan at Saturday's St. Mary's-Hope game and judging from the character of play the urchin could doubtless have made good his boast. The game was loose from start to finish, a see-saw contest, with seemingly half hearted work on the part of both teams, finally won by good batting for St. Mary's with a score of 18 to 10. The runs came in bunches on both sides and some of the innings resembled merry-go-rounds. Hope started off with three and St. Mary's with six and the Saints kept their advantage throughout. Neither pitcher was in his best form. Carr gave four free passes to first and Montross two. Three St. Mary's men were unable to play and their places were filled by substitutes who put up a game well up to the standard of the regulars.

GARWOOD, 8; WATCHUNG, 6.

The Watchungs met defeat on the Madison avenue grounds Saturday at the hands of the Garwood A. C. in a decidedly ragged game. The locals played anything but baseball. When in the field they distinguished themselves by making as many errors as possible, and when it came their turn to wield the stick they batted as if they were using broom handles. Thorn pitched a fairly good game and would no doubt have pulled out with a victory if he had received any kind of support The visiting pitcher struck out twelve men without making very much of an effort. DUNELLEN, A. C., 2; BOUND BROOK, 1.

In an extremely exciting game of baseball the Dunellen A. C. defeated the Bound Brook team by a score of 2 to 1, Saturday afternoon, on the latter's field. The Dunellen team started off in the first inning with two runs and were unable to work a man around the bases again. Ettlinger was in fine form and the Bound Brook team, who had batted him so freely the week before, were unable to connect with his puzzling curves. Bradley, the crack New Brunswick pitcher, twirled for the Bound Brook boys and put up a fine game. The line-up was as follows:

Dunellen—Ettlinger, p; Brown, c; Daily, 1b; Charles Smith, 2b; Griscoll, 3b; Giles, ss; Rosberg, lf; Giddes, cf; Smalley, rf.

UNDER HORSES FEET.

Mrs. Weeks Passed Between the Wheels and Escaped Injury—Continued Her Shopping.

Mrs. Emeline Weeks, of Madison avenue, narrowly escaped severe injury this morning while crossing the street at the corner of Park avenue and Second street. She was on her way toward Front street at about half past ten and was struck and knocked down by the horse of Patrick Leary, of South Plainfield. Although horse and wagon passed entirely over her, she was between the wheels and was unhurt.

Mrs. Weeks, who is an elderly woman of defective eyesight, crossed directly in front of the brewery wagon and alarmed Leary's horse, which became uncontrollable. She was struck by the horse's shoulder and thrown directly beneath its feet. When picked up by Policeman Overbaugh she was carried into Schreiner's drug store where an examination by Dr. W. K. Browning showed her to be uninjured. She subsequently continued her shopping. Leary had lost control of the horse and was not held responsible for the accident.

Rev. Scott Wallace is Preaching Such Forcible Sermons Because He Plans to Get Married.

Rev. Scott Wallace, the pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, delivered a special discourse last evening, taking for his text "Why halt ye between two opinions?" There was a large attendance and considerable interest in the service. The pastor denounced fortune-telling and witchcraft and urged his people to forsake that sort of teaching and to follow Christ.

The congregation was somewhat surprised at the close of the sermon, when "Rev." George Jones, the stepson of the pastor, and former superintendent of the Sunday-school, announced that the reason the pastor was preaching such forcible sermons was due to the fact that he is about to take unto himself a new bride. Her name was not announced, but Mr. Jones stated that she does not live in Plainfield. The important event will take place in the near future.

FIRST MESSAGE FROM THE FRONT

Campers at Lake Hopatcong Arrived Safely at Their Destination Saturday.

ONE ACCIDENT ALREADY

EDWARD TEXIER WAS STRUCK IN THE EYE BY A CHIP.

It Happened While He Was Chopping Wood to Make Space for a Tent—The Supply of Baggage Was Large—Letter to Press.

Camp Hope, Lake Hopatcong, Sunday, Aug. 16—The Hope campers arrived safely Saturday noon, with baggage and provisions plentiful. The campers carried 2,000 pounds of baggage and as it was necessary to change cars twice on the trip, once at High Bridge and again at Hopatcong Junction, the lightning speed with which the boys shifted their own baggage, furnished much amusement for the large train load of passengers. As soon as the lake was reached, three tents were pitched. Besides the two large sleeping tents there is a big dining room and a commissary's tent. Dinner was at 8 p. m.; boys were nearly starved.

Saturday passed off with but one accident. Edward Texier was cutting a tree to make space for a tent, when a chip struck him in the eye, cutting the lid and causing him much pain. The wound was dressed by Judge Runyon and "Tex" was put to bed. Four members of the Y. M. A. arrived at camp Sunday morning. They were "Comedian" B. Collins Firstbrook, John "Pie" Cose, Vincent W. Nash, Jr., and Fred Breem, one of the bravest firemen of the city of Plainfield. Theordore Shirley, who was a great help in getting things settled, left Sunday night for his home in Plainfield.

ADVENT OF TWINS.

Caused Merry Time at Their Christening Saturday—Children of Michael O'Brien.

A christening was held Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Michael O'Brien, at 841 Richmond street, in honor of their twins, Mary and John O'Brien. The affair was extremely pleasing and dancing and music were features.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Green, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Connolly, Mr. and Mrs. James Bernow, Mr. and Mrs. James Dunney, Mr. and Mrs. John Corrigan, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick D. Corrigan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Kaeting, Mr. and Mrs. John Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. John Harley, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Guinee, and Mr. and Mrs. John O'Day; Henry Cassedy, James Maloney, James McDonald, of New York; Martin McNamara, Michael Dillon and James Maloney, of Elizabethport; William Hogue, John Conway, James Fitspatrick, Patrick Corrigan, John Brabban, Joseph Sweeney, Patrick O'Brien, Harry Phelan, and Misses Lizzie Corrigan, Emily Corrigan, Minnie Howden, Mary O'Brien, Mary Corrigan, Mary Flynn, Maggie Flynn, Nora O'Day, Hannah Lynch, Mary Hanlon, Jane Reutch, Mary McCabe, Annie Dixon, Margaret Flattery and Delia Nolan.

GIVEN AN OVATION.

Assemblyman Swackhamer Greeted With Enthusiasm by Six Thousand Farmers.

Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer received an ovation from six thousand farmers at Lake Grenell, where he spoke Saturday afternoon, to the people of the northern part of Sussex County. The great square, where the speechmaking took place, was filled. Congressman Hughes, of Paterson, preceded the North Plainfield speaker and when the latter climbed upon the platform he was greeted with loud acclamations of "Governor," "Abe Lincoln" and applause which took several minutes to subside. Wednesday, August 19, Mr. Swackhamer will speak at the Farmers' Alliance near Franklin Park.

Death of Mr. Harris.

Juniah Harris, of Philadelphia, a well known resident of Plainfield up to 1865, died Thursday at his home in Philadelphia. Mr. Harris had been ill for some years and died of Bright's disease. He was seventy-two years of age. The funeral and interment were held yesterday at Philadelphia.

THREE HUNDRED DOLLAR FIRE

A DOUBLE HOUSE ON WEST THIRD STREET WAS THREATENED.

Colored People Became Frightened and Alarm Was Delayed—Building Owned by Jerry Manning.

Fire broke out in the double house situated at 649 West Third street at 8 o'clock Saturday afternoon and for a time threatened destruction to the building. The cause is unknown although the flames are believed to have started in a closet on the second story rear bedroom of the apartments occupied by Robert Yetman. They spread rapidly through the room, reached the garret and swept over to the other side of the house. There was delay in giving the alarm caused by a panic among the colored folk who reside in that locality and some time elapsed before an alarm was sounded from box 45. At the arrival of the department, the fire was so far advanced as to make it necessary to lay three lines of hose. It was quickly controlled. The loss, which is covered by insurance, will amount to three hundred dollars, principally to Yetman. Mrs. Eliza Williams, the other occupant, suffered considerable damage from water. The building is owned by Jerry Manning.

IN JAIL 2,015 DAYS.

Charles Williams, of This City, Has Been Committed 37 Times Since 1880.

Charles Williams, of this city, who was brought to Elizabeth Friday evening and lodged in jail to await the action of the grand jury, charged with the larceny of a coat, has an unenviable jail and prison record. For various offenses he has been committed to the Union County jail on 37 different occasions. The actual time served by Williams in the Union County jail, not counting the time of waiting for trial, is 2,015 days. He has also served one year in State Prison and several sentences in the Somerset County jail. His first commitment was June, 1, 1880. His sentence on that occasion was 15 days.

Detective Sergeants Tuite and Wriggins, of Newark, with a detective from San Rafael, Cal., are scouring the summer resorts along the Jersey coast for Dr. John D. Wood and his wife, at whose home in California Colonel William J. Best died last April. A son of Colonel Best notified the Newark authorities a few days ago that he had seen Dr. Wood on a train passing through Asbury Park, but he did not know what his destination was.

Dr. Wood is a former resident of Plainfield.

IN CITY COURT.

Mayor Jenkins Acted in the Absence of Judge Runyon.

In the absence of City Judge Runyon, Mayor Jenkins acted as cadi in the city court this morning. Two cases were brought up for trial. Emil Lindgrin was arrested by Patrolman Flynn in the West End yesterday afternoon, charged with fighting while in a drunken condition and resisting arrest. The Mayor gave him his choice of five dollars or twenty days and he parted company with the five spot rather than take a vacation. Sameul Rushmore appeared under the charge of riding without a light on his automobile. He was dismissed without sentence after a warning. Joseph Gavett failed to appear to answer a charge of riding a bicycle on the sidewalk.

ATTENDANCE OF 405.

At a Sunday-School Meeting at Hope Chapel Yesterday.

The Sunday-school rally, which was planned for yesterday at Hope Chapel, did not take place, although special singing was a feature of the regular Sunday session. Rev. Titus E. Davis, Secretary of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union, delivered an address to the pupils which was especially interesting to the members of the Christian Endeavor Society of the chapel. The secretary's report showed the attendance at the session yesterday to be 405. The excursion tickets were distributed to the scholars.

—No one knows how low Neuman Brothers' prices are until he trades there. Tomorrow morning they will have on hand a shipment of 50 baskets of Jersey Mountain Rose peaches, 25 baskets of Delaware peaches, a shipment of Colorado Rockyford melons and 25 baskets of fancy Maryland melons. Right prices; best quality.

PARK CLUB.

Leon R. Thurlow proved a new factor in the weekly play for the President's cup at the Park Golf Club, Saturday, winning the first three points with a net score of 80. This gives him a total of six points and places him among the leaders. J. H. Howell captured second honors and a total of six. T. W. Morris, Jr., and Samuel Townsend tied for the one remaining point with an 86 net, Townsend, as a result, tying for first position.

In the competition for the Park Golf Club cup, scratch event, Morgan T. Townsend won first honors, giving him a total of eighteen and a substantial lead. T. W. Morris, Jr., was in second position and brought his total up to 15½ points. Charles B. Morse and Samuel Townsend divided honors for the one point, which gives the latter a total of three and the former a point and a half.

These scores were turned in for the two cups:

Leon R. Thurlow, 101, 21—80; J. H. Howell, 101, 16—85; T. W. Morris, Jr., 95, 9—86; Samuel Townsend, 100, 14—86; Charles B. Morse, 100, 13—87; George T. TWO QUALIFIED AT WESTFIELD.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Aug. 17—There was a rather small attendance on the Westfield Golf Club course on Saturday, for the continuation of play in the preliminary tournament for the President's competition. A. D. Tuttle with a net score of 76 and H. W. Gladwin with a net of 86, were the two to qualify. Play will continue as at present for two more Saturdays, when the sixteen who have qualified will compete for four Saturdays in September for the President's cup. Those who have thus far qualified are: Charles Hansell, F. P. Condit, C. E. Halsted, J. A. Woodward, B. L. Townley, M. L. Fouquet, A. C. Campbell, E. D. Floyd, E. H. Faulkner, L. D. Compson, A. D. Tuttle, H. W. Gladwin.

The standing in the Halsted best-hole competition:

C. E. Halsted, 35; M. L. Fouquet, 37; R. L. Townley, 37; Charles Hansell, 38; F. P. Condit, 39. This competition will continue for two more Saturdays and a prize will then be awarded the winner of first place.

MRS. BLACKFORD DEAD.

Had Suffered for a Long Time From Paralysis—Funeral Will be Held Wednesday.

Mrs. Ann Janett Blackford, widow of the late Stelle Blackford, died yesterday morning at about 5 o'clock, at her home on East Second street. For a long time past she had been an invalid and for two years was unable to talk on account of paralysis. Only a few days ago she suffered another stroke. Notwithstanding her long illness and intense suffering she was patient through it all and her brightness and cheerfulness in her affliction were often remarked by those who knew her. She was a devoted Christian and a member of the First Baptist Church. It was just about a year ago that her husband died.

Mrs. Blackford was a daughter of Jefferson and Jane Dunn, of Plainfield, where she was born. Afterward she lived in Piscataway, from which place she moved to Plainfield about four years ago. She was 67 years old and she leaves a daughter, Mrs. John Brokaw, with whom she lived, and a son, Herbert Blackford. The funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 in the afternoon at Mrs. Blackford's late residence. Rev. J. A. Cubberley, of South Plainfield, will be in charge, assisted by Rev. Dr. Yerkes.

CONCUSSION OF BRAIN.

Resulted to James Gardner From a Fall From His Carriage—Taken to the Hospital.

While James Gardner, with a companion, was driving to Westfield this forenoon, he was thrown out of the carriage and suffered concussion of the brain. He was taken to the hospital in the ambulance in an unconscious condition and the physicians at present cannot tell how seriously he is injured.

Gardner's companion says that a rig was engaged from a local livery and that while they were driving past Dr. Coles' place on the Springfield road near Scotch Plains, the horse made a sudden turn. The wagon was upset and the occupants thrown out. Gardner struck on his head, but his companion was not injured. Word was sent to this city and the ambulance was dispatched to the scene of the accident. Gardner is a carpenter.

TALKED TO CHILDREN.

Eric Moraller Yesterday Addressed Children at Fresh Air Home.

Eric Moraller, of this city, who is training for Y. M. C. A. work at the Springfield, Mass., Training School for Young Men, delivered an interesting address at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home yesterday afternoon. To the children and their parents at the home the talk was most interesting. "Except ye become as a little child, ye shall not enter the kingdom of Heaven," was the text chosen for the address. Willie Ponsford, a little boy with a remarkably clear voice, sang several selections for the children and George Krause, of Cranford, gave a short talk upon the "Love of God." Many from this city attended.

MAMMOTH OUTING FOR SWEDISH CHURCHES

Young Peoples' Societies of Congregational Churches of N. Y. and N. J. Met.

AT EDGEWOOD GROVE

MUSIC AND SPEAKING AT MORNING AND EVENING SERVICES.

Dinner Occurred at Noon in the Grove — Participants Included Prominent Men From New York and Philadelphia—Details.

A mammoth outing of the members of the Young People's Societies of the Swedish Congregational churches of New York and New Jersey was held at Edgewood Grove on Somerset street all day yesterday. Congregations from all the Swedish churches within a radius of several miles, augmented by numerous delegates from churches in New York and distant part of New Jersey joined in special services at the first of the annual outings planned by the Young People's Society.

On account of delay in railroad connections, the services for the day did not commence until 11:30 in the morning. These services were held in the open air in the grove where a platform had been built for the speakers. A small parlor organ furnished the music for the singing.

The morning celebration was attended by nearly three hundred members of the Swedish churches and was carried on according to the following programme: Singing by congregation, Bible reading and prayer by Rev. C. M. Ahlberg, of Montclair; solo by Professor J. Scott, of Philadelphia; address of welcome by Rev. L. T. Lindholm, pastor of the Swedish Church in this city; vocal duet by Miss Emma Petterson and Miss Elizabeth Strandberg, of East Orange, with guitar accompaniment; address by Rev. Otto Nelson, of New York City, singing by the congregation; solo by Professor J. Scott; address by Rev. C. W. Holm, of Philadelphia; vocal duet by the Misses Petterson and Strandberg with guitar accompaniment.

At the close of this order of exercises, an excellent dinner was served to nearly 150 at the Edgewood House in the grove. This was in charge of Josef Tinglof, assisted by the ladies of the church.

During the noon intermission, almost two hundred more members arrived from New York and the afternoon session opened at 3 o'clock with an attendance of five hundred. The order of service was as follows: Singing by the congregation, Bible reading and prayer by Rev. Julius Quist, of New York City; singing by a picked choir of fifteen with guitar accompaniment, address by Rev. C. W. Holm, of Philadelphia; singing by the congregation; solo by Professor J. Scott; selection by the picked choir; address by Rev. C. J. Peterson, of East Orange; reports from various pastors and informal speeches and selections, both vocal and instrumental, benediction and farewell by Rev. Theodore Englund, of Perth Amboy.

After this session, coffee was served to all and the various delegations departed for home. The meeting was exceedingly successful and the society has decided to make it an annual affair. Good collections were taken at both morning and afternoon sessions and the money will be devoted to church work.

Sermon by Mr. Tulp.

"Every Life a Plan of God," was the subject of A. P. Tulp's discourse in Trinity Reformed Church, yesterday morning, from the text "As the clay is in the potter's hand, so are ye in My hand; O House of Israel," Jeremiah 18:6. Mr. Tulp's sermon evidenced much care and thoughtfulness in preparation and delivery. He held the close attention of everyone from his earnestness in presenting the truth.

Lost Their Two Children.

A weight of affliction has fallen upon Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dorlon, of Dog Corners, in the loss of their two children, Walter, aged five months, and Grace twenty-three months. Their deaths occurred yesterday from a severe form of stomach trouble. The funeral services for the children will be held this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from 1088 Arlington avenue.

Not Engaged.

The reported engagement of Thomas H. Stafford, of Grove street, to Miss Edith Makenzie, of Brooklyn, is entirely without foundation. Mr. Stafford knows no young woman by that name and desires the report contradicted.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. P. H. LaTourette, of East Fifth street, is entertaining Mrs. William DeMott, of Stanton, N. J., and Mrs. George Laine, of Raritan.

Up the Hudson.

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and developement. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

THE WORLD OF SPORT.

Sunday Ball Games at Troy, Newark and Chicago.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 17.—By hitting the ball hard at the right time the Newarks took two games from Rochester and are once more in the first division, from which they were displaced. Harry O'Hagan was hit in the head by a pitched ball in the fourth inning of the second game and fell like a log. He was unable to continue, and Dillard took his place. The game was called in the sixth on account of darkness. The scores: First game—Newark, 11; Rochester, 5. Second game—Newark, 4; Rochester, 1.

Washington Beaten Twice.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—Chicago won two exciting and close games from Washington. The first was a shutout in which not one of the visitors reached third base. The locals won the second by bunching hits in the third inning. Both teams fielded perfectly. Scores: First game—Chicago, 2; Washington, 0. Second game—Chicago, 3; Washington, 1.

Pittsburg Defeated Troy 6 to 3.

TROY, N. Y., Aug. 17.—The National league Pittsburg team defeated the Troy State league team here by a score of 6 to 3. Pittsburg found Wiltse, Troy's pitcher, a stumbling block, making but five hits.

Chicago Lacrosse Team Wins.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—The last of this season's series of lacrosse games between St. Paul and the Calumets of Chicago was played here and ended in a victory for the local team by a score of 10 to 2.

SEELEY'S ASSAILANTS.

Capture of Farrell and Leclair at Providence, R. I.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 17.—James H. Farrell and Fred Leclair, the self confessed assailants of Isaac B. Seeley, the New York manufacturer, were captured in this city by Captain Cannon and Detective Nickerson of this city and Sergeant Reap and Detective Hughes of New York as the men landed at the dock of the Joy line from the steamer Larchmont. They resisted arrest, but were finally overcome and taken to the Central police station, where after a short time the younger of the two, Leclair, confessed. The other man later corroborated the statement of Leclair.

The prisoners have been taken to New York. They stated that they entered Mr. Seeley's office on Friday morning on a pretense of soliciting the work of washing his windows, attacked him, beat him into unconsciousness and robbed him of about $60 in cash and a gold watch. In the course of the struggle an office boy who came to the old gentleman's assistance was also assaulted.

The men were traced on the assumption that they had started for Fall River, where Leclair's mother resides. They were easily identified by the contrast in their height, as Farrell stands over six feet, while Leclair is barely five feet high.

ERIE TRAIN WRECKED.

Flier Ran Into Open Switch at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 17.—Shortly after leaving here the Cleveland and New York flier express on the Erie railroad was wrecked at the Literary street crossing in the eastern part of the city by running into an open switch.

Fortunately the train was running slowly at the time, and in consequence no one was killed, though a number were seriously injured.

When the passenger train ran into the open switch it struck a switch engine, and though the train was not running over fourteen miles an hour the impact was terrific.

The baggage car was derailed and badly split and thrown on to the edge of a steep embankment. None of the other cars were derailed.

Engineer John Roser and Fireman Albert Hartman, both of Meadville, Pa., did not have time to jump and were badly shaken up. Engineer Burns of the switch engine and his fireman also remained on their engine, Burns receiving serious injuries to his back.

The flier carried about 100 passengers, may of whom were cut by flying glass.

Massachusetts Will Be Dry Docked.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 17.—The temporary repairs to the battle ship Massachusetts were continued under the supervision of Naval Constructor Gilmore, and it is expected that the ship will be ready to sail Thursday for Brooklyn, where she will be dry docked at the navy yard. The ship was further lightened by the removal of additional stores and the water pumped out of all but one compartment, which contains about 100 tons. It is not thought necessary to remove this before the ship is dry docked.

International Horse Show.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 17.—An international exhibition of American horses has been decided on for the week of Sept. 28 to Oct. 3, 1903, in this city. Well known horsemen and lovers of horses from all parts of the United States and Canada constitute the membership of the association. There are seventy-six classes for the various kinds of utility and pleasure horses. The exhibitions will be held annually, and the prizes will be increased from year to year.

Collision on the Nickel Plate.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., Aug. 17.—A rear end collision occurred between two west bound freight trains on the Nickel Plate line near Irving. An unknown man who was stealing a ride was burned to death in gasoline from a wrecked tank car. Several cars of the train were destroyed by fire.

WOMAN DIED FROM SHOT.

George Brenner Arrested, but Afterward Released.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 17.—Mrs. John Burr, aged thirty years, was found in a house on West Chestnut street dying from a bullet wound in her breast. She died a few minutes later. Her companion, George Brenner, was arrested on suspicion of having murdered her. He was released upon the finding of the coroner's jury that the woman had committed suicide. District Attorney Groff, however, was not satisfied by this verdict and states that he will keep Brenner under surveillance and investigate further.

Mrs. Burr was known also as Lillie McNary, passing as the wife of a bill poster now with a traveling circus. Brenner is an iron worker and lives in this city with his wife and children.

Brenner claimed that he was sleeping beside Mrs. Brenner, who was fully dressed, when a pistol shot awoke him. He found her sitting on the bed crying that she had shot herself. Arising, he said, he hastily donned his clothing, shoved the revolver, which he found in the bed, into his pocket, and then gave the alarm. The revolver was found in his possession. His shirt front was blood stained. The revolver belonged to Mrs. Burr, and it is said she frequently threatened suicide.

RIOT AT BENWOOD.

Strikers and Nonunion Men Clash. Two Men Wounded.

WHEELING, W. Va., Aug. 17.—The striking machinists and the nonunion men who replaced them at the Riverside plant of the National Tube company clashed, and many shots were exchanged, making a wild riot in the streets of Benwood. For four hours an indiscriminate battle raged between the two forces.

Although 1,000 shots were fired, but two men are known to have been hit by the flying bullets. Clay Hoover, a passerby, was struck in the left knee, and another man was wounded in the leg. He was quickly carried off by the strikers, and his name could not be learned.

Hostilities began about 5 o'clock, when an aged man was set upon and badly beaten by a crowd of strikers. He was badly cut and bruised about the head and shoulders and is in a serious condition. This was followed by two other assaults upon nonunion men, who were terribly beaten on their way home from work. The nonunion men then armed themselves, and battle lines were drawn.

The police finally succeeded in dispersing the warring factions, and the streets were cleared.

WANTS TO SWIM RAPIDS.

Jack Glanister of Boston Stopped by Niagara Police.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Jack Glanister, the Boston swimmer, who said he would dive from the cantalever bridge and swim the rapids below Niagara falls, left this city with the avowed intention of performing the feat that cost Captain Webb his life. He was accompanied by Captain Doncilan of New York and Dr. Drummond of Newark, N. J.

The Niagara Falls police refused to allow Glanister to jump from the bridge, and the swim through the rapids was postponed. Both ends of the bridge were guarded by police. The other bridges across the river were also guarded.

When Glanister appeared a police sergeant ordered him to leave the falls at once. The officer boarded a car with Glanister and escorted him to the city line, the latter returning to Buffalo. Glanister says he will swim the rapids some day this week.

Pope Receives Bishop of Manila.

ROME, Aug. 17.—The pope at 5 o'clock received in private audience in his apartment Archbishop Harty, who has been consecrated archbishop of Manila by Cardinal Satolli, with whom he spoke at length about the situation in the Philippine Islands, showing himself fully conversant with the state of affairs there. Pius X. said the efforts of the clergy toward the pacification of the archipelago and the triumph of Catholicism would always receive the warmest support at Rome. He presented Archbishop Harty with a beautiful episcopal pectoral cross. Archbishop Harty then presented to the pontiff his secretary, Mgr. W. Fowler, and Father Donohue of Alabama, to both of whom the pope addressed very kind words.

Viceroy Will Help Russian Policy.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 17.—The press here unanimously dilates on the magnitude of the powers conferred on Vice Admiral Alexieff, the new viceroy of the Amur territory and the Kwantung province, as even exceeding the authority conferred on the governor general of the Caucasus during an insurrection and explains the difference as being due to international complications. The newspapers agree that the innovation strengthens the Russian position in the far east and renders immediate action on the spot a more easy matter.

Shaw to Speak at Dedication.

MORRISVILLE, Vt., Aug. 17.—Secretary of the Treasury Leslie M. Shaw came here for a few days' visit at the home of his mother, Mrs. G. C. Shaw. Secretary Shaw will speak on the occasion of the dedication of the soldiers' memorial building in Stowe.

RUSSIA IS SATISFIED

Murder of Consul Rostkovski Avenged.

PERPETRATORS HAVE BEEN HANGED

It Was Proved That the Sentry Who Fired the Fatal Shot Committed the Crime Without Provocation.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 17.—The following telegram has been received by the government authorities from Dr. Mandelstam, who succeeded M. Rostkovski, the murdered Russian consul at Monastir, giving an account of the court martial of the murderer:

"After proceedings extending over four days the military court, presided over by Edhem Bey, gave judgment. During the trial I exercised the rights and privileges of a public prosecutor in view of the circulation of the outrageous calumny that the consul had insulted and struck the Turkish sentry and even that he had shot at him.

"I insisted that before the court gave judgment it should clear up the circumstances of the affair. By replying to a series of questions put by myself the court found as follows:

"The sentry did not give the consul a military salute. The consul first beckoned to him and then left the carriage and asked the man his name. It was absolutely proved that M. Rostkovski neither shot at Halim, the sentry, nor in any way insulted him, but that Halim immediately fired at the consul several times and when the consul fell stepped up and fired again, with the rifle close to the consul's head, afterward battering his temples with the butt end of his rifle."

"Halim was charged with the actual murder. Another sentry named Abbas, who was present, was charged with having failed to afford the consul any protection, and two other sentries, Seineli and Assin, who were present at the time of the murder, but the former of whom tried to excuse his comrade, were also brought before the court on charges of perjury. The chief of the gendarmerie was charged with having placed at important posts wild Albanians who could not even speak Turkish.

"Second Lieutenants Ismail Hakki and Salich Kadri were prosecuted because on the way to the Russian consulate after the murder in speaking with the schoolmaster, Misirkoff, they referred to the murdered consul in coarse and insulting terms.

"The court martial sentenced Halim and Abbas to death, Seineli to fifteen years and Tewfik to five years' penal servitude. The officers, Ismail and Salich, were sentenced to be dismissed from the army.

"Hussein Hilmi Pasha stated that he had received an order from Constantinople to carry out the sentences immediately. The two men sentenced to death have been hanged and the officers dismissed from the army. The chief of the gendarmerie of the vilayet, the chief of the gendarmerie of the city of Monastir and the captain of the company to which Halim belonged have been deprived of their commands and handed over to the judicial authorities."

Unidentified Couple Asphyxiated.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 17.—The odor of escaping gas led to the discovery of the dead bodies of a man and woman in a room of the Adams House, on George street. A gas jet in the room was turned on, and it was evident that the deaths were due to asphyxiation. Although many people viewed the bodies, there has been no identification. A card found in the man's pocket bore the address "Stephen Kumba, 109 Orange street, New Britain." The woman who engaged the room gave her name as Annie Gumerer. It is believed that both were Poles. The couple are said to have registered as "R. Smith and wife" when they engaged the room. A pay envelope of the Winchester Repeating Arms company found in the woman's purse bore the name "Annie Gumerer." The woman was apparently twenty years old, while the man was fifteen or twenty years older. Both were well dressed.

Cyclone at Yucatan.

MERIDIA, Yucatan, Aug. 17.—A tropical cyclone here did much damage and coming in the night created a panic. The wind tore up great trees by the roots, blew roofs away and destroyed houses and plantations. Great damage was done in a very short time. Efforts were made to save small vessels, but about twenty of those in the port of Progreso were cast upon the shore. The cyclone destroyed hundreds of bales of pennequin and cotton at Progreso ready for shipment.

Wilkesbarre Will Be Terminal.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 17.—General Manager Culver of the Delaware and Hudson railroad has announced that hereafter Wilkesbarre, instead of Binghamton, will be the terminal of the road. Albany to Binghamton was formerly the main line, but now from Oneonta, N. Y., to this city will be the principal run. The dangerous grade between Carbondale and Wilkesbarre will be abolished, the track being dropped from four to ten feet.

Bryan at an Eastern Funeral.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 17.—A telegram received from William J. Bryan said that he would be in New Haven Wednesday to attend the funeral of the late Philo S. Bennett of this city and New York, who was killed by an accident in Idaho. Mr. Bennett was a close political friend of Mr. Bryan.

Salisbury Is Better.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The Marquis of Salisbury is reported to be slightly better.

TERRIBLE CATEGORY

Bulgarian Government Complains of Porte's Tyranny.

MURDER, TORTURE AND PILLAGE.

A Memorandum to the Great Powers From Sofia Deals With the Terrible Condition of the People Under Turkish Rule.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 17.—The Bulgarian government has presented a memorandum to the powers setting out at great length the condition of affairs during the past three months in Macedonia since the Turkish government undertook to inaugurate the promised reforms. The most precise details, dates, places and names of persons are given in the memorandum, the whole constituting a terrible category of murder, torture, incendiarism, pillage and general oppression committed by the Ottoman soldiers and officials.

These particulars were obtained entirely from official sources, such as the reports of the Bulgarian consuls and agents of the Bulgarian government, and in many instances the reports made by Turkish authorities. The Bulgarian government guarantees the absolute truth of every statement and challenges the porte to disprove a single charge made in the memorandum.

The memorandum begins by stating that during the past three months the Ottoman government has taken a series of measures with the alleged intention of inaugurating the era of promised reform and of assuring peace and tranquillity to the Bulgarian population of European Turkey, but which have had the contrary effect of further exasperating this population and reviving the revolutionary movement. Instead of proceeding solely against persons guilty of breaches of the public order the military and civil authorities have sought every possible pretext to persecute, terrorize and ruin the Bulgarian inhabitants, alike in the large cities and in the small villages.

Wholesale massacres, individual murders, the destruction of villages, the pillaging and setting fire to houses, the arrests, ill treatment, tortures, arbitrary imprisonment and banishment, the closing and disorganizing of churches and schools, the ruining of merchants, the collection of taxes for many years in advance—such, proceeds the memorandum, are among the acts of the Ottoman administration of the vilayets of Salonika, Monastir, Uskub and Adrianople.

Beginning with the vilayet of Salonika, in the town of Salonika itself the Bulgarian professors of the university, the students and shopkeepers—in fact, all intelligent Bulgarians in the city—have been cast into prison. One hundred and twenty soldiers entered the village of Gorna-Ribnitza May 19 and tortured to death five men and two women. During the first three weeks of July twenty-five villages in the district of Tikvesch were subjected to the depredations of the Turkish soldiers and Bashibazouks. The villagers were beaten and tortured, the women violated and the houses plundered while the administrative authorities looked on.

In the vilayet of Monastir artillery bombarded and razed the flourishing town of Smerdesch, the houses being left a heap of ruins. At the beginning of July two Greek bands, with the connivance of the authorities, pillaged Bulgarian villages and murdered many of their inhabitants.

In the vilayet of Uskub the entire Bulgarian population has been systematically persecuted since last May. The director of the normal school at Uskub was imprisoned because his library contained the "revolutionary" works of "Othello" and "Les Miserables." In the districts of Palanka, Koschani, Koumanovo and Gostigar the prisons are filled with Bulgarian priests, schoolmasters and merchants. During June the soldiers and Bashibazouks terrorized the inhabitants of the Schtif district, torturing the people with redhot irons. Similar atrocities perpetrated in the vilayet of Adrianople are cited.

Altogether the memorandum gives particulars of no less than 131 individual and general cases of excesses and outrages committed by the Turkish authorities. In summarizing the specific details of the outrages mentioned the memorandum declares that wholesale massacres were perpetrated by regulars and Bashibazouks in the town of Salonika and the villages of Baldevo, Banitza, Tchourilovo, Karbinza, Moghila, Smerdesch and Enidje, while the scenes of carnage, pillage and incendiarism were everywhere terrible. At Smerdesch over 200 Bulgarians were shot, killed with swords or burned to death. Over 250 houses and the churches and schools were set on fire by the soldiers and Bashibazouks in neighboring places. Similar scenes occurred at the villages of Gorna-Ribnitza, Igoumenetz, Dobrilaki and Nikoden. The villagers there abandoned their homes and fled to the mountains.

Over 3,000 men, women and children fled from the sanjak of Seres and even more from the sanjak of Kirkklise.

It is difficult to obtain the exact number of Bulgarians who were imprisoned, mostly on the flimsiest pretexts, as when they were released others were immediately arrested. The estimates obtainable give a grand total of 2,800. Encouraged by the Ottoman authorities the Greek bishops and archimandrites forced their way into the Bulgarian churches, burned the prayer books and employed menaces to compel the people to acknowledge the patriarch. The archimandrite of Salonika declared in a recent sermon that the sultan did not want Bulgarian exarches in his empire. If they remained they would be exterminated.

In addition to the decree banishing the Bulgarian tradesmen from Constantinople and Salonika the ports adopted measures to ruin the traders elsewhere. The governor of Monastir issued an order April 23 forbidding Bulgarians to go abroad or even to Constantinople. This order was interpreted to prevent Bulgarians going to any large city and forcing them to deal only with Turkish merchants, who would gradually ruin and supplant them. The provincial administration employed every possible means to install Mussulmans in the Bulgarian villages. On the slightest pretext the Bulgarians were forced to sell their lands to the Turks at any price the latter chose to pay. Burdened with taxes, liable to perform statute labor for the Turkish landowners, the population is reduced to a state of serfdom. This is one of the principal causes of discontent, and when is added the exactions of the tax gatherers it is not difficult to understand why the wretched people should revolt from such a despotic government and servitude.

"Not long ago the porte denounced the revolutionary movement as being fomented by Bulgaria and tried to put the responsibility on this principality. Today it must acknowledge that it is its bad administration which is the only cause of the trouble. From sad experience the porte must learn that systematic persecution, cruel injustice and bloody repression do not restore order and peace in a country. By these acts the Ottoman administration can be judged. What must be the result of all this? Tired of waiting the fulfillment of promises of better conditions and driven to despair, the Bulgarian population have thrown themselves into a revolution which is now spreading far and wide.

The British ambassador has called the attention of the porte to the serious situation in Macedonia. He pointed out that grave consequences may attend fresh murders of consuls or foreign subjects.

The recapture of the town of Krushevo was effected by three Turkish columns operating from different points. The bombardment by the Turkish artillery exploded a number of dynamite mines behind the rebel intrenchments, causing considerable damage. The insurgents then retired to the mountains, where the fighting continues. A large number of insurgents took refuge in the church of the town, and the Turkish military commandant asked Constantinople for permission to bombard the church. In reply he was instructed not to bombard it, but to accept the surrender of the insurgents. Negotiations to this end are now proceeding.

In the fighting around Perlepe 100 insurgents were killed, and the inhabitants of 100 Bulgarian villages have surrendered their arms and have been pardoned. A dozen villages in the neighborhood of Perlepe have been occupied by troops.

The porte denies the report that it has armed 5,000 Mussulmans in the vilayet of Uskub.

According to reports General Zoncheff, the president of the Macedonian committee, who was arrested by the Bulgarian police near the Macedonian frontier, has escaped from Bulgaria into Macedonia.

The insurrection in the Balkans is spreading and daily gaining ground. The headquarters of the revolutionary forces is the high plateau of Baba Pelister, which is considered the key to the vilayet of Monastir, and the insurgents are strongly posted at all the strategical points on the roads leading to Monastir and Salonika.

TURKS BUY KRUPP GUNS.

Porte Does Not Fear Russian Naval Demonstration.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 17.—The Ottoman government has concluded negotiations with the Krupp works for the supply of thirty-two batteries of quick firing artillery, each consisting of six guns.

The officials here affect ignorance of the news that Russia is sending a squadron to Turkish waters. They say that two divisions of the Russian Black sea fleet, which recently assembled for the usual autumn maneuvers, left Batoum three days ago, and some of the vessels will probably visit ports on the Turkish Black sea littoral, as was the case last year, but the movement has no significance, and they scout the idea of a Russian naval demonstration.

Ill Health Caused Suicide.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Stephen E. Hall of Aurora, Ill., a protege of Senator Albert J. Hopkins, has killed himself in his room here. Hall shortly before ending his life had suffered great pain, due to some stomach trouble, and had applied at a nearby drug store for a certain medicine which the druggist was unable to supply. He was a clerk in the department of commerce and labor. The only known relative of Hall is M. B. Downer of Chicago.

Lutheran Synod In Session.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 17.—The ministers at the meeting of the joint synod of the Lutheran church in session here took up the discussion of the reasons for which a minister was entitled to resign from his congregation. The question was discussed with animation by the visiting delegates. Encouraging reports from the pastors of the different congregations of the synod were heard during the afternoon.

THE NAVAL REVIEW

President Roosevelt Steams Through Fleet.

SALUTES FROM SHIPS' GREAT GUNS

Many Dignitaries Are the Guests of the Nation at Oyster Bay. The Fleet Presents a Grand Pageant.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Anchored in four straight columns in Long Island sound just off Lloyd's Neck point the north Atlantic fleet was reviewed by President Roosevelt, the fleet having made a leisurely run from Bar Harbor, Me. The fleet made a pretty picture as it came down the sound in single file, the Kearsarge, the flagship of Rear Admiral Barker, senior officer in command, leading the way. Circling to the south, the four battle ships, the Kearsarge, the Alabama, Illinois and Texas, and the cruiser Baltimore came to anchor 500 yards apart and formed their station as the first squadron of the fleet for the review.

Then the second squadron, under Rear Admiral Coghlan, consisting of the flagship Olympia, the Topeka, the Yankee, the Prairie and the Panther, fell into position, anchoring in column 800 yards to the north of the first squadron. Following these, the torpedo destroyer flotilla, in two divisions, anchored, the one on the Long Island side of the battle ships and the other on the Connecticut side of the cruisers. Thus the squadron was disposed in four long lines reaching more than a mile.

There are four rear admirals in the fleet, and the loss of the Massachusetts through her running on a rock and of the Indiana through her having to stand by the Massachusetts has diminished the command to two rear admirals. The Massachusetts and Indiana both belonged to the division of Rear Admiral Sands, and this left him with but one ship, the Texas. The Baltimore was taken from the command of Rear Admiral Coghlan and added to that of Rear Admiral Sands. Thus Rear Admirals Sands and Coghlan have each but two ships in their divisions, the Texas and Baltimore, under Rear Admiral Sands, and the Olympia and Topeka, under Rear Admiral Coghlan. The Yankee, the flagship of Rear Admiral Wise, commands the second division of the cruiser squadron.

The president went on board the Mayflower at 8:30 o'clock. With him were Admiral Dewey, Rear Admiral Taylor, chief of the bureau of navigation; Read Admiral Rodgers, commandant of the New York navy yard; Captain Brownson, commandant of the Naval academy; General Chaffee, Sir Thomas Lipton, Colonel Sherman Crawford, Mr. Oliver Iselin, Mr. Butler Duncan, Captain Woodbury Kane and Mr. Frederick G. Bourne, commodore of the New York Yacht club.

The Mayflower passed in review at 9:30, steaming to the head of the south column, then along the south side of that column, between it and the torpedo flotilla, passing around its west end and steaming back along the north side of the north column, finally anchoring between the columns. Each ship fired the presidential salute as the Mayflower passed.

After the Mayflower came to anchor the flag officers and commanding officers called upon the president. At 1:30 o'clock the Mayflower steamed to the eastward, followed by the fleet in single column. The Mayflower stopped while the fleet passed in review. The fleet then continued down the sound, and the Mayflower returned to Oyster Bay.

Aimed Shot at Wife; Hit His Child.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 17.—While crazed with drink Michael McElligott, an employee of the Boston and Albany railroad, shot at his wife with a 32 caliber revolver and, missing her, wounded his four-month-old child, which the woman was holding in her arms. The bullet entered the child's body underneath the heart, and as it did not strike any vital organ there is a possibility that it may recover. When the police arrived the man at first threatened them with the gun, but finally threw it in the stove and surrendered.

Chicago Will Celebrate Its Birth.

CHICAGO, Aug. 17.—This is the one hundredth anniversary of the permanent settlement of Chicago. Aug. 17, 1803, Lieutenant Swearingen of the United States army landed with a company of troops on the lake front and began the construction of Fort Dearborn. Chicago will celebrate the anniversary by a jubilee Sept. 26 to Oct. 1. A citizens' committee has progressed well in perfecting plans for the celebration.

Vesuvius Again Active.

NAPLES, Aug. 17.—The eruption of Vesuvius has somewhat increased. The stream of lava flowing from the crater is divided into two branches. The longer reaches a distance of 2,600 feet in the direction of the village of Ottajano; the other is now 2,300 feet toward Pompeii.

Buggy Wrecked by Trolley.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 17.—A buggy containing four persons was struck and wrecked by a street car on the Electric park line. Mollie Berens was fatally hurt and ten others were seriously injured. The motorman and conductor were arrested, but later released.

AMUSEMENTS.

The last few weeks of "The Earl of Pawtucket" at the Manhattan Theatre prior to its taking up its habitation at another Broadway house is announced, beginning today. Evidence that the interest in this comedy has not decreased is shown by the fact that there is still a brisk demand for the seats four weeks in advance. This is prompted by the fact that the play does not discontinue its run for a single performance.

Lawrence D'Orsey, whose inimitable personation of Lord Cardington has created a sensation, still continues to make the house echo and re-echo with laughter over his merry eccentricities.

The last three weeks of the comedy at the Manhattan Theatre will be marked by the appearance of Miss Marguerite Hayden, the daughter of the late William R. Hayden, the American manager, in the part of Ella Seaford. There are several other changes in the cast that will tend to strengthen it and make the comedy, if possible, more enjoyable for the thousands of people who have visited it during the last seven months and who will see it again as well as the thousands yet to come.

An exchange commenting on the fact that a New York man was saved from drowning by clinging to a beer keg says that this should be tallied in favor of the beer keg as against the many it has caused to sink.

It is frequently stated that the Swedish people in the United States make as good citizens as any that come to us from Europe. They are sober, industrious, clear-brained. Their churches are strong and useful. Their leaders teach the doctrine of faithful citizenship in the country of adoption. It was with more than ordinary pleasure then that Plainfield witnessed the gathering of the members of the Swedish Young People's societies from two States within the borders of North Plainfield on Saturday. The speakers and musical performers were able and instructive and proclaimed the value of the work that is being accomplished by the societies.

The efficiency of Plainfield's fire department is probably a leading cause for the city's popularity as a home. When you have a total loss of only $825 from fires in more than seven months in a city of 18,000 population, you may understand that the building inspector and the fire department are working with a full knowledge of their duties. Chief Doane's doctrine that the first five minutes at a fire are the most important of all is sound common sense. Citizens should remember always, however, that part of the responsibility for the prevention of fires and the besting of them when once started rests with them. Unless prompt notification of a fire is sent to headquarters the department cannot be expected to utilize the first five minutes that are so valuable.

The Third Week of the AUGUST FURNITURE SALE

opens with as much interest to bargain seekers as ever, and prices are lower than you will find them at any other time of the year. This is not a weeding out of old stock or shop-worn goods, but simply an unloading of surplus stock to make room for fall goods soon to arrive, and to make what would otherwise be a dull month one of the busiest of the year, and by so doing we never have any old stock to offer.

Our Entire Line of DINING CHAIRS

at the following prices, in sets of six:

Set No. 1—7.35, regular price 1.35 each.
Set No. 2—8.95, regular price 1.65 each.
Set No. 3—9.98, regular price 1.85 each.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

A rather peculiar wager on the coming yacht race was made the other day between John McMahon and Tom Costello. Mr. Costello is betting on the Shamrock and Mr. McMahon is backing Sir Thomas Lipton. They are puzzled now as to how they will decide who has won.

An interesting pie eating contest took place in the borough Saturday evening. Charles Lake, Robert Lowrie and John Campbell were the participants and Mr. Campbell, being the last man to finish, was allowed the pleasure of paying for the pies.

William Liable has accepted a position at Levering & Garrigues' Iron Works. He entered upon his new duties this morning.

Mrs. Daniel Tinan, of Cincinnati, who has been the guest of her brother, Johan Logan, for the past week, has returned home.

Joseph Kelley, who was injured while at work in the yard of Levering & Garrigues' Iron Works last Monday, has recovered.

Walter Vliet, Peter Zimmer and Alexander Lee journeyed to Bayonne yesterday and witnessed a ball game.

The local order of Foresters held funeral services over their dead brother, John Hartnett, last evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the Dunellen Building Loan will be held this evening in the coal office.

The appearance of the Whittier School has been very much improved by a new coat of paint.

Manager Smith, of the Dunellen A. C., is spending his vacation visiting friends in the borough.

A large number of young folks enjoyed an outing at Riverside Park Saturday evening.

Engineer John Rogan, who has been on the sick list for the past week, has returned to work.

Edward Barron, of New York, is visiting Robert Carpenter, of New Market road.

Miss Mildred Tinan, of Newark, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. John Logan, this week.

James Dumphy has returned home after a few days' visit with friends in Trenton.

William Dealaman was in New York on business Saturday.

NEW MARKET.

The Piscataway Township Protection Society for the detection of thieves and burglars will hold their annual meeting this afternoon in the Randolphville School house for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year. The retiring officers are: President, W. M. Drake; secretary, W. F. Randolph; directors, W. M. Drake, John Smock, B. D. Giles, C. S. Boice, J. E. Meeker, E. Runyon, S. D. Walker, W. P. Dunn, P. A. Runyon and G. Drake.

A party of young men from Dunellen, while rowing on the lake yesterday afternoon ran the boat on a rock and knocked a hole in the bottom. The boat began to fill rapidly and the young men reached shore barely in time to escape a drenching.

Ground has been broken for the new residence which is to be erected by Dr. Whitford on the corner of Prospect avenue and Center street.

A party of pleasure seekers have arranged to attend the Knights of Columbus' picnic at Riverside Park this evening.

Bass fishing has been much better during the past week and several fine ones have been caught.

William Danz has resigned his position at Pond Tool Works.

Frank Fletcher entertained city friends over Sunday.

Sam Dent visited friends in Somerville on Saturday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

A number of those from the village who attended the ball game on Saturday, were charged a 10-cent fare from Recreation Park to the village through their not being acquainted with the complicated transfer system adopted by the trolley company. The company's franchise compels them to carry patrons from Terrell road to the B. and O. bridge for a 5-cent fare, but the only way this can be done is to get a conductor's ticket when the fare is paid.

Rev. George Shaw, of the Methodist Church, has started a series of Sunday evening open air praise and prayer meetings in the village. Mr. Shaw does not intend to make any attempt at sensationalism, but believes there is need of such evangelistic work not only in Scotch Plains but in every town. He says there is always a certain class of people who cannot be reached in any other way.

A large "Red Devil," which was turning the corner at the hotel Sunday morning, ran over a chicken. The Park avenue and Front street corner is especially dangerous as the hotel hides everything from view until the turn is made and chauffuers, in rounding the corner, should be compelled to exercises greater care.

The arrest and conviction of Nicholas Delnero, on Saturday morning, for overloading his team in hauling stone from the stone crusher, is only the first of a number of cases which will probably be brought up by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

There is some "kicking" in town about playing next Saturday's game on the Westfield diamond. The fans think the game belongs in Scotch Plains. Westfield can furnish better accommodations, however, and get a higher admission, having enclosed grounds.

The news of the marriage of Dennis C. Crane, a former resident of the village, who recently moved West, has been received. Mr. and Mrs. Crane are spending two weeks at Asbury Park.

MacManus received quite an ovation from the Westfield fans when he came up to the plate in the game on Saturday afternoon. Mac was so embarrassed that he struck out.

"How to Use Tact in Dealing with Men," was the topic discussed by the members of the B. Y. P. U., at their weekly meeting held last night in the church parlors.

Miss Josie Herbert, a prominent worker in the North Baptist Church, of New York, was the guest yesterday of Mrs. G. M. Shott, of "The Manse."

Miss Sadie Reger, of the corps of teachers of the public school, has been spending part of her vacation with friends at Boston, Mass.

Rev. B. W. Hand, of Plainfield, occupied the pulpit at the Baptist Church Sunday morning. No evening service was held.

Members of the Epworth League, of the Methodist Church, enjoyed an interesting weekly meeting of the League last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dobbins, of Park avenue, have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Newman, of Newark, for a few days.

The "invincibles," of Plainfield, crossed bats Sunday afternoon with the Rahways, on the diamond at Buffalo.

Thomas Emery, a former resident of the village but now of Bayonne, was the guest, Sunday, of friends in town.

Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company meets in monthly session in their rooms tonight at 8 o'clock.

William Hosinger was the guest, Sunday, of his mother, Mrs. Frank Hosinger, of Park avenue.

REPTILE ON HIS ARM

Perilous Adventure of Locomotive Engineer in Kentucky.

With Big Rattlesnake Coiled About Him He Stuck to His Post and Then Steamed the Reptile to Death.

With a big rattlesnake coiled around his left arm and his right hand gripping the reptile just back of the head, which, spread agape, showed the pink forked tongue and the poison fangs that held certain and agonizing death, Engineer Johnnie Clark, of the Louisville & Nashville railroad, guided his train over the Kentucky Central branch of the Louisville & Nashville. The brave engineer knew that to quit his post would mean a wreck and endanger the lives of the passengers, so he held the reptile at bay with one hand while he manipulated the lever with the other, despite the fact that the heavy coils of the reptile wound about his arm made it difficult for him to move. Finally he brought the train safely to its next station, and after stopping it put his dreaded companion to death in a unique manner.

Clark was bringing No. 11 down from Paris to Rowland. Between Lancaster and Paint Lick are two tunnels, both located in a remote and rocky section. In the high ledges and crags the rattlesnake, or, as the scientist terms it, the crotalus herridus, makes its loathsome den.

On Monday, a week ago, a rattlesnake appreciating the hygienic value of a sun bath, coiled itself on one of the rocks just above the longest tunnel. Clark brought No. 11 through, and just as his cab passed the snake, dislodged from its post by the jar or having fallen in fright, landed in the cab. Seeking to escape, it ran up the reverse lever, and before Clark had realized its presence, had coiled about the engineer's left arm.

It was fortunate for Clark that the reptile did not attempt at once to strike.

THE COILS TIGHTENED.

If it had it would have meant the end of Clark and the probable destruction of the train. But the snake, after wrapping around Clark's arm, swayed to and fro a moment, fixing its stony eyes on the engineer. The coils tightened, the neck arched, the jaws slowly opened and Clark heard the buzz of the rattles.

At that sound Clark realized that it was time to do something and gripped the snake just below the head with his free hand.

His first thought was to tear the reptile off and throw it from the cab, but with one arm held by the snake and the other engaged with its head he could not do this. His train was also jumping over the rails at a rapid speed on a rough part of the road, and he knew he could not take any chances.

Mile after mile sped by with Clark keeping off the snake and running his train. Rowland was near, and if he could reach the station and stop the train he would be able to finish the rattler. The fireman, terror-stricken by the very sight of the rattler, was back on the tender, not daring to enter the cab.

Rowland drew near and Clark reversed the lever. The train slackened its speed and the engineer brought it to a stop at the station. The fireman leaped from the cab and fled.

Then with his left hand Clark opened a stop cock, while with his right hand he brought the snake's head into the steam that poured forth. The ugly body writhed as the snake, under the pain of its execution, tried with all its strength to get away. But Clark, although his hand suffered some from the fiery stream, doggedly held on until the snake's writhings grew more and more feeble and finally ended.

The rattler measures three feet six inches and had eight rattlers. Clark took the body to Cincinnati, where he will have it mounted and hung in Superintendent Hood's office. The rattles will be used for a watch charm.

The Hen Is a Cosmopolitan.

The hen embraces nearly all the world, and its range would be as great as that of the dog if it extended farther north and south; but it is found north of the arctic circle only in Norway and Sweden, and is yet lacking in the southern part of South America, except where the Scotch have settled in Patagonia. Travelers throughout the most of Africa and India and in many little-known parts of the world can usually add chicken to their food resources without difficulty; but there are some large islands, like New Guinea, where the hen is not found, and more than half of Australia is destitute of this animal.

An Old Map of Rome.

The oldest map of Rome, which is preserved, is the Forum Urbis, cut in 140 pieces of marble.

The Decadence.

Mr. Herlihy looked at his latest photograph, taken in his Sunday clothes, and his gaze bespoke keen disappointment.

"Ol'd never 'a' had this tuk if it hadn't been for thim children telling me about the improvements in photographing!" he muttered, holding the card upon which his likeness was mounted farther and farther away. "Improvements is it? Ol'd loike to show this pictur soide be soide wid the wan Oi had twinty years ago, and lave it to annybody which o' thim two made the betther mon o' me. There's an old, anxious, toired-out look to this new wan that was niver in the other.

"There may be improvements in photographing," said Mr. Herlihy as he deposited the cabinet-sized card face down in his table drawer, "but Ol've yit to see thim."—Youth's Companion.

A Cow's Queer Act.

The force of habit was very forcibly illustrated by an incident recently at the pumping station of the waterworks at Enid, Okla. A tank stand just outside the building is kept full of water for the accommodation of passersby and the neighborhood stock. A cow accustomed to drink at this tank came for her morning drink. The valley was covered with water and stood within two or there inches of the top of the tank, but the cow went over the waste of waters to the tank. Twice she stuck in the mud and appeared to be in danger of drowning, but by perseverance she finally reached the objective point. After drinking long and copiously she turned about and slowly made her way to land, apparently satisfied that she had done the only available thing to find water. —Cleveland Leader.

Do Animals Reason?

"The crows and other birds that carry shell-fish high in the air and then let them drop upon the rocks to break the shell show something very like reason or a knowledge of the relation of cause and effect. Froude tells of some species of bird that he saw in South Africa flying amid the swarms of migrating locusts and clipping off the wings of the insects so that they would drop to the earth, where the birds could devour them at their leisure. Our squirrels will cut off the chestnut burrs before they have opened, allowing them to fall to the ground, where, as they seem to know, the burrs soon dry open. Feed a caged coon soiled food—a piece of bread or meat rolled on the ground—and before he eats it will put it in his dish of water and wash it off."—John Burroughs, Eminent Writer and Naturalist.

Death Is Gradual.

It is becoming understood that death is often—if not always—a gradual process, cells or tissues remaining alive for hours or even days after the organism as a whole is dead. Professor Hering points out that this is especially noticeable in some of the lower animals. The action of ciliated cells from the gills of a clam or the trachea of a dead frog may be observed for a long time under the microscope, and when supplied with nutrient solution cells from a frog's brain have been kept alive for more than a week. Hearts of animals often move long after removal from the body. The heart of a frog will beat for hours, and that of a turtle or snake sometimes for a week.—Knowledge.

Restrictions in Immigration.

The number of Americans who may enter the Transvaal or Orange River Colony is limited to 50 a month, and each must have a permit, the blank application for which can be had of any British consul. And, too, an affidavit must me made that the applicant has sufficient means to support himself and family after arriving. Consideration of such applications is often delayed for weeks, and those who grow impatient and arrive in advance of their permit are generally given the option of leaving the next day or imprisonment for six months, with a fine of $2,433.

Cause of Rancidity.

Rancidity of butter has received a variety of explanations. A chemical study leads Jensen, a German bacteriologist, to conclude that microorganisms are the cause, three species being especially active, and that the air plays no part except in stimulating the growth of the bacteria. Salt retards their growth. They require oxygen, and in protecting butter it is desirable to keep it in large masses, exposing the smallest possible surface to the air.

The Price and the Room.

"How does your room suit you?" asked the proprietor of the summer hotel.

"I have only one fault to find with it," answered the guest.

"What is that?"

"It doesn't correspond with the price. Either the room ought to be better or the price less."—Chicago Post.

Locusts in Cyprus.

In Cyprus peasants are paid £40 for every ton of locust eggs they destroy. In some years as many as 60,000 tons are destroyed, which means that some 680,000,000 of locusts have been cheated of their chance of existence. But still they come, and recently the locust swarms were as active as ever.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

Becoming Hats—Stoles of White Ostrich Feathers For Dressy Wear.

Exquisite rose hats have been popular this summer and the fall will see many more of them, for nothing is more cheerful and more universally becoming.

The type of hat which exhibits both flowers and feathers is not always pleasing, but the large picture hats are lovelier than ever. The foundation is usually of crinoline or the more summery tulle, elaborately tucked and gauged.

Pale flesh colored crepe de chine is useful to line yokes, and many lace gowns are made up on a crepe de chine foundation instead of being interlined with chiffon. The smart type of muslin gown is made up over silk, but the ordinary kind has a simple lawn lining.

Stoles of white ostrich feathers or of marabou and ostrich intermixed are generally worn, and reversible stoles of two colors are also popular, but not nearly so much so as white.

Furriers at this season are busy remodeling, and many of the large boas of white or pointed fox are being opened out and made into flat stoles.

The cut shows a yachting or mountain coat of blue cloth, trimmed with white braid. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR SUMMER WEAR.

Linen Costumes Look Cooler Than They Are—Silk Voile Gowns.

The linen costume looks cooler than it really is, but the most comfortable style is to have an unlined blouse coatee with a V or square opening for a chemisette and the sleeves gathered into a large decorated cuff. The colored leather belts are smart with these linen costumes, but if the belt does not match exactly it is best to fall back on black or white. The tight fitting belt, high in the back and low in front, is the accepted fashion with a short coat or bolero. Fancy scarfs and cravats are in great demand. For the open coat a soft, fancy front is pretty and economical.

A new neck scarf from Paris has its two ends fastened in front—one to the right the other to the left—with fancy pins.

Silk voile made up over taffeta and inlet with lace of the Paraguay or point d'arabe type is very smart, but the lining should match the voile, as a different color is entirely out of style.

Now that the means have been made known to us, the applique embroidery of linen coats, collars, etc., has become a popular pastime, and we are all wondering why the hint was not given sooner. This decorative stitchery is arrived at by means of one line with traced design placed over another and a buttonhole stitch worked around all the edges, after which the upper linen is cut away round the pattern. This is really more quickly done than is eyelet blind embroidery, which is a latter day term for the thick swiss work so much used on linen and lawn shorts, which is, in its way, an equally pleasant form of work.

The cut shows a white linen boy's sailor suit with blue collar and cuffs.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1903, by The Robert Company.

The others were Kennedy, and the recaptured, half recalcitrant Pete, the latter turned state's evidence. Kennedy told how he had wandered down into the flats after "the few drinks" that made him think scornful of Sioux; of his encounter with Eagle Wing, his rescue by Field and a girl who spoke Sioux like a native. He thought it was little Fawn Eyes when he heard her speak, and until he heard this lady; then he understood. He had been pledged to secrecy by the lieutenant, and never meant to tell a soul, but when he heard the lie the lady told about the lieutenant, it ended any promise.

Then Pete, an abject, whining wretch, was ushered in, and his story, when dragged out by the roots was worst of all. Poor Mrs. Hay! She had to hear it, for they sent for her; somebody had to restrain Nanette. Pete said he had "known Nanette long time, ever since baby. So had Crapaud. Yes, and they had known Eagle Wing, Moreau, always—knew his father and mother. Knew Nanette's father and mother." But Black Bill interposed. No need to go into these particulars, as substantiating Mrs. Hay and himself, said he. "The lady knows perfectly well that I know all about her girlhood," so Pete returned to modern history. Eagle Wing, it seems, came riding often in from Stabber's camp to see Nanette by night, and "he was in heap trouble, always heap trouble, always want money," and one night she told Pete he must come with her, must never tell of it. She had money, she said, her own, in the trader's safe, but the door was too heavy, she couldn't open it, even though she had the key. She had opened the store by the back door, then came to him to help her with the rest. He pulled the safe door open, he said, and then she hunted and found two big letters, and took them to the house, and next night she opened the store again, and he pulled open the safe, and she put back the letters and sent him to Mr. Field's back door with note, and then over to saddle Harney and Dan, and "bring 'em out back way from stable." Then later she told him Capt. Blake had Eagle Wing's buckskin pouch and letters, and they must get them or somebody would hang Eagle Wing, and she kept them going, "all time going," meeting messengers from the Sioux camps, or carrying letters. She fixed everything for the Sioux to come and capture Hay and the wagon—fixed everything even to nearly murdering the sentry on Number Six. Pete and Spotted Horse, a young brave of Stabber's band, had compassed that attempted rescue. She would have them kill the sentry if need be, and the reason they didn't get Wing away was that she couldn't wait until the sentries had called off. They might even then have succeeded, only her pony broke away, and she clung to Eagle Wing's until he—he had to hit her to make her let go.

The wild girl, in a fury declared it false from end to end. The poor woman, weeping by her side, bowed her head and declared it doubtless true.

Her story—Mrs. Hay's—was saddest of all. Her own father died when she was very, very young. He was a French Canadian trader and traveler who had left them fairly well to do. Next to her Indian mother, Mrs. Hay had loved no soul on earth as she had her pretty baby sister. The girls grew up together. The younger, petted and spoiled, fell in love with a handsome, reckless young French half breed, Jean La Fleur; against all warnings, became his wife, and was soon bullied, beaten and deserted. She lived but a little while, leaving to her more prosperous and level-headed sister, now wedded to Mr. Hay, their baby daughter, also named Nanette, and by her the worthy couple had done their very best. Perhaps it would have been wiser had they sent the child away from all association with the Sioux, but she had lived eight years on the Laramie in daily contact with them, sharing the Indian sports and games, loving their free life, and rebelled furiously when finally taken East. "She" was the real reason why her aunt spent so many months of each succeeding year away from her husband and the frontier. One of the girl's playmates was a magnificent young savage, a son of Crow Killer, the famous chief. The father was killed the day of Crazy Horse's fierce assault on the starving force of Gen. Crook at Slim Buttes in '76, and good, kind missionary people speedily saw promise in the lad, put him at school and strove to educate him. The rest they knew. Sometimes at Eastern schools, sometimes with Buffalo Bill, but generally out of money and into mischief, Eagle Wing went from one year to another, and Nanette, foolishly permitted to meet him again in the East, had become infatuated. All that art and education, wealth, travel and luxury combined could do, was done to wean her from her passionate adoration of this superb young savage. There is no fiercer, more intense, devotion than that the Sioux girl gives the warrior who wins her love. She becomes his abject slave. She will labor, lie, steal, sin, suffer, die, gladly die for him, if only she believes herself loved in turn, and this did Nanette more than believe, and believing, slaved and studied between his irregular appearances that she might wheedle more money from her aunt to lavish on her brave. When discovered meeting him in secret and by night, she was locked in her third story room and thought secure, until the day revealed her gone by way of the lightning rod. They had to resort to more stringent measures, but time and again she met him, undetected until too late, and when at last her education was declared complete, she had amazed her aunt by expressing willingness to go to Frayne, when the good woman thought the objectionable kinsman abroad with Buffalo Bill. Until too late, Mrs. Hay knew nothing of his having been discharged and of his preceding them to the west. Then Nanette begged her for more money, because he was in dreadful trouble—had stabbed a police officer at Omaha, whose people, so Moreau said, agreed not to prosecute him if if one thousand dollars could be paid at once. Hay's patience had been exhausted. He had firmly refused to contribute another cent to settle Moreau's scrapes, even though he was a distant kinsman of his wife, and they both were fond of his little sister Fawn Eyes. It had never occurred to Mrs. Hay that Nan could steal from or plot against her benefactors, but that was before she dreamed that Nanette had become the Indian's wife. After that anything might happen. "If she could do that for love of Moreau," said she, "there was nothing she could not do."

And it would seem there was little short of deliberate murder she had not done for her Sioux lover, who had rewarded her utter self sacrifice by a savage blow with a revolver butt. "Poor Nanette!" sobbed Mrs. Hay, and "Poor Nanette!" said all Fort Frayne, their distrust of her buried and forgotten as she lay, refusing herself to every one: starving herself in dull, desperate misery in her lonely room. Even grim old "Black Bill" whom she had recognized at once—Bill who had been the first to confirm Blake's suspicions as to her identity—had pity and compassion for her. "It's the way of the blood," said Blake. "She is

'Bred out of that bloody strain
That haunted us in our familiar paths.'"

"She could do no different," said the general, "having fixed her love on him. It's the strain of the Sioux. We call her conduct criminal—they call it sublime."

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Hoosier State Proves Great Field of Exciting Romance

From Delivery Boy to Husband of Proprietor—Particular Suitor Refuses Twelve—Romeo Meets Unromantic Souls.

THERE is small wonder that Indiana has become noted for romancers and fiction writers. After reading an account of a few occurrences in that state within a few days it will be observed that all the prospective writer has to do is to sit on his front doorstep and watch the drift of affairs in his immediate neighborhood.

In Mishawaka a young man who had been a delivery boy in a dry goods store was married to the owner, a woman 22 years his senior. He was Alton S. Winey and she was Mrs. Rhoda D. Lusher. If a romancer could not make a good story in telling how their love grew up among the calico bales and how the proprietor's gentle glances followed the boy as he left the store with his packages to deliver he would be a bad romancer—that's all.

The prosaic account of this courtship merely says the woman learned to love the boy, but there is a better story in it than that, as can be seen. There is a success story, as well as a romantic one. "From delivery boy to husband of the proprietor"—that would sound pretty fair as a title.

Wabash furnishes another tender little story. This concerns the efforts of an even dozen Indiana women to satisfy the ideals of a mourning widower with 11 children clamoring for a mother. Eleven have tried it and have failed. The Chicago Tribune says that David Overmire is the particular man who is looking and advertising for a wife. His children, he says, are all grown up and prosperous, so there need be no obstacle to the marriage on their account. Since he has advertised that he needs a wife 12 women have answered the "ad" and have returned declaring that he was a brute—because he did not accept them.

A North Manchester woman was the last to offer her hand to the particular Mr. Overmire. She was taken to dinner and treated with elaborate courtesy by Mr. Overmire. While dining he sounded her opinions on various subjects, which are not mentioned, but which, in the hands of the skillful romancer, might make a brilliant chapter, and at the end of the conversation he remarked to the expectant woman:

"You won't do."

She has been added to the others who declare Mr. Overmire is a brute.

Logansport offers some more material. There was a young man in that place, Charles Townsend by name, who was about to marry a young woman of the same place named Miss Emma Toothman. Everything was prepared for the glad event. The license had been secured, the railroad ticket purchased, the minister engaged, the home decorated, the friends assembled, the bride waiting, and the bridegroom on the way, when Miss Toothman suddenly exclaimed that she had changed her mind.

It was a sad blow for the bridegroom, and all the flowers were withered, but there was no wedding. It certainly is within the province of a woman to change her mind even at the altar. That never has been denied, and the rejected bridegroom is getting what consolation he can out of the case.

From Newcastle comes a story which in its way is almost as tender a thing as Romeo and Juliet, there being some points of resemblance between the two tales, although in the telling of them it is possible that a slight difference may be detected. Then in the Indiana Romeo story a police court figures, and that element is not in the Shakespearean story.

In fact, getting down to the real truth of the matter, it may be the only semblance is in the fact there was a balcony scene in both. A. N. Watcher is the lovestricken youth. Miss Winifred Woods plays the part of Juliet. Miss Woods lived in Newcastle and the young man elsewhere.

Romeo had a desire to look upon his love, and he took the romantic but unsafe way of getting beneath her window, hoping that she would look out and be gladly surprised by his unexpected presence. He may have whistled to attract her attention.

He was successful in arousing the neighbors, but not Juliet. They saw the balcony scene, but did not understand it. It is possible that if Romeo attempted his stunt in these days he would be taken for a porch climber. Anyway, that is what the neighbors thought Mr. Watcher was. They called the police, unromantic souls that they were. The lover was dragged away, to prison, and the next morning he was given the pleasure of explaining in court how he happened to be under that window.

When Juliet heard of his misadventures she came gallantly to the rescue with the statement that he had a perfect right to be there if he wanted to be, and married him as soon as the police magistrate discharged him.

CRAWLS INTO SEWER.

Queer Plight of an Aged Woman in England and Her Heroic Rescue by a Constable.

An old woman at Aldershot, London, had a most extraordinary adventure the other night. She was missed from her bedroom. The police were called in and a constable, on examining the room, found that the bedroom window was open and a clothesline broken just underneath.

A careful search of the premises failed to reveal her presence. At the end of the garden, and just over a small hedge, ran a drain pipe, and the constable fancied that he could hear a groan coming from its direction. The pipe itself was about 20 inches in diameter, and, despite the fact that it was quite half full of filthy matter, the plucky constable divested himself of his tunic and crawled with difficulty some 18 or 20 yards up through the filth.

His search was rewarded, for he was able, when all but choked himself, to catch the woman by the heels and to drag her out into the open. He handed her over to her daughter in an unconscious condition sent for a doctor. The woman was all but dead.

SNAKE HOLDS UP MAIL.

Monster of the Black Variety Impedes a Rural Free Delivery Route in Indiana.

Jim Thomas, rural mail carrier on route No. 5, out of Anderson, Ind., is authority for a remarkable snake story.

Thomas says he was driving along, sorting his mail, when suddenly his horse stopped. Thomas spoke sharply to him, but the horse did not budge. Again Thomas spoke, but this time his horse began snorting and backing. At this unusual proceeding on the part of a usually peaceable horse Thomas looked out of the mail wagon and was confronted by a monster blacksnake. Thomas called for help, and soon had two farmers to his assistance. The snake showed fight, but was killed after a struggle. It measured eight feet four inches, and Thomas thought it was as large around as his arm. They opened the snake and found three large bullfrogs and a robin in its stomach.

For the past three or four years the residents of that portion of Richland township have been frightened by the story of a big snake in their fields and appearing at times along the roads. It is believed that this is the one.

GOLF.

The coming man in golf in Union County seems to be Frank O. Reinhart, of Netherwood, son of ex-President J. W. Reinhart, of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad. He is not only a coming one, but seems already to have arrived. In a match at the Myopia Hunt Club grounds Monday he defeated the English golfer, H. G. B. Ellis, of Oxford, by 72 to 81. He now holds the record for the Hillside golf course at Plainfield, of which he is a member, having recently made it in 65, while 74 has been logic for several years. Mr. Reinhart is a Princeton man, and was chosen as a member of the inter-collegiate team to play the English team. He won distinction at Chicago two years ago in the national championship play, when he crowded the champion close for the national trophy.—Elizabeth Journal.

IN FANDOM.

By winning Saturday's game with the Hope boys, St. Mary's tightened their grip on the inter-club championship cup. This is their second win in the series and as yet Hope has had no victory. The cup goes to the team winning three out of a series of five, and Hope will have to win three straight now if they want to count it among their trophies.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

When the Public Service Corporation some months ago invited the holders of stock in the North Jersey Street Railway Co. to surrender their holdings for interest-bearing certificates in the new corporation, some did not do so. Out of the $15,000,000 amount of capital stock of the company, 95 per cent. turned in their holdings to the four depositories named in the agreement: N. J. Title Guarantee & Trust Co., of this city; Fidelity Trust Co., of Newark; Manhattan Trust Co., of New York, and Commercial Trust Co., of Philadelphia.

Now it transpires that these shareholders who did not go into the "merger" have joined a pool to protect, as they say, their interests, and today the Federal Trust Co., of Newark, has deposited with it $3,000 of the $750,000 still outstanding, and in the course of a few days it is confidently asserted that all the amount will be deposited.

What these outstanding holders propose to do is not divulged and when E. F. C. Young, formerly president of the North Jersey Street Railway Company, was asked about it, he replied:

"I heard that such a movement was on foot, but as to the particulars I know absolutely nothing."

"You have turned in all your holdings?" Mr. Young was asked, and he replied, with a smile:

"Of course."

"What will be the result of the movement?"

"Well, I can't see any. You know, those who did not turn in their stock must wait until the North Jersey Street Railway Company pays a dividend, and that will be perhaps some time. In the meantime, by not surrendering their stock those stockholders are earning nothing on their investment."

One of the outstanding shareholders had this to say about their action:

"A number of us declined to surrender our stock for Public Service certificates, because we were not treated right in the deal and other trolley companies got the best of it. We have formed a pool and deposited our stock with the Fidelity Trust Company, and it can only be withdrawn by a committee we have appointed."

"What is your purpose?" he was asked.

"That will be divulged later."

"Legal action?"

"Probably," was the laconic reply. The only remedy that can be taken is to apply for an accounting and eminent corporation lawyers like ex-Supreme Court Justice Gilbert Collins and his partner, William H. Corbin, have given their opinion that unless these holders can show fraud they cannot get an accounting from the Court of Chancery. Some legal action is to be taken, but what none of the committee will say. — Jersey City Journal.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Mrs. Theodore Mantz, of Richmond street, has become a member of Grace Episcpal Church choir as a soprano.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of the East Third Street Mission, will have charge of the meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home tomorrow evening.

Rev. Francis E. Whiteside will conduct the Christian Endeavor Society meeting at Trinity Reformed Church, this evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Miss Florence Bennett, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, at present living in New street, sang the offertory solo in Trinity Reformed Church, yesterday morning. Miss Bennett has a voice of considerable range, and for one so young in years gives evidence of a promising future.

Rev. Dr. Wm. Stewart, who is at the head of the Toronto Bible School at Toronto, Canada, will occupy the pulpit at the First Baptist Church next Sunday, morning and evening. On Sunday, Aug. 20, Rev. Dr. J. L. Campbell, of New York city, will preach. During the month of September Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of Orange, will occupy the pulpit.

The annual conference of Seventh-Day Baptists will be held at Salem, West Virginia, beginning on Wednesday and continuing until next Monday. Those from Plainfield who will attend include Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, Rev. George B. Shaw, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hubbard, John Hiscox, Mrs. George H. Babcock and J. A. Hubbard.

Machinist Jailed.

John Wilson, who said he was a machinist from Plainfield, was found on Albany street, New Brunswick, by Officer Van Deursen at an early hour Saturday morning and unable to take care of himself. He was taken before the Recorder and was committed to jail for ten days.

Was Simply Misled.

The report of the theft of a valuable brooch from the house of Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of East Front street, is without foundation. A Daily Press reporter who called at the house this morning was told that the piece had been missed but had afterwards turned up again.

Mrs. John Hiscox, of West Front street, has gone to Westerly, R. I., where she will visit for several days.

LIFE IS A JOY AT CAMP HOPE

Those Who Are "Roughing It" at Lake Hopatcong Are Having a Delightful Time.

HUNTING FOR CHICKENS

PLANS MADE FOR DANCES AND BASE-BALL GAMES.

Cold Weather at Night—Hope Boys Visiting and Being Visited—Scenes of Beauty About the Lake.

Camp Hope, Lake Hopatcong, Aug. 17—This has been a perfect day, one of the best for campers from various points of view. There are beautiful drives and rambles in every direction about the lake, some along the hillsides and mountains and others through the ancient chestnut arched streets. Many of the boys have responded to the invitations of other campers, who are scattered here and there, to visit their homes and inspect the results of their labors.

The camp today is looking its best. Our cooking is an object of particular interest to visitors, many wondering how we manage to have such good meals, and why we are all gaining in weight; but people know not that the best buyer and cook in the land is with us.

Chicken parties have been formed of late and while the birds around the camp are not our own property, nevertheless the statement that "they (the chickens) are spending a vacation with the Hope Chapel boys" is close upon fact.

Visitors at the camp are always welcome, according to the good old Hope spirit. Arrangements are now being made for a large dance to be held tonight as well as a ball game in the morning. "A Camper."

(Special to The Daily Press.)

The following despatch from the campers was received too late for publication yesterday:

Camp Hope, Lake Hopatcong, Aug. 17—The advance guard of the Grand Army of Campers has arrived in town and every incoming train is bulging with men, women and children, who want to see the merry makers from Plainfield.

They are here from the farms and the far village and are as enthusiastic as ever were people who wanted to see a President of the United States. From a careful study of reports of onlookers it is pretty sure that the boys will be treated as kings and princes, during their stay here. Everything is in grand shape for the fun that is to take place for the next two weeks, and it is amazing to see the crowds that gather around the campers.

So far as one can judge from the many reports, camp life will not be as enjoyable at night, as one might think, owing to the extremely cold weather. While no ice bergs have been seen on the lake so far, many have noticed roosters which could not crow because of cold having settled on their lungs.

RENOVATING BOROUGH CHURCH.

Plasterers and Decorators at Work on Church of the Holy Cross.

The repairs on the Church of the Holy Cross, of North Plainfield, which have been under way for almost a month, are now nearing completion. The replastering and redecoration of the church nave are expected to be finished tomorrow, and work will then be started on the chancel. The interior has been painted in two shades of tan. Extensive improvements have been planned for the chancel and considerable time will elapse before the completion of work there. A new oak floor is to be laid and the step from nave to chancel will be extended its entire breadth. The choir stalls and pews will be repaired and repolished.

Borough Drunks.

John Doe was arraigned before the Recorder in the borough court last evening charged with drunkenness. Doe said he came from New Market. He was released on suspended sentence. Jacob Overland was another offender haled before Recorder Dond on the charge of disorderly conduct. The magistrate gave him fatherly advice and he was released on a promise to do better.

Knights at Asbury.

On Labor Day the Knights of Pythias of the State will go to Asbury Park about 8,000 strong and all the courtesies of the resort will be extended to them.

MUST GET CERTIFICATES

NURSES CANNOT PRACTICE THEIR PROFESSION WITHOUT THEM.

Only Graduates From State or National Hospitals Can Receive the Documents.

In the interpretation of the new State law which allows graduate trained nurses to follow their profession, it has just been learned that only those who have been graduated from hospitals in this State or in fact in this country, are entitled to certificates, after the payment of the registration fee of fifty cents. Those who did not register prior to July 1 last, are required to take an examination and as a number of trained nurses who have been graduated from hospitals in other countries, especially in Canada, have received certificates after registration, they have been notified to return their certificates and get their fee.

In the drafting of the law the purpose was to protect as far as possible graduated trained nurses, as the profession has been seriously interfered with by nurses who have not taken the regular course and who have not obtained a certificate. They have been working under the name of "experienced nurses," and besides charging much less for their services they offer to do other work besides nursing when in charge of a case. This the graduate nurse will not do. They confine their work strictly to the care of the patient and the regular weekly charge is $25 a week.

There are a few graduate trained nurses in this city who received their diplomas at Canadian institutions and who will be obliged to take an examination before they can get a certificate and if the law is strictly carried out they will not be able to practice their profession until they do get a certificate. The law may be amended at the next session of the Legislature, but until such time, the present rule must hold.

DIDN'T KNOW HIS AGE.

Joseph Wales, the Colored Man, Who Died Sunday, Was Once a Slave.

With the death of old Joseph Wales, the colored population of this city has suffered the loss of a much admired old character. He passed away Sunday at his home on West Third street after almost a year of ill health. He was an old man much respected by his colored neighbors and is believed to have been a slave at one time. While he himself did not know his age it is thought he was more than eighty years of age. The funeral will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the Filmore Avenue Baptist Church and the interment will be at Hillside Cemetery. Mr. Wales is survived by his daughter, Mrs. William Kline, of West Third street.

Girl Run Over by Wagon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, August 18. — Isabella Brown, twelve years old, a daughter of Edwin H. Brown, of East Somerville, was seriously injured here Saturday morning by being run down by a wagon. She was riding her wheel and in turning from Maple street to Main she came in contact with a trolley car and a farm wagon and J. K. Brokaw's delivery wagon, that were stalled by the car. The horse of the latter frightened and ran against the girl's wheel, knocking her off. She was run over, her head and arm being severely cut. It is feared that she sustained internal injuries. Her condition is critical.

Frazee Shot An Eagle.

In the loft of a barn in the rear of Edwin H. Hooley's house in the borough Friday, James Frazee, a coachman, saw in a field a great commotion between a large bird and a small animal. He shot the bird which proved to be an eagle measuring a little less than seven feet from tip to tip of its wings. The bird was trying to get a squirrel from a steel trap. Frazee will have the bird stuffed.

Methodist Camp-Meeting.

The thirty-fifth annual camp-meeting of the Newark Conference of the Methodist Church will be held at Mount Tabor, commencing Tuesday, August 18, and continuing until Monday, August 31. Four conventions will precede the regular camp-meeting which will open Saturday evening, August 22, after which meetings will be held every day from 6 in the morning to 9 in the evening.

Jersey Illiterates.

According to an exchange New Jersey has 2,069 children from ten to fourteen years of age who are not able to read or write. In the States of Indiana, Michigan, Massachussets, this number in like condition is not equalled.

TAXES DISCUSSED BY BOROUGH COUNCIL

Assessments, Chairmen's Reports and Other Routine Business Were Considered.

FOUR MEMBERS PRESENT

WITHDRAWAL OF BANK STOCK FROM THE COUNTY RECEIVED COMMENT.

Additional Appropriation for the Care of the Streets—Petition to Macadamize Pearl Street—Mayor and Council to Go to Boonton.

Regular routine business was transacted at the adjourned meeting of the North Plainfield Common Council last evening. Councilmen Clark, Lee, Van Arsdale and Arnold were present.

A petition was received from Elston M. French and C. Frank French asking the Council to macadamize Pearl street from Somerset street to the eastern terminus at the head of Tier's lake, and stating that $100 had been subscribed to the fund. The Council will consider the petition at the next meeting. A letter was received from the members of the West End Hose Company requesting the presence of the Mayor and members of the Common Council as their guests on the trip to Boonton, where the firemen's day festivities will be held. Mayor Smalley urged all who could to attend.

There was some discussion over the proposed enforcement of the poll taxes. It was suggested by the Mayor that in order to partly make up for the taxable property withdrawn from the borough by A. J. Brunson, the New Jersey poll tax law should be enforced. There was also some question as to whether it would be wise to tax the bank stock for its full valuation and allow the legality of Mr. Brunson's action to be tested in court. The matter was allowed to drop temporarily.

Reports were read by the chairmen of the various committees. Chairman James K. Arnold, of the street committee reported an expenditure of $657.55 for pay roll and $614.80 for stone. Chairman Clark, of the fire, water and lamps committee, reported an expenditure of $18.94 and $2,600 on the fire engine house fund. Chairman Lee, of the police committee, said that there had been 11 arrests during the month of July and that $13 had been collected for fines. Mr. Arnold, chairman of the committee appointed to have the borough's plot in the M. E. Cemetery cared for, reported an expenditure of $35. Claims amounting to $4,471.64 were ordered paid.

On motion of Councilman Arnold a resolution was adopted directing that assessments be made amounting to $21,800 to cover the borough expenses. $1,000 was added to the street fund from the fire and police appropriations to allow for the continuance of the street work. It was explained that while the appropriation for the work on the streets was large enough and had been used with care, the additional cost of laying 3,500 feet of storm sewers caused a heavy drain on the funds which had to be replenished in order to let the work go on.

Councilman Arnold offered a resolution accepting the dedication of the Green Brook boulevard.

Tax Collector George F. Brown's report follows: Receipts for taxes and interest, $143.75; Board of Health, $1.14; macadamizing, $105; licenses, $17.50; dog taxes, .20; dogs registered, $1.10; sidewalks, $47.50; refunded on interest, .06; Recorder, $8; balance on hand, July 1, $10,275.29; total receipts, $10,599.54; disbursements, $8,688.62; cash on hand, $6,910.92; engine house fund, $8,962.58; borough fund overdrawn, $2,051.66.

Meetings will be held every evening this week for the auditing of the Assessor's books.

Labor Day Races at Westfield.

Secretary Henry P. Condit, of the Fair Acres Driving Club of Westfield, is making final arrangements for the big race meet to be given at the Fair Acre track on Labor Day. Five hundred and fifty dollars in purses will be offered and there will be three events as follows: 2:20 trot or pace; 2:25 trot or pace and a 2:28 trot.

—The quality of Jersey peaches is improving daily and as it improves Neuman Brothers receive larger quantities of the fruit. Shipments of from 50 to 100 baskets arrive each morning. Neuman Brothers have the famous Mountain rose and Reeve's Favorite peaches. Prices: 50 cents, 75 cents, $1 and $1.25 a basket.

BOROUGH TO BECOME CITY?

North Plainfield Objects to Somerville's Control of the License Privilege.

ACTION BY THE COUNCIL

Resolutions Passed Asking for Opinion of Counsel—The Borough Would be a Third-Class City if the Action Should be Taken.

North Plainfield has at last risen in her wrath against Somerville and the way in which she is treated by the latter in county matters; and at the Council meeting last evening steps were taken to transform the borough into a city. Disappointed in the attempt to become a part of Union County, and failing in consolidation, the question of throwing aside the government of a borough for that of a city, was, as a last resort, acted upon. A resolution was adopted directing the clerk to ask Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed what steps would be necessary to secure home rule and the control of licenses, which power can only come through the organization of city government. If such action is taken, North Plainfield will be changed from a first class borough to a third class city.

Following the transaction of the regular business, the Councilmen settled down to a serious consideration of the best way to control licenses in the borough. The discussion was brought about through the revelations in the columns of The Daily Press in regard to the existence of "speakeasies" in the borough. Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., advanced the idea that the scheme for forming a city government be ventilated. The plan had evidently been well thought out by some of the members of the Council as the lines of argument were clear cut and well made. For nearly an hour the matter was talked over and finally closed when Councilman James K. Arnold offered this resolution:

"Be it resolved, That the Borough Clerk secure from the Corporation Counsel his written opinion regarding the legal steps which would be necessary to take in order to change the government of North Plainfield from that of a first class borough to that of a third class city.

"And be it further resolved, That the opinion of the Corporation Counsel be read at the next meeting of the Council."

The resolution was passed without a dissenting vote.

In speaking of the plan after the meeting, Councilman Lee said to a representative of The Daily Press that one reason the matter had been suggested was because of the fact that the people of North Plainfield had no voice in the matter of issuing licenses. On that side of the brook the hotels are granted licenses as inns and are thus entitled to keep open all night. By becoming a third class city the licenses would not be granted at the Somerville courts but would be controlled by the people who live in the cities where the saloons, or "inns" are located; and where, if there is any objection to granting the permits, the people who suffer most from their presence, could have an opportunity of raising a voice against them. If North Plainfield were a city a more effectual crusade could be carried on against the unlicensed dealers, who sell liquor in the back rooms of a fruit store.

Mayor Smalley says that it is high time for the borough to be free of the tyrannical rule of Somerville. No voice is allowed her in the issuance of licenses for saloons, in spite of the fact that North Plainfield contributes almost one-third of the County taxes.

It was said that if North Plainfield should become a third class city she would lose many of her present privileges. The action would affect the municipal ownership of public works. The matter of licenses is said to be only one of the many advantages which the borough would derive from such a step which might mean a better police force and other improvements not now enjoyed by the borough under the Somerset County rule for boroughs. The slogan suggested last evening was "Representation for Taxation."

THEATRE PROJECT RECEIVED WITH INTEREST

Leaders in Enterprise Backed by New York, Chicago and Plainfield Men.

SEN. REED AT THE HEAD

PLANS ALREADY SUBMITTED BY FRANK McCLURE A CHICAGO ARCHITECT.

Many It is Said Would be Willing to Become Stockholders if Company Was Formed—$40,000 Worth of Bonds to be Issued.

There seems to be a well-defined plan under consideration to build a modern playhouse in Plainfield and if the scheme, now being considered by persons from this city, New York and Chicago, is feasible and practicable, there should be no trouble about the institution becoming a fact. The idea is to erect a large building at some convenient place in the city. This structure will contain seven stores and eight flats and the main part will be devoted to the new theatre. Plans for such a building have been drawn by Frank McClure, a well-known architect of Chicago, who will become a stockholder, if a company is formed.

It is proposed to form a company to control the theatre and Senator Charles A. Reed is now at the head of the movement. $40,000 worth of bonds will be issued in this city. These bonds will be of $1,000 denomination each paying 5 per cent. and will be guaranteed. The plan will be to pay off three bonds every year, for which a guarantee will be given. Thus far fifteen Plainfielders have signified their intention of taking from one to five bonds and from present indications it would not seem a difficult matter to place the $40,000 worth.

There has been an impression that Klaw and Erlanger, the New York theatrical concern, will own a portion of the theatre. This is wrong. It will be owned by a company composed of Plainfield, New York and Chicago people, and arrangements will be made with Klaw and Erlanger, whereby certain first-class plays will be booked for the Plainfield theatre. Charles H. Hand, of this city, is interested in the scheme and in fact was instrumental in getting it started.

Mr. Hand was in New York yesterday for the purpose of advancing the interest in the matter and getting things in shape for starting the building. It is estimated that it will take five months to erect the structure. This would mean its completion by February 1, provided work is started at once. The question as to a possible site has not been considered strongly as yet, but Mr. Hand says that there will be no trouble along that line, after the other details are once determined.

Big Time at Somerville.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, August 18—Beyond a doubt tomorrow will be a big day for the patriotic people of this place and of the State as well. The fifteenth annual session of the State Camp, P. O. S. of A., will be held here. The State officers, who have the gathering in hand have made elaborate arrangements and expect one of the most successful gatherings in years. In the State there are over 7,000 members in the order. The basis of representation is a delegate to every 25 members. The convention will be called to order at 10 a. m., by the State president, F. L. Condict, of New Brunswick.

Somerville Appointments.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 18—Deputy Surrogate Spencer and William M. Hoey have been appointed by the Colonel of the Second Regiment as members of the rifle team. They started for Sea Girt Saturday, where they went for practice for the match that will take place in September. Col. Collins, of the Second Regiment, has appointed Maj. Nelson Y. Dungan, of this place, as Summary Court for the regiment. He will try cases at Trenton, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Princeton and Somerville.

Settled for Picnic.

The Union Trolley Benevolent Association held a meeting Friday evening at the car barns at the Rahway Junction to settle up the affairs of the recent picnic held at Union Grove, North Plainfield. It was estimated that the picnic netted the association nearly $200.

FAMILIAR "CHARACTER" DEAD

DENNIS KANE POPULAR IN PLAINFIELD WHERE HE HAD LONG LIVED.

Suffered His Last Sickness in Philadelphia—Will be Buried in This City.

Dennis J. Kane, son of Margaret and the late John Kane, aged 28 years, and a life-long resident of Plainfield, died yesterday after a lingering sickness at his home in Philadelphia, where he had recently moved. Mr. Kane is survived by a mother and four sisters and a brother, the Misses Sarah and Katie Kane and Thomas Kane, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Chas. Greader and Mrs. Thomas Connor, of Plainfield.

"Denny," as he was familiarly known by everyone here, was probably one of the most unique characters in the city. He was of large build and fine physique. He established a reputation for the great number of runaway horses he caught, preventing serious damage and probably loss of life. At times he followed the occupation of a motorman both in this city and at Asbury Park, as well as in other parts of the country. At one time he was engaged by a well-known Newark house to sell badges at various celebrations throughout the country and at events in college towns. He also sold newspapers with considerable success, and whatever he undertook, in fact, he carried through to success.

The funeral services will be held from his late residence, 2610 North Fairhill street, Philadelphia, at 8:30 a. m. Thursday and from St. Eward's Church at 9 o'clock, where a solemn high mass will be offered for the repose of the soul. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, this city. The funeral party accompanying the remains will reach this city Thursday at 12:30.

PLAINFIELDER HER SON.

Death of Mrs. Mary Schomp, of Somerville—Funeral Tomorrow.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 18—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Ann Schomp, aged 86, will be held tomorrow morning at Readington. Mrs. Schomp was the widow of the late Peter D. Schomp and is survived by seven children, one of whom is Winfield Schomp, of Plainfield. She was one of the oldest members of the Reformed Church at Readington. The funeral will be from that edifice, the pastor, Rev. B. V. D. Wyckoff, officiating.

Funeral of Mary Thomas.

Simple funeral services for five-year-old Mary Powell Thomas were held at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her late home at 1216 Watchung avenue. The little maid's former pastor, Rev. E. Vicars Stephenson, officiated and spoke well chosen words of comfort to the bereaved parents. Miss Etta Raybert sang two solos during the services, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Abide With Me." The pall bearers were Walter Peterson, Roger Murray, Abner Wilcox and Harry Johnson and the interment was at Hillside Cemetery.

Samples Our Home Brew.

John Sutton, who comes from Raritan, loaded up with Plainfield's home brew last night to celebrate his safe arrival in this city. Policeman Quass roped him in as he wandered through the town rejoicing and he was hailed before Mayor Jenkins this morning. "R-e-m-o-r-s-e" was the keynote of his plea to that official and he became so impressed by the evils of the flowing bowl that when discharged he started on along the road vowing to reform Somerset and Hunterdon Counties from the alcohol habit.

Tourists at Naples.

The Honeyman party which has been touring in Europe for the past two months will arrive at Naples today and will leave there for trips to Rome and Pompeii and sail from Naples on August 19 on the Italian steamer Liguria. They will arrive in this city about September 1.

Recreation for Letter-Carriers.

Letter-carriers Robert Loughlin, Thomas Jefferson Burns and Thomas Meaney started yesterday on their vacations. Mr. Loughlin and his family have gone to Vermont, and Mr. Burns has departed for Atlantic City. Mr. Meaney will spend his time in Hunterdon county.

Counsel Retained.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 18—Former Prosecutor Nelson Y. Dungan has been retained as counsel by Pelino Debacco, the man who is now in the county jail here on a charge of having murdered his brother-in-law, Liberatto Palobizio, at Peapack.

THROUGH FIRE AND SMOKE TO SAVE LIFE

Mrs. Robert Yetman Barely Had Time to Rescue Daughter in Saturday's Fire.

THE ONLY EXIT CUT OFF

CHILD TOSSED OVER BANISTERS TO SAFETY IN HALL BELOW.

Mrs. Yetman Roused Sleeping Husband and Both Reached the Ground by Climbing Down From the Piazza Roof.

Few people who witnessed the fire Saturday afternoon on West Third street shortly after it broke out knew anything of the danger of Mrs. Robert Yetman and her three-year-old daughter Laura, both of whom barely escaped with their lives.

According to Mrs. Yetman's story, she was in the garret at work when the fire started, while her husband, who works for the city and who had just returned home, was lying down in the bedroom directly adjoining that in which the flames first appeared. Little Laura was playing about the hall on the second floor. Suddenly Mrs. Yetman heard a scream from her daughter and imagining some accident, hastily rushed down from the garret. At the foot of the garret stairs, a dense cloud of hot smoke rolled out and through this the mother saw her daughter directly in the door of the burning room. The stairs from the first to the second floor have a landing directly in front of the room where the fire broke out and, seizing the frightened child, Mrs. Yetman made her way in this direction through the dense smoke. A high wall of flame from the burning room shut off her exit by this avenue of escape but reaching along the banister which runs parallel to the hallway Mrs. Yetman tossed her daughter to safety in the hall below where she was cared for by neighbors.

Returning through the dense smoke to the room where her husband was still asleep, Mrs. Yetman finally succeeded in awaking him and the two made their exit from the blazing second floor out of a front window to the piazza roof and thence to the ground.

Almost the entire second floor and garret of the house is a gutted wreck and the Yetmans are now living with neighbors. Mrs. Yetman said yesterday that her loss entire would amount to more than $800 and that Yetman carried $500 worth of insurance. No clue as to the cause of the fire can be discovered but Mrs. Yetman believes it to have started from the chimney.

DEATH OF MRS. BOGUE.

Montreal Woman Passed Away at Home of Her Plainfield Nephew.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Bogue, wife of Thomas Finnigan, of Montreal, Can., died this morning at 12:10 o'clock, at the home of her nephew, W. H. Forristel, manager of the Belleview Avenue Nursery, off Park avenue, near Hillside avenue. She came to Plainfield on June 6 last and since then had been ill with a complication of diseases. She was 60 years of age.

Mrs. Bogue leaves a husband, three sons, one living in Atlanta, Ga., another in Chicago and the third in Oneco, Conn., and one daughter, Miss Finnigan, of Montreal. The remains will be taken to Montreal today and the funeral services will probably be held there on Thursday morning.

"Mother Jones" Wild Talk.

"Mother" Jones, the socialist labor agitator, is reported to have said in a speech in Camden, Tuesday, that "her recent march had resulted in thirty-five children being taken from a lace mill at Rahway." The only lace factory here is that of F. B. Burns & Co., and in an interview with our representative today, Superintendent Beers stated that none of their employes had either left or been "taken from them." This is a fair sample of the reliablity of this woman's statements.—Rahway Advocate.

Concerning Mr. Martine.

The Trenton Times calls James E. Martine "the blatant farmer orator." Calling Mr. Martine the blatherskite doesn't lessen the effectiveness of his arguments and statements concerning matters in which he is interested. Mr. Martine has the happy faculty of indulging in clean-cut, pithy comments on various subjects, political and otherwise. He is all that a blatherskite is not, for he is intensely sincere and earnest in his public activity.—Elizabeth Times.

STATE ITEMS OF INTEREST

The new bridge erected by the Pennsylvania Railroad across the Delaware river at Trenton will be opened for use on September 1.

The Princeton University freshman class this fall will exceed any previous class. 528 applications for admission have already been received, 87 more than last year.

Plans have been decided upon and accepted for the erection of a handsome Y. M. C. A. building at Madison. The structure will be two stories high and will cost between $25,000 and $30,000.

On August first about 300 convicts in the New Jersey State Prison were furnished with new suits of light gray in place of the striped suits which have been worn by the convicts for years back and are now considered to be antiquated and tend to contribute to bad discipline. This change was brought about at the suggestion of Principal Keeper Osborne and later adopted by the Board of Inspectors. It will be about three months before the whole population of the prison will be equipped with the new uniforms.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has notified certain of its employes that they will be laid off one day every month at their own expense. The ferry hands at Jersey City were the first to receive the notification. The average pay of the ferryman is about $40 a month. Trackmen between New York and Newark and baggagemen between New York and Pittsburg, have received similar orders. The baggagemen number about 2,500 and the trackmen about 700. Ultimately, it is said, the new rule will extend to the entire system. While the loss to each man is rather small, the annual saving to the company will be large.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mary Mulligan, of West Sixth street, is spending her vacation in Yonkers.

Herbert DuBois, of Putnam avenue, spent Sunday in New York City, visiting friends.

Mrs. J. F. Runyon, of East Sixth street, has gone to Germantown, N. Y., for a visit.

Dr. D. C. Adams, who has been at Barnegat on a fishing trip, has returned to his home.

Daniel McGill, of West Front street, has returned from a two weeks' camping trip in Maryland.

E. F. Fiekert, of the Plainfield Trust Company, has gone to Morristown for a week's visit.

Councilman Charles Lee and family, of the borough, have returned from a vacation spent at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. John Manley and family, left yesterday for Ocean Grove, where they are registered at the Ocean House.

Samuel Ayres, who has been confined in Muhlenberg Hospital for several weeks suffering with typhoid fever, has been discharged as cured.

AMUSEMENTS.

Tonight, August 18th, the 100th consecutive performance of "The Runaways" will be played at the Casino. That it is playing to larger and more delighted audiences than ever is plainly evident. Miss Fay Templeton, the stage's most indefatigable and artistic worker, has the role of "Miss Josey May, the comic opera queen," down to a smooth "patness" that seems to defy criticism. The entire show is a rollicking riot of color and joyful tunefulness. The big song hits of the production like Miss Templeton's inimitable imitagions, "Hiawatha," "The Maiden and the Jay," "In a General Sort of Way," "Pretty Maid Adelaide," "A Kiss for Each Day in the Week," "Strolling," "Forever and a Day," "Suzannah," "My Radiant Firefly," "Way Down South," "I am the Chancellor," and "The Land I Love," are more popular than ever with the masses on Broadway.

As thoroughly meritorious a bill of high class variety as that to be seen at Keith's during the present week has not been offered at that house this summer, which means it had not been seen anywhere. It is a bill arranged with the usual good taste and discretion of Mr. Keith and one that will offer something to the liking of all. As a result of the uniformly good programmes that have been offered at Keiths this summer, last season's attendance record, which was considered phenomenal has been broken. At the head of the bill are George Gardner and Joseph Madden. It is no stretch of the imagination to say that the farcial sketch "Too Many Darlings" presented by them is one of the best bits of acting done on the vaudeville stage. In the way of novelty will be a race between a man and a horse. This act will introduce Bobby Walthour the celebrated six day rider and the care horse Dolly Varden. The man will ride a wheel while the horse will run, on the regulation stage arrangement, a full mile. The contest for supremacy is thrilling in the extreme.

"The Factory Girl" is the attraction at Proctor's Fifty-eighth Street this week. This is its first appearance in this city. It is described as a powerful labor play of the comedy-drama type, abounding in sensational scenes of a wholesome kind, charming bits of pathos and heart interest and delightful specialties, to say nothing of many extremely funny scenes. It requires two cars to carry the scenery and mechanical effects, among which are a complete electric plant and tons of intricate machinery. The third acts, representing a factory in full operation, is said to be a marvel of stage mechanism. The huge drive wheels and the gearing apparatus extend down through great traps cut in the stage, into the cellar, where the power is generated. An electrical engineer and six expert mechanics are required to set up and operate this scene alone. Beautiful scenery runs throughout the piece, and a bevy of pretty girls relieve the intensity of the powerful dramatic story, while popular vaudeville headliners delight the audience. The company consists of over thirty well-known players. A novel feature of "The Factory Girl" is "Pay Day at the Factory," which involves the employment of over one hundred people. The usual Sunday concert will begin at 2 p. m., and run continuously until 11 p. m. Over in Newark, at Mr. Proctor's playhouse in that city the great Thurston, last week's headliner, has been retained for another week. On the same bill are Neil Moran and Company in a playette entitled "Noah Little;" the Mazamith Duo, ladder balancers; Willard and Wilcox in a comedietta entitled "Don't Look;" Evans and Clements, talking comedians; Colling and Hart, acrobatic comedians; and many other novelties complete the show.

Rails on Embankment.

Substantial iron rails have been placed alongside the new cement walk which leads up the embankment at the railroad. Boys recently had a habit of sliding down the sides of the walk and to prevent any further trouble and annoyance the rails were put up.

PORTS TO BE OPENED

Minister Conger Has Secured China's Guarantee.

STUBBORN RESISTANCE HAS ENDED.

Prince Ching Reluctantly Consented, Presuming That Russia Will Carry Out Her Promise of Evacuation.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Minister Conger at Peking has secured a written promise from Prince Ching to sign on Oct. 8 a treaty with the United States which will include a guarantee that Mukden and Tatungtao shall be open ports.

The arrangement made by Minister Conger for the signing of a treaty between China and the United States providing for the opening of Mukden and Tatungtao on the date of Russia's promised final evacuation of Manchuria ends the stubborn resistance by the Chinese which for some time promised to be successful.

Prince Ching made one defense after another until all were exhausted. He first argued Russian opposition to the opening of these ports. He then said that he was not informed that Russia had consented to the opening. Finally he refused on the ground that China was unable to open towns which were held by another power.

When the present settlement was proposed, with the explanation that China must presume that Russia intended to fulfill her evacuation agreement, Prince Ching reluctantly gave in. Tatungtao is a small port which does not promise much business to attract foreigners in the near future. Its opening is mainly important as a victory for the open door principle.

CALEB POWERS' TRIAL.

Powers Takes the Stand In His Own Defense.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Aug. 18.—Robert Nokes, who three years ago, in the first trial of Caleb Powers, was a sensational witness, appeared as a witness for the commonwealth. He was examined at considerable length.

Powers, who took the stand in his own defense, denied that he had any motive in bringing the mountain army to Frankfort other than to show the Democratic majority of the general assembly the intense feeling of the Republican voters of the state, and said it had nothing whatever to do with the Goebel murder. It is evident that Powers' defense this time will be that Henry Youtsey fired the shot that killed William Goebel. Powers will be on the stand all day and probably longer.

Double Fatality at New Britain.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Aug. 18.—A man named Shirtleff shot Mrs. Schofield and then shot himself here. Both are dead. Each had a large hole in the right temple, the blood trickling over the face and forming a pool on the floor. Near Shirtleff was a revolver with six chambers, four of which contained discharged shells and one an unexploded shell, while one chamber was entirely empty. The four-year-old son of Mrs. Schofield was the sole witness of the tragedy, and from him can be elicited only the statement, "Fr[illegible] shot my mamma, and he's dead too." He said that he could think of no motive for the crime and that Shirtleff, who is his nephew, and Mrs. Schofield had been the best of friends. He thought it possible that Shirtleff, who had been drinking of late, had attempted suicide and that Mrs. Schofield tried to stop him.

Head on Collision, One Dead.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—In a head on collision between two passenger trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway near Long lake one trainman received injuries which resulted in his death, an engineer and fireman were probably fatally injured and a number of persons were more or less seriously hurt. Many of the victims were Chicagoans on their way to and from the Wisconsin lake resorts. Several of the victims were buried beneath the mass of wreckage and were removed with great difficulty. The trains were running at a high rate of speed and met on a curve. A mistake in train orders is given as the cause of the accident.

Famine In China Abating.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—According to mail advices from Hongkong, missionaries returning from the famine district in Kwangsi province, south China, report that the conditions there have improved. The harvest had commenced and the free distribution of cereals had ceased in many places early in July. It was expected that the necessity for further distributions of food would disappear entirely in a few weeks from that time.

Report on Damaged War Ship.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—Acting Secretary of the Navy Darling has received a telegraphic report from Naval Constructor Gilmore on the condition of the disabled battle ship Massachusetts, now at Bar Harbor. Mr. Gilmore says that almost the entire bottom of the vessel was scraped. No estimate can yet be obtained of the probable cost of repairing the Massachusetts.

Criticising Sermon Led to Fatal Shot

ARDMORE, I. T., Aug. 18.—D. Roach accidentally shot and killed his brother, J. O. Roach, at Ellen while firing at Tom Lanham, a cattleman. Roach sought to kill Lanham because Lanham had criticised a sermon of Roach's father, who is a preacher.

Weather Probabilities.

Partly cloudy; probably showers; light to fresh east to south winds.

RAMMED DESTROYER

Naval Display Was Marred by Accident.

MAYFLOWER BOATS WERE MANNED.

President, on Board the Kearsarge, Spoke to the Gun Pointers of the Navy as to Their Duty.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—The review by President Roosevelt, a magnificent and impressive naval pageant, was marred by a mishap just at its conclusion when the torpedo boat destroyer Barry rammed the destroyer Decatur, fortunatgly doing little damage. The incident, however, was exciting. It occurred just at the moment when the president was receiving congratulations upon the success of the maneuvers.

The first squadron of destroyers, consisting of the Decatur, Bainbridge, Barry, Dale and Chauncey, all under command of Lieutenant L. H. Chandler, was approaching the Mayflower at full speed. The vessels were in close formation. Orders were signaled from the Decatur to the other vessels to form a wedge. In executing the orders the Decatur swung across the bow of the Barry. An instant later the Barry rammed her on the starboard side. As the ships were running at a speed of twenty knots, the blow was tremendous. The Decatur listed sharply to port and seemed to be in serious distress. From the Mayflower she appeared to be sinking.

The Mayflower's boats were manned instantly, but were not lowered, as the Decatur was seen to right herself. In a few minutes she hoisted a signal of "No serious damage." Later she steamed alongside the Mayflower, and Lieutenant Chandler reported that while his ship had received a bad bump on the starboard quarter she was not materially damaged. The injury was plainly evident from the deck of the Mayflower. She had been struck about halfway between her stern and midship, and a large dent had been pushed into her plates. The Barry, which had struck the Decatur a glancing blow, had her bow crumpled by the collision, but she was not injured otherwise.

The accident put a sudden stop to the maneuvers of the destroyer squadron. The vessels came to an immediate stop, the Bainbridge, Dale and Chauncey standing by the two in collision.

Admiral Barker ordered Lieutenant Chandler to proceed with the five vessels to the Brooklyn navy yard, where such repairs as may be necessary could be made quickly.

President Roosevelt, who was intently watching the squadron of destroyers when the accident occurred, remarked that such an accident, especially to destroyers, was likely to occur at any time. In commenting upon the accident Admiral Dewey said that really it amounted to very little. He said that such an accident was a part of the war game and must at times be expected.

At the conclusion of the review President Roosevelt entertained his guests and all the commanding officers of the fleet at a delightful luncheon on board the Mayflower.

During the luncheon the president rose and said:

"We have with us today representatives of the greatest powers—Great Britain, Germany, Russia and Japan. I ask you to drink to those powers and to their sovereigns."

The toast was drank standing. Then the president continued: "We also have with us representatives of an international incident. As to that, may the best boat win."

With laughter and applause that toast likewise was drank by the guests standing.

Captain Dechair of the British embassy addressed the president as follows: "In the name of my colleagues, in the name of our sovereigns and in the name of our countries, I desire to thank you. I propose the health of the president of the United States."

The guests drank the toast heartily.

As the president went aboard the Kearsarge his flag was broken out at the main peak and every one of the twelve saluting ships in the fleet fired a president's salute. After chatting with Admiral Barker and casually inspecting the Kearsarge the president, before visiting the other flagships to return the calls of the rear admirals, addressed the enlisted men and officers of the ship. When they had been drawn up on the gun deck he spoke as follows:

President Roosevelt said:

"Officers and enlisted men: I wish to say a word of thanks to you on behalf of the people of the United States. There are many public servants whom I hold in high esteem, but there are no others whom I hold in quite the esteem I do the officers and enlisted men of the navy and the army of the United States.

"In doing your work here every bit should be done with an eye toward the day when upon every man, from the admiral to the fowest in rank, may rest the responsibility and duty as to whether or not a new page of honor in American history shall be turned. As I passed the Olympia I remembered her grand victory of May 1, 1898, which made her name forever one of renown in our history. But all aboard her, from admiral down to the newest enlisted man, had been equipped for the work by days and years of what must have been many times irksome duty.

"In speaking to all of you I want a chance to say a word of special recognition to the gun pointers. The shots that hit are the shots that tell. They are what make the navy prove itself equal to any need. I am happy to say that the American seamen have never been found deficient in the fighting edge, the first requisite of the fighting man. I do not praise you for being brave; that is expected. The coward is to be condemned rather than the brave man to be praised.

"I expect every one to show a perfect willingness to die rather than to see the slightest stain put upon the American flag, but in addition you must know how to fight as well as know how to die. Then you will be what I believe you are, the most efficient fighting force in the world. I again thank you for what you are. A peculiar responsibility attaches to each and every one of you. It has been a pleasure to see the ship and the guns, but above all, the men behind the guns."

KANSAS CITY FLOOD.

Bridges Carried Away—City Was In Darkness.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 18.—Boats are again being used to transport persons between the two Kansas Cities, the James street bridge and the Metropolitan Street Railway company's bridge over the Kansas river having been carried out by the strong current. The river is higher than at any time since the June flood, and other structures are in danger. The wrecked bridges are temporary pile affairs constructed hastily two months ago.

A further rise is expected, as half a dozen tributaries to the Kansas river west of here are bank full. When the James street bridge went out it floated down stream and carried away the steel railway bridge which supported the Kansas City (Kan.) gas main and telephone cable, putting that city practically in darkness. The wreckage of the two bridges finally lodged against the Chicago Great Western railway bridge, and, while it weakens that structure and puts it out of service, the bridge will, it is believed, remain intact.

All streams in Kansas, including the Kaw, the Smoky Hill and the Republican rivers, are rising, the result of recent heavy rains, and this water is expected to increase the trouble here.

The Stock Yards company has a large force of men at work protecting its pile bridge, over which live stock for the Armourdale packing house is driven from the main yards. General Manager Rust feels confident that the structure will stand.

The Belt line bridge is being kept in place by a heavily laden freight train.

JAMAICA RECOVERING.

Planters Are Clearing the Banana Fields—Donations Come In.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 18.—A slightly more hopeful feeling now prevails among the planters regarding the disastrous situation brought about by the recent hurricane. The work of clearing the banana plantations is proceeding apace, and a great quantity of provisions, such as yams, cocos, sweet potatoes and maize, can be saved.

Efforts are being made on all sides to retrieve the disaster, but thousands of the peasantry are still homeless. The government has authorized nine parochial boards to spend provisionally $1,500 each on relief work—repairing roads, public buildings, etc.

An imperial grant is expected to enable the ruined planters to recommence the cultivation of their plantations, thus giving work to the unemployed. Several subscriptions in aid of the sufferers have been announced.

The island of Trinidad has contributed $5,000. A big meeting was held here, and a subscription was opened, many sums being donated immediately.

The Norwegian steamer Salvatore di Giorgio, which was driven ashore in Annotata bay during the hurricane, has been hauled off badly damaged.

Italian Shot by His American Wife.

MONESSEN, Pa., Aug. 18.—Harry Lapresto, a well known Italian fruit merchant of this city, is dead from a bullet wound in the abdomen, fired from a revolver in the hands of his American wife, Ella Lapresto. Lapresto and his wife had parted for several weeks, she claiming that he had been unfaithful. Mrs. Lapresto made an appointment with her husband to meet at a friend's house and settle their differences. While Lapresto was on the way to the place of appointment Mrs. Lapresto rushed from under cover of a thicket and fired twice, the second bullet proving fatal. When arrested the woman admitted having killed her husband and said she was glad of it.

Czar to Name Arbitrators.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—By the peace protocols with Venezuela it is provided that the emperor of Russia shall be requested to name the personnel of the Hague court which should pass on the contention of the blockading powers of Great Britain, Germany and Italy for preferential treatment in the settlement of their claims against Venezuela. The other claimant powers insist that they shall be paid simultaneously with the blockading powers. It was agreed that this point should be left to the Hague to decide. Wayne MacVeagh, Judge Penfield and Herbert W. Bowen will represent nonblockading powers before the Hague.

Philo S. Bennett's Funeral.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 18.—The body of Philo S. Bennett, who was killed in Idaho while on a stagecoach in the mountains, has arrived here and was at once taken to his late home. Many men in public life in this and other states have sent word that they will attend the funeral, William Jennings Bryan being among the number.

Trolley Wrecked; One Dead.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Aug. 18.—In a head on collision on the Carthage-Joplin electric railway three miles from this place Motorman Baker was killed, Motorman Hedge fatally hurt and twenty-five other persons seriously injured.

TREATY IS REJECTED

Colombian Senate Throws Out Canal Ratification.

A GREAT SURPRISE FOR PANAMA.

Proposal to Use the Nicaraguan Route Is Looked Upon as a Threat on the Part of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18.—An official dispatch has been received by Minister Herran, in which it was plainly stated that the canal treaty had been rejected by the senate at Bogota. This confirms the information received by the state department from Minister Beaupre.

The rejection of the canal treaty by the Colombian senate has produced a tremendous sensation on the isthmus. It was generally believed that the treaty would pass with some modifications.

There is good reason to suppose that the majority of the members of the senate regard the Spooner amendment to build a canal by the Nicaragua route if the Panama route was rejected by Colombia as a mere threat on the part of the United States. They are convinced that the Nicaraguan project is impossible and that the United States will again deal with Colombia.

The unanimous rejection of the Panama canal treaty by the senate caused a profound impression in all circles at Panama. The question on all lips is what will become of Panama. The only consolation the isthmians have is that the rest of the republic, with exchange at a very high figure and with an upward tendency, will suffer a great deal more.

It seems that the government never expected the treaty to be ratified, and it was not supported at all in the senate.

General Lucio Velazco, an old veteran and a distinguished army officer, has been appointed military commander of the department of Panama. It is thought that the fears caused by the rumors of a secession movement on the isthmus may have influenced the appointment.

Frisco's Hearty Welcome to G. A. R.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—The members of the Grand Army of the Republic, who have been arriving by every train for the last week to attend their thirty-seventh annual national encampment, have been welcomed heartily to the city, which in their honor was in gala attire, flags and bunting fluttering everywhere. The elaborate scheme of electric illumination prepared for the delectation of the city's guests won many expressions of admiration. The Gothic arches spanning the principal avenues, elaborate in their decorations and crowned with flags, blazed with multicolored electric lights, and nothing of equal beauty has ever been seen in this city.

Car Inspector's Luck.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 18.—John Robert Martin, railroad car inspector in New York, has fallen heir to the estate of John Martin of Carlake, Scotland. It had been believed that all the heirs were dead, and simply as a legal formality proofs of the death of several heirs formerly residing in Ogdensburg were being taken here, when the discovery was made of the existence of John R. Martin in New York, the sole surviving heir. Depositions of residents of Norwood, where he formerly resided, thoroughly established his identity and his right to the vast landed property of his ancestor.

Demand Was Enforced With Pistol.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 18.—Beverley S. Warden, who was arrested because he wanted to board a street car and none would stop for him and he finally drew a revolver and forced a motorman to come to a halt, was acquitted in police court. In discharging Warden Police Judge Tracy said: "Any street car motorman brought before me on a substantiated charge of passing passengers on the street corner will be fined the limit of the law. Citizens have rights that are paramount to those of a street car company."

Odell Pardons Higley.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Governor Odell has pardoned Charles L. Higley, sentenced from Onondaga county to Auburn state prison for ten years for an unnatural crime. Higley was sentenced last November. The state prison officials report that he has consumption and can live but a few days. The judge who sentenced him recommended his pardon on the further ground of doubt as to his guilt.

Two Arrested as Spies.

VIENNA, Aug. 18.—Two men have been arrested at Moena, Austrian Tyrol, on suspicion of being spies. They were found to be in possession of sketches of fortresses on the Austrian frontier. One of the prisoners is a professor at Venice, and the other is an official of the post office at Florence. Both were held for trial.

Captain Guilty of Manslaughter.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 18.—Captain Woodard of the schooner Helen Whitten of Gloucester, Mass., was found guilty of manslaughter fot shooting and killing one of his crew named Patrick Yetman, a Newfoundlander, while the latter was trying to leave the vessel in the ship's dory on July 4 last.

Died on Mountain Trail.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Aug. 18.—An inquest held over the remains of Miss Catherine Grathwol, who died on the mountain trail to the summit of the Santa Ynez range, developed the fact that the young woman's death was caused by heart failure due to exhaustion.

Carrie Nation has a jail record that would probably compare unfavorably with that of Charley Williams, Plainfield's old time back-silder. She was arrested at Bayonne last night.

The contemplated action of incorporating the borough as a third class city deserves the most serious consideration. Doubtless there are potent arguments both for and against the proposed step. It certainly seems as though the borough would gain by being allowed to control the liquor traffic within its borders and this control can probably be obained in no other way than by incoporation as a city. In a matter of so much importance the borough fathers should consider carefully all the grounds before acting definitely, and this they will undoubtedly do.

Newspaper men are frequently heard to remark that the best school of journalism is in the newspaper office; but none of them ever gainsays the fact that the broadest foundation possible, upon which to build the practical experience, is essential. The success of the school of journalism which Mr. Pulitzer, of the World, proposes to institute as a part of Columbia University seems assured from the fact of its large endowment, the high characters of its board of directors and from the curriculum proposed. It is next to impossible to mention a subject taught in the colleges and universities of today which cannot be made practically useful by a newspaper man. And the subjects of history, political science, sociology and economics which Mr. Pulitzer intends to have emphasized in his new school are especially important. When the student investigates these subjects with reference to their direct bearing upon journalism he ought to go to his work much more fully acquainted with its scope, methods and requirements. For his ultimate success he must depend of course upon his own efforts.

The Third Week of the AUGUST FURNITURE SALE

opens with as much interest to bargain seekers as ever, and prices are lower than you will find them at any other time of the year. This is not a weeding out of old stock or shop-worn goods, but simply an unloading of surplus stock to make room for fall goods soon to arrive, and to make what would otherwise be a dull month one of the busiest of the year, and by so doing we never have any old stock to offer.

Our Entire Line of DINING CHAIRS at the following prices, in sets of six:

Set No. 1—7.35, regular price 1.35 each.
Set No. 2—8.95, regular price 1.65 each.
Set No. 3—9.98, regular price 1.85 each.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The funeral of the late John J. Hartnett was held yesterday morning in St. John's Church at 9 o'clock. Father Dunphy officiated and gave an appreciative talk on the life and good character of the dead man. Delegations from the I. O. F. and A. O. H. were present. There were several beautiful floral tributes. Interment was made in St. Mary's Cemetery at Plainfield.

The Eagle Eyes defeated the Greenbrooks Sunday morning in an exciting game on the latter's diamond by a score of 5-3. The Greenbrooks had the best of the game until the ninth inning when the Eagle Eyes came to the bat and knocked in three runs. This gives the supremacy to the Eagle Eyes, as they have won three out of the series of five games.

The Daughters of Liberty held their regular monthly meeting last evening in Apgar's Hall. After the business of the evening was transacted a dance was enjoyed. The occasion was made more pleasant by the presence of several out-of-town friends. Refreshments were served at midnight.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Larrabee last evening. Several friends from out-of-town were present and were greatly impressed with the hospitality of the host and hostess.

The crack trotter purchased by Pete Snyderwin, in Newark, is expected to arrive in town some time today. It left Newark on Saturday and passed through Plainfield last evening.

The supporters of the Dunellen A. C. will be sorry to hear that the crack twirler, Ettlinger, will pitch but one more game for the local team as he expects to leave for St. Louis.

Manager Vail, of the Watchungs, after witnessing the poor exhibition of ball playing, Saturday afternoon, against the Garwood's, is planning to institute evening practice.

Dunellen was represented yesterday at the Dervey outing at Coney Island by the person of Valentine Mac Gloughlin, who reports a very enjoyable time.

Pitcher Ettlinger and Manager Davis, of the Watchungs, attended the double header between New York and Cincinnatti yesterday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hunt, of Philadelphia, have returned home after spending a few days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Meriell.

Arthur Craig, a brakeman on one of the drill engines, who was injured about two months ago, has returned to work.

A large number from the borough attended the Knights of Columbus' picnic at Riverside Park last night.

Miss Ruby Van Syckle, who has been visiting the Misses Gaskill, has returned to her home at Fort Lee.

Mrs. George Coriell, who has been suffering with a severe cold, is considerably improved.

John Coyle, superintendent of Levering & Garrigues', is in Philadelphia on business.

NEW MARKET.

The Y. M. A. went down in defeat Saturday afternoon before the Metuchen team by a score of 8-7. The game was close until the ninth inning and New Market was one run to the good when Abe Nelson dropped two flies and let in two runs. Squires pitched a very clever game for the local team.

Score by innings:

Metuchen.....	2	0	0	2	0	1	0	0	3	—8
New Market.....	0	0	0	2	0	2	3	0	0	—7

Mrs. Bessie McKenzie, of New York, who has been visiting Mrs. Stanley Day, has returned home.

Charles F. Dayton has been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hoff and daughter, Sara, of Milburn.

William Jenner is entertaining his sister, Mrs. Edward Hart, of New York.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Barnes have been entertaining friends from Rahway.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Some of the lovers of the National game are beginning to think the series with Westfield is a hippodrome affair. A week ago Saturday, Westfield was outclassed by the locals and played to a standstill. One week later the same two teams met on Westfield's diamond and Scotch Plains put up a regular school boy game, practically presenting the game to Manager Denman. These are simply the fortunes of baseball and the same things are happening every day in the big leagues. No one doubts the honesty of either team but the wise acres are bound to come in with the "I told you so."

The grounds about the railroad station never looked prettier than they do this season. The removal of the coal yards and freight house gave room for an attractive park on the east side of the track.

It is Scotch Plains' turn to win in the game at Westfield on Saturday afternoon, but to do it they will have to put more life in their playing than they did in the game of last Saturday afternoon.

Flannery and MacManus, of the local team, are playing a great outfield game. Flannery has only two errors charged to him for the season's play, and MacManus thus far has a clean score.

Alexandra Archibold, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs John Archibold, of Washington Valley, has returned to his home at Westfield.

Routine business was transacted at the monthly meeting of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company, held last night, in the company's rooms.

Mrs William D. Johnston and daughter, Mrs. Atwood, who have been sojourning at Asbury Park for a week, have returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith and family, of Lincoln, have been visiting Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark.

Miss Minnie Hosinger, who has been enjoying a two weeks' vacation, returned to her duties at Hill & Shupp's, Monday.

Miss Mamie Clark, of Bartle avenue, who has been spending two weeks with relatives at Montclair, has returned home.

Mrs. Hoyt and daughter, of Brooklyn, were the guests, Sunday, of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haberly.

Mrs. John R. Haskard has returned from a two weeks' visit with her sons in Boston, Mass.

Miss May Marsh, who has been enjoying a week at the shore, has returned home.

William Hosinger, of Plainfield, has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Frank Hosinger.

Thomas Reordan, of New Market, has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Lynus Walpole.

Mr. and Mrs. George Clark were the guest, Sunday, of out-of-town friends.

Miss Susie Parse has returned from a visit of several days with Brooklyn friends.

Edward Johnston has been visiting friends at Hackensack, this State.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—At the rooms of the West End Hose Company, on Harrison avenue, last night, the members made further arrangements for the projected trip to Boonton, on Labor Day. They will participate in the celebration of the Boonton firemen.

—There are many wise people in this city who have never missed one of the Hope Chapel excursions. They will never know what a fine time they will miss on Saturday if they fail to secure tickets. It promises to be one of the biggest and grandest of any excursion yet held. Go.

Lake Hopatcong.

Lake Hopatcong has become justly famous for several reasons but chief of these is its location. High up in New Jersey's beautiful mountains, a thousand feet above the sea level, surrounded by verdant hills and charming landscape, it is the perfection of outing places. To reach it is a delightful journey through a series of picturesque valleys, and the time of the traveler is so occupied feasting on the scenic sights that the few hours journey are like fleeting moments. For a Sunday excursion no place is more popular than Lake Hopatcong, and if you want a day of enjoyment take in the $1.00 excursion to Lake Hopatcong. The New Jersey Central is to run on August 23, 1903. There will be a special train from Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., and the return train does not leave the lake until late afternoon. There is ample opportunity for a trip over the lake or such enjoyment as one may care to indulge in. 8 18 5

Mrs. Reuben Knox, formerly of Washington avenue, has been visiting friends in town.

Among the guests registered at the Ocean House, Asbury Park, is H. M. Pittman, of Plainfield.

Dr. William O'Gorman Quinby, of Newark, N. J., was the guest of Miss Lilian B. Thorne, of East Second street, on Sunday.

Up the Hudson.

History teaches us that Hudson, in his trip up the river which bears his name, was highly pleased with the marvelous scenic surroundings. Were he to make the trip today words would not express his delight, for in addition to nature's handiwork the embellishments by man have made the Hudson one of the grandest spots in the country. The New Jersey Central will run in connection with Steamer St. Johns a popular-priced excursion up the Hudson on Aug. 26, 1903. Rate to be $1 and train will leave Plainfield at 8:46 a. m. Fare for children at half of above rate. St. Johns is one of the famous Sandy Hook Fleet and is the best appointed and fastest excursion boat in the harbor. 8 18 7

TURKISH RESERVES.

Sultan Calls Out Fifty-two Thousand Additional Troops.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 18.—An imperial irade has been issued calling out fifty-two additional battalions of troops (about 52,000) from the European provinces of Turkey in consequence of the spread of the insurrection in Macedonia. These troops comprise twenty battalions of reserves of the first class from the Adrianople and Salonika army corps. The others are reserves of the second class.

The managers of the railroads have notified the government that they disclaim responsibility for the damage done to the lines or for the injuries to officials while the present conditions prevail in Macedonia.

The squadron of the Russian Black sea fleet under orders to sail for Turkish waters consists of the battle ships Catherine II., Tria Sviatitelia, Rostislav and Dvenadzat Apostoloff, four torpedo boat destroyers and six mine and torpedo transports. The squadron has arrived at Sevastopol preparatory to sailing for the Turkish coast.

The Roumanian war minister has ordered the government powder factory and small arms ammunition depot to prepare large quantities of ammunition immediately.

Orders have been issued for the mobilization at Sofia of two divisions of reserves. It was rumored that they will be employed in strengthening the forces on the frontier to prevent the passage of Bulgarian bands into Macedonia. The officials, however, state that this rumor is unfounded and that the reserves were called out to undergo their customary training.

The memorandum of the Bulgarian government to the powers regarding the situation in Macedonia has produced a great effect at Rome. The general impression is that the Bulgarian government is no longer able to hold back popular feeling, which, unless it is repressed in time, will lead to a war with Turkey. The fate of Bulgaria in that event, it is thought, would probably be the same as that of Greece in the last war with Turkey.

President Cannot Attend.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—President Roosevelt has declined an invitation to attend the launching of the armored cruiser Pennsylvania, which takes place at Cramps' ship yard. Chairman Henderson of councils' committee received the following letter from the president's secretary: "The president regrets his inability to accept the courteous invitation of the joint special committee of the city of Philadelphia to be present at the launching of the armored cruiser Philadelphia on Saturday, Aug. 22." In the absence of the president Secretary Moody will represent the government.

National Guard Captain Arrested.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 18.—Captain Clarence Sharon of Topeka, Kan., has been arrested here charged with embezzling the funds of the Kansas national guard. Sharon says there is a difference of only $200 between him and his regiment, but the local police aver that the alleged defalcation will reach into the thousands. Captain Sharon served in the Twentieth Kansas regiment in Manila with distinction.

Montana Grasshoppers Stop Trains.

RED LODGE, Mont., Aug. 18.—Grasshoppers are so thick in this section that they are interfering with the operation of trains. Locomotive wheels are made so slippery that when the engines stop it is difficult to start them again. The grasshoppers have eaten the range bare.

Convict Wants to Fight Duel.

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 18.—Pat Rogers, one of the six men who broke from the Butte jail on the night of Aug. 8, has written a letter in which he says he will give himself up if City Detective Murphy will fight him a duel. Murphy has accepted the challenge.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL, IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

Embroidered Linens For Morning Wear—Lace Afternoon Gowns.

The simple embroidered linen or volle gowns are very popular.

Some of the linen frocks have hats to match, also embroidered and of rather a flat shape, with shady brims. Some of the linens are embroidered in coarse cottons, others in satin stitch.

Red and white mixtures continue favorite wear, and green and white also looks cool on really hot mornings. But all these neat gowns for morning should be worn with morning hats. Many women absolutely ruin the appearance of their chic little linen frocks by wearing them with picture hats, which are entirely out of keeping. Picture hats should be kept for fete toilets and carriage wear.

In direct contrast to the simple morning costume is that reserved for afternoon. It is a model of costly beauty. Irish lace and very fine guipures seem to trim most of the mousseline de soie and sole de chine gowns. Beautiful embroideries are more and more used, and black chantilly lace, jet and silver paillettes have a revival in favor.

Soft, voluminous effects are the aim of the leading dressmakers as far as skirts and sleeves are concerned.

The illustration shows a collarless evening gown of pale blue nun's veiling and chiffon.

FROCKS AND FRILLS.

Grass Lawn a Popular Fabric—New Sheer Materials.

A biscuit colored gown patterned in blue is charming with a hat of tuscan or chip, trimmed with wreaths of forgetmenots and reseda ribbon and accompanied by a pale blue sunshade.

Grass lawn is a fabric which makes ideal summer gowns and is extremely smart when inlet with motifs of ivory lace or insertions. Crepe de chine in an ivory white shade is appliqued with lace of the deepest ecru and string color, and many of these gowns have plaited flounces or spotted net or broad insertions of the net adorned with incrustations of lace and tiny edges of drawn ribbon.

Champagne colored cambric with black embroidered spots and figures is very smart, with creamy insertions drawn through with ribbon. The very fine lawn with an amplitude of embroidery or liberal incrustations of lace is smart when relieved with a bright color. Soie de chine and gaze de soie are exceedingly ethereal textures in silk which have a semitransparent effect and are inlet with lace and mounted in a different, but quite soft, tint.

The black dress has amazing opportunities this year allied to the colorwebby lace of the hour. Another stupid tradition has been swept away by the acceptance of the fact that the effect of coolness is quite as much a matter of material as of color. A floating black gown, for instance, through which glimpses of the neck and arms are revealed, is infinitely more replete with cool summer suggestion than a heavy robe of coarse cream guipure.

The picture shows a black chiffon hat, simply trimmed with three ostrich tips.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1903, by The Robert Company.

And one night, while decision in Nanette's case was still pending, and, still self-secluded, she hid within the trader's home, refusing speech with any one but little Fawn Eyes, a sleighing party set out from Frayne for a spin by moonlight along the frozen Platte. Wagon bodies had been set on runners, and piled with hay. The young people from officers' row, with the proper allowance of patrons and elders, were stowed therein, and tucked in robes and furs, Esther Dade among them, gentle and responsive as ever, yet still very silent. Field, in his deep mourning went nowhere. He seemed humiliated beyond words by his connection with this most painful affair. Even the general failed to cheer and reassure him. He blamed himself for everything and shrank even from his friends. They saw the dim glow of the student lamp in his quarters, as they jingled cheerily away. They were coming homeward, toward ten o'clock. The moon was shining brilliantly along the bold heights of the southern bank, and insensibly, chat and laughter gradually ceased as they came again in sight of the twinkling lights of Frayne, and glanced aloft at a new-made scaffolding, standing black against the sky at the crest of Fetterman Bluff. "Eagle Wing roosts high," said a thoughtless youngster. "The general let them have their way to the last. What's that?" he added, with sudden stop.

The sleigh had as suddenly been reined in. The driver, an Irish trooper, crossed himself, for, on the hush of the breathless winter night, there rose and fell—shrill, quavering, now high, now low, in mournful minor, a weird, desolate, despairing chant, the voice of the heart-broken woman, and one and all knew at once it was Nanette, after the manner of her mother's people, alone on the lofty height, alone in the wintry wilderness, sobbing out her grief song to the sleeping winds, mourning to the last her lost, her passionately loved brave.

Then, all on a sudden, it ceased. A black form started from under the scaffolding to the edge of the bluff. Then again, weird, wild, uncanny, a barbaric, almost savage strain burst from the lips of the girl. "Mother of Heavin!" cried the driver. "Can no one shtop that awful keen. It's her death song she's singin'!"

Two young officers sprang from the sleigh, but at the instant another cry arose. Another form, this one of horse and rider, appeared at the crest, silhouetted with the girl's against the stars. They saw the rider leap from saddle, almost within arms' length of the singer; saw her quickly turn, as though, for the first time, aware of an intruder. Then the wailing song went out in sudden scream of mingled wrath, hatred and despair, and, like the Sioux that she was at heart, the girl made one mad rush to reach the point of bluff where was a sheer descent of over 80 feet. A shriek of dread went up from the crowded sleigh; a cry of rejoicing, as the intruder sprang and clasped her, preventing her reaching the precipice.

"ALONE ON THE LOFTY HEIGHT, ALONE IN THE WINTRY WILDERNESS, SOBBING OUT HER GRIEF SONG TO THE SLEEPING WINDS."

But almost instantly followed a moan of anguish, for slipping at the crest, together, firmly linked, they came rolling, sliding, shooting down the steep incline of the frozen bluff, and brought up with stunning force among the icy blocks, logs and driftwood at the base.

They bore them swiftly homeward—Field senseless and sorely shaken—Nanette's fierce spirit slowly drifting away from the bruised and broken tenement held there, so pityingly, in the arms of Esther Dade. Before the Christmas fires were lighted in the snowbound, frontier fort, they had laid all that was mortal of the brave, deluded girl in the little cemetery of Fort Frayne, her solemn story closed, on earth, forever.

L'ENVOI.

Nearly two years later, with the old regiment still serving along the storied Platte, they were talking of her one moonlit evening at the flagstaff. The band, by this time a nxture as Frayne, had been playing delightfully, and some of the girls and young gallants had been waltzing on the Rays' veranda. A few new faces were there. Two faces, well known, were missing—those of Esther Dade and Beverly Field. The latter had never been the same man since the tragic events that followed so closely on the heels of the Lame Wolf campaign. Wounds had slowly healed. Injuries, physical, were well nigh forgotten; but, mentally, he had been long a sufferer. For months after the death of Nanette, even when sufficiently restored to be on duty, he held shrinkingly aloof from post society. Even Webb, Burke and Ray were powerless to pull him out of his despond. He seemed to feel—indeed he said so, that his brief entanglement with that strange, fascinating girl had clouded his soldier name for all time. To these stanch friends and advisers he frankly told the whole story, and they, in turn, had told it to the general, to the colonel commanding the regiment and to those whose opinions they most valued; but Field could speak of it to none others. Frankly he admitted that from the moment he met the girl he fell under the influence of a powerful fascination. Within 24 hours of his return from the Laramie trip they were riding together, and during that ride she asked to be taken to Stabber's village, and there had talked long with that magnificent young Sioux. Later, Field, surprised her in tears, and then she told him a pitiful tale. Eagle Wing had been educated, she said, by her aunt and uncle—was indeed their nephew and her own cousin. He had been wild and had given them much trouble, and her aunt was in bitter distress over his waywardness. It was to plead with him that she, Nanette, had gone. "Moreau" had been taught mining and mineralogy, it seems, and declared that he had "located" a most promising mine in the Black Hills. He could buy off every claim if he had a thousand dollars, and the mine might be worth millions. Hay pooh-poohed the story. Mrs. Hay could not persuade him. Then "Moreau" became threatening. He would join the hostiles, he swore, if his aunt would not help him. Indeed, and here Field's young face burned with shame, Nanette told him that she understood that he, Field, was an only son who might inherit wealth in days to come, and could draw upon his father now for any reasonable sum; and, within the week of his meeting her, he was on the point of offering everything she needed, but that he disbelieved the Indian's story. Then, one night, there came a note begging him to meet her at once. She had a dreadful message, she said, from "Moreau." The fellow had frequently been prowling about the trader's during the dark hours, and now she was afraid of him, yet must see him, and see him at once, even if she had to ride to Stabber's camp. Field's eyes were blinded and he went. Hay's horses were ready beyond the corral, and she rode astride on one of Hay's own saddles. They found "Moreau" awaiting them at the ford, and there was a scene Field could not understand, for they spoke in the Sioux language. That night it was that, all in tears at the Indian's obduracy, she owned that he was her own brother, not merely a cousin, and together they had all gone back toward Frayne. "Moreau" was to wait on the flats until she could return to the house. She had been striving to get him to make certain promises, she said, contingent on her giving him something from her own means. Field said he remonstrated with her to the utmost, but she told him no woman with Sioux blood in her veins ever deserted a brother—or lover. And so she had returned with a packet, presumably of money, and there they found the Indian clinched with Kennedy. Kennedy was rescued in the nick of time, and pledged to silence. The Indian rode away triumphant. Nanette climbed back to her window, exhausted, apparently, by her exertions, and Field started for his quarters, only to find the entire garrison astir. The rest they knew.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

ABSOLUTE FAITH.

You Can Depend Upon the Word of This Plainfield Citizen.

He has had the experience.
He has thoroughly tested the article.
He found it as represented.
He has absolute faith in its merit.

Mr. Jepp Zensen, of 782 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For a year I had a sort of grinding pain across my back at times extending up to my shoulders and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

SPORTING NEWS.

WITH THE ROOTERS.

Says Manager C. H. Denman, of Westfield: "The defeat of Scotch Plains at Westfield Saturday makes the series two to one in Westfield's favor. The fourth game will be played at Westfield next Saturday and Scotch Plains has the fighting chance of making it two and two. The series has been a pretty struggle and has shown that while the Westfield team plays phenomenal ball, the 'Plains' outfit is in their class. Knowing the sporty loyalty of 'Plains people to their team it is more than likely that they will be braced for Saturday's go, as it is their only chance to walk away with the series, and it means considerable to their reputation to trim the down the line autocrats."

VARIOUS SPORTS.

Sportsmen should bear in mind that the last Legislature passed a law protecting doves. There is no "open" season and to kill one, or even have one in possession is a misdemeanor, punishable by a heavy fine.

TENNIS.

The tennis committee of the Westfield Club has arranged for a men's singles tournament on Saturday, Aug. 22, to be followed by a tennis tea and an informal dance in the evening.

Buried in St. Mary's.

In St. Mary's Cemetery yesterday the remains of the late George Butscher, who died in this city Saturday, were interred. The services were held at the home of the dead man on West Fourth street by Rev. Father Egan and were largely attended. The bearers were Theodore, John and Joseph Zellar, B. Herald and J. Meyers.

Social of Young Men's Club.

A full attendance of the members of the Young Men's Club, of St. Stephen's Church, was present for the regular weekly meeting of that organization at the church rectory last evening. The meeting was purely a social affair and the time was spent playing ping pong and duplicate whist.

Case in Contract.

Summons has been issued in the contract case of Murphy vs. McDonough to satisfy a hundred dollar demand of the plaintiff. The case will come up in Justice Hand's court next Tuesday at 10. Swackhamer and Codington are attorneys for the plaintiff.

NO PUBLIC BOROUGH PARK

THAT IS THE REASON COUNCIL CANNOT APPOPRIATE CONCERT MONEY.

Matter Brought Up at Last Night's Meeting—Subscriptions for Next Week's Concert.

Because North Plainfield has not a public park or square the Borough Council is prohibited, according to the State law, from appropriating a sum of money to be devoted towards band concerts. The matter was brought up at the Council meeting last evening when Mayor Smalley announced that enough money had been subscribed to pay for one free public concert. The people on the other side of the brook have come forward with generous subscriptions, one resident, who is spending the summer at Long Branch, having sent a substantial sum of money to Mayor Smalley through the mails.

Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed was asked his opinion regarding the power of the Council to make appropriations for such a purpose and his reply was to the effect that money can be appropriated for such purposes providing the band concerts are to be held in a public park for the benefit of the public.

The concert will be held Saturday, August 19, at the corner of Fairview and Watchung avenues. It will be the only one of the season.

PERSONAL.

James Dodd, of this city, is spending a two weeks' vacation at Lake George.

Mrs. James W. VanSickle and family, of East Third street, are sojourning at Asbury Park.

Charles VanNest, of Watchung avenue, is on a fishing trip at the Fishing Banks for a few days.

Miss Orvetta Culyer, of West Front street, is visiting friends at the Summit Lake Hotel, Central Valley, N. Y.

The Misses Lizzie and Annie Day, of Mansfield, Mass., are visiting at the home of their brother, William E. Day, 92 Duer street.

H. Cook, G. Groff and A. Nelson, local fishermen, spent Sunday at South Amboy fishing. They caught thirty-five weak fish, twenty-one toad fish, seventy-two eels and two bushels of crabs.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Sentence was suspended this morning at the city court on Joseph W. Gavett, Jr., who was arrested Saturday for riding on the sidewalk.

—The contract case of Brooks vs. Robinson, which came up for hearing at Justice Hand's court yesterday, has been adjourned until next Monday morning.

—Patrolman Myers found the door of Moore & Scheelein's market unfastened at 9 o'clock last night. All was quiet inside, as Myers was the first to make the discovery.

Gordon's Condition Improved.

James Gordon, of Central street, Netherwood, who was taken to the hospital yesterday with concussion of the brain, the result of being thrown from a carriage, is much improved today. His recovery is now assured.

Repairing Car Tracks.

A gang of Italian laborers were at work this morning on the Somerset street bridge. The trolley tracks at that place have spread and sunk in places and made travel unpleasant through the jolting of the car.

Measuring Railroad Men.

Employes along the line of the New Jersey Central are being measured for their winter uniforms. The employes in this city had their dimensions taken today.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the German Reformed Church will meet in the Sunday-school room of the church, Thursday afternoon. All the members are urged to be present.

The members of Grace Church Mission, for colored people, are anticipating a visit from a minister of their own race in the person of Rev. Geo. F. Bagg, Jr., who preaches Sunday evening.

Under the auspices of the Calvary Baptist Church, a lawn party will be given on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Fernando Brown, of Webster place. The proceeds will be used to send the pastor, Rev. Scott Wallace away on his vacation.

Rev. F. H. Jacobs, of Brooklyn, the well-known evangelistic singer and leader of young people's meetings, has been secured to lead the 4 o'clock service next Sunday afternoon at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home. Singing will be one of the features of the meeting which will be of unusual interest to all.

Sixteen delegates from the Seventh-Day Baptist church of this city will leave town today for Salem, W. Va., to attend the annual meeting of the General Conference of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church to be held for the remainder of the week at that city. They will make the trip in a special car which will be attached to the 7:47 train tonight.

HE HAD MATCHES.

Young Venable Boy Burned Two Tons of Hay and His Father's Chicken Coop.

The well-known combination of children and matches was the cause of the fire yesterday afternoon at Arthur Venable's home at 614 West Third street. The Venable boy's unprecedented success at building a bonfire on the top of the haystack in the rear of his home destroyed more than two tons of hay and his father's chicken house. A telephone alarm was received at fire headquarters at 3:30 and Companies 1 and 2 proceeded to the scene. Two lines of hose were laid and after considerable trouble the fire was extinguished. The loss was $60 with no insurance.

Mrs. Werner Buried.

Funeral services were held Sunday over the remains of Mrs. Elizabeth Werner, who, on Friday, was found dead in her room on New street. They were in charge of Rev. John Justin, pastor of the German Reformed Church and the interment was in Samptown Cemetery. The bearers were William Beiter, William Carner, Frank Metz and Herman Kohl. The dead woman's relatives, who are supposed to live in Chicago, have not yet been located by the local authorities.

Hymen in the East End.

Charles A. Weaver and Annie J. Hub, both of Richmond street, decided last evening to share each others joys and sorrows. The young couple paid Justice Mosher a visit at his Fourth street home and the justice married the couple at 9 o'clock. Alexander Kumetat and Augusta Holbach appeared as witnesses.

SIXTY TO BE NATURALIZED

REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE SO REPORTED LAST EVENING.

City Election Will Take Place November 3—Representation at the Primaries.

The City Republican Executive Committee met last evening, with nine members present and Dr. O. L. Jenkins, chairman, presided. The committee on naturalization reported that there would be sixty persons to go to Elizabeth tomorrow evening to receive papers.

A resolution was adopted instructing the City Clerk to place the names of the members nominated for positions in the city committee on the regular ticket to be voted for at the coming city election. The secretary, Wm. Newcorn, was authorized to issue the necessary calls for the primaries to be held on September 8. The representation will be one delegate for each fifty voters and one for a fraction over twenty-five. The various wards will be entitled to the following numbers of delegates: First ward, 10; Second ward, 10; Third ward, 10; Fourth ward, 16, making a total of forty-six. The city election will be held on Tuesday, November 3.

Doctored for Appendicitis.

Adele Freeman, the six-year-old daughter of J. H. Freeman, of Park avenue, was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital, last night, and an operation for appendicitis performed by Doctors Hedges and Tomlinson. The little patient is doing well.

BACK TO NEWARK.

John Feeley Returned This Morning After Trying to "Touch" His G. A. R. Friends.

John Feeley struck town from Newark last evening and was found trying to solicit money for more drinks by working the G. A. R. gag in Netherwood. When Roundsman Mattox sought to escort him to police headquarters for the night, he showed his fighting blood and gave "Bill" a practical demonstration of the way he used to touch up the rebs in the good old times under Fitzpatrick. After his discharge from headquarters this morning Feeley resolved to leave the city and lead a peaceful life but took occasion before his departure to show Mayor Jenkins his official discharge from his country's fighting ranks with a view to soliciting pecuniary assistance. The Mayor adjourned court.

Services for Dorlon Children.

Funeral services for Walter and Grace Dorlon, the infant children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dorlon, of Dog Corners, were held yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from the home of the children's grandparents, 1088 Arlington avenue. Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of West Seventh street, officiated and the interment was in Evergreen Cemetery on Plainfield avenue.

Picnic at Lincoln.

The members of the Plainfield Gesang and Turn Verein went to Lincoln Sunday on the invitation of the Lincoln Deutsche Eintracht for a picnic at the farm of Charles Wolfeng, Jr. Many were present from other towns than Plainfield. Singing and games were the attractions.

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Many of the local members of the Knights of Columbus will attend the Knights of Columbus mid-summer night's carnival at Riverside Park tonight. Members of the order will be present from all parts of the State and a most enjoyable time will be held.

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and developement. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

EXAMINATION OF ASSESSORS BOOKS

Occupied the Attention of the City Councilmen at Last Night's Meeting.

HIGHER TAX EXPLAINED

COMPARISON OF THE RATES FOR THIS YEAR AND LAST.

Bids for Macadamizing Streets Will be Received by the Council Monday—Petitions for Hydrants—About Ballot Boxes.

Chiefly for the purpose of examining the books of the assessors, the Common Council held an adjourned meeting last evening. There were just enough members present for a quorum, the absent ones being Councilmen Garrigues, Tyler, vanHerwerden and Tolles. Mr. Daniel moved to suspend the regular order of business, after which he moved that the Council adjourn to Monday evening, August 24, when bids for macadamizing certain streets will be received.

Mr. Daniel stated that the occasion for last evening's meeting was principally to examine the books of the assessors. He said that the rate for the coming year will be $2.52, an increase of two points over last year's. He explained this as due to a jump of one point in the county rate, to the interest on the new Court House bonds and to an increase of another point in the State school rate, making the aggregate increase two points. He then moved that the members examine the books of the assessors and a recess was declared for that purpose.

After the recess the following figures were given out showing the difference in the rate for last year and this year. This is the comparison:

	1902.	1903.
County tax	.48	49
State school	.17	18
Fire department	.24	25
Library	.04½	4½
City and city light	.69	69½
Poor	.04½	6½
Free school and bond	.69	69½
Principal sewer bonds	.07	06
Interest sewer obligation	.09	07
	$2.50	$2.52

Mr. Daniel offered a resolution, which was adopted, approving the books of the assessors.

City Clerk MacMurray read a letter from S. Rusling Ryno, clerk to the Union County Board of Freeholders, offering the city $25 each for nine ballot boxes, now owned by the city and which are desired by the county officials. According to the new primary law each polling place will have to be equipped with three ballot boxes, one for the Republicans, one for the Democrats and a third for all other parties. The city now has eighteen boxes and if these are sold to the county, it will be the duty of the county to see that each polling place in the city has the necessary three boxes.

Mr. Daniel moved that the ballot boxes be disposed of at a price not less than $25 each, less such sum needed for repairs. The motion was adopted.

Residents of Evergreen and Martin avenues petitioned the Council for two fire hydrants, one on each of these avenues, claiming that inasmuch as several fine houses have been and are in course of construction that the fire protection is needed. The petition was signed by E. M. French and others and it was referred to the proper committee.

City Clerk MacMurray reported that the agreement between the city and Titus H. Laury for the erection of the barn back of police headquarters, had been approved. The clerk also reported that he had received from County Collector Wood an abstract of ratables and exemptions for Union County and on motion of Mr. Daniel this was filed with the clerk for future reference. This concluded the business of the evening and the Council adjourned.

Bridge Building in Progress.

The new Girard avenue bridge, now being built by Union and Somerset counties, is progressing favorably, although of late the high water has impeded the labors of the men somewhat. The same difficulty was experienced in building the Madison avenue and Duer street bridges. Yesterday afternoon representative from the two Boards of Freeholders inspected the work.

Building Permit.

Charles H. Hand, of 319 Watchung avenue, has filed plans with Building Inspector T. O. Doane for the erection of a three story frame house on West Third street, opposite Pond place.

HOSPITAL NEARLY COMPLETED

WORK ON THE MEN'S WARD WAS BEGUN YESTERDAY.

Women's Ward Will Soon be Ready for Occupancy—Need for Assistance.

Work was begun yesterday in building the men's ward at the new Muhlenberg Hospital and it will be pushed through with all practical speed. The women's ward is about completed and it is believed that everything will be in readiness to take possession this fall. A member of the Board of Governors of the hospital, in speaking of the new building, recently, declared that its appointments equalled those to be found in the largest and finest hospitals in New York, which speaks well for those who have been in charge of the work, as well as Evarts Tracy, the architect.

One has merely to visit the hospital now in use to see what a great work is being done with a limited amount of room. Additional money will be necessary to complete the new building and the Board of Governors hope that the people of Plainfield will not be slow to recognize the importance of their assistance. Visitors are welcomed at the new hospital and the man in charge will be glad to show any interested person through the building.

COURT HOUSE DAMAGED.

Big Derrick Ripped Out Material of Elizabeth Structure.

Part of the walls of the new Union County court house, which is being erected at Elizabeth, N. J., was demolished yesterday by the falling of a big derrick, which ripped out part of the marble and granite on the Rahway avenue side of the building.

There were several men at work on the walls at the time of the accident, but the noise of the derrick tearing away the scaffolding as it crashed down caused them to run away in time.

The police say the scaffolding was not strong enough to sustain the weight of the big derrick, which was used for raising stones from the street and placing them on the top of the walls.

STILL ANOTHER LEVY.

U. S. Marshal on Ferryboat Bound Brook at Elizabeth Yards.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Aug. 19—The ferryboat Bound Brook, of the New Jersey Central Railroad, which is undergoing extensive repairs at the New Jersey Dry Dock Company's plant here, has been levied on for salvage by the owners of some tugs which went to the ferryboat's assistance when it was in danger of destruction by fire some months ago. The railroad company refused to pay the claims, on the ground that they are exorbitant. A deputy United States Marshal is in charge of the vessel.

Lane Lost His Eye.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 19—The medical staff of Somerset Hospital yesterday performed an operation on Augustus Lane, colored, cutting out his eye. Lane was strolling down South street Saturday night, it is said, with a "jag" on, when someone jumped on him and beat him soundly. During the "scrap" Lane was struck in the eye, the ball of which was broken.

Going to the Lake.

The first annual excursion of the U. O. of B. H., and M. S. A. will leave tomorrow morning for a day at Lake Hopatcong. Fully three hundred will attend. The excursion is arranged by William Phillips and Spencer Conway for the benefit of their invalid wives. The committee in charge consists of William Phillips, Spencer Conway, Nathan Pollard, Phillip Brown and Charles Shelton.

Able Instructor.

Prof. A. S. Herr, new teacher in the Penn. Business College, has been engaged to take charge of the Commercial and English work at the Plainfield Business College this year. Prof. Herr has had much experience in public and High School work and is most highly recommended.

Hen Convention.

The Atlantic City Poultry, Pigeon and Pet Stock Show, will be held at Young's Ocean Pier, Atlantic City, August 27 to 31. It is expected that the exhibit will be the largest in years.

—Neuman Brothers will receive tomorrow morning seventy-five baskets of Mountain Rose and Reeve's favorite peaches. A shipment of three cases of fancy Texas muskmelons will also be received tomorrow morning. Get the best by trading at Neuman's.

IN GALA ATTIRE.

Somerville is Entertaining Many Delegates to Encampment of P. O. S. of A.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 19—Every train that came to Somerville yesterday afternoon brought delegates to the fifteenth annual State Encampment of the Patriotic Order Sons of America, which is in session here, and until a late hour this morning the delegates continued to arrive. Nearly all the business places on Main street and many of the private residences are handsomely decorated with flags and bunting.

At 10 o'clock this morning, when the convention was called to order by F. L. Condict, of New Brunswick, the State president, over 300 delegates were in attendance in Somerset Hall and answered the roll called by J. Wiggins Thorn, the State secretary. Lawyer Fred. A. Pope, who is a prominent son, is the chairman of the committee on arrangements and has done good work in so efficiently handling so many outsiders.

New Jersey has over 7,000 members in the order. The reports presented this morning indicated an increase in membership in the State during the past year of between 800 and 1,000, which is a larger proportionate gain than has been made by any other State.

FIRE HOUSE SHOCKED.

Iron Work at Fire Headquarters Charged With Electricity—No Danger.

A shocking discovery was made at fire headquarters at 10 o'clock last night. One of the men who happened to put his hand on some iron work down stairs in the fire house received the shock—an electric one. The restlessness of the horses was the first sign of anything wrong and investigation showed that all metal work in the stalls as well as thoughout the entire building was charged with lighting current of electricity. Considerable time was spent in trying to locate the seat of the trouble and a lineman from the electric light company was finally called in to disconnect the lighting for the entire building. This shut off the current on the charged metal. This morning the seat of the trouble was discovered in the crossing of two wires and electric lighting re-established. While the current was not strong enough to be dangerous it caused considerable trouble among the horses, which would neither eat nor drink on account of the current circulating through the mangers.

VETERANS TO ASSEMBLE.

Wm. Johnston, of the Plains, Issues Invitations for a Reunion.

William D. Johnston, of Scotch Plains, as secretary, has issued invitations to the fourteenth annual reunion of the Fraternity of the Survivors of the Sixth Regiment, N. Y. Volunteer Heavy Artillery, to be held at the Hall of Delancy Cole's Camp, No. 78, Sons of Veterans, No. 995 Main street, Peekskill, N. Y, Monday, September 7.

The Fraternity will be the guests of the Sons of Veterans, and there will be the usual attractive programme. Comrades are requested to wear Grand Army uniforms and to signify their intention of attending by communicating with Mr. Johnston. The question of the publication of the history of the Regiment will be brought before the meeting, and there will be several good speakers present.

New Jersey's Tomato Crop.

There is much speculation at present as to the tomato canning industry of South Jersey, and various opinions are expressed. As a rule, the vines look thrifty except in localities where heavy rains with hot sun made the scald detrimental, and in some sections the usual blight was severe. In Cumberland County there was a rather rank growth with light settings. Those who are in a position to know say that there will be plenty of tomatoes. The canning industry means much to Southern New Jersey. Of the fifty-two canneries in the State, most of them are in the lower part. Statistics show that more than 7,000 persons are employed during the packing season, a majority of whom are women.

Fire in a Chimney.

A verbal alarm of a chimney fire at 325 North Front street near Westervelt avenue was received at fire headquarters at 8:15 this morning from Wesley Dunn, a clerk in a grocer's delivery wagon. The department proceeded to the spot and found a chimney fire under headway. Five minutes work settled the trouble without any loss.

—The Plainfield Seminary, Miss Kenyon and Miss Arnold, principals, will reopen Thursday, September 17, for its thirty-sixth year.

POLITICAL SUICIDE TO NOMINATE BRYAN

Or Cleveland Either, Says James E. Martine to The Daily Press.

FACTIONS IN THE PARTY

TARRIFF AND CURRENCY MATTERS WILL BE ISSUE OF NEXT CAMPAIGN.

Available Man for Democratic Nomination Has Not Yet Been Named—Free Silver is Dead—Other Political Views.

"To nominate William Jennings Bryan or Grover Cleveland for the Presidency, would be political suicide," were the words used by James E. Martine, at his home at Cedar Brook, this afternoon, when interviewed by a representative of The Daily Press regarding his views about Cleveland's running for the Presidency next year.

The "farmer orator" was in a fit frame of mind to talk politics. He had his oratorical powers right with him as he explained that his hired man resigned unexpectedly last night and left him alone to harvest a healthy crop of hay, and when asked for an interview anent the political outlook at Washington he took a chair on the front porch and said:

"So far as my own personal views are concerned I want to see the victory of the Democratic party at the next presidential campaign. If with my own vote I could make a President I would vote for William Jennings Bryan because I think that he could give us an administration which would be the nearest approach to that of Andrew Jackson.

"I realize full well, however, that we cannot elect Bryan and that it would, in fact, be political suicide to nominate him. I believe it would be political suicide also to nominate Grover Cleveland. I see that "Staff" Little and James Smith say that New Jersey will go strong for Cleveland. In my opinion there is a large portion of the people of New Jersey who are opposed to Cleveland because of his silence during Bryan's last campaign when a word from him would have meant thousands of votes for the man of his party. Instead he remained silent and by his silence turned many Democrats against their party.

"It is a well known fact that Cleveland and a large element of the Democratic party on the Bryan side have been at sword's points, and it seems to me that it would be a slap in the face of Bryan to nominate Cleveland.

"I do not think gold and silver will be the issues at the next campaign. The question in my opinion will be tariff and matters regarding currency."

"What do you think of David B. Hill or Gorman, as candidates?" suggested the interviewer.

"I do not think either of them will make a good fight, and I doubt if they get a nomination."

"Then how about Hearst?"

"I would say that it is remarkable what a following he has among labor organizations. All I know about the man is that he is he proprietor of a newspaper, the editorials of which are doing a great deal of good in raising the morals of the masses. My fear is that his training and identification with matters of state are not sufficient to enable him to properly govern eighty millions of people.

"I believe Senator Smith is conscientious and honest in his opinions but I cannot see through the same lens as he. I do not think the available man has been mentioned yet. What we want is to nominate a man that can win. The rank and file, in my opinion, are against Cleveland.

"There has been much talk about the prosperity which we are enjoying today. To me the recent collapses in Wall street, the failure of the shipbuilding trust, for which the son of Senator Smith has been appointed receiver, cause me to believe that there is a consistent pricking of the prosperity bubble and that prosperity exists only in spots."

More Fresh Air Children.

A party of fifty children arrived last night at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home for a two weeks' stay amid the pleasant country surroundings of Miss Curry's little colony. There are now two hundred city children at the camp and all are in the best of health, a marked change from their often sickly condition when they arrive.

Mrs. Mollie Lyons and Mrs Katherine Sharkey have returned from a two weeks' vacation at Asbury Park.

DR. WOODS IN JERSEY.

So Counsel Says—Will Answer Larceny Charge, Not Murder—May Surrender Himself.

Frank M. McDermit, of Newark, as counsel in New Jersey for "Dr." John D. Woods and his wife, who at one time were residents of Watchung avenue, this city, who are being sought in connection with the suspicious death of Colonel William J. Best, at San Rafael, Cal., is in communication with Prosecutor Riker, and it is possible that the couple may shortly surrender themselves.

Mr. McDermit declared yesterday that his clients were in New Jersey. They were willing, he said, to answer to the indictment found against them at San Rafael for grand larceny, but were unwilling to return to California until they were assured that this charge was not a ruse to get them into the jurisdiction of the California courts and then try them for murder.

Alfred G. Best, at his home last night, was asked about the report that Woods was willing to surrender himself.

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Best, "that is what he has been saying all along. I haven't seen him make any move to give himself up, though. He knows pretty well the charges which can be brought against him, and that probably will be brought. He isn't running any risk."

BICYCLES MET.

James Dunbar and William Dominski Collided and Dunbar Was Hurt.

James Dunbar, of New Market and William Dominski, of Grove street, met in a bicycle collision at about 6 o'clock last night at the corner of North and Park avenues. Both were riding at a good rate of speed and were thrown heavily. Dominski was unhurt but Dunbar, who is a man of considerable weight, was in great pain when picked up by Patrolman Quaas. He was carried into Armstrong's drug store and was found to be severely injured in the right side at the waist. It is thought that one of his ribs was broken but he refused the services of a physician and subsequently was taken home in a carriage. His bicycle was reduced to a wreck, the front wheel being shattered and the frame twisted and bent.

ASKED TO SHOW CAUSE.

Middlesex County Affair Will be Investigated Sept. 15.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Aug. 19—Supreme Court Justice Franklin Fort, of Newark, has issued an order directing the Board of Freeholders of Middlesex County to show cause why a commission should not be appointed to investigate the affairs of Middlesex County. The order will be served on the members of the Board and upon County Collector David Serviss, and will be returnable September 15, the opening day of the next term of court here.

Copies of the order have not been served so far, but will be shortly. It is presumed that Justice Fort will question the members of the Board in order to satisfy himself whether a commission would be warranted. Both Freeholders and the petitioners for a commission, it is thought, will agree to this arrangement.

$50,000 FOR SPECIAL ELECTION.

What It Will Cost to Vote on Constitutional Amendment.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 19—County clerks have been supplied with election matter for the special election to be held in September on the constitutional amendments.

Two official ballots were sent out for every vote cast in the last Gubernatorial election. It required 781,364 official ballots to cover the 1,149 voting districts in the State. The pay of the registry boards for registering the votes is $3 for each member and $5 for work on election day. There are four members to each precinct.

To this must be added the cost of printing, transportation, etc., which will bring the expense of the election very near to $50,000.

Five Stitches Necessary.

While chopping wood at his home on Westervelt avenue yesterday morning, Thomas Kolb was struck in the head by a flying chip which inflicted a painful injury. Five stitches had to be taken in the wound which is directly above the right eye. Mr. Kolb was much weakened by loss of blood and is now confined to the house.

Pleasant Announcement.

The engagement is announced of Miss Lucy Smith, daughter of C. H. Smith, of John street, to John B. M. Judson, formerly of Orange county, now of Plainfield. The marriage will be in the early fall.

THE ENGINEER DIDN'T STOP

WAS EXPECTED TO TAKE ON PARTY OF PLAINFIELDERS LAST NIGHT.

Train Had to Wait at Wayne Junction for the Seventh-Day Baptists.

There was considerable excitement at the North Avenue Station, last night, when the delegation of Seventh-Day Baptists failed to get aboard a through train which was supposed to stop here for them. David E. Titsworth had previously communicated with C. M. Burt, general passenger agent, asking him to have the train which leaves New York at 7 o'clock in the evening stop here for the party. Mr. Burt granted the request, and a special car was attached to the train.

The party, consisting of nearly twenty people were at the station on time, but to their great disappointment the train did not stop. A green lantern was placed on the tracks, and afterward waved as the engineer, but even this did not have the desired effect. A person standing at the station at the time says that the engineer appeared to apply the brakes just as the last car of the train passed the station, but quickly released them and continued the journey as fast as ever.

There was much hustling on the part of the leaders of the delegation and as a last resort Mr. Besler was found at his home. Upon his order the fast train was held at Wayne Junction until the arrival of the 8:20 train from this city. By way of explanation it was said last evening that the engineer had not received any word to stop at Plainfield. Whether this is true or not, it seems as though the display of a green light should have brought his train to a stop. The party finally caught the train and continued on their journey to Salem, West Virginia, where they will attend a conference which opens this evening.

AFTER TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS.

Plainfielder Found Turtle With Initials Carved on Back.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Aug. 19—Twenty-seven years ago, when J. Warren Brown, of Plainfield, was a young man, he captured a land turtle on the Brown farm on the Jerusalem road. With a penknife and a sharp nail he cut the initials "J. W. B.," and the year "1876" in the little animal's shell and let it go. In 1880 someone else captured the turtle and inscribed the initials "C. P." and the year "1880," and again the little animal was liberated.

Yesterday afternoon Robert M. French found the turtle on the French farm opposite the Brown property, and near the scene where it was first captured. Mr. French gave the turtle to Mr. Brown, who expressed great surprise at seeing his old-time friend. Mr. Brown fixed up a cosy house for the little animal at Welch Bros.' store and fed it upon apples. Last night the turtle accompanied Mr. Brown to his home at Plainfield.

Death of Well-Known Farmer.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Mt. Bethel Church over the remains of the late Jonathan Moore, who died at his home in Dead River, Saturday. The remains were interred in the Mt. Bethel cemetery. The dead man was one of the most widely-known farmers in that vicinity. He had lived in Dead River for many years and his death followed an illness of considerable length. He was seventy years old. His wife died about six years ago and since then his health has gradually been failing. He leaves no children.

Smiths to Congregate.

Arrangements are being made for the annual reunion of the Smith family at Peapack on Wednesday, Aug. 26. There will be the usual pleasant features and everybody will be a Smith for that day, at least. The reunion will be at the farm of the late Peter Z. Smith, a mile east of the town. Rev. C. H. VanGlahn, pastor of the Bernardsville M. E. Church, will speak. Music will be by the Raritan Cornet Band.

Small Borough Fire.

A chimney on the building occupied by Mathias Menzenbach, Somerset street, took fire Monday night and a still alarm was sent into Warren Engine Company, next door. Several firemen rushed up on the roof and extinguished the blaze before any damage was done.

Examining Assessor's Books.

The North Plainfield Common Council met last evening for the purpose of going over the books of the assessor, Elston M. French. Three sessions will probably be necessary before the work is completed. Secret sessions are the rule.

NO RIVAL FEARED FOR NEW JERSEY

No Alarm Felt at Increased Corporation Facilities in Washington.

BUSINESS IS GROWING

STATE STILL THE "MOTHER OF GIGANTIC COMBINATIONS OF CAPITAL."

There is Plenty of Trade in Franchises Available at Trenton, Notwithstanding Washington's Temptations.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 19—The corporation department of the office of Secretary State is in no wise disturbed by the news sent out from Washington, D. C., this week that the fat corporation business done by New Jersey was in imminent danger of ruin by the discovery that the new corporation laws of the District of Columbia offered such great inducements to big and little companies that they were deserting this State for that district.

It was alleged in the Washington story that the falling off in last month's New Jersey business could be directly attributable to this competition. Attention was called to the small filing charge, which is but $1.25 in Washington, no matter how large the corporation, and from that fact it was argued that in the future all the business would be attracted to the National Capital. According to the story the National Government was already a competitor with every State in the Union for this rich corporation business.

When shown the story by a correspondent, Corporation Clerk John W. Brooke, said: "All of these stories about New Jersey losing her supremacy in fostering corporations is the veriest kind of rot. Every day or two I read of some State that is going to wipe out this department and when I show the articles to the lawyers that are counsel for corporations, they laugh at the stories. Take this story, for instance, the mere fact that because the District of Columbia exacts only a nominal fee for filing charters is urged as a reason for concluding that all the corporation business will eventually go to that point. While New Jersey exacts a filing fee of $20 a $100,000 of authorized capital, no charge less than $25, the superior advantage of this State's corporation laws is the incentive to come in under our laws. The filing fee is a mere bagatelle to these corporations and should any State offer to file charters for nothing, there would be no danger to New Jersey.

"Under the laws of this State stockholders are only liable for the amount of their holdings in a corporation, so that a crash would only wipe out this stock and no action would be valid against any other property a man might have in any other venture or be possessed of, like real property. This does not obtain in but a few States.

"In the great majority of cases liability is double a man's holdings of stock. If I mistake not, this is the law in the District of Columbia.

"Another great advantage under our laws is that corporations need but start their businesses with nominal capital, and when growth comes it is a little matter to file returns in this office showing that more money had been paid into the business. In this way concerns are not burdened with corporation tax on stock not yet issued, as they are compelled to do in other States.

"Perhaps the greatest safeguard to officers and directors of New Jersey corporations is that which provides for non-attackable decisions of these officers except where fraud can be shown. The decisions of boards of directors regarding property purchases in corporations must be final and not open to attack if there is to be any stability to shares of stock. In other States these decisions are open to review in the court upon the complaint of any disgruntled stockholder that the property was not worth the value set upon it by directors, and there are many instances where irretrievable harm has been wrought by such actions. No stockholder of a New Jersey corporation has any standing in a court of law on such a matter unless he can prove fraud. Great corporation lawyers consider this a vital factor in the success of New Jersey as the mother of gigantic combinations of capital.

"These are only a few reasons why

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

If a person were to tell you of the great bargains offered in groceries and household supplies at Fred H. Firstbrook's, on Liberty street, you would hardly believe him. To be convinced stop at the store and see for yourself.

Did you ever notice the distinction of quality in Peck's goods. They are in a class by themselves and for that reason they find ready purchasers. Peck is offering a choice line of summer goods, including his usual select line in linen wear.

There are meats that are sold cheap but are not wholesome; and there are meats that are retailed at prices within the reach of all, that are tender, juicy and healthful. It all depend on the care of the stock. M. R. Giles, of Park avenue, makes a specialty of family trade.

Many people have fine laces which cannot be sent to the laundry because they are liable to be torn and ruined. Mrs. Gustavus Meissner, of 430 Watchung avenue, has had many years of experience in washing fine laces and fabrics and guarantees that they will not be torn. All work done by hand.

It will pay you to keep an eye on some of the fish bargains which are daily announced for Rogers' Fish Market. At that store you can find every kind of seasonable fish at the right price. Specialties for tomorrow are fresh bluefish and mackerel, weak fish, butterfish and hard and soft crabs.

John Wirth, the West Front street baker, is building up a great reputation here in town by the manufacture of his superior bread. Wirth's bread is well known hereabouts and is destined to become better known. His pies and cakes are also front rank articles well worthy of a trial. Superior wagon deliveries.

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company has inaugurated a mammoth "five cent sale" for this week and has placed on the market at this price an excellent quality of goods. Aside from this there is a big sale of canned fish, canned meats, beans, peas and corn, together with some big bargains in laundry goods. While these specials will continue through the week, early buyers will be sure of bargains.

Beautiful gardens are Plainfield's pride. The grounds about Plainfield's houses in almost every locality are what makes Plainfield the city beautiful. A good lawn set about with a few well-chosen trees and shrubs does much to beautify the surroundings of any house. The Belleview Avenue Nursery Company has a big assortment of shade trees, flowering shurbs, bushes, vines and hedge plants that are worth seeing before you buy.

Among the many attractions at Woodhull & Martin's new store on East Front street, is the August furniture sale, and any one looking for bargains in these goods can now purchase to good advantage. The line of housefurnishing goods is also well worth looking at as the prices are marked very low. In summer dress goods a desirable assortment is shown, and the laces and embroideries are among the best offered in this city.

Eat All You Want.

Persons troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia can eat all they want if they will take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Up the Hudson.

History teaches us that Hudson, in his trip up the river which bears his name, was highly pleased with the marvelous scenic surroundings. Were he to make the trip today words would not express his delight, for in addition to nature's handiwork the embellishments by man have made the Hudson one of the grandest spots in the country. The New Jersey Central will run in connection with Steamer St. Johns a popular-priced excursion up the Hudson on Aug. 26, 1903. Rate to be $1 and train will leave Plainfield at 8:46 a. m. Fare for children at half of above rate. St. Johns is one of the famous Sandy Hook Fleet and is the best appointed and fastest excursion boat in the harbor. 8 18 7

DeWitt is the Name.

When you go to buy Witch Hazel Salve look for the name DeWitt on every box. The pure, unadulterated Witch Hazel is used in making DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which is the best salve in the world for cuts, burns, bruises, boils, eczema and piles. The popularity of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, due to its many cures, has caused numerous worthless conterfeits to be placed on the market. The genuine bears the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

TOOTS FROM THE ENGINE'S WHISTLE

The executive committee of the trainmen, conductors, switchmen and telegraphers of the Lehigh Valley Railroad will soon call on the officials in an effort to make a new schedule for wages.

The Lackawanna Railroad Company is making preparations with the electric light plant at Stanhope to illuminate the park at Cranberry Lake and efforts are being made to draw excursions there at night.

That the prosperity of the dairymen is reflected on the railroads is shown in that Sussex County alone ships 40,000 quarts of milk daily over the Lehigh and New England, resulting in a revenue to the road of $280 a day.

The semi-annual inspection of watches carried by New York Central employes disclosed that out of 4,000 only eighteen failed to meet standard requirements, under which they must run within thirty seconds a week of the regulators. The men take great pride in keeping within this limit.

Improvements are under way in the Landingville coal storage yards of the Philadelphia and Reading by which the capacity of the plant will be increased to over 1,000,000 tons. This plant is built of large bins on the side of the mountain, and the facilities for handling the stock are practically unlimited.

The new coal storage plant of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, which was begun several years ago at Island Park, a suburb of Easton, Pa., has at last been completed and the work of storing coal there will begin at once. The plant has a capacity of 300,000 tons, and will be operated in addition to the three other storage systems of the company, those at Perth Amboy, South Plainfield and Buffalo.

A representative of the proposed New York and Four Junction Railroad has been getting extensions of time on the right of way options within which the work must be begun to January. The route selected is from New Orange to Union, then into Springfield and over the mountain near the Baltusrol Golf Club into Park avenue, Summit, where the terminus will adjoin the Lackawanna Station. The company is said to hold a clear right of way over the entire route and contracts for the work have been let.

Thomas H. Pindell, the new superintendent of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, was for a number of years superintendent on the Erie. He was born in 1860, and has been in railroad service since early boyhood, beginning as an operator for the Springfield and Illinois Southeastern. In 1876 he went to the Wabash; from 1877 to 1879 was on the Ohio and Mississippi; then for a few years he was with the Western Union Telegraph Company. In 1881 he went back to the Ohio and Mississippi as secretary to the superintendent, and remained with that company for several years. For about ten years Mr. Pindell was on the New York, Lake Erie and Western, and its successor, the Erie, as clerk, chief dispatcher, chief clerk to the superintendent of transportation, and in 1897 was promoted to be superintendent.

Lake Hopatcong.

Lake Hopatcong has become justly famous for several reasons but chief of these is its location. High up in New Jersey's beautiful mountains, a thousand feet above the sea level, surrounded by verdant hills and charming landscape, it is the perfection of outing places. To reach it is a delightful journey through a series of picturesque valleys, and the time of the traveler is so occupied feasting on the scenic sights that the few hours journey are like fleeting moments. For a Sunday excursion no place is more popular than Lake Hopatcong, and if you want a day of enjoyment take in the $1.00 excursion to Lake Hopatcong. The New Jersey Central is to run on August 23, 1903. There will be a special train from Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., and the return train does not leave the lake until late afternoon. There is ample opportunity for a trip over the lake or such enjoyment as one may care to indulge in. 8 18 5

Miss Ida Furman, of Craig place, is spending two weeks at Lake Hopatcong.

Miss Guinee, of Hill & Shupp's store, has returned from her annual vacation.

Miss Bessie Reighton, of Park avenue, is visiting friends at Perth Amboy and Red Bank.

Mrs. Charles Shupp and family, of Madison avenue, have returned from their summer outing in the mountains.

In Case of Accident.

Accidents will happen. Mother strains her back lifting a sofa. Father is hurt in the shop. Children are forever falling and bruising themselves. There is no preventing these things, but their worst consequences are averted with Perry Davis' Painkiller. No other remedy approaches it for the relief of sore strained muscles. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'.

Hermis Beats Irish Lad.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Hermis beat Irish Lad in the Merchants' stakes very handily. He was aided particularly by a clever piece of riding on the part of Odom. At the start Masterman shot to the front, and Hermis and Irish Lad trailed behind, both under wraps. Hermis was in a bad pocket, having Masterman in front of him and Irish Lad on his whip side. They ran in this way for three furlongs. For a second Bullman let Masterman get away from the rail path and Odom shot through the hole in an instant and was three lengths to the good in a half dozen strides. The lead thus gained he never relinquished and eventually pulled up a winner in 1:51 3-5, only one-fifth of a second behind his record. Driven out, it is possible he would have hung up a mark of 1:50.

Ben Adkins Won at Kinloch.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 19.—Ben Adkins, with a running start and good luck, won the feature of the card at Kinloch park. Rainland, heavily weighted, was made the favorite in this event. Ben Adkins showed the way the entire distance, winning by two lengths from Fenian, the outsider in the betting, which beat Hugh McGowan, second choice, a length.

Hargis Won by a Nose.

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—In one of the most exciting finishes of the year Hargis won the mile handicap, the feature at Hawthorne. It took the best efforts of Helgesen, however, to land the Corrigan horse the winner by a nose over Glassful, the struggle lasting from the head of the stretch to the wire. Glassful was a heavily backed favorite.

Rioting Croatian Peasants Killed.

VIENNA, Aug. 19.—A fresh outbreak of rioting has occurred in Croatia. At Zapresic, on the occasion of the celebration of the birthday of Emperor Francis Joseph, a thousand peasants gathered in the town and destroyed a Hungarian banner. The rioters were resisted by the gendarmerie, who shot three men and wounded many others. At Komesina the peasants pillaged stores and stoned the military, who killed two and wounded a number of rioters.

Dam on the St. Lawrence.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The secretary of war has approved the application for a permit for the construction of a dam in the St. Lawrence river at Le Gelops island, which is being built by the Canadian government on the condition that changes shall be made in case the level of the St. Lawrence river is affected by the construction of the dam. Congress granted authority for the dam subject to the approval of the secretary of war.

Shorthand Reporters' Convention.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 19.—The fifth annual convention of the National Shorthand Reporters' association was opened here. The address of welcome was delivered by Benn Pittman, with a response by former President Kendrick C. Hill of Trenton, N. J.

Lieutenant Charged With Desertion.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—The war department has dropped from the rolls Second Lieutenant Max Sulnon, who has been absent from the department of Texas without leave for several months. He stands charged with desertion.

Watertown, N. Y., Has Big Fire.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 19.—The Remington & Gates block, occupied by a saloon, restaurant, a hardware store and a printery, has been entirely gutted by fire.

Salisbury's Condition Very Serious.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The condition of Lord Salisbury, at Lough unchanged today, continues to be undeniably grave.

THE CRUISER SANK.

Empress of India Strikes Chinese War Ship.

CAPTAIN AND SAILORS PERISH.

Starboard Propeller of the Ocean Liner Caught the Cruiser and Injured Her So Seriously That She Sank.

HONGKONG, Aug. 19.—The Canadian Pacific railroad's steamer Empress of India, from Vancouver, B. C., and Yokohama for Hongkong, collided near this port with the Chinese cruiser Huangtai. The war ship sank an hour after the collision.

The Empress of India saved 150 of the crew of the cruiser. The captain of the Huangtai, who refused to leave his ship, and thirteen of her crew were drowned. The Empress of India was badly damaged amidships.

The cruiser Huangtai, built at Elswick, was launched in 1886. Her armament consisted of three 7 inch Krupp guns, seven 40 pounders and six small rapid fire guns, and she was fitted with two torpedo tubes.

The Empress of India is one of the finest vessels of the Canadian Pacific Railroad company. She is 440 feet long and is of over 3,000 tons net register.

The two vessels were running parallel courses about midnight when without warning the captain of the Chinese cruiser suddenly starboarded his boat and tried to cross the bow of the Empress. The latter's captain immediately maneuvered so that the collision which he knew would be the result should be a glancing one.

The bow of the cruiser slid along the side of the Empress, but the starboard propeller of the Empress caught the cruiser and injured her so seriously that she sank.

Fought Over Melons, Four Dead.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 19.—Three men have been killed and ten wounded in Randolph county by a negro named Sledge. The sheriff and posse were reported in pursuit. The trouble started in a watermelon patch. A party of white men received Sledge's permission to eat a few melons in the negro's patch. The men then began to cut and slash melons and vines, while Sledge looked on. The negro finally warned them to stop, and then went after his gun. Returning, he emptied his weapon into the crowd, wounding nine out of eleven. Sledge immediately fled. A posse overtook the negro. He was ordered to surrender, but replied by firing his shotgun, instantly killing Thomas Ebbot and Robert Ford. Sledge was accosted on the road by James Moore and Bud Wilson. Without warning the negro raised his gun and fired, instantly killing Moore and mortally wounding Wilson.

Destroyer Flotilla at New London.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 19.—The torpedo boat destroyer flotilla is at the New London coaling station for coal. There was much speculation as to the whereabout of the torpedo boat destroyers Barry and Decatur, which were in collision just after the naval review at Oyster Bay and which had been ordered to the Brooklyn navy yard for repairs. That the two boats are lying to somewhere up the sound was evidenced by the fact that nothing had been seen of them by craft passing up and down. The commander of a yacht that reached Oyster Bay stated that no sign of the torpedo boats had been seen on the way up. Seafaring men agreed it is improbable that the captains of the boats would try to enter Hell Gate during the night with their ships in a disabled condition.

Arrested After Twenty-eight Years.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 19.—James L. Meyers, who came to Darlington, near here, to attend a family reunion, was arrested for a murder committed twenty-eight years ago. Meyers killed Brant Sloan during a quarrel and immediately left. Meyers is now a prosperous lumberman in Tennessee. He thought his changed appearance would prevent recognition. He says he is ready to stand trial and will prove that he killed Sloan in self defense.

Gate Tender Prevents Wreck.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 19.—The watchfulness of Gate Tender Charles O'Neil prevented the wreck of an eastbound express train on the New York division of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. The 9:35 train was nearly due, and the gate tender was about to close the gates at the Sterling street crossing when he discovered that a piece of rail ten inches long had cracked and fallen away from the ties. The train came to a stop a few feet from the broken rail.

Great Forest Fire Raging.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 19.—A great forest fire is raging near Elk, about twenty-five miles north of this city. It is reported that 1,000 acres in a belt of white pine and cedar has been burned over already, and unless rain falls the loss will be very heavy. A hundred men have been fighting the fire, but they are powerless to control it. It is estimated that from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000 feet of timber has been destroyed.

State Firemen's Convention.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 19.—At the first session of the state firemen's convention addresses of welcome were made by Mayor Carell [illegible] Mills and Recorder Wood and responses by Senator Green of Binghamton, Assistant Attorney General [illegible] President Colegrove of the [illegible] association and John Hefferman. Several hundred delegates are in attendance.

YACHTS MEASURED.

Reliance to Allow Shamrock III. 1m. 45s.

DEFENDER SPREADS MORE SAIL.

Both Skimmers of the Sea Ready For First Great Race—Designers Herreshoff and Fife Spectators of Official Measurement.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The Reliance and Shamrock III. were measured in the Erie basin by C. D. Mower, the official measurer of the New York Yacht club. As a result of his measurements and calculations it was announced at the Yacht club that the Reliance would allow the challenger 1m. 45s. over a thirty mile course.

It was found that the Shamrock III. was slightly longer on the water line than the American boat, but the latter proved to have nearly 2,000 more square feet of sail area than the challenger, and it was this enormous sail spread that taxed the American boat so heavily.

The announcement of the time allowance in favor of the challenger caused but little surprise at the Yacht club, as it was the very general belief that the Reliance would prove considerably larger all around than her opponent.

Reliance and Shamrock III. swung lazily at their moorings inside Sandy Hook, ready for the international contest for the America's cup, the first race of which will be sailed tomorrow. The Shamrock III. merely returned to her old mooring place, the Reliance coming there for the first time. The day was one of exceeding interest to all directly interested in the international race, being devoted to the official measuring and final groomings of both yachts. The cleaning of the underbodies of both has been completed, and Charles D. Mower, the official measurer of the New York Yacht club, stretched his steel tape from truck to deck and from the end of the bowsprit to the extreme point of the after overhang of both racers.

As one result about eight inches of the end of the spinnaker boom of the Shamrock III. was sawed off owing to the fact that it was estimated to be that much longer than the base of the forward triangle, which covers the head sails of the yacht, which would mean penalization if allowed to stand. Sir Thomas Lipton as well as Mr. Iselin and Designers Herreshoff and Fife were interested spectators of the work of Mr. Mower. Designer Fife evidently desired that the Shamrock III. should be measured while down by the stern as much as possible, for everything movable, even to the jib-sheet leader blocks, was moved and stowed amidships.

Caleb Powers' Trial.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Aug. 19.—The direct and cross examinations of Caleb Powers, on the stand in his own defense, has been concluded and developed little that was new. He adhered closely to his story told on direct examination. He admitted bringing several companies of soldiers in citizens' clothes to Frankfort, but said he had beforehand had an understanding with Governor Taylor that if the legislature did not heed the petitioners he would then call the militia into service, and he (Powers) wanted to have the militia on hand. MacKenzie Todd of Frankfort, private secretary to Governor Taylor, testified to seeing Youtsey about the executive department and the private office of Caleb Powers a few days before the shooting armed with a gun and looking at the windows. Former United States Senator W. J. Deboe is here to testify for the defense.

Officer Sentenced to Death.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—A correspondent at St. Petersburg describes a sensational incident which occurred during the Kiev strikes. On one occasion when the troops were ordered by the governor to fire on the strikers a young captain stepped in front of his company and forbade the troops to fire upon "their poor starving brothers." The soldiers obeyed the counter order, and the captain made a flaming revolutionary speech to his men. He was immediately arrested and brought to St. Petersburg, where he was tried by court martial and sentenced to death.

Miners' Strike at Howesville Ends.

GRAFTON, W. Va., Aug. 19.—The strike of the miners at the Kingwood Coal company's mines at Howesville has been settled, and the men have resumed work. Three miners had some misunderstanding with the storekeeper and were discharged, which called forth the strike in sympathy. Organizer Haggerty of Clarksburg went to Howesville and effected a settlement, the discharged men being taken back, with the exception of the one who created the trouble.

Professor Killed by Dynamite.

WALTER, Okla., Aug. 19.—Professor E. Horn, until recently prominent in Alabama educational circles, was fatally injured here by the explosion of a stick of dynamite. He was horribly mutilated. Both hands were blown off, abdomen and breast were blistered and portions of his nose, cheeks and chin were torn away. Professor Horn had intended throwing the dynamite into the creek to kill fish.

Private Bank Failed.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Aug. 19.—The private bank of Kinney & Co., at Angola, has closed its doors. The owners of the bank are John Kinney and the estate of the late Peter W. Russell, represented by the heirs, Mr. and Mrs. Morton Beal of Toledo. The immediate cause of the failure was the attempt of County Treasurer George W. Williams to withdraw $17,000.

MERCHANT IMPRISONED.

Refused to Pay Taxes Demanded By Castro.

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Aug. 19.—Authentic information has been received at Trinidad of the imprisonment of French, German and Italian merchants at Ciudad Bolivar, Venezuela (which port was recently recaptured from the rebels by President Castro's troops), for refusing President Castro's demand for the repayment of taxes already paid to the de facto government. President Castro demands the payment of arrears for the period of occupation of Ciudad Bolivar by the revolutionary government. The amount demanded exceeds $65,000. The merchants refused to recognize President Castro's decree abolishing Ciudad Bolivar as a port of entry and declined to ship goods via Carupano.

The Venezuelan gunboat Miranda went to the district of Nutrias, exacting from the merchants forced contributions and fines amounting to another $50,000. The goods imported during the revolutionary regime were confiscated, and double duties were imposed. It is reported that President Castro has threatened to annihilate the commerce and expel the foreign community of Guayana, on the Orinoco.

A reign of terror prevails throughout the district owing to the extortion, threats and barbarities of the party in power. The entire region of the Orinoco teems with produce accumulated during the past two years for which there are no adequate shipping facilities. The native and German firms at Caracas appear to be seeking to control the entire Orinoco import trade. There is no money in the Orinoco country, and the distress is very great. All the American river boats and interests up the Orinoco are at a standstill, being unable to move in consequence of President Castro's determination to destroy the transshipment trade in America and European goods between Trinidad and the Orinoco country.

Boston Block Destroyed By Fire.

BOSTON, Aug. 19.—The explosion of a tank of gasoline in the basement of a six story block occupied by several manufacturing concerns on Wormwood street, South Boston, caused a fire which inside of fifty minutes destroyed every combustible foot of the building, meantime precipitating a panic, in which scores of employees received injuries. The monetary loss is $150,000. Immediately following the explosion a dense volume of smoke enveloped the building, and 250 girls employed by William Byers, manufacturer of lace curtains, on the sixth floor, stampeded for the stairways, the only exits, and, screaming and fighting, made their way to the ground. In the struggle many fell and were trampled upon. It was at first believed that loss of life had resulted, but a search of the ruins has not revealed any evidence of fatalities.

Alpine Climbers Are Not Dead.

CHAMONIX, France, Aug. 19.—The seven tourists who were reported to have been killed while climbing the Aiguilles Grises of Mont Blanc had, it appears, a miraculous escape. They were seen to fall into a couloir, and it was taken as a certainty that they were dead, but an exploring party discovered the tourists, who were only slightly injured by their fall.

Piece of Clay Killed Engineer.

WELLSVILLE, N. Y., Aug. 19.—As the result of the explosion of twenty-five sticks of dynamite under a bank of blue clay in a new cut of the Shawmut railroad a piece of clay the size of a man's head was thrown 200 feet, striking Edward Williams of Chicago, an engineer, and injuring him so badly that he died a few hours later.

G. A. R. AT SAN FRANCISCO.

Parade of Military and Naval Brigades.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The parade in honor of the Grand Army of the Republic of the military, naval and civic bodies of this city and state furnished an imposing spectacle for the vast crowds of people who packed the sidewalks, windows, roofs and every point of vantage along the line of march.

The scene as the troops, both regulars and state, passed along the gayly decorated streets, with banners flying and bands playing, was one which will long be remembered by those who saw them.

The first division was composed of detachments of United States troops, sailors and marines, including the Seventh infantry, three battalions of field artillery and the First and Second battalions coast artillery.

The second division, which made a fine showing and met with a hearty reception, was made up of regiments of the California guard.

The naval battalion came next, attracting as much attention from the crowds of spectators as they swung past dragging their gatling guns. The veteran reserves, Company A, followed as special escort to a body of former Union prisoners of war.

Seldom has a finer parade been witnessed in San Francisco. The veterans of the Spanish-American war and the national guard of California were well represented. The Order of Red Men, which was largely represented, added a picturesque feature to the display. The German societies of the city, including amateur athletes and children from the various turner schools, made a splendid showing, as also did the League of Cross cadets. Generals Miles and Shafter were greeted with cheers along the line of march, which included the city's chief thoroughfares.

BOYS WORK IN MINES.

Miners' Sons' Work Is Allowed For In Their Pay.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 19.—In the course of the testimony for the miners it developed under cross examination that many miners are in the habit of taking boys into the mines to work with them, each boy being allowed a half turn on cars, although his coal output goes under the father's check. Controversy over the responsibility for this class of labor led to an agreement between the miners and the principal operators involved in the arbitration that the commission in its findings shall rule that no boys under fourteen years of age be allowed to enter the mines in this district. Under the state law of Alabama it has been possible to utilize the labor of boys of twelve years and over in the mines.

Mr. Percy, attorney for the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, said that the Tennessee company had endeavored to prevent boys under fourteen years old working in the mines, but that the union fell back on the state law and insisted on the twelve-year-old clause being a part of each new agreement. Mr. Flynn, president of the miners' union for this district, declared that the union would gladly agree that the commission should make a rule that no boys under fourteen be allowed in the mines. The representatives of all the large companies who were present immediately declared themselves in favor of the fourteen year clause, and Judge Gray said the commission on these assurances would make such a finding. The testimony showed that any miner working twenty days a month could earn $100 a month.

King of Servia's Simple Life.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—King Peter is very prudent. He interests himself in every branch of the administration. He presides at every cabinet council and expresses his opinion unreservedly, but he permits the ministers to act freely and untrammeled. Unlike his predecessor, he refrains entirely from expressing any wish regarding appointments or dismissals, an unheard of innovation in the Balkans. All letters addressed to the king, even from his relatives, seeking public appointments are invariably handed to the chiefs of the departments concerned without even a suggestion from his majesty. Neither does he interfere in party politics nor exercise any direct influence on the foreign policy of Servia, which today is neither pronounced Sussophile nor decidedly pro-Austrian. The king's private life is as simple and democratic as it was before his accession to the throne.

Bar Harbor Horse Show.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 19.—The annual horse show and fair in point of attractions and attendance eclipsed the opening day of all other years. The display in the horse exhibition classes was excellent, while the kennel exhibition was the best ever made here. Of the horses the honors fell chiefly to the stables of W. B. Leeds of New York, which captured four blue ribbons.

Coates Was Determined to Die.

NYACK, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Herman T. Coates, who murdered Louis Hull at Spring Valley on May 19, 1902, has committed suicide in the Rockland county jail. Coates was brought here from Richmond, Va., where he was arrested for vagrancy. While there he confessed to the murder of Hull. On Sunday he jumped from an Old Dominion steamer off Sea Girt, but was rescued.

Inquest on Explosion Victim.

LOWELL, Mass., Aug. 19.—The inquest on the death of William Galloway, one of the twenty-one victims of the recent powder magazine explosion in South Lowell, July 30, was begun here before Judge Hadley. The inquest was held behind closed doors, even counsel being denied the privilege of hearing testimony.

TURKS DRIVEN BACK

Sultan's Battalions Suffer a Heavy Loss.

BULGARIA HAS MOBILIZED AN ARMY

Reign of Terror at Uskub, Where Christians Fear a Massacre, as They Get No Protection From Soldiers of the Porte.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 19.—A fierce battle is reported to have occurred in the neighborhood of Monastir. Three Turkish battalions attacked a thousand insurgents, and after the fight had raged for six hours the Turks were repulsed, with the loss of 210 men killed or wounded. The insurgent loss is not given.

Reports received here from Constantinople, and believed to be authentic, confirm the previous statements that when the Turks recaptured Krushevo they slaughtered the entire Christian population without exception. It is pointed out that among those killed were the employees of the government tobacco establishments, which were under European control, as the proceeds from these establishments were assigned to the service of the Turkish debt.

A reign of terror prevails at Uskub, where the Christian inhabitants are afraid to leave their houses. The vali has issued the strictest orders to the Mussulman population to remain quiet and not molest their Christian neighbors, but the Mussulmans, meeting in the mosques, have resolved at a given signal to massacre the whole Christian population immediately the first insurgent band appears near Uskub or on any other pretext. The Christians are terrorized. The Turkish troops, who are their only protection, do not show the slightest disposition to aid them. The attitude of the Turkish troops was recently plainly manifested when a train load of soldiers shortly after leaving Uskub fired on the Bulgarian workmen who were repairing the track. Three of the workmen were killed, and their bodies were left lying on the line.

Telegraphic communication between Sofia and Constantinople is interrupted, the wires having been cut between Adrianople and Constantinople. No telegrams from Constantinople have been received here since 6 o'clock Monday evening. The Turkish officials at Adrianople refuse to state where the break occurred. Fears are expressed here regarding the safety of the railroad between Adrianople and Constantinople.

Advices from the Balkan peninsula state that Bulgaria has practically mobilized an army, as the troops under arms in the principality now number more than 70,000, which is double what is considered as the peace effective. The Bulgarian government, however, is unwilling to venture for the time being on any hostile movement against Turkey as it does not wish to lose the support of Russia. It hopes, however, that public opinion in Russia will force the government to help Bulgaria against Turkey, and the dispatch of a Russian squadron to Turkish waters encourages the Bulgarians in this view.

A band of Bashibazouks has crossed the Bulgarian frontier in the district of Teledere, killed three frontier guards with yatagans and wounded two others. They also set fire to several houses.

The insurgents, after two unsuccessful attempts, have succeeded in destroying with dynamite the bridge at Eschesso, thereby absolutely stopping communication between Saloniki and Monastir.

Discovery at Roman Forum.

ROME, Aug. 19.—A most important discovery was made during excavations in the Roman Forum, consisting of the base of the celebrated equestrian statue of the Roman Emperor Domitian, which is of the greatest interest in determining the topography of the Forum during the first century of the empire. The base stands five feet below the present level of the Forum. It is 40 feet long, 20 feet wide and over 10 feet high. On the top are three blocks of travertin stone, showing where the feet of the horse stood. The fourth block is lacking, indicating that the right forefoot of the horse was raised. The distance between the blocks is so great that it is calculated that the statue was six times life size.

Utica Boy Killed Ithacan Youth.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Herbert Moon, a Utica boy, thirteen years old, shot and killed Lucian Drew, aged twenty, of Ithaca, Mich., on a farm near this city. All the morning the boy and man had been quarreling, and the latter had severely choked young Moon. During the quarrel the boy broke away and got hold of a 22 caliber rifle that he had been using. He shot Drew while the latter was walking away from him at a distance of sixty feet. There was only one witness, the maid-servant on the farm. She says that the boy shot at random.

Convict Shot Dead In Cell.

RAWLINS, Wyo., Aug. 19.—James Williams, a convict, was shot to death in his cell in the state penitentiary by Ernest Goodsell, night turnkey. Reaching through the bars, Williams seized Goodsell and wrenched his keys from his hand. After a struggle Goodsell succeeded in drawing his revolver and shot the convict in the head. Williams, who was serving a sentence for grand larceny, escaped from the prison June 5 last, but was recaptured.

Murat Halstead Buried.

Delegates, representing every labor union in the State that is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, are in session at Bridgeton, where the twenty-fifth annual congress of the New Jersey State Federation of Labor is on at the County Courthouse. The large number of additions to the Federation during the past year in the form of new organizations will make the convention one of the most important in the history of tradesunionism in New Jersey. It is probable that some plan will be advanced for legislation to promote their respective interests. The convention will occupy two or three days and many important resolutions will be considered. The annual election of officers will not take place until just before the closing of the session.

Miss Alice Higgins, of the local telephone office, is enjoying her vacation in New England.

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by L. W. Randolph.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Horace J. Martin is moving from Jackson avenue, in the borough, to his new home on Marion avenue, near Randolph road. The house vacated by Mr. Martin will be occupied on Monday by William Jeffery, now of Somerset street.

—There will be an auction sale of carriages, harness, hardware, farming implements, ladders, screens, doors, etc., at 90 Westervelt avenue, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock sharp. P. H. Latourette will be the auctioneer and good bargains are promised.

—A day at Asbury Park with the members of the Hope Chapel Sunday-school is a rare treat. An opportunity is offered to those who have never visited the famous seaside resort to take the trip Saturday, August 22, at remarkably low rates. Secure tickets early.

—It was rumored about town yesterday afternoon that workmen at the Watchung Spring Water Company's bottling works on Washington rock hill had unearthed a skeleton of an Indian. Investigation disclosed the fact that the remains of a horse had been uncovered.

—In attempting to alight from a trolley car at the corner of Park avenue and West Front street last evening at about five o'clock a man fell from one of the rear seats. Officer Moses Quaas picked him up. The man declared that he was not injured and refused to give his name.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

"Jack" McMahan, catcher on the Watchungs, has been playing a great game of late. He is about the only one left of the original team organized at the beginning of the season, and although his wing was a little off at first he is now throwing to bases in professional style. As for catching he smothers everything that comes along.

A number of young men of the borough enjoyed a matermelon cut in the depot park last evening. After the feast was over they enjoyed themselves by having a pitched battle with pieces of the rind of the melons.

The Dunellen A. C. is liable to lose one of its best players for next season, in William Giles. Giles has attracted considerable notice at short stop this season and the manager of the Alis team is after him.

At a meeting of the Checker Club last evening it was decided to offer a silver loving cup, which will be awarded to the champion of the club after a series of games during the winter months.

Vice President Stacy B. Opdyke, Jr., of Levering & Garrigues' Iron Works, has charge of the shop this week, in the absence of Superintendent Coyle.

The regular monthly meeting of the directors of the Building Loan Association will take place this evening at The Call office.

Miss Marjorie Burke, who wrenched her knee about a month ago, is now able to get around with the the aid of crutches.

Fred Wrage and Miss Ella Derling have returned home after a two weeks' vacation at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McClaine will occupy the Giles' house, on Front street, when it is completed.

James Dumphy, who has been on the sick list for the past week, has returned to work.

Miss Mary Logan will enter St. Gabriel's Academy, in North Plainfield, this fall.

A number from here left this morning on the T. A. B. excursion to Highland Beach.

Regular prayer meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church this evening.

Paul Kratzel has accepted a position on the Central Railroad as fireman.

NEW MARKET.

It is again rumored about town that New Market and South Plainfield are to be connected with a trolley line. This news will be welcomed by the many who are constantly obliged to use the round-about route via. Dunellen.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallet and family enjoyed an outing at Glen Island yesterday.

William Tabb has returned from a brief visit with friends in Staten Island.

Mrs. A. G. Nelson has been entertaining friends from Quakerstown.

Miss Mary B. Dunn has been entertaining friends from Newark.

Mrs. Harry Machamer has recovered from a slight illness.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

There is hardly a Saturday game played when a fair sized delegation from Brooklyn is not present to help root for the local ball team. Several of the players on the team are numbered among Brooklyn's fastest and most popular players and the crowd goes with them.

Charles Aller and sister, Miss Viola, who have been visiting their uncle, Thomas S. Whitenack, returned to their home at Somerville, Tuesday.

The annual summer encampment of gypsies has come and the wanderers have pitched their tents on the corner of Terrell road and South avenue.

Miss Mamie Merceir, of Plainfield, is spending a two weeks' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Merceir, of Grand street.

William B. Noble, who has been passing a two weeks' vacation, has returned to his duties at the Nassau Bank, New York.

A number of young men from the village are arranging to enjoy part of their vacation on a trolley trip to Boston, Mass.

George L. Dunn, who has been enjoying a two weeks' vacation, returned to business in New York on Monday.

John, Harold and Victor Todd, sons of J. H. L. Todd, of the borough, are enjoying life for a week at Ocean Grove.

With a little display of energy and ambition the local ball team should win at Westfield on Saturday afternoon.

Herbert Hetfield, who has charge of the newstand at the depot, has been detained at home for a week by illness.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lee have been entertaining Mrs. Lee's brother, Michael Fitzgerald, of Jersey City.

Mrs. Otto Peterson, of Montclair, is spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Clark.

A party of young people from the village enjoyed the cooling breezes at Boynton Beach on Tuesday.

The Misses Marsh, of Park avenue, have been entertaining friends from out of town for a few days.

The Missse Shott and a party of friends will enjoy a day's outing tomorrow at Midland Beach.

Frederick Schmidt had a day's outing Tuesday, crabbing along the shores of Newark Bay.

Richard Robison has been spending a few days with friends in Camden, this State.

Floyd Hull has taken a position at Garwood, in one of the machine shops.

Mrs. James Buckley is spending a few days with friends at Westfield.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Harry Teeple, of Newark, visited in town over Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Teeeple.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker, of Newark, have returned after a few days' visit in town.

Mabel Titser, of Bound Brook, is spending a few days at W. B. Manning's.

W. B. Manning entertained company from Plainfield this afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Randolph is confined by illness.

New Jersey will not lose her great corporation business. We never hear of a New Jersey corporation going elsewhere to incorporate. All the solid concerns are chartered in New Jersey. The laws give stability to stock.

"As to the statement that the corporation business is falling off here, I believe the figures will show that this year's business will run ahead of last year. For the seven months to August, 1902, there were 1,381 concerns chartered, for which there was paid filing fees of $294,166.67, while for the past seven months of 1903, or to August 1, this year, there were 1,868 companies chartered and filing fees of $218,266.37 paid. This shows that there was a falling off of but thirteen companies in this corresponding period of time, something not at all to be frightened at. There was also a falling off in receipts of $75,900.30, or the difference between $294,166.67 and $218,266 37. This looks large at first sight, but it also is nothing out of the ordinary when parts of years are considered In the period of 1902 under consideration there were several very large combinations chartered, which swelled very much the receipts of this office. That fact accounts for the seven months past of 1903 not showing such great receipts

"There is nothing to these stories about New Jersey losing her corporation business."

Mrs. Henry Leifke and daughter, Irene, of West Front street, have gone to Belmar, where they will remain until Sept. 1, of flesh and strength, little barking, obstinate cough and a little pain in the chest may not mean galloping consumption, but they are signs that prudence will not neglect. A few doses of Allen's Lung Balsam cause a free discharge of mucus and so loosens the cough. It heals the inflamed air passages and all its beneficent work is accomplished without a grain of opium.

A Little Loss

NEW YORK BUDGET

Gossipy Talk of People and Events in Eastern Metropolis.

WEST SENDS HER MERCHANTS

Sheriff Levies Upon Reginald Vanderbilt's Race Horses—Canfield's Gaming Palace Closed—Former Belle Gets Into Paint.

New York.—Some cynic a century ago complimented Pennsylvania upon "her two greatest men—Benjamin Franklin, of Boston, and Albert Gallatin, of Switzerland."

A Leading Citizen of New York.

Were the wag alive he might compliment New York upon her merchant princes John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia; —the Straus Bothers, of Germany; Siegel and the Coopers, of Chicago; Greenhut, of Peoria; the Saks Brothers, of Washington, and a few lesser lights.

Another merchant prince of the west is a figure and factor in the metropolis, though in a way less known to local fame than by a monstrous dry-goods shop. The only man who owns an entire block front on Fifth avenue between Madison Square and the new library is Marshall Field, of Chicago. He has just taken title to the last plot necessary to complete an area of 200 feet on the avenue and 164 feet upon the side from Thirtieth to Thirty-first street.

Seven years and more it has taken to get together this parcel of land in the heart of what was once known as Murray hill and as the choice abode of fashion, and what is now the center of the hotel district. What it may cost I cannot guess; what it is worth is more easily estimated. At current prices for similar property the lot should be worth not less than $1,500,000, and probably a good deal more; for Fifth avenue is one of the few places where land is worth more in big pieces than in little ones. Elsewhere real estate men divide parcels to sell; here they combine them. Mr. Field's plot has come to him in ten separate transactions.

Levying on a Vanderbilt.

It may seem surprising that a sheriff in New Jersey should have had a levy upon three of Reginald Vanderbilt's racehorses in a suit for damages. The younger Vanderbilts are such a swift lot that a little matter like a suit for damages by a poor fellow who has been laid up in a hospital by one of their automobiles is apt to slip their memory. It is the Vanderbilt custom, when the White Ghost or the Red Demon or any other ghastly 60-horse power engine of sudden death does any mischief, to shout out without pausing: "Send the bill to Mr. Vanderbilt."

Send the Bill to Mr. Vanderbilt.

The complainant in the case, now celebrated by the seizure of the Vanderbilt horses, was brought by one Duffy, who says he was kept in hospital three months by his horse taking fright at a Vanderbilt auto. Service of a writ was impossible, so the complainant did the next best thing.

This question of serving papers upon very wealthy men is becoming complicated. This same young Vanderbilt kept away from New York for months when he feared that the district attorney wanted him to testify against Canfield's gambling house. Suppose the case is one of sufficient importance, how easy it is to skip away merrily to Europe and leave the complainant sighing impotently! A man can leave for England at a few hours' notice and take most of his household goods with him. A van backs up at his door, the stuff is loaded into it and the next the owner sees of his furniture is when he walks into a London apartment that is like home so far as it can be made so by the furniture, pictures, bric-a-brac, books and the like to which he is accustomed.

Canfield at Saratoga.

In spite of Reginald Vanderbilt's staying out of town and of the strange reluctance of the police to prod him, Canfield has had to close the most magnificent gambling house that ever "ran" in New York. More than that, Saratoga, where he has succeeded to Morrissey, Daly and others as the gaming house keeper par excellence of the spa, is now supposed to be shut tight against gambling. Quite as much as the direct campaign against the tiger, what hurt high-toned gambling in New York was the revelations of its crookedness. I was never in Canfield's myself; let the district attorney's experts be my authority for the statement that even there the game was not "square." There is not the slightest doubt that wealthy men went there and cheerfully lost their money under the impression that it was square. They are playing "bridge" now in private houses. There is just as much excitement, and at times nearly as much money lost and won. Dr. Huntington, of Grace church, tells about a young fellow—poor at that—who lost a year's salary in one night in a fashionable house, playing a "lady's game."

A Lady's Game.

But Saratoga! Imagine Saratoga with Daly's "hell" turned into a harmless restaurant!

I was in Saratoga during the brief season, a dozen years ago, when it attempted to be virtuous. It was a sad affair. The place was deserted. If people were to be good, they apparently reasoned, why go to Saratoga? They might as well be good at home and get the credit. The experiment was not repeated next year, nor the next, nor the next.

Yet there is one thing that will help. There is a race track. Under the New York law, betting at race tracks is legal; betting anywhere else is a misdemeanor. Under this law race track gaming has become almost universal. I know whole families of ordinarily moral people who go down to the track once a week or so and back a horse in every race. It is a costly amusement, a demoralizing one. Saratoga is not forced to be good enough to hurt while that law stays unrepealed.

The Burrowing Alderman.

A reminder of the days when New York city was much less "good" than she is at present has just been discovered at the city hall.

Problem: Find the Aldermen.

Workmen are going over the beautiful old structure that was put up a hundred years ago with a marble front and a brown stone back because "the city would never grow above it." In the rear of the aldermanic chamber they found, upon taking down a great painting of Andy Jackson, that it concealed a secret flight of stairs leading down to the secret chamber of retreat that has for 20 years been known only as a tradition.

What lay so long concealed and is now revealed was a moral indignation cyclone cellar. The last time it was used was when the "boodle board" gave away the franchise for street cars on Broadway to Jake Sharp. Such was the wrath of the citizens that the aldermen disappeared. In their cellar they lay secure, cooked their own food on a primitive range and played cards until midnight, when they stole out and away.

One of these aldermen kept a "fence" where stolen goods were pawned. The story is too long to tell, but it was by the plucky action of a New York woman who traced some household belongings to his shop, and would not be induced to keep silent about it that the whole story of boodle came out. Some of the aldermen went to jail, more went to Canada, and things have been just a trifle better ever since.

In the orgy of indescribable corruption that ended in Tammany's defeat in 1901, it was not the aldermen who were the worst offenders.

A Belle of the Old Days.

One of the most famous belles that ever queened it over New York "comes up in the news" in the report that the divorced wife of Duncan Elliott will marry Woodbury Kane.

Tangled Skeins.

Elliott and Kane are both soldiers, both members of the fashionable New York set. Elliott is now in the Eighth cavalry, regulars; Kane was one of Col. Roosevelt's favorite officers in the rough riders, a big, powerful, masterly fellow whom nothing could check or dismay.

Now, "Mrs. Elliott" sounds well, but does not thrill. Say to the elderly beau: "Sally Hargous, you know," and he will remember without further prodding. Miss Hargous was the belle of several seasons, a feat never since her day repeated. She was called beautiful; she was fine-looking, spirited, magnetic, full of life and energy, regal. Her photographs have never done her justice. Her marriage was unhappy, and was soon dissolved. She has since lived very sedately, and the news that a marriage was likely soon to be celebrated between her and Mr. Kane was a surprise to many.

Should this marriage take place, an odd situation will confront a certain section of society.

Mrs. Maud Jaffray Hunnewell, divorced wife of Hollis Hunnewell, has already changed her name by marrying John Tooker.

Mr. Hunnewell is expected in the autumn to console himself by wedding Mrs. Belle Neilson Kemp, who was known five years ago as "Baby Belle Neilson," and who is the divorced wife of Arthur Kemp.

These three women—I include Mrs. Elliott—are close friends. Mr. Kemp, Mr. Elliott, Mr. Kane move in the same circles of New York society. Mr. Hunnewell is a Bostonian, but Boston is nowadays a suburb.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Some Smart Black and White Effects. The Short Skirt.

Many women look their smartest in black, which is of course always useful, but navy blue runs it very close in popularity. A charming blue alpaca skirt seen recently was made with five flounces, just clearing the ground, with a smart little bolero fastening into the waist by a broad satin band. This bolero had a collar of Irish crochet decorated with black applique, and the sleeves were loose and open. This was lined with a spotted black and white foulard and was worn with a foulard blouse and a toreador toque of black straw trimmed with a black and white bird.

The short skirt with box plaits is practical and becoming. The plaits look their best coming from a small shaped hip piece, which keeps the hips plain while the fullness is allowed to spring out around the feet.

Deep purple hats are smart with linen costumes, and especially so when worn with purple petticoat and stockings and a purple sunshade.

Very full elbow sleeves are seen on lace evening dresses.

The illustration shows a gown of silk mull having a fichu effect and a large chiffon rosette.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

WHAT IS WORN.

Smart Wraps Both In White and Colors—Walking Skirts.

A smart evening dress seen recently was of rose pink taffeta cut princess with a high sash belt of point d'alencon, which lace also fell in points on the low decolletage. The sleeve consisted of a tiny puff at the top of rose chiffon. This chiffon also formed innumerable frills right up the trained skirt to the knees.

The popularity of the sack coat never wanes. There is no more becoming garment for mountain wear, and in fact for outing wear generally.

Many walking skirts are made in checks and plaids, and most of these have a little short bolero to match.

AUTOMOBILE COAT.

Red and white and green and gray are considered the smartest, but of course they can only be worn by women with slight figures.

Skirts are more gauged than ever and the smarter ones are cut all in one piece with a fullness around the feet sometimes measuring ten yards. They are pretty in muslins and other suppl fabrics.

The white wrap is a very modish thing and ranges from the little sack coat to the elaborate half length sack of white lace on a foundation of white satin or taffeta.

A beautiful evening gown is of yellow chiffon over yellow satin, the chiffon, embroidered with gold paillettes, running in long lines from waist to hem. Pale pink roses and clusters of forgetmenots are worked on the skirt in satin ribbon embroidery, and on the low bodice there are little bands forming garlands of ribbon forgetmenots. A large black hat, with a white ostrich feather under the brim, is worn with this lovely frock.

The cut shows a smart automobile coat of deep red.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A Daughter of the Sioux

By GEN. CHARLES KING.

Copyright, 1902, by The Hobart Company.

Asked how she came to know of the money in the trader's safe, he said no secret had been made of it by either Hay or him. She had asked him laughingly about his quarrel with Wilkins, and seemed deeply interested in all the details of subaltern life. Either Hay or he, fortunately, could have made good the missing sum, even had most of it not been found amongst Stabber's plunder. Field had never seen her again until the night the general took him to confront her at Hays', and, all too late, had realized how completely she had lured and used him. In pride, honor, self respect, he had been sorely wounded, and, even when assured that the general attached no blame to him, and that his name was no longer involved, he would have resigned his commission and quit the service had it not been for these soldiers three, Webb, Blake and Ray. They made him see that, all the more because his father's death had left him independent—sole master of quite a valuable property—he must stick to the sword and live down the possible stain.

And stay he did, refusing even a chance to go abroad the following spring, and devoting himself assiduously to his duties, although he shrank from society. They made him sometimes spend a quiet evening at Ray's or Blake's where twice Miss Dade was found. But that young lady was quick to see that her hostess had been scheming, as loving women will. And then, when he went hoping to see her, yet half afraid, she came no more. They could not coax her. The early spring had taken him forth on long campaign. The ensuing fall had taken her to the far distant East, for gallant old Dade was breaking down. The doctors sent him on prolonged sick leave. Then was Fort Frayne indeed a desolate post to Beverly Field, and when mid winter came, and with it the news that Dade had but little while to live, he took counsel with Ray, and a month's leave not much of which was spent in the South. The old regiment was represented at the sad and solemn little ceremony when the devoted husband, father and fellow soldier was laid to rest.

Nor was Field a happier man when he rejoined from leave, and they all thought they knew why. Letters came, black-bordered, with Esther's superscription, sometimes, but only for Mrs. Blake or Mrs. Ray. There was never one for Field. And so a second summer came and went and a second September was ushered in, and in the flood of the full moonlight, there was again music and dancing, at Fort Frayne, but not for Field, not for Esther Dade. They were all talking of Nanette, Daughter of the Dakotas, and Esther, Daughter of the Regiment, as they called her in her father's corps, and the mail came late from Laramie, and letters were handed round as tattoo sounded, and Mrs. Blake, eagerly scanning a black-bordered page, was seen suddenly to run in doors, her eyes brimming over with tears.

Later that night Hogan tapped at Field's front door and asked would the lieutenant step over to Mrs. Ray's a minute, and he went.

"Read that," said Mrs. Ray, pointing to a paragraph on the third page of the black-bordered missive that had been too much for Mrs. Blake. And he read:

"Through it all Esther has been my sweetest comfort, but now I must lose her, too. Our means are so straightened that she has made me see the necessity. Hard as it is, I must yield to her for the help that it may bring. She has been studying a year and is to join the staff of trained nurses at St. Luke's the first of October."

For a moment there was silence in the little army parlor. Field's hands were trembling, his face was filled with trouble. She knew he would speak his heart to her at last, and speak he did:

"All these months that she has been studying I've been begging and pleading, Mrs. Ray. You know what I went for last winter—all to no purpose. I'm going again now, if I have to stay as a patient at St. Luke's to coax her out of it."

But not until Christmas came the welcome "wire:"

"Patient discharged. Nurse finally accepts new engagement."

FOND OF HIS CRADLE.

Although Seventy Years Old, M. Superneau Still Rocks Himself to Sleep in It.

For more than 70 years Wallace Superneau, of Colebrook, N. H., has slept every night in a cradle which he occupied in infancy, and his order is that he be buried in it when death comes.

Mr. Superneau is a single man. He frequently leaves home to do a week's work for a neighbor, but he always takes the cradle with him. Not for a single night in his life has he slept out of it, and always he rocks himself till he dozes off.

Superneau is something of a sentimentalist, as his actions indicate. He is regarded by some as rather eccentric, but his passions have the merit of steadfastness. The cradle has only one rival in his affections, and that is his violin.

STICKS TO HIS CRADLE.
(Although 70 Years Old, Mr. Superneau Uses It Every Night.)

The New York World says that for many years Superneau has made his home with Ransom Harriman, a farmer. Frequently a neighbor dropping in of an evening is puzzled by an old, rhythmic sound from overhead.

"Oh, that's only Wallace rocking himself to sleep upstairs in his cradle," Mrs. Harriman will explain.

The youngest of a family of boys, Wallace retained his place in the cradle as he grew older. He soon became too tall to lie in it at full length, but he overcame this difficulty by drawing his knees upward. Each night to this day he rests his feet squarely on the bottom of the cradle, sways his knees to and fro and rocks himself to sleep as he did when a small boy. The habit was formed in babyhood and never broken.

Superneau's attachment for the cradle rests upon something more than a mere whimsicality. He is of French-Canadian descent, and there is a tradition that the cradle, which is of rude and ancient pattern, was drawn on a handsled with a male ancestor of Superneau in it out of Arcadia not long before the expulsion of the French by the British, an event rendered immortal in history by Longfellow's "Evangeline." Superneau is unlettered. He has never read Longfellow's poem and has only a dim idea of the events which formed the historical basis of it. But this idea gained from his mother as she told him of bow his forefathers had braved the dangers of the wilderness to establish a new home for themselves and their children, somewhere near Quebec, has inspired him with a singular love for the heirloom. He takes the best of care of it and every year gives it a new coat of paint.

CHANGES IN THE NAVY.

The Retirement of Admiral Melville Marks Beginning of New Era in Warship Building.

When Rear Admiral George W. Melville, chief of the bureau of steam engineering, went on the retired list the other day, the last of the members of the naval board of construction who acquired their knowledge of the building of warships from practical experience disappeared. American warships will now be wholly planned by officers who have been specially trained for the work, but whose knowledge of shipbuilding is theoretical. It is only within late years that the naval academy has taken up the education of officers for the engineering and construction corps. Now specialists are carefully selected and given a course of study to fit them for work that requires the greatest skill. Before that time these officers were taken from civil life.

ADMIRAL CHARLES W. RAE.
(New Chief of the Bureau of Steam Engineering.)

Admiral Melville entered the navy through the engine room; Rear Admiral Hichborn, chief constructor of the navy, who was the last before him to retire, entered the service as a master mechanic. While they worked they studied, with the result that they introduced ideas into the American navy which have been copied the world over.

Capt. Rae, who succeeds Admiral Melville, was in the first class of cadet engineers that graduated from Annapolis. Rear Admiral Bowles, who relieved Admiral Hichborn, was a member of the first class at Annapolis from which the men selected for naval constructors were taken.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

MRS. OLIVER ISELIN.

Charming New York Woman Who Will Mascot the Reliance During the Races.

"Is Mrs. Iselin to be the Reliance mascot this year?" asked Sir Thomas, as the first Americans to greet their distinguished guest boarded the Irishman's yacht.

His face fell as he recived a reply in the affirmative, and his friends' cheery ridicule of the seaman's superstition did not altogether comfort him.

Mrs. C. O. Iselin has had a share in more than one American yachting victory.

She sailed on Defender when Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie III. went down to such ignominous defeat. She was on

MRS. C. OLIVER ISELIN.
(New York Lady Who Will Mascot the American Cup Defender.)

Columbia when Shamrock I. crossed the line behind it after a plucky fight.

No woman has ever sailed on any American boat in any of the international matches except Mrs. Iselin. Only one English woman has had the same honor paid to her—Mrs. Henn, wife of the generous and gallant British sportsman, Lieut. Henn, who brought over his Galatea in 1886 to try for the cup.

The same seat is always allotted Mrs. Iselin. This is a place in the companionway, where she can see everything and yet be out of the way of the nimble sailor lads who crowd the deck. She knows them all by name; every bit of good work they do is at once noticed by Mrs. Iselin.

She wears a trim yachting costume of blue with a white collar, and on her head is snugly pinned a white yachting cap emblazoned with the burgee of the New York Yacht club.

This is because Mrs. Iselin is one of the few women permitted to fly from her own yachts the colors of the New York Yacht club.

What she knows about yachting would stagger many a yachtsman. At the tiller of a crack sloop she is perfectly at home. Few of the men folk are her betters.

She christened the historic Defender, and now she is wrapped up in the Reliance, which was christened by her stepdaughter.

"With her we can't be beaten," declare the crew of the keenest of cup defenders. So there you are.

PRETTY PRINCESS XENIA.

Daughter of Prince of Montenegro Said to Be Engaged to Grand Duke of Hesse.

The grand duke of Hesse is about to remarry. It is said that he has contracted an engagement with Princess Xenia, of Montenegro. Although every effort has been made to keep the betrothal a secret there is abundant reason to believe that the report is true. Princess Xenia is now in her twenty-third year and is recognized as one of the most beautiful young women on the continent. She is at present stopping with the royal family of Montenegro at Heidelberg.

It has now been nearly two years since the grand duke of Hesse obtained a divorce from his first wife, who was Princess Victoria Melita, the daughter of Queen Victoria's "Sweet Princess Alice." This divorce was given on the technical grounds of desertion and incompatability of temper, but it is an open secret that the grand duchess was driven from her home by the cruel and brutal treatment accorded her by the grand duke. One of his favorite amusements was to set loose a cageful of mice in the room with his wife. On one occasion he turned out the lights at one of the balls given by the royal couple and then squirted dirty water down his wife's neck. The grand duchess bore all these indignities in silence for awhile, but after leaving her consort on four occasions and returning on his promises to behave himself she became disgusted and left him for all time.

SPORTING NEWS.

OVER THE PLATE.

The local colored Odd Fellows will meet the colored Masons in a game on St. Mary's field, Thursday afternoon of next week. Both organizations have good teams and an exciting contest is looked for.

Manager Denman's "colts" will visit Crescent Oval, Saturday, Aug. 29, in the third of the series of five games arranged between these two teams. Westfield has thus far won two of the games played and a determined effort will be made by Alis to land the third one.

It is reported that Henriques, the popular second baseman for Alis, will not play with the team for the rest of the season as he has joined a New York amateur team. It is said that Manager MacLaughlin has secured last year's Yale 'Varsity second baseman to fill the position.

Considerable interest is being manifested in Saturday's baseball game on Crescent Oval between Alis and St. Mary's. The first game resulted in a victory for the Saints by the score of 5 to 3, and as the teams are so evenly matched the second contest should be more interesting than the first.

ROD AND REEL.

Joseph Jacot, of Somerset street, and a party of friends are spending the day fishing at the New Market pond.

Sold Their Vineyards.

Nicholas and Theodore Martone, of this city, and their brother, John, of New York, on Monday had deeds passed in New York transferring a large tract of land in Italy, a part of the old Martone estate. James Werelia, an uncle of the local fruiterers, purchased the property, paying the former owners $10,000, which was divided between them. The property is cultivated with grape vines and olive orchards and is in the belt of the vineyard section of Italy.

In a Receptive Mood.

President of the Common Council James Buckle, of Plainfield, is said to be in a receptive mood for one of the Republican Assembly nominations. Mr. Buckle has served five years in the Council. He is a strong Fowler supporter, and in case of a fight between Fowler and Kean over the Senatorial election next year would undoubtedly side with the Congressman.—Elizabeth Times.

Hotel Patrons on the Trolley.

Almost fifty patrons of the Netherwood Hotel enjoyed a trolley ride through Plainfield last evening. The trip was made from Dunellen to Westfield and back and upon the return a stop was made at Warnock's bakery, where ice cream was served. The trip was in charge of the division superintendent of the local lines, Philip Maguire.

Positions Well Assured.

Among the political events of the future that are regarded as pretty well settled are these: Edmund W. Wakelee, of Bergen, for president of the Senate; John Boyd Avis, of Gloucester, for Speaker of the House; John G. Horner, Speaker of the House, Republican candidate for Senator from Burlington; Lewis M. Cresse, Republican candidate for Senator from Cape May; Captain A. M. Bradshaw, Postmaster at Lakewood; Nathan Hays, Postmaster at Burlington; Colonel John Schoonover, Republican candidate for Receiver of Taxes in Trenton; Frank S. Katzenbach, Jr., Democratic candidate for re-election as Mayor of Trenton.—Trenton Correspondent of New York Herald.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Burge Johnson, of East Third street, has accepted a position at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

—Regular routine business was transacted at the semi-monthly meeting of the Catholic Benevolent Association in Stafford Hall, last evening.

—The titles of No. 68 Jackson avenue, North Plainfield, and a plot of land corner of Jackson avenue and East Front street, Plainfield, were passed between Wm. Burrill and Oscar F. Pearson, yesterday. Chas. McNabb was the attorney in the transaction and Wm. Jeffery consummated the deal.

—While alighting from an east bound Front street car yesterday afternoon at shortly after 5 o'clock, a well dressed man, who refused to give his name, was thrown heavily to the ground. Patrolman Quass picked the man up and found him to be injured. The trouble was caused by stepping off backwards.

—At a special meeting of the West End Hose Company, Monday evening, William Mills, chairman of the badge committee, made his report. The badges have been ordered from a Newark concern. It was announced that on August 28 the hose wagon will go out of commission to be varnished preparatory to its trip to Boonton.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. R. T. Hone and Miss Clara Hone, of North avenue, are on a three weeks' visit with friends at Albany, N. Y.

Mrs. Bernice Burwell, of Philadelphia, is visiting her sister, Mrs. George A. Ballentyne, of East Second street.

A young daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. H. Cornwell, of Watchung avenue, yesterday morning.

James Saverd, of Arlington avenue, who went to Highland Beach on the St. Mary's excursion this morning, will remain at the beach for a few days.

WHERE BLAME SHOULD REST

FACTORY OWNERS ARE THE ONES WHO HAVE FOUGHT CHILD LABOR LAWS.

The Newark News Comments on the Stand Taken by Rev. John McMurray.

The Newark News has this to say editorially with reference to Rev. John McMurray and child labor:

Rev. John McMurray, a Plainfield pastor has taken the ground that capitalists and mill owners are not the only ones to blame for child labor in the factories. He says that a large share belongs to the parents; that the father of the family is usually able to support his children and send them to school, and the children go to the mills with their parents' consent.

There is a modicum of truth in his statement, but so far as has yet been reported no parent or aggregation of parents has brought suit to prevent the operation of the law fixing the limit of child labor at not less than fourteen years. The State law is to be violated and the resulting suit, though brought by the State factory inspector, is instigated by the factory owners and not by the parents; and the test case is not in the interests of the parents or of the children but of the factory owners. Their claim is not that parents cannot make a living for their children, but that factory owners cannot make money without being permitted to employ children.

These facts tell more clearly and convincingly than pulpit oratory can do where the greater part of the blame for child labor rests and ought to rest. It is perfectly true that if all parents flatly and consistently refused to allow any of their children under fourteen years of age to work in the hot glass factories, not one of them would be there; but it is a sad fact that some parents are so lazy, so greedy, so given to drink, so vicious, so lacking in paternal affection, so careless of either the present or future welfare of the children they bring into the world, that they will not only allow them to go into factories under age but will send them there and will commit perjury to get them there by swearing that they are much older than they actually are. And there is no room to doubt that mill owners and factory managers know that parents are perjuring themselves, but wink at the crime in order to get boys enough to do the work demanded of them.

The factory owners are the ones who have fought every law ever placed on the statute books to prevent children from being destroyed in the factories. The factory owners are thus worse than the parents, for they offer inducements to make parents violate the State laws and the laws of parental obligations. It is to circumvent and punish both law-breaking factory owners and indifferent or immoral parents that the statutes against labor by children under fourteen years have been enacted. It remains to be seen whether the compulsory school law, the constitutionality of which is not disputed, can operate to send the children to school and make good citizens of them, while the factory owners can, at the same time, send them to work day in and day out in front of superheated ovens and destroy them physically and mentally for all time to come.

RAP AT RAHWAY.

R. N. J. Means Not Up to the Standard—Becoming Proverbial.

In a certain learned treatise on slang, published not long ago, the author declared that all the odd words and expressive catch-phrases included under that title had their birth in "brilliant brains which have nothing else to do but conceive them." There is at least one brilliant brain at Atlanic City, remarks the Philadelphia Press correspondent. Here is an incident which includes one bit of it:

"I saw her going down the beach," said one young man to another, presumably talking of some feminine bather, "and I followed her trail. From the back she was a ripper, but when she turned around—well, she looked like R. N. J."

Again, in one of the cafes, a woman remarked, "We're staying at the Blankley now. We had to leave the other house—it was a regular R. N. J. hotel."

And what do you suppose R. N. J. meas? Nothing more or less than Rahway, New Jersey—the town which comedians and travelers and the like have poked fun at since time out of mind.

The phrase has spread like wildfire in the past few days, and so whenever folks see anything not quite up to the high standard demanded of everything here they pronounce it R. N. J.

That may be hard on the little Jersey city, but it seems to fill a long-felt want.

Mrs. J. P. Northrop, of Central avenue, is at the Ocean House, Watch Hill, R. I.

Miss Gertrude Fenno, of Watchung avenue, is summering at Silver Bay, Lake George.

QUESTION OF AN ERASURE.

Wm. A. Coddington Attorney in a New Brunswick Case.

Judge Woodbridge Strong's signature was the basis of a dispute in the Orphan's Court in New Brunswick yesterday in the matter of the Samuel Dally estate in which two orders, returnable yesterday, brought the executors of the estate, Ephraim C. Cutter and Charles W. Drummond, of Woodbridge into court. William A. Coddington, of this city, represented Mrs. Potter, one of the four residuary legatees of the estate, she being a daughter of Mr. Dally.

One side held that a blot over the name of the Judge was intended for an erasure and the other side claimed that it was an accident. The case went over for two weeks.

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and developement. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

It has been noticed that there are not so many people on the streets this summer going bare headed. The fashion has died out and now the summer girl seeks protection from freckles and sun burn beneath wide brimmed hats. It has taken several years for her to learn that the sun's rays beating upon delicate complexions ruin the pigment in the skin and make it appear coarse. The sensible fad of the present year is due largely to the advent of the automobile craze and the habit, while "motoring," of veiling the face.

Noah Brooks, one of the best known authors, died suddenly Monday in California, where he had been living for some time past. For ten years he was editor of the Newark Daily Advertiser, at the time Thomas T. Kinney was the owner of that paper. He was widely known as a writer of stories for young people. He was a close friend of President Lincoln, and when the latter was elected to office the second time Brooks was appointed his private secretary. The assassination prevented the appointee from taking the office however. Brooks afterwards wrote a boy's history of Lincoln. When he retired from his Newark position he took up his residence in his native town of Castine, Me, where he will be buried. Mr. Brooks had several friends in Plainfield, who received the news of his death with deep regret.

MEN OF LOFTY IDEALS NEEDED

Democratic Nominees Should be Men of High Character Says Mr. Swackhamer.

ADDRESS TO FARMERS

INTRODUCED AS NEXT DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

The Assemblyman Was Enthusiastically Received—Republican Party Too Long in Power, He Said—Democratic Needs of New Jersey.

Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, was boomed as the Democratic candidate for Governor at the Farmer's Alliance at Flemington, Hunterdon County, yesterday by Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook. There were at least ten thousand people present and when the nomination was made following an address by the "Tall Sycamore from Somerset," the people cheered enthusiastically. In introducing the speaker, Senator John R. Foster, of Three Bridges, paid him a high tribute as did Senator William C. Gebhardt, of Clinton.

"The Democratic needs of New Jersey as shown by the last Legislature" was the topic of Mr. Swackhamer's speech.

In opening his address, Mr. Swackhamer said that the farmers are public spirited men who have the interests of the county at heart. That there are honest men in the rank and file of the Republican party he had no doubt and was also certain that in the Legislature also there were some high minded and conscientious Republicans who stood with the Democratic party in opposition to the bad legislation for the benefit of the trusts. He believed that the vast body of the Republican party deplored with the Democrats the policy that had been pursued. Continuing, Mr. Swackhamer said:

"The Democratic party should push to the front men whose lofty character and stainless lives are above mercenary tendencies and contemptible conduct in politics—men that have shown an interest in the country's welfare—men that have the brain and moral stamina which go to make up a genuine statesman, and the demogogue and narrow-minded partisan should be weeded out.

"I believe the time has come when the people are looking towards the Democratic party with some hope and confidence, and if the party should select for office men of high integrity and marked ability, success would be sure. I believe that any party or individual that has held a long lease of power tends to become corrupt. It is the law of human nature. Men will become reckless and daring and even degenerate, when they have been long in power. It is a wholesome thing to rebuke any organization that has fallen into this condition and this has been done with political parties from the beginning of our history.

"The independent voter in this country can be depended upon to right the wrongs that occur from this cause and by the action of this element in politics, the perpetuity of free government is assured. I believe the great body of the American people today could be trusted with self government as Jefferson and Lincoln had said, and I feel it is the great privilege and solemn duty of every true American citizen to assert his independence and his right as a sovereign under the laws and constitution and to look beyond the narrow confines of party to the country and national prosperity beyond. The farmers of Hunterdon County I rely upon to approach the polls as a religious altar fully conscious of the far reaching consequences of the influences wielded by the ballot. I believe you are men who have regard for the Eternal as well as the temporal, that you look through time into Eternity and realize that you are to be called upon to account for the manner in which you exercise a power which might settle the destinies of millions yet unborn."

Other speakers at the range were Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook; Senator John R. Foster, of Three Bridges; Professor John B. Smith, of New Brunswick; Senator William C. Gebhardt, of Clinton; James R. Brown, of New York, and E. E. Potter, of Port Oram.

TRAINMEN WENT CRABBING.

Then Enjoyed Supper, Solos, Phonographic Selections and Whist.

Frank Webster, the veteran conductor on the Central Railroad, accompanied by Fred Shepherd, of Park avenue, a brakeman on Mr. Webster's train, journeyed to the Hackensack river Tuesday on a crabbing expedition and returned at night with a total catch of sixty. In the evening a crab supper was served at the home of Mr. Shepherd to which a few friends were invited, among whom was Baggagemaster John VanWort, of Dunellen.

After the inner man had been satisfied the guests were highly entertained by several vocal solos by Mr. VanWort and phonographic selections by Mr. Shepherd which were greatly enjoyed. Later in the evening a series of whist games was played in which Mr. VanWort carried off the "booby" prize.

ENTRIES CLOSE TOMORROW

EXPECTED THAT THE LIST WILL BE A GOOD ONE FOR RACES OF AUG. 29.

Improvements of Grand Stand at the Driving Park—Well-Known Horsemen As Officials.

Entries for the races to be held at the Driving Park Saturday, August 29, will close tomorrow evening, and it is expected that an extra good list will be received. The grandstand at the track is being painted a light color and, although this necessitates an expenditure of several hundred dollars, the stand will still be free to women.

J. H. Rogers, of Brooklyn, an expert in the matter of horses' races, has been secured as starter. He is considered one of the best in the business. The judges will all be well-known horsemen from New York and will be selected because of an intimate knowledge of the racing rules which will be strictly enforced.

The association has decided that all money derived from the races shall be expended on the track and grounds. The soil of the track has been renewed and put in first-class condition, making fast times easily possible. The committee in charge expect to have an extra attraction on the card beside the concert by LaVere's concert band, and it will be announced later. A day of great sport for lovers of fine horses is certain and it is hoped that the public will attend in large numbers. The list of entries will be announced within a short time.

DIED OF PARALYSIS.

Mrs. Julia C. Musgrave, a Former Resident, Passed Away in California.

B. F. Hazard, of 11 Mountain avenue, has received word of the death in Los Angeles, Cal., of Mrs. Julia C. Musgrave, wife of George R. Musgrave, who formerly lived in this city. Death resulted from a stroke of paralysis. Mrs. Musgrave was a member of the First M. E. Church, of this city. She was also a worker in the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Her husband conducted an antique furniture store on West Front street until the Klondyke gold fever struck the East. Mr. and Mrs. Musgrave remained in the Klondyke for some time and prospered, afterwards locating in Los Angeles.

A New Store.

The People's Credit Clothing Co., of New York, will start business Saturday, August 22, on the first floor of 131 East Front street. They will carry full lines of men, women and children's clothing, etc., to be sold on credit. This concern operates a chain of stores throughout the country, and handles a strictly first class line of goods for both sexes at moderate prices. The concern manufactures all of its own goods and this enables them to sell as cheaply as any cash store. It is claimed that their system has not been equalled by any so called credit houses up to date. Anybody in need of wearing apparel of any kind will find it a great advantage to call.

Masonic Orphanage.

Masons in every part of the State have been interested in the new orphanage to be built on the grounds of the Masonic Home at Burlington. Every lodge but one in the State has been heard from in the way of contributions and that one is expected to report soon. The committee on the home met in Newark this week, and awarded the contract for the construction of the new building to J. D. Lippincott, of Burlington. His bid of $21,675 was the lowest received, there being six others.

A NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVE

FRED. A. POPE, OF SOMERVILLE, A FORMER PLAINFIELDER, HONORED.

Successful Encampment of the P. O. S. of A., at Somerville Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 20—Frederick A. Pope, of Somerville, formerly of Plainfield, was elected national representative of the Patriotic Order Sons of America at their encampment yesterday. The encampment was the fifteenth annually held by the order.

By 9 o'clock last night nearly all of the 250 or more delegates had left for their homes in various parts of the State after a most satisfactory session. Much credit for the success of the encampment is due Frederick A. Pope, of Somerville, who was chairman of the reception committee.

At precisely 10 o'clock a. m. yesterday, Past State President Frederick A. Pope called the encampment together, introducing President James J. Bergen, of the Somerville Board of Town Commissioners, who made a ringing address of welcome. President F. L. Condit, of the State Camp, responded.

The National officers present, National Vice President E. A. Doane, of New York, National Secretary F. E. Stees, of Philadelphia and National Master of Forms W. H. Tilton, of Trenton, were escorted to the platform.

The report for the year of the State Secretary gave the following interesting figures in regard to the Camp: Total camps, 91; membership, 6,211; new members admitted, 849; grand total, 7,060; total receipts, $3,754.99; expenditures, $3,109.18; balance, $645.81; value of camps in the State, $48,459.86, an increase of $18,000 over the previous year.

In connection with the State Camp is the Mortuary Payment Fund, which had a membership of 5,010. During the past year 1,491 new members had been added, making a total membership of 6,501.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Past State President, Dr. F. L. Condit, of New Brunswick; State president, George H. Groome, of Lambertville; State vice president, Harry H. Young, of Atlantic City; State master of forms, C. C. Shipps, of Pemberton; State treasurer, George N. Wimer, of Palmyria; State secretary, J. W. Thompson, of Trenton; State conductor, W. C. Cutler, of Trenton; State inspector, C. L. Armstrong, of Jersey City; State guard, H. A. VanHise, of Cassville; State trustee, J. J. Moser, of Belvidere.

This was the vote on national representative, which was an honor much coveted: Frederick A. Pope, 211; C. W. Pette, 207; H. J. Blohne, 199; Geo. W. Smith, 192; Elias Morgan, 171; J. W. Decker, 171; E. W. Rush, 125; C. A. Hann, 124; H. H. Drake, 109; G. H. Paulson, 99; U. S. Calmary, 89; J. O. Purcell, 52. The first eight were declared elected.

The vote for the next place of meeting was as follows: Ocean City, 193; Dover, 23; Washington, 9.

A flag was presented to Camp No. 23, of Palmyer, for the largest gain during the year. This was received by Hon. John G. Horner, who made an address.

MUCH FOR LITTLE.

Inexpensive Land Investment That Will Bring Large Returns.

Prospective buyers of real estate, whether having large or limited means, should not fail to take advantage of the exceptional opportunity which will be offered on Saturday to secure one or more building lots for little money. These choice lots recently opened up by the Plainfield Land and Building Company, are located in the Western end of the city on South and Rock avenues, Third street and Hazlewood place. Fifty of these lots will be offered at auction Saturday afternoon as great bargains to home-seekers and investors. That they will double in value in a short time is almost assured owing to the phenomenal growth in that section. The land is close to the Clinton Avenue station of the New Jersey Central and the trolley. It has been graded, streets have been opened and generally improved. Perfect drainage city water and sewers are some of the advantages. For further particulars call on A. D. Thompson, 207 North avenue, or E. Frank Vail, 177 North avenue, where maps of this property can be seen.

Kirby's Cigars
are sold at all first-class places. If they have none, call at main store, 106 Park avenue. 8 20 6

RELIANCE LEADS BY SEVERAL MINUTES

Race Off Sandy Hook Has Settled Into a Drifting Match.

IS LITTLE OR NO WIND

PROBABILITY THAT RACE WILL NOT BE COMPLETED WITHIN TIME LIMIT.

The American Yacht Slowly But Surely Pulling Away From the Challenger, The Shamrock.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, Aug. 20—The first of the series of five International yacht races between Reliance and Shamrock III, was started this morning under only fair weather conditions. The starting gun was fired at 11 00, when the race began over a course south by east. The wind was very light. The race must be completed within five and half hours to count, and judging the velocity of the wind at the start this may not be accomplished.

8:15—Reliance now leads by 1½ miles with 1½ hours to finish. Hardly think the race will finish in the time limit.

12:45—Yachts close together. Wind is very light and the boats are not making much headway.

1:05—There is little likelihood of the race being completed. The Reliance is slowly but surely pulling away from the Shamrock.

1:10—Reliance leads Shamrock by 1 minute.

1:45—Yachts are on starboard tack, five minutes from outer mark. Reliance is constantly gaining.

2:20—Yachts making little or no headway. Still two miles from outer mark. Reliance leading and making better headway.

WHO OWNS THIS HAY?

John Simpson and Elderidge Bebout Have Dispute Over Ownership.

When about to depart to the old country, Miss Emile Schipper, of West Seventh street, donated to John Simpson the excellent crop of hay ready for harvesting on the lot owned by her at the corner of Eighth street and Plainfield avenue. Eager to harvest the crop, Simpson started yesterday to view the quality of the hay before cutting it. On arriving there, he noticed that a man had just finished cutting and was about to drive away his two horse mowing machine which had severed John's hopes of a good view of standing grass. Words ensued as to the ownership of the hay-crop and the mower, Eldridge J. Bebout, of Plainfield avenue, finally consented to Simpson's taking possession of the hay provided he be paid for the labor of cutting it. This Simpson refused to agree to on the grounds that Bebout had not been hired to cut the crop and had no right to demand pay. Bebout refused to accept this reckoning and departed in wrath at the loss of the crop which he had taken the libery of mowing from a supposed ownerless lot to nourish his cow during the winter months. Simpson has sold the hay for ten dollars to Policeman Totten and Bebout is still sore over the matter and threatening to bring suit.

WROTE TO N. Y. PAPERS.

Miss Rockafellow Wants Them to Search for Her Father.

Miss E. C. Rockafellow, of 195 North avenue, has written to several New York papers with a view to securing their assistance in a search for her father, Dr. Jose A de Gallarraga, a Cuban, who has been missing since the close of the Spanish-American War. When seen she claimed that she has had a private detective at work and he had failed to secure any trace of the missing man. He was an owner of real estate in Netherwood, according to Miss Rockafellow, who recently stated that she was the rightful owner of the Hotel Netherwood.

Badly Hurt by Fall.

While working on a house in the East End on Tuesday, Drew Mattis, of West Fourth street, foreman for Carpenter John A. McNally, fell from the scaffold and sustained serious injuries. In his descent he struck a board of the scaffold and it is feared is injured severely internally. He was removed to his home where he is still confined under the care of Dr. Pittis.

ESCAPED PRISONER IN TOWN?

RUMOR THAT HARRY HAYES WAS IN BOROUGH LAST NIGHT.

Is One of the Trio Who Left the Somerset County Jail Without Asking Leave.

Harry Hayes, one of the trio who escaped from the Somerset County jail at Somerville almost a month ago, is said by several people, to have been seen last evening on Westervelt avenue, North Plainfield. The fellow was well dressed and did not seemed to be worried about a possible arrest.

It is stated that Hayes boarded a Somerset street trolley at 11 o'clock, bound for the Notch. It is believed that he took to the woods as soon as he got out of the car where, it is alleged, he was joined by another man, who, it is surmised, may have been Harry Watson, also an escaped prisoner.

Many people have been surprised at the action of the authorities at Somerville in not making some effort to capture the fugitives. One of the men who eluded the deputy sheriff was under arrest charged with a crime almost as serious as murder. The other two are desperate characters not fit to be at large. This is the second time that Hayes has been in this neighborhood since he escaped without there being any effort made to capture him.

QUESTION OF BIGAMY.

A Supposed Plainfield Woman is Thought to Have Married Twice—John Houghton Her Husband?

Several days ago inquiry was made in Plainfield regarding the reported marriage of Nellie Houghton, a supposed widow, 35 years old, whose maiden name was Storm and who claimed residence in this city. According to rumor she was married at Greenwich, Conn., on August 10, to Louis M. Clayson, of Chicago, 30 years old. The Daily Press investigated the matter, but was unable to find any person of that name in Plainfield.

Yesterday, a man who said he was John Houghton, of Brooklyn, called at the Town Clerk's office in Greenwich, and later upon Rev. W. E. Scofield, in the Methodist parsonage, to inquire about the wedding. He said that he believed that his wife, Nellie Houghton, had been married to another man. The officials were asked to keep the marriage secret until September 1. Houghton said that his wife had left him and there had been no legal divorce. The marriage license was recorded after Houghton's visit.

HELD IN $300.

Wilbur Miller Arrested in Scotch Plains on a Charge of Assault and Battery.

Wilbur Miller, of New Providence, was held in $300 bail before Justice Clark at Scotch Plains, yesterday, on a charge of attempting to commit assault on Miss Elizabeth Larkins, of the former place. Miller's employer, James Smith, of New Providence, went his bail. The assault is said to have taken place on a lonely road between this city and New Providence, while Miss Larkins and her alleged assailant were returning home from a shopping tour in this city. The girl has entered a technical charge of assault and battery.

Last Rites for Mrs. Blackford.

The funeral services of Mrs. Stelle Blackford were held yesterday afternoon from the late home on East Second street. Rev. J. A. Cubberly, of South Plainfield, assisted by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of this city, officiated. During the services two favorite hymns of the dead woman, "More Love to Thee, O Christ" and "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross," were read. There was a very large attendance of friends and relatives. The pall bearers were Lewis Walker, Firman Walker, Isaac Dayton, Wm. Dayton, John Ross and Peter Benward. The interment was in the Baptist cemetery in Plainfield avenue.

Stray Equine.

A grey horse belonging to the Consumers' Coal Company escaped from the stable last night and wandered around town for nearly an hour. Patrolman Vanderweg discovered it at 1:30 this morning and brought it back to Cole's stables.

Fish for New Jersey.

The Fish and Game Commission has decided to buy five thousand black bass from the Great Lakes to stock the New Jersey streams, and one thousand dozen quail, if they can be had, to stock the woods and fields.

—Miss Minnie Hossinger and Miss Schreiner, of Hill & Shupp's store, have returned from their annual vacation.

IMPROVEMENTS OF CEDARCROFT.

Mr. Huse's School Will be in First-Class Shape for Fall Opening.

"Cedarcroft," the new boys' school on Park avenue, will open its doors for the first term on Wednesday, September 19. Formerly known as the Harned Academy, it is situated at the corner of Martine and Park avenues and was recently bought by R. M. Huse, the principal of the new academy. Mr. Huse has had the interior entirely renovated and several new school rooms made. Several of the old class rooms have been repainted and new floors have been laid. Windows better adapted for good lighting have been put in where necessary and the building is now light and airy throughout. The surrounding grounds have been greatly improved and lawns, paths and driveways laid out. The school has been repainted a brick red.

HOPE CAMPERS PLAYED BALL

DEFEATED THEIR RIVALS FROM SOMERVILLE YESTERDAY.

Everything Going Their Way at the Lake—Music and Dances.

"Camp Hope," Lake Hopatcong, Aug. 19—With the weather as fine as possible, the Hope boys are thoroughly enjoying life in camp. They have organized a baseball team and John Cose, the magnate and pie eater, is manager. He arranged a game yesterday with "Camp Onaway," a team composed of fellows from Somerville. The Hope boys won, defeating their opponents by a score of 8 to 0. The game was played near the Hopatcong apple orchard. This was the lineup for Hope: "Lefty" Leon Texier, p; Berry Marsh, c; "Eddie" Texier, ss; "Union Label" Kenney, 1b; "Comedian" Firstbrook, 3b; "A. B. C." Caleen, 2b; "Bert" Banks, rf; "Todd" Hoffman, lf; "Pie" Cose, cf; umpire, Emer Hoffman.

The boys are having everything their own way at Nolan's Point Villa. Every night they gather about the piano and with Judge Runyon as leader, sing the songs that made the minstrels famous. An invitation has been accepted to appear at Leigh's pavilion some night this week and give a concert. "Bert" Banks, Leon and Edward Texier attended a hop at the Hotel Breslin yesterday afternoon.

"A Camper."

JERSEY "RUM CURSED."

So Says Dr. Woods—More Saloons Proportionately Than in Any Other State.

Rev. Hervey Wood, of New York, secretary of the National Temperance Society, Tuesday night gave an address on "Temperance and the Home" at the W. C. T. U. rally at Mt. Tabor. Dr. Wood said that if the horrors of the Bosschieter case in Paterson had been fully known by the public as he knew them, the culprits who perpetrated the deed would never have gotten to jail, as the excited public would have taken matters into its own hands. In speaking of his own work in that same city, in his crusade against the saloon, he asserted that if the city of Paterson had sustained him in that crusade the saloons would all have been closed and the Bosschieter murder might have been averted. In closing he said that New Jersey is today the rum-cursed State, having more saloons to the population than any other State in the Union.

Colored Folk on Excursion.

Over one hundred and fifty colored people left this morning for Lake Hopatcong on the first annual excursion of the U. O. of B. H., and M. S. A. Despite the shower at train time, the excursionists had anticipations of an enjoyable day and many of the men took along their fishing tackle in anticipation of some good sport at the lake. The excursion was not a success financially, there being but one coach filled. The train cost the colored people between $200 and $250, while the receipts will not come any where near that amount.

An opportunity was given the excursionists to defer the trip on account of threatening weather, but they persisted in going, notwithstanding the inevitable financial loss.

Drive On, Please.

Chief Marshal William Campbell has notified many of the truckmen and teamsters in North Plainfield that the habit of leaving loaded carts and trucks in the streets at night must be stopped. They are a danger to people driving along the thoroughfares. If the custom does not cease arrests will be made.

William Owens, of this city, is enjoying his vacation at the Coleman House, Asbury Park.

S. S. SWACKHAMER FOR GOVERNOR

Party Leaders Sized Him Up at the Farmer's Picnic Yesterday.

PLEASED BY HIS SPEECH

THEY NOTED THE STRONG HOLD WHICH HE HAS ON THE FARMER VOTE.

His Friends Claim That He Would Make Good Run in City as Well as in County as the Democratic Candidate.

That Assemblyman Samuel S. Swackhamer, of North Plainfield, is being seriously considered as a possible candidate for Governor is shown by the fact that there were many local and State Democratic leaders present yesterday at the Farmer's annual outing at Flemington where the "Bill Nye" of Somerset made the principal address of the day.

Among the leaders who heard Mr. Swackhamer's speech were Senator John R. Foster, of Three Bridges; Senator William C. Gebhardt, of Clinton; Former Senator James VanCleef, of New Brunswick; E. E. Potter, of Port Oram; and others including David Carney, of North Plainfield.

Their object was two fold; first, to see how the farmers stood on the matter of Swackhamer for Governor; and second, to note the qualifications of the Assemblyman for such a position. They seemed pleased at the enthusiasm which the Assemblyman aroused among farmers present from almost every county in this part of the State.

Judging from the conversation of several leading Democrats in one of the down town hotels last evening, the chances of Swackhamer for a nomination are good. He not only has a strong following in the country but his friends in this city and at Somerville are working hard for him.

At first the name of Swackhamer as a possible candidate for Governorship brought a smile to all within hearing distance but now it is quite different. His friends seem sure that he could make a good run.

COUNTY ELECTION BOARD.

Elected Officers and Discussed New Primary Law.

The Union County Board of Elections and Registry met in the temporary court room in the Veteran Zouave Armory yesterday and organized by the election of John L. Crowell, of Rahway, as chairman and C Addison Swift, of Elizabeth, as secretary. S. Rusling Ryno, of Rahway, was appointed clerk.

The new primary election law was discussed, especially in its effect on the appointment of local election boards. Under the old law the election boards hold from September 11 of one year to September 11 of the next. The primaries, under the new law, occur on the same day as the first day of registration, which is September 8. The term of office of the old election board expires on September 10, and the question has been raised as to who is to sit on September 8. The lawmakers made no provision for this exigency, and confusion is threatened where the old boards have not succeeded themselves. The county board discovered this, but were not able to determine what disposition to make of it. It was thought the old boards will have to resign, but the old boards might not fall in with the idea.

Central R. R. Claim Settled.

The salvage claim against the Central Railroad Company, the owners of the Ferryboat Bound Brook, has been settled. The only claimer for the salvage, according to the railroad people, was John Smith, captain of a tug boat, and the railroad company have reimbursed him for his services. The United States marshall has departed and the notice has been removed. Although the ferryboat is being repaired at the plant of the New Jersey Dry Dock and Transportation Company, yet this concern had nothing to do with the seizure, and wish it so understood. The amount of the salvage is not known.

Held in $2,000 for Assault.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 20—Stewart Hardgrove was arrested here yesterday by Detective Totten on a charge of having beaten Augustus Hall, who lost an eye because of the pounding given him. Hardgrove, when arraigned before Justice Kitchen, claimed self defense. The Justice, however, held him in $2,000 for the September Grand Jury.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

B. J. Schreiner's sodas are fameus in this city. The lover of a delicious ice cream soda always stops in at Schreiner's drug store while shopping. Especial attention is paid to the manufacture of syrups.

After shopping all morning why not take one of the Dunellen cars and enjoy the afternoon at Riverside Park. There the fresh breezes blow down the Raritan and make the place one of the most delightful summer resorts in this vicinity. A select programme each day at the theatre and swings for the children.

After once trading with Neuman Brothers many people wonder why they ever traded elsewhere. It is the recognized headquarters in this city for fruits and vegetables of all kinds in season and the prices lead all others. "The best of everything at the lowest prices" is the rule at Neuman Brothers. Watchung avenue and East Fifth street.

If one in your family is sick, the first thing you think of is to get the best doctor. When he arrives and prescribes for the patient the first thing that you think of is: "Where can we get this prescription filled by a first class druggist?" People who know, think at once of John P. Powers' Somerset Pharmacy. Powers is agent for Huyler's candies.

T. S. Armstrong, the apothecary at the corner of North and Park avenues, has a large stock of high class toilet articles, soaps, tooth brushes, talcum powder, hair and nail brushes —all necessities for the summer dress suit case. Give Armstrong a call on your way to the station and enjoy your vacation more through having your outfit complete. Reynolds' Petrolium Hair Tonic is a sure preventative of dandruff and falling hair.

Many builders make the mistake of having inferior paint applied to new houses because of the supposed economy. Cheap paint, unless of a standard grade, is false economy and no house owner can afford to apply it. It soaks right into the wood or else cracks and chips off, fading from the sun in a few months so as to present a bad appearance. James Hansen, the East Front street painter and paperhanger, uses first class paint in all his work.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. B. F. Coriell and daughter, Miss Lucy Coriell, of West Fifth street, returned home from Asbury Park, yesterday, as brown as berries.

Postmaster and Mrs. E. H. Bird, of Elm place, have returned from "Breeze Hill House," Lisbon, N. H., where they have been enjoying their annual vacation.

Will F. Williams and wife, of Westervelt avenue, left today for Asbury Park, where they will stay for two weeks at the Grandview House, Second avenue.

Up the Hudson.

History teaches us that Hudson, in his trip up the river which bears his name, was highly pleased with the marvelous scenic surroundings. Were he to make the trip today words would not express his delight, for in addition to nature's handiwork the embellishments by man have made the Hudson one of the grandest spots in the country. The New Jersey Central will run in connection with Steamer St. Johns a popular-priced excursion up the Hudson on Aug. 26, 1903. Rate to be $1 and train will leave Plainfield at 8:46 a. m. Fare for children at half of above rate. St. Johns is one of the famous Sandy Hook Fleet and is the best appointed and fastest excursion boat in the harbor. 8 18 7

ABSOLUTE FAITH.

You Can Depend Upon the Word of This Plainfield Citizen.

He has had the experience.
He has thoroughly tested the article.
He found it as represented.
He has absolute faith in its merit.

Mr. Jepp Zeneen, of 782 West Front street, pattern maker by trade, says: "For a year I had a sort of grinding pain across my back at times extending up to my shoulders and there was a lameness over my kidneys and severe headaches. When I stooped I always felt dizzy and sometimes was fairly blinded. In the mornings I felt stiff and sore until I got some exercise. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in my city paper and so highly recommended for kidney complaint that I went to L. W. Randolph's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good. From my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills I cannot do otherwise than endorse them."

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

"Tom" Strap, of the Aluminum Press Works, spent yesterday at Highland Beach.

Edward Shigland has taken a position in the draughting department of the Aluminum Press Works.

The Plumbers and Steam Fitters' Union, No. 103, will hold a meeting tonight in the Trades' Council chambers.

"Ged" Shigland, who has been in England in the interest of the Aluminum Press Company, is expected home shortly.

Iron Moulder's Union, No. 805, at the next meeting, Wednesday, September 26, will transact important business. All are urged to be present.

The new water tower erected in the yard of the Scott Printing Press Works has been painted a bright red color and the name of the firm has been inscribed.

Several employes of the Waldron Wall Paper Machine Works at New Brunswick were here yesterday trying to secure positions in some of the local shops. It is said that two went to work at Scott's.

Delegates of all trades engaged in the shipbuilding industry are meeting today at Odd Fellows' Hall, No. 67 St. Mark's place, New York, with representatives of the International Association of Machinists to appoint a committee to call on the members of the Metal Trades Association on Thursday and demand a minimum of $3 a day for all machinists. The machinists, who have been on a strike for some time, say that unless their demand is complied with a general strike of all ship-yard employes in this vicinity will follow. Members of the Metal Trades' Association claim that a sympathetic strike is an impossibility, as contracts existing between their association and the boilermakers and iron shipbuilders and the helpers of that union and the blacksmiths and their helpers provide against sympathetic strikes during the existence of the contracts.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Taylor, of West Seventh street, have returned from their vacation.

Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, of Prospect place, has returned from a three weeks' outing in the Catskill Mountains.

Mrs. F. H. Andrews, of Central avenue, has gone to Spring Lake, where she will stop at the "Wilburton-by-the-Sea," for two weeks.

Miss Elizabeth Harrer, of Lakewood, has returned to her home after a ten days' visit with her cousin, Miss Anna Morrison, of South avenue.

Lake Hopatcong.

Lake Hopatcong has become justly famous for several reasons but chief of these is its location. High up in New Jersey's beautiful mountains, a thousand feet above the sea level, surrounded by verdant hills and charming landscape, it is the perfection of outing places. To reach it is a delightful journey through a series of picturesque valleys, and the time of the traveler is so occupied feasting on the scenic sights that the few hours journey are like fleeting moments. For a Sunday excursion no place is more popular than Lake Hopatcong, and if you want a day of enjoyment take in the $1.00 excursion to Lake Hopatcong. The New Jersey Central is to run on August 23, 1903. There will be a special train from Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., and the return train does not leave the lake until late afternoon. There is ample opportunity for a trip over the lake or such enjoyment as one may care to indulge in. 8 18 5

A FARMERS' MERGER

Agriculturists and Other Producers Will Combine.

FOOD TO BE SOLD AT FAIR PRICES

The Object of the Association Is to Maintain Rates and to Control the Distribution of All Natural Food Products.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Plans for combining farmers, fruit growers, dairymen and all other producers of natural food products into one national organization were considered at a conference here between representatives of several farmers' co-operative associations. This movement has for its purpose the maintaining of prices, the control of distribution of products and the saving of large sums of money paid in commissions. The plan under consideration contemplates the erection of grain elevators and cold storage warehouses in all parts of the country where products may be held if necessary until such times as they can be marketed at a fair price. As a result of the conference it was decided to hold a farmers' convention in Chicago Sept. 8 to consider detailed plans of organization.

Progressive farmers are all invited to attend, so that one of the present plans may be adopted or that from all of them one may be devised that will be most acceptable to the agricultural interests and in which all workers for the upbuilding of the country can unite.

The call is signed by Robert Linblom, president of the Farmers' National Cooperative exchange, Chicago; J. A. Everitt, president of the American Society of Equity, Indianapolis, and D. L. Wilson, representing the dairy interests, Elgin, Ill.

It was claimed by those who attended the conference that when the organization is completed the farmer will be able to get $1 a bushel for wheat, 60 cents for corn and 40 cents for oats throughout the year.

THUNDERCLAP PANIC.

Wall Street Disturbed by Supposed Explosion.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—There was another panic in Wall street. It didn't affect stocks, however, and it was caused by a harmless thunderclap, which was misinterpreted by the surface and aerial population of the financial district, who swarmed into the streets in the lower part of the city looking for the signs of some terrible disaster.

The boom of the thunder which caused all the trouble came at 1:45 o'clock.

In the vicinity of the Stock Exchange, where the crash seemed to be the loudest, pedestrians were startled and ran back into Wall street, thinking that a disaster had occurred very near them. As they ran others followed, and in a few minutes Wall street was packed from side to side. At the same time people in the vicinity of Exchange place began to move quickly toward Broadway, where there are one or two buildings in process of construction. This thoroughfare was packed in a few minutes.

Rumors were as thick as those in circulation during the panicky days in the stock market two weeks ago. Within ten minutes after the thunderclap was first heard there were thousands of people in the streets surrounding the block between Broad street and Broadway.

Business was practically suspended throughout Wall street during the period of this excitement. Telephone messages carried more inquiries about explosions, collapse of buildings, falling of elevators, etc., than they did about stocks, and during the rest of the afternoon messages came from all over town asking for details of the great downtown explosion.

No Russo-Japanese War.

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 20.—The Japanese government disclaims all the panic stories of war between Russia and Japan. All fears of a conflict are groundless. Both Russia and Japan are really trying to be conciliatory. War would not be an advantage to either. So far it has been a game of bluff. Japan has no war ships building in England and has not increased the strength of her army in view of possible events.

Fifty Sufferers From Poison.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Fifty or more inmates of the Industrial home here have been taken violently ill, and it is thought that they are suffering from ptomaine poisoning. Samples of some bread, milk and spring water which had been furnished them have been submitted to the District chemist for examination.

Consul General Long's Remains.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The remains of the late Judge John G. Long, United States consul general and diplomatic agent at Cairo, Egypt, who died as the result of an accident in Dunbar, Scotland, July 28, have arrived in Washington. The interment will be in Rock Creek cemetery.

Neutrality of Denmark.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 20.—The National Tidende announces that at the czar's instigation Professor von Martens, the international jurist, has made a proposal for securing the neutrality of Denmark, which will shortly be submitted to the governments of Europe and America.

A Shipload of Animals.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The steamer British Princess, from Antwerp, which arrived, has on board 109 stallions, two gazelles and a number of pheasants, pigeons and swans.

Fair and warmer.

Since Lincoln's Time,

more than 7,000,000 Jas. Boss Stiffened Gold Watch Cases have been sold. Many of the first ones are still giving satisfactory service, proving that the Jas. Boss Case will outwear the guarantee of 25 years. These cases are recognized as the standard by all jewelers, because they know from personal observation that they will perform as guaranteed and are the most serviceable of all watch cases.

JAS. BOSS
Stiffened GOLD Watch Cases

are made of two layers of solid gold with a layer of stiffening metal between, all welded together into one solid sheet. The gold permits of beautiful ornamentation. The stiffening metal gives strength. United they form the best watch case it is possible to make. Insist on having a Jas. Boss Case. You will know it by this trademark

HANDSOME PARLOR CHAIRS
EXACTLY HALF PRICE.

Haven't said much about the sale of advance style and discontinued patterns of furniture of late, yet our loaded vans give unmistakable evidence of lively doings here every day. People of Newark and vicinity have learned by experience that we really do give bargains; that our goods are never marked up prior to a sale in order to give fictitious value; our reductions are genuine, and none but the worthiest productions of the best manufacturers are represented here. Even a casual visit will convince the most skeptical of the truth, and with savings of 10 to 33 1-3 per cent. marked in plain figures upon almost every piece of this superb collection, it behooves one to think twice before purchasing elsewhere.

These offerings for tomorrow are exceptional and exquisite pieces for the parlor or to fill up chinks in any room—all graceful styles, elaborate in design, highly polished, superior in finish and workmanship—AND ALL HALF PRICE.

GRAND ARMY MARCH

Ten Thousand Civil War Veterans Parade at Frisco.

OLD SOLDIERS FROM EVERY STATE

In the Line of March Many Empty Sleeves, Limping Gaits and Battered War Flags Showed the Sorrows and Glory of War.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20.—Ten thousand survivors of the civil war passed in review, marching to the martial tunes that inspired them to endeavor forty years ago. Above the national colors, borne by every marcher, proudly floated torn and tattered flags. These, with empty sleeves and limping gait, were eloquent reminders of the sorrow and glory of war. Unlike the parade of the previous day, the quick marching line of youth, this procession was the measured and steady tread of age. As the different divisions marched along waves of sentiment passed over marchers and spectators. There were many still vigorous in line, but they waited for their weaker comrades, and the column halted often on its two mile course.

In the long line were men from every corner of the nation. Of all the states, California excepted, the one that had the largest number in line was Illinois, but Ohio was a close second.

Almost every delegation had its emblem—Ohio its buckeye, Connecticut a wooden nutmeg, Minnesota a loaf of bread and so on indefinitely. There was something distinctive to each group.

The men from Vermont, "the Green Mountain State," bore a line of seven green banners, each containing a letter, the whole spelling the name of the state.

One thousand men marched under the yellow banner of Illinois. At the head marched Colonel Thomas G. Lawler, past commander in chief of the Grand Army. The Wisconsin division was led by General Arthur MacArthur in civilian clothes.

Pennsylvania headed the second division. Here and there in the line appeared a buck tail, indicating the presence of a survivor of the famous First Pennsylvania rifles, "the Buck Tails."

The New York section followed Pennsylvania, led by John Koster.

General Nelson A. Miles was the guest of the Spanish-American war veterans, and the women's relief corps gave a reception to Commander in Chief Stewart.

PIONEERS GATHER.

Olcott Beach Received Veterans of the State.

OLCOTT BEACH, N. Y., Aug. 20.—An immense crowd gathered at the open air theater to hear and participate in the opening exercises of the New York state pioneers' convention. Seated on the platform with Attorney General Cunneen, former Senator Hill and President Porter of the Pioneers' association were the patriarchs of the county, twelve of them over ninety years and a hundred over eighty years old. The other members of the association who have passed the fifty mark to the number of 250 were given seats near the right and left of the amphitheater.

After an address of welcome by President Porter Attorney General Cunneen was introduced. His address was brief, but full of patriotic sentiment. He extolled the industry, intelligence and character of the pioneers of western New York and especially those of Niagara county, who, he said, had served the state and the nation in many high offices and in the enactment of wise laws for the betterment of the people and the uplifting of humanity. Slavery was abolished in the state without the cost of a dollar or the sacrifice of a human life.

Secretary Root Sails For London.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Secretary Root left here for New York and will sail for Europe tomorrow to take his seat as chairman of the Alaskan boundary commission, which meets in London Sept. 3. General Oliver will take over his department. General Corbin left on the same train with Secretary Root and will witness the yacht races and then make a trip north to the Thousand Islands and Canada.

Ship Forced Over Wharf by Storm.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20.—The Norwegian steamer Katie, from Port Antonio, while in the harbor of Port Antonio, lying at the West India Trading company's wharf with four anchors out, was forced over the wharf by a hurricane which lasted two hours. The West India wharf was almost entirely destroyed.

"Papa's Boy" Is Claimed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The two-and-a-half-year-old child who since Saturday had described himself as "papa's boy" and who had been known to the police and the Society For the Prevention of Cruelty to Children as "John Doe No. 68," has been identified as Tommy Fell of 435 West Forty-fifth street, by his mother, Mrs. Annie Fell.

Scout Tug Has Wireless Outfit.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 20.—The first tugboat fitted with wireless telegraphy seen on the New England coast and one of the very few to be found in the world is now in Portland harbor. The tug is the Robert Palmer, a scout boat to be used during the naval maneuvers next week.

Mining Plant Destroyed by Fire.

VERMILLION, Mont., Aug. 20.—The concentrator and nearly the entire plant of the Kentucky-Vermillion Mining and Concentrating company have been destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $150,000.

Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 20, 1903.

The Daily Press has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield.—Printer's Ink.

Advertising regulates the pace of those who travel the road to success. —Printers' Ink.

Sam Parks, the walking delegate, seems to be in imminent danger of having his future pedestrianism strictly confined.

A western newspaper says that a county commissioner "has been riding about town looking after the roads." Were they lost, strayed or stolen?

It looks as though Assemblyman Swackhamer is wise in his choice of a political clientele. There are few classes of voters more influential or who do more thinking for themselves than farmers. And the North Plainfield orator seems to pull a strong stroke with them.

If it is true as stated that the authorities of the Somerset County jail at Somerville have allowed three escaped prisoners to run at large in their vicinity for several weeks without making any effort to recapture them, their conduct should receive a prompt and thorough investigation. There seems no possible excuse for such laxity.

The matter of the distinct and accurate numbering of houses in Plainfield is one that has already received comment in these columns and one that will easily bear further mention. The city is supposed to be numbered according to the block system such as is used in Philadelphia, but the failure to abide by the system in some of the streets not only makes confusion for strangers but for natives. Westervelt and Sandford avenues are among the streets not numbered according to the system, and it is said, that the reason for this is that the residents of those avenues became attached to their old numbers and persuaded the city not to change them. This love for antiques should not be allowed to hold as against the convenience of other citizens and strangers. Plainfield has a definite system and it should be followed.

THE RIGHT SORT.

Time is comin' soon fer summer folks
Ter pack their trunks an' go
Back ter th' city sweats and smokes
An' chokes an so-an'so,
An' some o' them, o' course, is glad
They're due ter go away,
But more o' them'll wish they had
A week er more ter stay.

Them one's that's glad to straggle back
Ter all that city strife
Will only leave a pleasant slack
In our own mount'in life;
It don't exac'ly need a saint
Ter take us ez we are,
But them thet takes us ez we ain't
Can take th' homeward car.

We like th' feller that comes near
Ter whatcher calls a man,
That, if he wants ter come nex' year,
Yer'll write him that he can;
So long ez he hez paid his way
Jes' like us other men,
We're glad ter see him any day
An' hope he'll come again.

The shoestring watch fob craze is long lived in this town. While the manufacturing of the fobs is by no means such a common sight as a week ago, many of them have been placed on sale at the local stores where they have found ready buyers. New phases of the fad have developed recently; among them the making of belts, neckties, sofa cushion covers and chair seats entirely from the shoe strings. The neckties are being worn by many of the young men of the town. They are made of five strings plaited together and their manufacture is becoming exceedingly popular among the young women of the town who in turn are rewarded for their efforts and presents to their admirers by varicolored belts which the men make from nine strings. The pillow covers are made from seventeen strings or more according to the size desired. The brass tips of the strings are generally left on for a fringe. Local shoe dealers are well stocked with the shoestrings and are having big sales each day.

Miss Barbara Green, of Somerset street, is making preparations to sail for England next week. Miss Green intends to visit her mother in Lynn, Norfolk, Eng., and will spend the winter on the other side.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

Manager Smith is trying to arrange a game with the strong Hopewell team. This team is one of the best in this section and the game would no doubt prove a great attraction. Mr. Smith has secured another pitcher to take the place of Ettlinger when he leaves for St. Louis. The new man is from a first class New York team and has a fine record.

Watchungs against New Market is the game scheduled for Saturday afternoon. Considerable rivalry has existed between these two teams all season and the game is awaited with considerable interest.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Morrison and family, who are living on Madison avenue, will move to Steelton, Pa., shortly, where Mr. Morrison is now employed by the Pennsylvania Steel Company.

As a result of the announcement made by the administrators of the late Harry C. Gaskill nearly all the creditors have agreed to accept fifty cents on the dollar for their claims.

The Bound Brook trolley cars are now running on a half-hour schedule on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, in order to accommodate the crowds for Riverside Park.

Ernest Peters and Grover Kratzel attended the excursion to Willow Grove Park, Philadelphia, yesterday, and report having enjoyed a good time.

The stone crusher of Garretson & Gray is now working at full force and every team available has been brought into service to haul the stone.

Messrs. Joseph Houtman and G. A. Newhall have returned to their homes in New York, after a visit at the Mountain View House.

James Riedy, a former well known resident of the borough, is spending the week renewing old acquaintances.

Superintendent John Coyle, of Levering & Garrigues, has returned from a business trip to Philadelphia.

Mrs. John Garreson, who has been suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism, is considerably improved.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Adolph Fleischer, who has been acting in a demented way for several months past, has a brother living in New York. Hearing of the plight of his kinsman, he came to the village on Wednesday and took the unfortunate man away. Fleischer has been a resident of the village for a year, conducting the barber shop in the Cook building. His strange actions lost him most of his customers and this worried him until he finally became a victim of melancholia. At times his fancy would lead him to believe that everyone was his enemy. Two weeks ago he was committed by Judge Clark to Elizabeth on the technical charge of disorderly conduct. The doctors examined him and pronounced him harmless.

The fourth of the series of five games with Westfield will be played at Recreation Park on Saturday afternoon and the contest will no doubt draw just as large a crowd of rooters as last Saturday's. The series now stands: Westfield, 2; Scotch Plains, 1. The local rooters think the series should be one and one, as they claim they were too heavily handicapped by Umpire Traphagen in the first game of the series.

Much complaint is heard about a number of boys who make a practice of tearing pickets from fences on the streets in the village. This practice, if continued, might lead to a charge of malicious mischief against the offenders, as property owners do not erect picket fences for the purpose of furnishing amusement to boys.

Township Committeeman Bruchmann has had a gang of men at work for several days past clearing up the weeds and underbrush on the side streets of the village. The improvement is noticeable.

If Manager Johnston wants to win Saturday's game with Westfield he ought to inspire a little more life and ginger in the work of his men.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist Church, leaves tomorrow for a visit with friends at Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Peltz are entertaining Mr. Peltz's father, from Bayonne, for two weeks.

William Borkowsky, of Brooklyn, formerly of the village, has been visiting friends in town.

Miss Mary Westcott, of the borough, is spending a week with friends at Bridgeton, this State.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet in weekly session in the Library rooms tonight.

Albert MacCauley has purchased a new road horse which is said to have a record for speeding.

Miss DeMott, of Peapack, is visiting at the home of Postmaster and Mrs. Norman Dunn.

Arthur Haskard is taking a two weeks' rest from business in New York State.

The public school will reopen Tuesday morning, September 8th, at 9 o'clock.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The funeral of Mrs. Stelle Blackford, of Plainfield, was conducted yesterday afternoon by Rev. J. A. Cubberley and Rev. Dr. Yerkes.

Miss Sabocher, of Short Hills, visited at W. B. Manning's yesterday afternoon.

Henry Meeker will spend the remainder of the week in New York.

Mrs. J. A. Cubberley and sister spent yesterday in New York.

AMUSEMENTS.

Not only is Fred. A. Stone's make-up in the "Wizard of Oz" remarkable but, being a contortionist and limber dancer as well, he is able to give a wonderfully realistic impersonation of a loose-jointed individual such as a scare-crow naturally would be. Mr. Stone's dressing room is facetiously known in "The Wizard of Oz" Company as "the stable." In one corner of it he keeps a small bale of hay with which to fill in the rents of his rag-bag attire.

Pain's fireworks are popular as ever at Manhattan Beach. The fire spectacle, "Last Days of Pompeii," seems to have made the usual hit and the amphitheatre, except on stormy nights, has held its full share of the summer night throngs. Some of the popular features introduced in the carnival part of the "Pompeii" programme are a ballot of 56 young women, a trio of trapeze performers, a troupe of carpet acrobats and a boxing exhibition. Each of these acts wins pronounced applause nightly.

At Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre an excellent production is being made this week of T. W. Robinson's well-known comedy drama, "Caste," with Hugh Ford as old Eccles and Miss Jessie Izettes, who made such a success in "The Suburban" as Polly Eccles. The excellent cast comprises Paul McAllister, George Edwin Bryant, Geo. Friend, Miss Beatrice Morgan, Miss Alice Gale and other Proctor favorites. The vaudeville will include Hanson and Harris, acrobatic comedians; Revere Sisters, soubrettes; Adams and White, musical comedians; Al. Christie, novelty paper manipulator, and many others. The regular Sunday concert will begin at 2 p. m., and run continuously until 11 p. m.

The first concerted effort to bring under one roof an exhibition of every kind and style of garment worn by women with a view to setting the styles for the fall and winter season of 1903 and 1904 and subsequent years, has been inaugurated by the Fashion Show Company and under the name of the Fashion Show this exhibition will be open at Madison Square Garden, New York, Monday, August 31, and will close on Saturday, September 14th. For the two weeks the show is open, the public will have an excellent opportunity to inspect the latest Parisian models in an exhibition of one hundred gowns made by the leading Parisian dressmakers, expressly for the Fashion Show.

Chief among the Shakesperian revivals this fall is the appearance of Miss Henrietta Crosman in her celebrated portrayal of Rosalind in "As You Like It." Miss Crosman will open her season on September 7th at the Manhattan Theatre, New York City. She will remain there only one week, as owing to other arrangements she can give but a limited time to the Shakesperian comedy, and yieldnig to public demand has planned to visit as many as possible of the larger Eastern cities. Miss Crosman's Rosalind has been pronounced by the dramatic critics in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and other big cities, the most artistic and attractive impersonation of the character ever given on the stage. Proof of its merit and charm is found in the fact that it attained a record run.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 23, "Making Our Lives Count"—Text, II Tim. iii, 10-15; II Cor. xi, 23-28.

Sir William Hamilton said, "Of goods or absolute ends there are but two—perfection and happiness." It seems impossible for us to separate these. Whoever gets one is sure to find he holds the other. No happiness is possible without some degree of excellence, and no gain in excellence is made but it brings a corresponding degree of enjoyment and satisfaction.

The important thing is to settle our aim and decide what we shall undertake to gain, and then, when we have chosen our course, make steady effort to reach the goal. Too many lives are failures because they never started for anywhere in particular. Drifting may perhaps win in a yacht race, but doubtless it never will in the race for eternal life. No one ever yawned a good deed into being. Wishes are not horses, and so beggars do not ride, now or hitherto. On the tombstone of Maine, the great English jurist, is cut no Greek or Latin motto, but the incisive English sentence, "Success is the child of hard work."

It is immensely important what kind of children we shall produce by our work. The same material might make the statue of a Judas or a Christ, a palace or a prison. From this earth life we may mold enduring hell or heaven.

What shall this life of mine count when finished? This question should have sober consideration now. The full result no one can prophesy. The general worth any one can estimate quite accurately. Which way you are headed decides where you will fetch up.

It is not enough to be always busy. Some of the busiest people accomplish the least work. What you are at is the chief matter. Better do nothing than do some things. Of one man at least it was true "it were better he had never been born." The same may be true of others. Whether it would have been better for us never to have begun to live depends on how we live. We may live nobly if we will. But to do so we will have to select our course carefully and keep to it persistently.

Conspicuousness is not the test of human worth. Success cannot be accurately gauged by the applause of the crowd. Lives that count are not always popular. Nero was judge and Paul the accused prisoner. Both had made men talk because of their deeds. Both had ideals which they followed with intense zeal. One reached the highest pinnacle of earthly power and pomp and was given divine honors and worshiped as a god. The other died as a criminal. No one now hesitates in deciding which was benefactor of men. No one is in doubt as to which life was high and which was low. Both lives counted, but counted differently.

"We are what we make ourselves, and, I had almost said, we may make ourselves what we will."

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime."

"Give diligence to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed."

The Cave of the Winds.

"I went through the Cave of the Winds when I was at Niagara," said a lady, speaking of a recent trip. "The path was narrow, the noise of the falling water drowned every other sound, the spray blinded me, and I could not see where I was going or who was coming after me. I seemed to be deaf, blind and alone—but for the touch of a hand—in the midst of that whirling cataract. But it was a strong, steady hand, and I did not feel really afraid. The guide held me fast and drew me forward, and I had nothing to do but to follow step by step until we were safely through." The soul knows many such lonely passages—places where the cheer and counsel of human voices die into silence and uselessness; when the way is hidden in gloom, with no chance to see whither the path is tending and there is nothing to do but to follow the hand of Providence that leads onward step by step. But there is really no reason for fear. The hand of the Guide is strong and tender. It will neither mistake nor fail, and if we yield trustfully to its leading we shall "come safely through."—Forward.

Faith, Fact and Hope.

The gospel of Christ is a religion of faith, fact and hope. No event illustrates this more forcibly than the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. By faith David sang, "Thou wilt not suffer Thy holy one to see corruption." As to fact, the triumph of Christ over death is as well established an event of history as the surrender of Napoleon at Sedan or the triumph of Grant at Appomattox. On that glorious fact, rendered immutable by the caution and testimony of the enemies of Christ as well as by his subsequent reappearance, the Christian rests his hope of ultimate victory o'er the grave. —Philadelphia Methodist.

The Sufficiency of Christ.

No soul can ever be really satisfied until it has given up all hope of adding anything to Christ and has come to the place where He alone is enough. He Himself, just as He is, without the addition of feelings or emotions or doctrines or experiences or revelations or of any other thing either inward or outward. All other things change or fail, and the soul finds in them no permanent rest, but Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever, and the soul that rests on Him alone can never be moved.—Christian Work.

Prayer.

Prayer is so mighty an instrument that no one ever thoroughly mastered all its keys. They sweep along the infinite scale of man's wants and of God's goodness.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 23—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Lessons from Paul: How to make our lives count like his.—II Tim. 1, 6-8; II Cor. xi, 22-28.

Few lives have counted for more than that of the apostle Paul. Converted under most miraculous circumstances, he at once inquired, "Lord, what wilt Thou have me do?" and from that time on the doing of the will of God was his chief business in life, and as the apostle to the gentiles he achieved undying fame in the annals of the church and had the most conspicuous part in spreading the gospel throughout the Roman empire. And in the letters that he wrote to churches and to individuals he left the church a legacy of inestimable value, and being dead his life still counts for God and for Christianity in a most powerful way in spite of the intervening centuries.

But what was the secret of Paul's success? How was he able to make his life count for so much in his own day and to exert an influence that is still felt today after nearly nineteen centuries have passed away? Without going into any detailed analysis of the apostle's character we may be satisfied with asserting that his success was due to his sublime faith in God and in the gospel of Christ and his absolute consecration of himself to the one great idea of saving the souls of men. Paul had a great faith and a great desire that all men should possess the same faith, and he considered no sacrifice too great that this might be accomplished. As a minister of Christ he was "in labors more abundant, in stripes above measure, in prisons more frequent." He was beaten, stoned, shipwrecked, "in journeyings often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils by mine own countrymen, in perils by the heathen, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils among false brethren, in wearyings and painfulness, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in cold and nakedness." Such a record abundantly explains the secret of Paul's success. A life of such self sacrifice could not but count. "He that loses his life shall save it."

But how can we make our lives count like Paul's? By following in his footsteps. If we, with a faith and power born of God, as in the case of the apostle, "make ourselves partakers of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God" our lives shall also count for God and for the uplifting and saving of humanity. Any one who believes strongly in God and in the power of the gospel to save men, and will at any cost or self denial act up to these beliefs, can make his life mean much for God and much for his fellow men. Paul's success should inspire us to imitate his example, for

We can make our lives sublime,
And departing leave behind us
Footprints on the sands of time.

BIBLE READINGS.

Gen. v, 24; Josh. i, 1-7; Matt. v, 10-12; x, 18-28; Acts xv, 25, 26; xxvii, 9-25; I Cor. x, 31; xv, 28; II Cor. xii, 32, 33.

A Musical Endeavorer.

Rev. F. H. Jacobs, who, with Mr. Percy S. Foster, directed the splendid choruses at the Denver convention, is an "Endeavorer through and through."

REV. F. H. JACOBS.

He is a member of the New York state executive committee and holds the responsible position of state superintendent of evangelistic work. He is the director of the famous Fulton street noon prayer meeting in New York city. He often leads the singing at Moody's summer conferences at Northfield, Mass., and is also much in demand as a Christian Endeavor convention speaker. His voice is wonderfully sweet and sympathetic in gospel solo work. He has also given to the world several very effective song compositions.

Interdenominational.

Christian Endeavor has been interdenominational from the beginning, and its fellowship has grown steadily through the years. It now includes more than forty evangelical denominations. No organization in Christendom compares with it in unifying power. This has made for the society a host of friends among far seeing Christians.—A. R. W.

Endeavor Where Paul Preached.

Thessalonica, where Paul preached and taught, has a flourishing society of Christian Endeavor of twenty members and an average attendance of twenty-five.

Quiz Box.

[Any question may be asked that pertains to any phase of Christian Endeavor work. Address Lock Box 674, Binghamton, N. Y.]

92. L. M. Y., Denver, Colo.—In 1892 and 1893 Dr. Clark made his first worldwide tour. He visited large conventions in Australia, where the movement was already established, and other meetings in China, Japan, India, Turkey, France and Spain.

93. I. F. B., Selma, Ala.—The United Society of Christian Endeavor is simply a bureau of information. It claims no authority and exercises none. The Christian Endeavor principle is that all authority over a local society is vested in the church and pastor. The united society simply records the names of local societies, tabulates statistics, issues information in the form of leaflets and booklets and provides the programme for the international conventions.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

DRESSY GOWNS.

Even Debutantes' Dresses Are Not So Simple This Year.

Debutantes' gowns will not be so simple this year as formerly. These, for instance, a ball gown which is being made by a prominent dressmaker. It is of white chiffon de soie with a bertha of shirred muslin. The waist is encircled by a wide band of old rose taffeta caught at the back with some old paste buckles. All around the edge of the skirt is an insertion of the shirred muslin, and the fullness of the hips is held in place by tiny straps of passementerie with a suspicion of pale pink and pale green introduced.

A beautiful black soie de chine frock now being made has very fine guipure net let in around the knees and hips. This is outlined in a fine design of cut beads with a sprinkling of silver paillettes. The bodice has a yoke and sleeves entirely composed of the ecru guipure with a layer of black soie de chine underneath. This is extremely becoming to the skin and is heavily dotted with jet and silver. The wide belt of oriental satin appears to knot in the back, although no fastening can be detected.

The cut shows a visiting gown of gray crepe de chine trimmed with gaugings. The stole ends are of velvet, with silk buttons and tassels.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

COLORS AND FABRICS.

Crapes and Crepolines Are Smart. Pale Blue Is Very Popular.

The flat crowned hats have made the low coiffures more fashionable and the sides are dressed very widely whether arranged in pompadour fashion or in waved full bands.

Crepoline and crape effects are very popular and there are many lovely effects in gray, putty and fawn which make up beautifully with lace, ribbon and featherstitching. The sack collar, much plaited and trimmed with lace and silken tassels, is very effective. The vest of white silk should have a transparent yoke and a deep frill of lace. Touches of color can be introduced easily into such neutral tinted gowns, which are equally charming worn with toques or floral or big black picture hats.

Blue is most fashionable in the paler shades, and a pale blue gown worn with a brown hat has a very smart effect.

Pink muslin worn over a softer pink is charming with a tuscan hat of the empeline shape trimmed with half a dozen roses in different tints of pink. The costume should be completed by a white parasol and white gloves.

The cut shows a bolero of brown cloth, stitched and strapped. It has gilt buttons.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

When Briton Was the Foe.

The time of our next serial story entitled

is laid in Colonial days, and is replete with incidents of that historic conflict waged for American freedom. Through it runs a charming love story that was characteristic of the times.

WATCH FOR THE OPENING CHAPTERS

It will begin within a short time, and none should miss so rare a literary treat.

ABOUT FISH.

PROPOSALS

For Macadamizing.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Common Council at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at 8 o'clock p. m., on Monday, the 24th day of August, 1903, for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the macadamizing contemplated in the following ordinance, entitled, "An ordinance for the permanent improvement of certain streets and portions of streets of the City of Plainfield with permanent and durable macadam pavement, and to provide the necessary funds in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits"; adopted by the Common Council and approved by the Mayor July 6, 1903, and as provided for in the specifications on file in the office of the Street Commissioner.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents thereof in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of said prices and terms.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

A separate price must be named for each street and proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Macadamizing."

Dated August 5, 1903.

JAMES T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?

In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.

The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.

This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.

With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year and wish to settle the same before the time expires; we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.

Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

KODOL Digests What You Eat

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

Kodol

Digests What You Eat

Mrs. Loring Nichols of Penn Yan, N. Y., writes: After eating, my food would distress me by making my heart palpitate and I would become very weak. Finally I got a bottle of Kodol and it gave me immediate relief. After using a few bottles I am cured.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders, and gives the heart a full, free and untrammeled action.

Bottles only. $1.00 Size holding 2½ times the trial size, which sells for 50c.

Injunction Got Kenner Stakes.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. Aug. 20.—Seven events were on the card for racing, which was witnessed by a large crowd. The track was fast, the time in the fourth race being but four-fifths of a second slower than the track record for the distance and the track record being equaled in the first race. The Kenner stakes of $5,000 was won by F. P. Keene's Injunction, an added starter. Sir Voorhies took the lead at the start, with Grey Friar second and Reliable third. After going half a mile in these positions Reliable headed the others and held it into the stretch. There Injunction and Shorthose passed the Watercress colt, who took third from Grey Friar by half a length.

English Golfers Irresistible.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. — Continuing their irresistible golf, the visiting Oxford and Cambridge amateurs took their fourth big match since they arrived in the United States by defeating the all Chicago team on the Glenview Golf club links 7 to 4. Weather conditions and the course were ideal for record breaking golf, but there was an absence of brilliant performances, although the Englishmen, who succeeded in capturing their matches, earned their victories handily by superior short game play. Throngs followed the matches all day.

Dohertys Are Champions.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 20.—The Dohertys retained their hold on the national doubles championship by a brilliant straight set victory over Collins and Waidner, the challengers. Two of the most important factors in the victory were the service and the lobbing of the English pair. At the latter, which they have learned since last year, they were decidedly superior to the American team. The western team played much better tennis than when they defeated the eastern champions, Ward and Ware.

Orsina an Easy Winner.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Orsina galloped home the easiest kind of a winner of the mile and a sixteenth handicap at Hawthorne. The Giver finished second, two lengths in front of Huzzah. Bragg ran the poorest race he has shown this year and finished last. Eight of the best two-year-olds racing in the west hooked up in the sixth race, a five and a half furlong sprint. Don Domo proved the best of the lot and finished first, a length in front of Auditor. Peter Paul was third.

Bessie Anthony's Golf Play.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—Miss Bessie Anthony established a new woman's match play record for the Onwentsia course in the first round of the woman's tournament for the Onwentsia cup. In her match with Miss Elizabeth Young the western champion went around in 91, winning by 7 up, 6 to play. This cuts two strokes off the record, which Miss Anthony made earlier in the season.

Dan Patch Broke World's Record.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Dan Patch broke the world's record for pacers by pacing a mile in 1:56. It was a most magnificent performance and seemed an impossibility, the wind and track considered. There was a stiff breeze blowing, which struck the horses fairly in the face.

Favorites Made Good.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 20.—The second day of the August meet of the Lake Erie circuit was somewhat marred by a heavy track. Single K. and Lord Gentry were the favorites in the 2:15 trot and 2:15 pace respectively, and both made good.

To Help Cover Allen Default.

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—A gift of $1,000 toward the Methodist preachers' aid fund, recently wiped out by the defalcation of Willard S. Allen, the treasurer, from F. B. Webster of the Tremont Street Methodist church is announced. The fund pledged in aid of the society now amounts to $5,500.

Countess to Visit Sick Brother.

BERLIN, Aug. 20.—The purpose of the visit to America of Countess von Waldersee is to see her brother, who is seriously ill.

AUCTION SALE

50 CHOICE BUILDING LOTS

Saturday, August 22, at Half-past Two.

It is a well-known fact that, since the erection of the large factories in the western end of our city, the demand for houses in that section has been far beyond the supply. It is this fact that has led us to open up the large tract of land, part of which we will offer for sale at auction on Saturday, the 22nd, at 2:30 p. m. This property is beautifully situated on Rock Avenue, and running west. Third Street and South Avenue have been put through and four cross streets opened up, all graded to the city grade. The land is high and perfectly drained, is within a short distance of the Clinton Avenue Railroad Station, or is reached by trolley at Rock Ave. and Front St. City water and sewer are within easy reach.

We have no hesitation in calling your attention to the many handsome residences and attractive homes which have been erected in the western end of the city through our efforts and to which the rapid growth of Plainfield in this direction is largely due. Because of this growth, this property which we now offer will soon double in value, making the purchase of lots there an excellent investment; and because of the increase in valuation in the near future, this is your best opportunity to secure a Bargain Lot and begin to put money into a home. We offer these lots to Home-seekers and Investors on the

TENNIS.

This is the opening day of the championship singles tournament at the Cedar Brook Tennis Club. The tournament will be a handicap affair for club championship, and match play will be held each day until each player has met every other player. A silver officers' cup will go to the winner of the tournament.

GOLF.

The New Jersey golf team which is to meet the Englishmen, Saturday, Aug. 29, has not been selected as yet, but it is quite sure that Frank O. Reinhart, the Princeton boy, will be a member. In this connection the New York Tribune says: "The New Jersey Golf Association has tried to avoid selecting college players as far as possible, as was the case with the Metropolitan Golf Association, but in taking Reinhart and Conklin they take two boys who were born and raised in Plainfield and Newark, respectively. Reinhart holds the record of the Hillside Golf and Tennis Club, at 65."

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Somerville's Fight.

The trolley war between the town of Somerville and the Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company is one of those belligerent episodes growing out of relations between an aggressive corporation on the one side and a yielding, half-indifferent municipality on the other. The road was built on a Sunday, in absolute defiance of the township commissioners' officials refusal of a franchise, a thousand hands more or less, having been brought from Philadelphia and put to work while the Somerset people were at church. The matter was compromised by the trolley company being allowed its own way in every particular, and it showed its gratitude by charging two fares, ten cents, for the trip of four miles between Somerville and Bound Brook. After a time the company yielded a little and sold round-trip tickets at a reduced rate. The war referred to broke out when the company undertook to put up wooden poles in Somerville, where its franchise requires iron ones. The town authorities stopped the work, and the company stopped selling round-trip tickets. This is an opportune time for the Somerset citizens to teach the much-needed lesson that the trolleys are made for the people, not the people for the trolleys. Vigorous action on the part of the authorities would make the trolley company respectful and considerate there, even as it has in other New Jersey localities.—Newark News.

The Amendments.

The New Jersey State Civic Federation seems to have been considerably stirred up by editorials which have recently appeared in the Trenton True American and the New York Times condemning the methods prescribed by the Legislature for voting upon the proposed constitutional amendments. It is provided by the act that if one wishes to vote for the amendments he hands his ballot in unmarked if he wishes to vote against any particular amendment he writes the word "against" opposite such amendment, and if he does not desire to vote either for or against any one amendment he draws a line or lines through that particular amendment with black ink or pencil. This is denounced as a shrewd scheme to lessen the negative vote, and it is argued that in all probability because of the new method adopted at the coming election many ballots will not be counted at all which those depositing them meant should be counted in opposition.

The News does not for a moment believe that the men who prepared the amendments and drafted the law under which the election will be held plotted to deceive the voters. Neither does it believe that any man of sufficient intelligence to vote understandingly upon the amendments will lose his vote. At the same time, it is free to admit that, in its opinion, the method prescribed does not compare favorably, as regards simplicity, with the old method of printing the words "for" and "against" preceding each amendment, leaving it to the voter to cancel the word "for" if he wishes to vote against, and "against" if he wishes to vote for, while if he failed to cancel either word the ballot was not counted one way or the other.

The State Civic Federation asks: "What suggestion can be made which will alter the particular feature at issue?" Evidently it is too late to change the law. All that can be done is to give the widest publicity possible to the law and the method of voting that it prescribes, and then, perhaps, if the amendments are carried, to test the constitutionality of the law in the courts. — Newark Evening News.

Opposed to Amendments.

There is a good deal of more or less excited comment throughout the State on account of the so-called trick by which the champions of the pending Constitutional amendments insured, so far as they could, against their rejection at the polls next September. It is a pity to see so much temper shown, especially as we know that the gentlemen so unkindly designated as tricksters are well-meaning, patriotic Jerseymen who had no thought except to serve their State. And the moralists and philosophers tell us that it is the motive—the intention—that counts.

'Tis true that the ballots have been so framed as to make it easy for an illiterate, or even a drunken man, to vote for the amendments, whereas one must be able to write in order to vote against them. 'Tis true that most people are so lazy that they will follow the method involving least trouble and labor. And 'tis doubtless true that this arrangement of the ballot is as illegal as it is extraordinary and unprecedented.

But what of it? Are we to be forever the slaves of precedent? Is not the public necessity paramount to ordinary regulations, laws, or Constitutional provisions? And the advocates of the amendments declare these to be necessary to the continued welfare and prosperity of the State. Only through their adoption and the appointment of the right kind of a Court of Appeals can the uneasiness of the great trusts and corporations be allayed. At present they know not what day the Supreme Court or the Court of Errors and Appeals may interfere with their ways of doing business. And the Legislature cannot be depended on, as witness how it refused to pass a law last winter protecting corporations from litigation on the part of minority stockholders.

With a brand-new Court of Appeals, composed of picked men, the situation would be entirely different. Demagogues might rage and fume but it would avail them nothing. And if by accident an anti-Trust Government were elected he could not, except in the case of death, appoint a majority of the Court.—Newark Truth.

The Shark Landlord.

The police have been called upon several times during the week to protect strangers from being fleeced and imposed upon by conscienceless hotel keepers. These hotel keepers, and it is well to say there are but a few of them, are sharks among the hotel circle, and ought to be haled into court for punishment. The worst offense that is committed is by the hotel man who demands a week's board if the trunk is only landed in the house and the owner of it has arranged to go elsewhere. It is well enough to collect a day's board for the room for holding it, but it seems to be a grievous imposition to force the payment of a week's tariff. In order to recover the money so paid under protest, a suit has to be started in the civil court and it requires time and money to press it to a conclusion, a condition which favors the protection of the hotel sharks as few of the visitors will go to the trouble and expense of law suits to secure their rights.—Atlantic City Gazette.

The U. S. Senatorial Contest.

The question whether Major Lentz is really in favor of Senator Kean's election, or has a secret leaning toward Governor Murphy, is supposed to have a large influence upon the approaching struggle in the Essex County primaries—an issue which should have no relation whatever to candidates for the Senatorship. The nomination for State Senator and Assemblymen throughout the State are being influenced by the same impending struggle for the Senatorship, although the election is a year and a half away. In other words, the State's interests and the interests of all the localities are being injured in many different ways by the Senatorial election, and the effect lasts for two or three years, until about the time for the next struggle to renew the trouble. The condition always exists in the party having a majority in the State for the time being, and it is submitted that it forms one of the best arguments for the change in the system of electing Senators.—Newark Sunday Call.

NO OPPOSITION TO TRACTION COMPANY

Street Railway Line Will be Opened Between This City and New Brunswick.

THROUGH METUCHEN

RIGHTS OF WAY ALREADY SECURED OVER MUCH OF THE DISTANCE.

Public Service Corporation Will Not Oppose the Running of the Lines Into Plainfield, According to Manager Walsh.

The Middlesex and Somerset Traction Company, which is rapidly securing rights of way to open a trolley line between this city, Metuchen and Perth Amboy, is securing grants of land along the proposed route without any opposition whatever. Manager Thomas A. Walsh, of the New Brunswick line, said this morning to a reporter for The Daily Press that the published reports that the Raritan Traction Company has made an attempt to secure rights of way in Metuchen and along a certain route from that town to Plainfield are pure fiction. He said:

"We have been at work quietly securing the grants. It is our intention to operate a line between Plainfield and New Brunswick through Metuchen. As regards the published article to the effect that the Public Service Corporation which operates lines in Plainfield is opposed to the running of our line into the town, it is all nonsense:

"We have secured rights of way over a good part of the distance between Metuchen and Plainfield. We are going slowly so as to avoid suits. I cannot say when we will start work on the construction of the road but as soon as the route has been secured the work will be pushed forward to completion so that the road will be operating next summer."

Instead of running to Oak Tree and connecting there with the local lines, The Daily Press in May stated on the authority of Edward H. Radel, the secretary of the Middlesex and Somerset line, that the lines would connect at the end of the Park avenue road where the turn is made towards Hillside Cemetery. Mr. Radel said at that time if a franchise could not be secured at Oak Tree to pass through the town the line would be run through to New Market, which is in Middlesex County, and would connect with the local tracks at Dunellen.

So far as the officials in New Brunswick are concerned they know of no effort on the part of the Perth Amboy road to run a line between Metuchen and Plainfield. Mr. Walsh said he thought it decidedly improbable that such is the case.

SUCCESSFUL DETECTIVE.

Isaac Bird Died Suddenly of Heart Failure Wednesday at His Westfield Home.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, August 21—Isaac Bird, 72 years old, for many years a well-known and very successful private detective in New York City, died suddenly Wednesday morning at his home, 52 Clark street. He was ill only an hour, death resulting from heart trouble.

Mr. Bird was born in New York City. A little more than a year ago he gave up his profession of detective and with his wife and daughter moved to Westfield, in the home of Moses B. Prout. Mr. Bird was prominently identified with Grace Chapel in 14th street, New York, and contributed generously towards its support.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock from the late home in Clark street and from Grace Chapel tomorrow morning. The interment will be at Woodlawn Cemetery.

Portrait for State House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 21—New Jersey is soon to add to its collection of portraits of Governors a fine picture of Joseph Bloomfield, who was the Chief Executive of the Commonwealth from 1803 to 1812. Charles A. Bloomfield, a nephew of the former Governor, visited the State House yesterday to offer the picture to Gov. Murphy. Secretary John L. Swayze assured him that the gift would be much appreciated. The State now owns pictures of thirteen of the former Governors.

Game With Camp Onaway—Other Doings at Lake Hopatcong.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

"Camp Hope," Lake Hopatcong, Aug. 21—After having read with considerable interest of the manner in which the "swells" of Newport camp in their cottages, the members of "Camp Hope" begin to feel that they are much more comfortable and having a much more joyous time. They claim that there is nothing to compare with the strenuous life at camp. Notwithstanding that it poured in torrents for five hours on Wednesday night, the boys all kept perfectly dry in the tents. Some were caught in the rain at Nolan's Point and "Bert" Banks, who attended a hop at the Breslin Hotel, was obliged to row a distance of four miles on the lake on the return to camp. He wore nature's attire and did not mind the drenching received.

The boys had another game of baseball yesterday, playing the team from "Camp Onaway" for the second time. The contest was broken off in the fourth inning. A wild pitch by "Lefty" Texier sent the ball through a window, valued at $1.65. A free fight followed and there was a bitter argument as to who should pay for the window.

Alfred Berry Marsh has received the prize offered by Judge Runyon to the most successful "lady winner."

SURVIVED TWO SOLDIERS.

Mrs. Horn Who Died Yeaterday Twice Married Union Officers.

Mrs. Fanny Capron Horn, widow of Major Edward F. Young, of the N. Y. heavy artillery, and provost marshal of the defenses South of the Potomac, and of First Lieutenant Daniel Tieman Horn, N. Y. heavy artillery, died yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Sattels, of East Sixth street, following a lingering illness. Her two husbands served together as close friends in the War of the Rebellion.

Mrs. Horn is survived by three children, Mrs. Joseph Sattels, of East Sixth street, a son, Captain Tieman Horn, U. S. Artillery, stationed at Fort Schuyler, and an unmarried daughter, Miss Bessie Horn, also of this city.

The funeral services will be held this evening at 8 o'clock from the late home and the interment will be at Hillside Cemetery.

NO INCREASE IN BOROUGH TAX RATE

So Mayor Smalley Announces As Result of Meetings of Borough Council.

FULFILLS HIS PROMISE

HAD SAID ON ACCEPTING OFFICE THAT RATE WOULD NOT BE RAISED.

Assessed Value of Property Increased and Appropriations for Fire and Police Lowered to Make up for Loss of Stock.

It was authoratively given out today that the tax rate in North Plainfield will not be increased this year, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The work of the members of the Common Council in going over the books of Assessor Elston M. French was completed last evening and changes were made in some of the assessed valuations of property. This will make up the deficiency caused by the action of A. J. Brunson in withdrawing from the borough 861 shares of the stock of the First National Bank, of this city, and transfering them to Atlantic County.

Some of the property in the borough has been increased in value and this, coupled with the fact that reductions of $500 were made in both the fire and police appropriations, brings the tax rate down to the same figure as last year.

The increase in assessed valuations will come upon the new buildings which have recently been erected in the borough. In speaking of the action of the Council today, Mayor Smalley said:

"There will be no increase in the borough tax. If there is any increase it will be due to an advance in the County rate or in the school tax. When I took the office of Mayor this last term I promised the people that their taxes would be kept down and I still intend to adhere to that promise. The rate will remain the same even if it is necessary to cut down the expenses still more."

4,000 AUTO LICENSES.

Granted in New Jersey Since March —Many for Delivery Trucks.

Since March 23 last, licenses for the use of automobiles in this State have been granted in the State Secretary's office at Trenton at the rate of 30 a day. By September 1, it is estimated there will be 4,000 licenses in operation in the State.

Licenses are being granted not alone for pleasure vehicles but for auto-trucks, and the number of the latter seems to be on the increase in the past few weeks. The first license for an auto-truck was granted about a month ago, and since then 200 have been granted. Most of these truck licenses are asked for by New York houses which send the machines to deliver goods through the State.

Under the law which was passed March 23, regarding licenses, the revocation of licenses is very difficult This law seems to suit owners of autos very well, and will be held up as an example by adjoining States. It levies only one tax instead of exacting an annual fee as is done in some other States.

Entertained Philadelphia Girl.

In honor of Miss Katherine Williams, of Philadelphia, fourteen friends assembled last evening at the home of George Madden, on West Fifth street. A pleasant evening was spent by the young people in playing games and partaking of refreshments. Miss Williams has been visiting at the Maddens for a week and will return to Philadelphia tomorrow.

N. B. Consumption of Milk.

All Kinds of Amusements at Labor Day Shoot and Picnic of Independent Gun Club.

Great preparations are under way for the Labor Day events at the Independent Gun Club at their grounds on Maple avenue. It was announced yesterday that prizes amounting to $250 will be the cash awards to winners of the events at the targets, traps and in fancy shooting. The medals for the last year will be distributed and among them will be 10 gold ones to the winners of the special contests.

A picnic will be another feature of the day. The festivities at the grounds will begin early in the morning and will last until evening, when it is probable that dancing will be enjoyed. Visitors are expected from out of town and many members of the Singing Society Aurora, of New Brunswick, have promised to be present as guests of the local members. The committee having in charge the arrangements for the day's events consists of Matthias Menzenbach, Frank Schaeffer and Otto Barry, and the officers of the club.

ROBBED BY COMRADE.

South Plainfield Drunk Discovered in Uncomfortable Position—Fleeced of His Money.

In passing the church horse sheds in South Plainfield at about half past nine last night, William Hamilton, of that place, heard low groans coming from a wagon under the sheds. Investigation revealed a man, stupidly drunk, wedged on the wagon in such a position that his foot was jammed under the seat while his head and shoulders rested on the ground. After some time, Hamilton succeeded in removing the man from his painful position and learning that he had been placed there by a comrade who had driven with him from Rahway, robbed him of all his money and fled. Hamilton took the stranger to Higgins' Hotel where he was cared for over night.

FOR COLORED PEOPLE.

Special Services Next Week—Rev. Geo. F. Bragg, Jr., to Speak.

Announcement has been made of a special series of services to be held under the auspices of the Colored Mission of Grace P. E. Church on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week. These services which are for the colored people only will be under the immediate direction of Rev. Geo. F. Bragg, Jr., of Baltimore, Md. Mr. Bragg is a colored minister of considerable experience and is at present rector of a church in Baltimore. His work among his own people in Atlantic City has met with much commendation.

Delayed Announcement.

Newton Kane, of West Third street, and Miss May Staggard, of Cedar street, North Plainfield, were married by Rev. Father Miller, of St. Joseph's R. C. Church, six weeks ago but the announcement was not made until yesterday. Martin Whalen and Miss Maggie Kane, both of this city, were the best man and bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Kane will reside on West Third street.

DRIVING PARK TO BE USED FOR POLO

Players Will Mount Horse for Games Probably as Early as Next Spring.

THE APPLICATION MADE

TROLLEY COMPANY TO RUN CARS TO GROUNDS NEXT SPRING?

Former Councilman George P. Mellick Leader for Polo ists—Mayor Smalley Talks—Grounds to be Graded as Soon as Possible.

Former Councilman George Mellick has made application to the officials of the Plainfield Driving Park for permission to locate polo grounds in the center of the circle made by the track. The officials of the driving park think well of the matter and it is said that the permit will in all probability be granted.

In speaking of the matter today one of the members of the driving association assured the reporter who saw him that polo and horse racing will be attracions at the park this fall and next spring. He said that there are a large number of expert horsemen in this city who would join a polo club and make such a game a large drawing card for the park. It is believed that Mr. Mellick speaks for a number of Plainfielders who are members of some of the New York polo clubs.

Mayor N. B. Smalley, of North Plainfield, made the announcement that the local trolley officials had promised him that the matter of extending the Arlingtnon avenue line to the driving park would receive their attention and that no doubt the line will be ready for next spring's attractions.

It is said that work in levelling off the interior of the track will be begun as soon as the officials of the driving association act upon the application. It will be graded and put in fine condition and it is probable that the first games will be played next spring.

FATHER EGAN DINED.

Entertained Distinguished Guests on His Forty-Eighth Birthday.

Rev. Father Egan, of St. Mary's R. C. Church, yesterday entertained at dinner Bishop O'Connor, of Newark and Right Rev. Monsignor O'Grady, of New Brunswick, in honor of his forty-eighth birthday which occurs today. Bishop O'Connor presided at the feast and acted as toastmaster. Today Father Egan visited the grave of his mother at South Orange, as has been his custom for many years.

Father Egan has completed twenty-three years in the priesthood and in 1905 he hopes to celebrate his silver jubilee.

Among those present were: Very Rev. John Shepherd, V. G., Jersey City; Right Rev. Monsignor Stafford, President Seton Hall College, Very Rev. Dean Flynn, Morristown; Revs. J. M. Nardiello, Bloomfield, A. Mc Manus, Newark, I. P. Whelan, Bayonne, T. Wallace, Diocesan Chancellor, South Orange, S. Hedges, Chatham, W. Westman, Cranford, Father Miller, North Plainfield, J. Dittrich, Bound Brook, J. Dunphy, Dunellen, and Leonardo Frederice, Bloomfield.

Middlesex County Board.

At a meeting of the Middlesex County Board of Elections, held yesterday afternoon, the lists of the District Election Board officers were found to be not complete, and the Board adjourned to meet at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, August 25, when the appointments will be made. At that time the papers will be named for the publication of the notices of election. If the officers are not named on that day the Board has until August 28 to make the appointments under the law.

FILLING IN MEADOW LAND

SQUARE MILE MADE INTO SOLID GROUND BY CENTRAL RAILROAD.

Task of Redeeming Land in New York Bay Will be Completed in Eighteen Months.

Within the next eighteen months the Central Railroad of New Jersey will have completed its task of redeeming its rivarian land in New York Bay off the foot of Communipaw avenue, Jersey City. The plans for the work were completed in 1900 and included the filling in of the tide-water flats at Communipaw south and east of the Central's property fronting on New York Bay. To date over one square mile of rivarian land has been redeemed. There is still another square mile to be filled in before the work will be completed.

The filling in yet to be done is from a point directly off the foot of Communipaw avenue to a point over a quarter of a mile out into the bay and thence to a point two or three hundred feet from the National Docks and Black Tom Island. The filling in will not extend to the National Docks, it having been deemed advisable to leave a shipway between these redeemed lands and the docks.

The work, when consummated, will be even more important in its bearing than is generally supposed. It will give the railroad company more than a mile and a half of water frontage and will enable the company to build piers on the redeemed land and lay many miles of track. Plans are being prepared for a series of large piers adapted and equipped for the quick handling of freight direct between ocean steamships and cars, as well as furnishing storage and warehouse facilities.

A small army of men, six or seven dredges and half a dozen dummy engines are required to do the work of filling in. No garbage or refuse whatever is being used. Contractor Taylor, who is superintending the work, intends to have the filled-in portion as solid as possible.

HE IS A HOLLANDER.

Mr. Tulp Has Had Varied Career Preceding Training for Ministry.

Mr. A. P. Tulp, who is the regular supply at Marcounier Chapel, and who has been occupying the pulpit at Trinity Reformed Church during the absence of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, has had a somewhat varied career for a young man. His full name is Aike Peter Tulp and his parents are true Hollanders, his father being born at Groningen and his mother at Alkmaar, Holland. Mr. Tulp was born in New York City, and attended Public School No. 17, on 46th street, near Sixth avenue, New York. He afterward secured a clerkship in O'Neil's dry goods store. While working there a daughter of the proprietor of the store took a deep interest in him and at her expense he pursued a course of study in Amity Theological Seminary, New York. After graduating he continued his studies at Rutgers Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, where he is at present preparing for a life in the ministry. He has much ability and a bright and successful future is apparently before him.

Woman on a Rampage.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, Aug. 21—Ellen Burns, of Barnett and East Grand streets, while under the influence of liquor visited Mandeville's Buttonwood Inn for more drink, which the bartender refused to let her have, at which she went home, got a basket of eggs, most of them quite ancient, returned and decorated the bar and all in the place with the eggs. Several undertook to eject her and were knocked down. Returning home, a man undertook to quiet her, and though he is tall and powerfully built, she not only knocked him down but pounded his head and face in a frightful manner. Policeman Langdon was called in and, with the assistance of four men, succeeded in getting a pair of handcuffs on her and took her to the station house, where she was arraigned before Judge Lambert on the charge of breach of the peace, and sent to the County Jail for ninety days.

Patrick Quinn Dead.

Patrick Quinn died yesterday at his home at 1010 West Third street, after a long illness from pulmonary trouble. He was thirty-four years old and is survived by a wife and child. The funeral service will be conducted tomorrow morning from the late residence at 8:15 o'clock, and from St. Mary's R. C. Church at 8, where a requiem mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. The interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

NORTH PLAINFIELD CONCERT ASSURED

Enough Money Has Been Obtained to Pay for Services of Enlarged Band.

PLANS FOR NEXT YEAR

TWELVE CONCERTS MAY BE GIVEN FOR WHICH $1,000 WILL BE NEEDED.

Fair May be Held Thanksgiving Week to Raise Funds—Prospect of Similar Bazaar on This Side of the Brook.

Announcement was made this morning by Bandmaster Benjamin LaVere that the necessary amount has been subscribed by the people of North Plainfield for the band concert, Saturday evening, August 29. A sufficient amount has been raised to secure the services of a larger band and a week from tomorrow night there will be eighteen musicians working instead of fifteen. Active steps will be taken at once towards the erection of the band stand. The structure in the City Park will be taken down tomorrow and will be put up at the corner of Watchung and Fairview avenues.

In order to insure band concerts next year during the months of June, July, August and perhaps September, $1,000 is needed. This amount will be raised at a fair which is to be arranged by Mr. LaVere. Saengerbund Hall has been secured for the purpose for the week preceding next Thanksgiving day.

A bazaar may possibly be held in this city also for the purpose of raising money for concerts providing the Common Council sees fit to encourage the project when it makes its appropriations. It is expected that the money for the borough concerts will be in the hands of the bandmaster before spring. If the amount is secured, twelve concerts will be given.

The members of the North Plainfield Common Council, while unable to appropriate a sum of money, interested themselves in the concert fund and subscribed to various amounts. The list was headed by Mayor Smalley.

TOO MUCH TROLLEY.

Congestion of Cars on Watchung Avenue Caused An Accident—Mrs. Everest Thrown From Carriage.

Another argument in favor of changing the location of the Watchung avenue trolley station was presented yesterday afternoon in an accident which befell Mrs. R. R. Everest, of 622 East Seventh street. Mrs. Everest was driving through that avenue, between Peterson's greenhouses and the house occupied by Mrs. Amy Lorton, 208 Watchung avenue, at a time when all of the trolley cars were at the switch; and in trying to avoid colliding with a boy on a bicycle, was forced to drive up on the curb.

The wheels of her carriage struck a trolley pole. The carriage was overturned and Mrs. Everest thrown out. She was assisted to the home of Mrs. Lorton and Dr. Albert Pittis was called in. The physician made a thorough examination, discovering that his patient was suffering from several cuts and bruises and a nervous shock. She was unconscious for nearly an hour. Mrs. Lorton assisted Dr Pittis in every way possible in making the injured woman comfortable and later she was well enough to be taken home. Her injuries are not considered serious. There was no damage to the rig, and the horse was uninjured.

Speedy Canoeist.

Canoe races have been one of the leading events at Deal Lake during the past week and Louis Waters, of this city, has on two occasions won second prize. In Monday's events the winner was Wm. Cathcart, of the University of Pennsylvania team. There were six entries in the quarter-mile race and in that and the half-mile event Waters captured second place. The prize was a silver canoe paddle.

Meeting of Alis Club.

An important meeting of the Alis Club will be held this evening at the clubhouse on Arlington avenue. It is probable that matters pertaining to baseball and football will be discussed. Roy Phillips has been chosen captain of the football team for the coming season.

Soldiers Gathering.

The eighteenth annual reunion of the Ninth N. J. Vols., will be held at Trenton, September 16.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

The line of women's suitings at the Paris Cloak Store in West Front street, is of exceptional quality and value. Mr. Fass carries only the best goods, whether it be a suit, separate skirt or shirt waist.

If you have not already purchased a suitable summer hat it is not yet too late. Bonn, the West Front street milliner, is offering an attractive line at low prices. He also makes hats to suit your own particular taste.

It will soon be time to send the children to school and it will be necessary to have them provided with good substantial shoes. John H. Doane, of West Front street, has just the kind for the best wear and least money.

If your garden needs care when you return from your vacation you will save money by consulting C. L. Stanley, of North avenue. He is an experienced florist and can put the front and back yards in a fertile condition.

Why women will go to New York for the purpose of having gowns made is hardly to be understood when it is known that in this city is a dressmaker who makes a specialty of doing ladies' tailoring. His store is located at 430 Watchung avenue.

Complete bedroom suits in all styles and at all prices are for sale at Powlison & Jones' East Front street furniture store. These suits consist of bedstead, bureau, washstand and chairs—all of the latest models. Brass bedsteads, too, all designs and prices. Headquarters for porch furniture.

No one can know of the low prices which exist at R. W. Barnes' store until a visit is made. Fruits and vegetables, groceries and table delicacies are to be found there at prices surprisingly low. One order placed wih Barnes gives satisfaction and more than one order brings contentment.

The trade at Hill & Shupp's store during August has been a record-breaker. The firm is offering bargains in every department and the goods have been quickly disposed of at very low prices. All summer goods must be sold to make room for the fall and winter stock which will arrive within a short time, and this is the most advantageous time to buy this season's goods.

Werner's West Front street clothing house is still continuing the sale of trousers which attracted so many men to the store when it opened. These trousers are of excellent quality and are made up in the latest styles. They are there at all prices but each pair is one-third cheaper than regularly. It will pay you to look over the assortment before purchasing—sooner the better, for they are not guaranteed to be there forever.

DeWitt Is the Name.

When you go to buy Witch Hazel Salve look for the name DeWitt on every box. The pure, unadulterated Witch Hazel is used in making DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which is the best salve in the world for cuts, burns, bruises, boils, eczema and piles. The popularity of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, due to its many cures, has caused numerous worthless counterfeits to be placed on the market. The genuine bears the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Mrs. George A. Lane, of Raritan, is a guest of Mrs. P. H. Latourette, of East Fifth street.

Paul Beardsley, of Millstone, has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Geo. White, of Washington Park.

Up the Hudson.

History teaches us that Hudson, in his trip up the river which bears his name, was highly pleased with the marvelous scenic surroundings. Were he to make the trip today words would not express his delight, for in addition to nature's handiwork the embellishments by man have made the Hudson one of the grandest spots in the country. The New Jersey Central will run in connection with Steamer St. Johns a popular-priced excursion up the Hudson on Aug. 26, 1603. Rate to be $1 and train will leave Plainfield at 8:46 a. m. Fare for children half of above rate. St. Johns is one of the famous Sandy Hook Fleet and is the best appointed and fastest excursion boat in the harbor. 8 18 7

English Golfers' Trophies.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—J. A. T. Bramston, premier guttapercha ball golfer of the Oxford-Cambridge golf team, celebrated the last day of the Englishmen's western trip at the Homewood Country club's links by winning two silver cups and breaking all competition and practice records of the course. He captured the trophies in the first medal score event the Britons have played in since their arrival, with a total of seventy-five strokes, two strokes lower than the second cup winning score of his Oxonian team mate, H. W. Beveridge, who made a seventy-seven. Several Chicago golfers who played in the competition made good scores, but had little chance with the best of the Britons.

Gold Saint Got the Albany.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The track was inches deep in mud, and there was an abundance of scratches. The stake feature was the Albany, a handicap for two-year-olds at six furlongs. J. P. Kraner's Gold Saint, a chestnut colt by Golden Garter, took an early lead of two lengths and was never headed, winning by four lengths. Yellow Hammer, the favorite, finished seventh. The first race, which was for horses which have run and not won at this meeting, was won by James R. Keene's Futurita, a 30 to 1 shot. Claude in the second was the only winning favorite.

Brancas Won by a Neck.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 21.—Little Scout, an odds on favorite, won the feature of the card at Kinloch park. Taby Tosa was second and Orris third. The best performance came in the fifth race, at seven furlongs, for two-year-olds. Brancas, at 3 to 5, won by a neck. He got away last. At the quarter pole he was third, where he remained to the sixteenth pole. In the stretch he engaged Hugh McGowan, which had set the pace, and a hard drive ensued. Brancas getting to the wire first.

St. Lawrence Steamer Burned.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 20.—The steamer Massena, owned by Captain Frank Dana of Alexandria Bay, has been burned to the water's edge. For fifteen years the Massena has run between Ogdensburg and the Thousand islands daily. The crew escaped in their night clothes and the cook and deck hands were badly burned while running through the flames from the forecastle. The loss is $12,000, insurance $6,800. The vessel was built at Buffalo in 1878.

Insiguares is Governor.

COLON, Colombia, Aug. 21.—General Jose Insiguares was installed governor of the department of Bolivar, to which post he was nominated in succession to Dr. Joachim Velez. The monthly shipments of silver and gold from Medellin have dropped this month from $150,000 to $34,000, partly as a consequence of the excessive export duties.

RACE DECLARED OFF

Reliance and Shamrock III. In Drifting Contest.

ISELIN'S FLIER TWO MILES AHEAD.

Time Limit Expired While the White Winged Yachts Drifted Over a Calm Sea Toward the Half Course Mark.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Though a fairly auspicious start was made, there was no race for the America's cup. At the expiration of the time limit of five and a half hours during which the race must be sailed the contending yachts were still within sight of the turning buoy that marks half of the course.

The defender had turned it, but the challenger was still half a mile off when the race was officially called off.

The Reliance, hope and pride of the American people, was fully two miles ahead when the race ended practically in a fizzle, due to lack of wind. The defender had in this first struggle with the Shamrock III. shown herself the superior of the challenger in light air and in drifting. Her showing was so much better than Sir Thomas Lipton's craft in every point that interest seemed to flag very considerably in the long, monotonous beat down the New Jersey coast.

When the preliminary gun was fired both boats were about half a mile to the south of the committee boat, where Reliance blanketed and then passed Shamrock.

The warning signal was given at 10:55, and promptly at 11 o'clock the starting gun was fired.

Reliance was running down the line on the port tack, with Shamrock a short distance astern. At the starting signal Reliance jibed and headed for the line. Shamrock came about on Reliance's weather and also headed for the line. Shamrock was first to cross. Both boats were on the starboard tack with flattened sheets, Reliance a little to windward of Shamrock's wake and a few hundred yards astern.

Little by little, almost imperceptibly, Reliance seemed to gain on her adversary. Soon after the start the yachts ran into a drenching rainstorm, which for a time threatened to make unavailable the little wind there was, but the sky soon cleared, bringing about a slight shift in the wind, so that the yachts could head within two points of the mark.

When they made their first tack Shamrock III. was to leeward and astern a few hundred yards. Then for the first time the British challenger gave the admirers of the defender a bad scare. Without apparent reason she began to foot faster than the Reliance, passed to leeward of her and drew away ahead, but still to leeward. It looked for a moment as though she was going to show her heels to the slick craft which was carrying the hopes of all Americans, but when she came about and the two boats met the admirers of the Reliance discovered that, while the challenger had been outfooting her, the American craft had been outpointing the challenger and had even increased her lead.

Three and a half hours after the start it was evident that the race could not be finished within the time limit. The Reliance had steadily gained and was then a good two miles dead ahead of her rival, when observers noted that Shamrock III. had caught a little slant of wind from the west and was cutting down the lead. The Reliance promptly went about when a mile away from the turn and, catching the westerly wind, scurried away for the mark at almost a racing pace. The wind continued to freshen until she swept around the mark at 3:37:20, heeling to a smart northwest breeze and giving the first real exhibition of her speed.

The defender hauled on the wind for a close reach back to the finish line, saluted by the whistles of the big fleet. Shamrock III. was coming on at a fast clip to meet the returning defender, but she had been so far astern that it was eight minutes after the Reliance turned the mark before the racers met going in opposite directions, indicating that the Reliance's actual lead was sixteen minutes. Just at that moment the regatta committee's tug displayed the signal "The race is off," and Shamrock III. came about and followed Reliance a short distance. They were taken in tow of tugs, and the fleet, hurrying homeward, quickly dropped them.

The admirers of the Reliance are jubilant because the American yacht demonstrated that in extremely light airs and unusually rough water she could show her heels to the British challenger, and those were the conditions believed to be the severest test of the Herreshoff boat.

One of the biggest crowds of sightseers and yachtsmen that ever sailed down to Sandy Hook to witness an attempt of a foreign mug hunter to wrest from America the yachting supremacy of the world returned to New York disappointed because the sea had refused a field of combat to the racers, but nevertheless jubilant in the conviction that Sir Thomas Lipton's latest challenger, like the two Shamrocks which had preceded her, was doomed to return to England empty handed.

Sir Thomas Lipton was the first of the owners to return, coming back on the Erin with his 100 or more guests. He was busy, but stopped to say: "No, I am not in the least disappointed with my boat or its efforts. The wind was so variable neither boat had a good chance, and particularly mine with the smaller sail area. Wait till we get a good breeze."

The captains of both boats refused to talk. Mr. Iselin said: "We are perfectly satisfied. We always have been."

TURKS FEAR FLEET

Porte Has Accepted All Russia's Demands.

WANTS THE SQUADRON WITHDRAWN

Opinion Is That Time Has Arrived For Vigorous Intervention—Weakness of Sultan's Measures Has Caused the Present Rising.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 21.—Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish foreign minister, has visited the Russian ambassador, notified him that the Turkish government accepted all the Russian demands and begged that the Russian squadron be withdrawn from Turkish waters.

The news of the impending arrival of the Russian squadron is spreading notwithstanding the continued suppression of all telegrams and announcements on the subject. The general opinion of the Europeans here is that the time has arrived for a vigorous intervention and the abandonment of all semimeasures, which are regarded as the cause of the present rising.

The headquarters of the revolutionists are in the Perieteri mountains, in the vicinity of Monastir. Women and children are not molested by the insurgents, who have destroyed only fortified dwellings occupied by rich Turks. It is not denied that they kill all Bulgarians found acting as Turkish spies, but the strictest orders have been issued not to interfere with women and children.

The Austrian and Russian consuls at Uskub have requested the vali to court martial the officers and soldiers who fired on and killed several Bulgarian workmen who were repairing the railroad line near Uskub. The vali declined all responsibility in the matter and said he would refer the consuls' request to Hilmi Pasha, the inspector general of Macedonia.

The Bulgarian agent at Salonika reports that arrivals from the centers of disturbance assert that not a single Turkish village has been burned.

The Greek patriarch has asked the Bulgarian exarch to address a circular note to the Bulgarian ministers and schoolteachers in Macedonia urging them to remain quiet and not to fight against the sultan.

The exarch replied that he was sorry that he was not in a position to serve the sultan. As all the Bulgarian ministers and teachers had been cast into prison and the churches and schools were closed, his voice could not be heard there; only the sounds of guns were audible.

Fugitive families from Krushevo who have arrived at Monastir give terrible details of the situation which prevailed in the town of Krushevo after its capture by the Turks. The latter, they say, acted like fiends, running from house to house and street to street, slaughtering everybody they met. The town is now a heap of ruins.

The Sofia Post has printed a strong article urging the Bulgarians to prepare for war immediately, as delay can benefit only Turkey. Bulgaria has no need to fear the great powers, as it would not be in their interest to allow Roumania to interfere in the conflict. The chief endeavor of the powers would be to localize the war.

A dispatch from Burgas says the town of Vasiliko, thirty miles south of Burgas, and the villages of Urunkoi and Poturnakovo are in flames and that the sound of cannon can plainly be heard from the Bulgarian frontier.

M. Ralli, the Greek premier and foreign minister, has communicated to the representatives of the powers at Athens the gist of the reports made by Greek consuls in Macedonia in which it is stated that the Greek church schools and 322 houses belonging to Greeks at Kesthchero have been blown up by dynamite and burned and that a number of Greek subjects have been killed.

M. Ralli has appealed to the powers to terminate the excesses in Macedonia, from which, he says, the Greeks are greater sufferers than the Bulgarians and Turks.

Although a week ago the Macedonian revolutionary committee notified the foreign consuls at Monastir that they were no longer able to prevent reprisals in vengeance for the Turkish atrocities, Boris Sarafoff, the Bulgarian leader, has now addressed a circular to the Turkish notables in behalf of the committee announcing that the insurgents will not attack the peaceful Turkish population except in self defense.

The Russian squadron has arrived off Iniada, on the eastern coast of European Turkey.

It is officially reported that a strong band of insurgents has been captured near Florina and that the peasants are surrendering their arms.

Turkey to Have a Free Hand.

VIENNA, Aug. 21.—Count Goluchowski had a long conference with M. Sturdza, the Roumanian premier, on the Macedonian question. It is reported that Count Goluchowski declared that if Bulgaria went to war the powers would give Turkey a free hand. King Peter of Servia is said to have presided over a war council held at Belgrade to discuss eventualities in the Balkans.

Falling Scaffold Kills Three.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 21.—A large scaffold in the new building under course of erection as an annex to the Joseph Horne company building fell. There were ten men on the scaffold, three of whom have been taken out dead.

Train Killed Father and Daughter.

BUFFALO, Aug. 21.—Miles Loop, a prosperous farmer, aged sixty-seven, was killed at Eldred, Pa., by being struck by a train. His daughter Belle was fatally injured, dying later.

GOOD WEARING CARPETS.

In Carpets, just like in lots of other lines of merchandise, the buyer is at the mercy of the seller. Few carpet buyers know carpet values; qualities are hard to carry in the eye—might as well try to carry a football there.

It's this fact that makes us use the greatest care in selling carpets, just the same as when we buy them. If you're a carpet customer here it's your privilege to know everything about the carpet you are buying; we've gone to the bottom of things in carpets and it's our pleasure to protect you as to qualities.

BLACK IS CHIEF.

Grand Army Will Meet Next Year In Boston.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 21.—The Grand Army of the Republic has selected Boston as the place in which the encampment of 1904 will be held and elected the following officers:

Commander in chief, General John C. Black of Illinois; senior vice commander, Colonel C. Mason Keene of California; junior vice commander, Colonel Harry Kessler of Montana; surgeon in chief, George A. Harmon of Ohio; chaplain in chief, Winfield Scott of Arizona.

Two conventions of kindred organizations have been those of the Woman's Relief corps and of the Ladies of the Grand Army.

The discovery of Miss Sarah Brown of Santa Clara county, in this state, daughter of John Brown of Harpers Ferry fame, among the visitors to the encampment afforded the visiting delegates of the Grand Army of the Republic an opportunity to extend their congratulations to her, and she received a hearty greeting.

BOWEN SPEAKS.

Cannot Understand Germany's Attacks on Von Sternburg.

BERLIN, Aug. 21.—The Lokal Anzeiger has published an interview with Herbert W. Bowen, the United States minister to Venezuela, in the course of which Mr. Bowen is reported to have said that he did not regard it as peculiar that he should represent two countries before The Hague tribunal.

"Neither does my government," he said. "I go where I am sent, be it to the north pole. I take the part only of the weak against the strong. I cannot understand the attacks of the German press on Baron von Sternburg. I learned to know him as a clever diplomatist and an excellent upholder of German interests.

"It almost seems," Mr. Bowen is reported to have continued, "that the friendship that America feels for Baron von Sternburg is regarded in Germany as a sin."

A Trade Policy.

MONTREAL, Aug. 21.—The congress of chambers of commerce of the British empire adopted a resolution providing that a recommendation be made to his majesty's government to appoint a commission consisting of representatives of the empire and the colonies to consider the adoption of a commercial policy within the British empire which shall materially strengthen it and which shall be based upon the principle of mutual benefit and by which the components of the British empire shall receive substantial benefits in trade. The resolution was introduced by Lords Strathcona and Brassey.

Wilmes Murder Still a Mystery.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 21.—So skillfully has the slayer of little Alphonse Wilmes obscured his tracks that it is now generally believed that the crime will go unpunished. Charles F. Edwards, the suspect, is still held at police headquarters and will not be released, it is said, until after the police have learned whether or not he was in the vicinity of Rockford, Ill., at the time of the child murder which took place in that city a few weeks ago.

Barnum May Be In Walloon Lake.

PETOSKEY, Mich., Aug. 21.—Albert W. Barnum, a Chicago lawyer, who has a summer house at Castle Air Point, on Walloon lake, is missing and it is believed he has been drowned. Barnum was last seen alive by a guide who assisted him to a boat in order that he might row across the lake to his home. Since that time no trace of Barnum can be found, and the guide is positive that the man has been lost in the lake.

Italy In Accord With Russia.

ROME, Aug. 21.—In official circles it is declared that the fact that Italian war vessels are preparing to start for Turkish waters must not be interpreted as a counter demonstration to the movement of the Russian squadron toward the Bosporus. Italy, it is affirmed, is in agreement with Russia and Austria with regard to the enforcement of reforms in the European provinces of Turkey.

Killed In a Runaway.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Mrs. Lodeman Stoughton of Philadelphia was instantly killed and her sister, Miss Mix, seriously injured while driving to the Lehigh Valley railroad station at Ludlow village. Mrs. Mortimer Hilliard, a daughter of Mrs. Stoughton's, was driving the horse when it became unmanageable and threw the three occupants out of the buggy. Mrs. Hilliard escaped unhurt.

Schooner Held on Suspicion.

HAVANA, Aug. 21.—The American schooner Addie Cole, bound from Key West for Mexico, was overhauled and brought to Havana by a Cuban coast guard boat on suspicion of smuggling. The investigation showed there was no ground for the suspicion, and the schooner has been ordered to be released.

Erie Man Drowned In Toronto Bay.

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—The body of John Clarke of Erie, Pa., has been found in the bay here. He was on his way to Toronto in reply to a telegram announcing the death of his brother. Money, watch and chain were found on the body. The police are making an investigation.

France to Protect Congo Free State.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—A Brussels dispatch to the Daily Telegraph says it is stated there that a secret agreement was recently concluded by which France will not permit any aggression against the Congo Free State or any violation of its territory.

PRESIDENT'S POLICY

Government Employees May Form Labor Unions.

NO RULE CAN OVERRIDE THE LAWS

No Person Shall Be Refused Employment or Discriminated Against on Account of Labor Union Membership.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 21.—President Roosevelt has made applicable to all departments of the government service the principle he enunciated at the time he reinstated William A. Miller to the position in the government printing office, from which Miller had been dismissed because of a disagreement with the Bookbinders' union. The president has plainly stated to the members of his cabinet that that principle is to "indicate the policy of the president" in similar cases.

The president has authorized the publication of a letter which was sent to each member of his cabinet. The letter was signed by Mr. Barnes, the acting secretary to the president, and is as follows:

"My Dear Sir—The president directs me to send you herewith for your information copies of two letters sent to Secretary Cortelyou with reference to the government printing office which define the attitude of the administration in connection with the subject discussed. They are sent to you for your information and guidance, as they indicate the policy of the president in this matter."

The salient sentence of the first letter was: "There is no objection to the employees of the government printing office constituting themselves into a union if they so desire, but no rules or resolutions of that union can be permitted to override the laws of the United States, which it is my sworn duty to enforce."

In the second letter the president quoted the finding of the anthracite coal strike commission regarding the employment of labor:

"It is adjudged and awarded that no person shall be refused employment or in any way discriminated against on account of membership or nonmembership in any labor organization and that there shall be no discrimination against or interference with any employee who is not a member of any labor organization by members of such organization."

Concerning this principle the president wrote:

"It is of course mere elementary decency to require that all the government departments shall be handled in accordance with the principle thus clearly and fearlessly enunciated."

Colonel Kelley Mysteriously Missing.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 21.—Schuyler C. Kelley, lieutenant colonel of the Third regiment, Missouri national guard, has been mysteriously missing from his home in this city since Wednesday morning. His wife joined a party in a search along the river bottoms for the missing man, but found no trace of him. Kelley is known to have carried a large sum of money. He was clerk of the police court and handled $25,000 of the city's money in the course of a year. An investigation of his books shows his accounts to be straight, and it is known that he owes the city nothing.

Lowell Explosion Inquest.

LOWELL, Mass., Aug. 21.—The third day of the inquest into the cause of the explosion of the magazines in Riverside Park has been opened here. Five new witnesses were summoned, Charles Brown, Zephrin Persse, H. C. McMaster, Charles Hamel and William Riggs. Alemeda Belanger, the seventeen-year-old boy who says he saw Clarendon Goodwin pour stuff from a jug into the nitroglycerin, closed his testimony and was excused. It is not thought that Belanger can live long.

Tunnel Accident, Nine Hurt.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 21.—A Baltimore and Ohio passenger train in going through the Connellsville tunnel en route to Fairmont ran through an open switch and crashed into the middle of a moving freight train on the west bound track. Nine persons were hurt, three of them seriously. The passenger engine was partly demolished, and three freight cars were wrecked. The wreck was due, it is said, to the negligence of a yard employee in leaving the switch open.

Masked Burglars Kill Boy.

WASHBURN, Wis., Aug. 21.—Two masked men entered the boarding house of Joseph Hall at Sioux River, bound and robbed the proprietor and boarders in the house and shot Willie Ernest, aged twelve years, killing him instantly. The men escaped, but Sheriff Simpson and a posse are in pursuit.

Senator Guilty of Bribery.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 21.—State Senator William P. Sullivan, accused of soliciting a bribe for three votes on the antialum bill during the session of the legislature last winter, has been found guilty and his punishment fixed at $100 fine.

Roman Gives $200,000 For Hospital.

ROME, Aug. 21.—Pietro Cartoni, a well known landowner, has given $200,000 to found a sanitarium for consumptive patients at Rome in memory of his two only sons, who succumbed to tuberculosis.

Fire Destroys Lumber Plant.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 21.—The Coneuch Lumber company plant was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $70,000.

Weather Probabilities.

Light north winds, becoming east and fresh.

Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 21, 1903.

The Daily Press has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield.—Printer's Ink.

An exchange informs us that New Brunswick consumes 1,250 gallons of milk daily. Keep up the good work, neighbor, and some day you may grow up.

This is the thirteenth year of yacht races for the international cup since and including the race off the Isle of Wight won by the America in 1851. It cannot very well escape being an unlucky year for someone.

Yesterday's delay in the appearance of The Daily Press was due to the burning out of one of the transformers in the manhole on the Park and North avenue corner. Every effort was made to remove the difficulty as speedily as possible, but, in spite of all, the delay was serious. It was a misfortune for which it is next to impossible to place the blame. The cause is not known.

The condition of Plainfield's streets may well be regarded as a proper cause for satisfaction. With so many of them already macadamized and others about to be, the system in no very long time ought to approach as near to perfection as possible in city thoroughfares. When the Common Council meets next Monday in its adjourned session, bids will be received for the macadamizing of several additional streets.

Somebody in the employ of the Central Railroad blundered Tuesday evening when the fast express, supposed to stop at Plainfield, was allowed to pass through at the rate of about forty miles an hour. General Passenger Agent Burt had assured the delegation of church members who were on their way to Salem, W. Va., that the stop would be made, but it is said that the train dispatcher had no order to that effect on file. There is no doubt that the company will investigate carefully and place the blame where it belongs. As for those who were inconvenienced by the mistake, they thoroughly appreciated the act of General Manager Besler in holding the train for them at Wayne Junction. Mistakes are bound to occur. All that the company can do in such case is to search out the cause and make a repetition as difficult as possible.

WOODHULL & MARTIN.

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Arthur L. Longworth, of East Fifth street, who has been employed at the Campbell Printing Press Company Works, has gone to New York, where he has secured a position with the Holland Submarine Boat Company as machinist in the erecting department.

T. C. Crittenden, who has been identified with the Pond Machine Tool Works in the draughting department, has resigned to take a position in a Southern college as instructor in draughting. He left Monday for the scene of his new duties. He is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

A one-man strike has been started at the Keystone pottery, at Trenton, and unless the concern comes to time, the Dipper's Union, No. 41, asserts that it will force the plant to shut down. All the other workmen will be ordered out, says the union, to keep the one man company. The conditions at this plant, apparently, are not to the liking of the man and he quit work. Now the shop must take him back or shut down. The president of the Union and the one-man striker are alike non-communicative.

A dispatch from Bridgeton announces that when the New Jersey Federation of Labor made an attempt to elect officers Wednesday, a riot followed and resulted in a split of the organization. One set of delegates left the room and refused to take part in the election on the ground that there was unfairness in the casting of the ballots. The cigar makers seemed opposed to the re-election of President Cornelius Ford, of Hoboken, and in opposition nominated George Wambold, of Bridgeton, president of the Central Trades Council. Suppressed excitement was apparent during the balloting. The vote was close and was finally announced as 63 for Ford and 59 for Wambold. Thomas McHugh was elected delegate to the convention of the American Federation. The meeting will be held in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kleinecke, of this city, are spending the summer in Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Way, of the borough, have been visiting relatives at Martinville.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—A new sign was placed in position at the Plainfield Trading Stamp Company's store on West Front street yesterday afternoon.

—St. Gabriel's Academy, corner of Jackson and Watchung avenues, will reopen for the fall and winter term on Tuesday, September 8.

—The Somerset County Board of Freeholders will meet at the Winsor street bridge, Somerville, this afternoon, to examine the work being done at that place.

—It was announced yesterday that at the next meeting of the North Plainfield Common Council the work of going over the assessor's books will be completed. The meeting has not been set for any particular time.

—The city street repair gang is moving east in its work on Fifth street and is now at work on the road bed between Arlington avenue and Madison avenue. The street is being resurfaced with macadam and the steam roller is at work.

—Who is there who would not enjoy a day spent at Asbury Park? There will be many who will be obliged to miss the Hope Chapel Sunday-school excursion tomorrow but there will be happy hundreds who will take in the trip and profit by a day at the seashore. Train leaves at the North Avenue station at 8 o'clock and returns leaving Asbury Park at 7:55 in the evening.

Lake Hopatcong.

Lake Hopatcong has become justly famous for several reasons but chief of these is its location. High up in New Jersey's beautiful mountains, a thousand feet above the sea level, surrounded by verdant hills and charming landscape, it is the perfection of outing places. To reach it is a delightful journey, through a series of picturesque valleys, and the time of the traveler is so occupied feasting on the scenic sights that the few hours journey are like fleeting moments. For a Sunday excursion no place is more popular than Lake Hopatcong, and if you want a day of enjoyment take in the $1.00 excursion to Lake Hopatcong. The New Jersey Central is to run on August 23, 1903. There will be a special train from Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., and the return train does not leave the lake until late afternoon. There is ample opportunity for a trip over the lake or such enjoyment as one may care to indulge in.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The Dunellen A. C. will cross bats with the Eagles, of Plainfield, tomorrow afternoon on the Madison avenue grounds. The teams seem to be pretty evenly matched and a good game should result. The game is called for 3:30.

The Watchungs will not play New Market tomorrow as stated Thursday. They will journey to Metuchen instead, to play the team of that place which has been defeating everything in sight in these parts.

Charles Lake and Abner Corriell spent yesterday at New Market fishing. They said the wind was not in the right direction for catching bass so they turned their attention to sunfish and turtles.

Uncalled for letters at the postoffice are addressed to Mrs. Edward Warner, Wm. Sobenck, Frank Seers, Mrs. Hutmacher and Mr. Crickenberg.

Mrs. Cora Hawley and family, of New York, are being entertained at the home of Robert Bogardus, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Apgar have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. William Stryker, of Whitehouse.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tingley are entertaining their daughter, Mrs. E. D. GaNun, of North Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Stacy B. Opdyke, Jr., have returned from a visit with friends at Philadelphia.

Mrs. John Moynihan and daughter, Kathryn, enjoyed an outing at Lake Hopatcong, yesterday.

M. J. MacMamara took in the double header between New York and Pittsburg yesterday.

Mrs. Edwin Craig and Miss Josie Dealaman are visiting friends at Mt. Pocono, Pa.

John Logan is entertaining his sister, Miss Annie Logan, of Newark, this week.

Mrs. Sarah Fisher has returned from a brief visit with New York friends.

Mrs. William Winges is seeking health and strength at Asbury Park.

Thomas Kady, of Cranford, was in town yesterday on business.

Miss Sarah Brokaw is visiting relatives at Bath, Pa.

The band will meet for weekly practice this evening.

NEW MARKET.

The Y. M. A. will meet the Reform Club on Nelson field tomorrow afternoon. The latter team is playing first-class ball and a good game is expected. It is scheduled for 3:30.

Charles Ward has returned home after a brief visit with out-of-town friends.

William Danz left Wednesday for a month's visit with relatives in South Jersey.

Esdon Davis was in Plainfield yesterday on business.

Mrs. F. P. Vail is visiting relatives at Salem, N. Y.

Charles Kelly has recovered from an illness.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Manager Denman, of the Westfield team, has a drawing card in Mr. Cullin, who has been umpiring the ball game on the Westfield ground for several weeks past. The lovers of the National game, no matter how strongly partisian want a game won on its merit and not by the assistance of an umpire. Mr. Cullin knows the game thoroughly, having been in charge of some of the best professional games in and about New York for several years past.

All the local rooters of the ball team will journey to Recreation Park tomorrow afternoon, to see the local and Manager Denman's team clash in the fourth game of the series. If the locals will take a brace and play the game they are capable of, Scotch Plains will win.

The committee from the Board of Freeholders on the new culvert, corner Front street and Park avenue, met Thursday afternoon and accepted the work. The old lumber was auctioned off to the highest bidder, Conrad Peltz, being the lucky purchaser.

The Friday evening prayer meeting at the Baptist Church tonight, will be in charge of the Board of Deacons. Rev. Mr. Shott is visiting friends at Cleveland, Ohio.

Several families in the village journeyed together yesterday, and enjoyed a day's outing at Midland Beach. The trip was made by trolley.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., transacted routine business only at their weekly meeting held last night in the Library rooms.

Dr. George Edwards, of New York, at one time principal of the public school in the village, was in town Thursday.

Rev. George Shaw will have charge of the weekly prayer and praise service at the Methodist Church tonight.

Mrs. Jane Paff, of Freeport, L. I., returned home yesterday after visiting her brother-in-law, Thomas M. Paff.

Augustus Sheelen, of Sheelen Bros., Fanwood, is enjoying life for a week by the ocean waves at Asbury Park.

Mrs. Isaac Oliver is spending a few days with Mrs. John Flannery, of Westfield avenue.

Harry Lyons has taken a position with Horace Pangborn, the builder and contractor.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Walsh are entertaining New York friends at their home.

William H. Lee has been spending a few days with Philadelphia friends.

Mrs. George L. Dunn and children, spent Wednesday at Midland Beach.

William Clawson, of Plainfield, has been visiting friends in the village.

Henry C. Meyers is out with a new delivery wagon.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Richard C. Elliott, R. B. Manning, C. H. Brantingham and Harvey P. Clawson attended the State convention of the P. O. S. of A. held at Somerville Wednesday.

It is rumored that a factory is about to locate in town, providing the citizens are willing to grant the land near the railroad for the purpose.

Jack Walsh and George Gearty, of New York, are spending the day with their families at Mrs. Mary A. Pyatt's, on Clinton avenue.

Harvey Clawson has been detained from work a few days by a severe cold. He will return to his labors Monday.

Philip Smith and Hollis Cubberley started on a wheeling trip to Trenton and vicinity yesterday.

Mrs. Oscar Thorn and her friend, Mrs. Chamberlain, are spending today at Lyons' Farms.

Miss Annie Hamilton, of Perth Amboy, is visiting her brother, Wm. Hamilton.

A number from here are making preparations to go to Mauch Chunk Sunday.

Harvey Clawson expects to be able to return to work Monday.

Ernest Thompson, Jr., is visiting friends in town.

—Neuman Brothers set the prices. Tomorrow they will receive 75 baskets of fancy Jersey peaches—Mountain Rose, Reeve's Favorite and 50 baskets of Jersey tomatoes which will be sold at special prices by the basket.

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Notice to Stockholders of International Telephone and Switchboard Manufacturing Company.

A meeting of the stockholders of the International Telephone and Switchboard Manufacturing Company will be held on September 18, 1903, at 11 a. m. at the office of the Company, No. 110 Front Street, City of Plainfield, Union County, State of New Jersey, to take action upon the following resolution adopted by the Board of Directors of said Company at a meeting called and held for that purpose, to wit:

SAID HE WAS SENATOR'S SON.

A. C. Owen Alleged to Have Posed as S. B. Elkins, Jr.

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—Alfred Crosby Owen, twenty-eight years old, who says his home is in Washington, was locked up at police headquarters charged with passing two worthless checks on the Waldorf-Astoria and Fifth Avenue hotels. The police believe they have the man who has been spending the last few weeks in the west chartering special trains and posing as the son of Stephen B. Elkins.

Word was sent from Chicago that the real Stephen B. Elkins, Jr., was in that city and that he had learned that some one had been traveling across the country telling railroad officials he was the son of the United States senator from West Virginia.

Owen took a suit at the Waldorf-Astoria, and Manager Boldt cashed for him a check for $50 drawn on the Elkins National bank and signed by P. B. Elkins.

"I am Senator Elkins' son," he said, "and I am a little short of ready cash."

He went from there to the Fifth Avenue hotel and engaged a room. The clerk of that hotel cashed a check for $5 to "Self" signed by S. B. Elkins, Jr., and drawn on the Elkins National bank.

When arrested Owen simply said that he was well acquainted with Senator Elkins and his son and that he would get out of the trouble all right. He claims to have been a lieutenant in the United States navy. The police say that Owen was dismissed from the navy in December, 1902, on charges of failing to pay debts.

Cossacks Kill Rioting Strikers.

NIKOLAIEV, Russia, Aug. 21.—A conflict with the military arose out of a decision of the Kiev strikers to hold a mass meeting on the Chernigov side of the Dnieper. Five thousand men were permitted to assemble and had begun to embark in boats to cross the river when the military appeared and the strikers were called upon to disperse. The mob stoned the Cossacks, who thereupon fired three volleys and then madly charged, scattering the crowd in all directions. Between twenty and thirty strikers were killed on the spot, forty others were dangerously wounded and 200 to 300 received slight injuries.

Tin Workers' Strike Ended.

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 21.—The tin workers compromised their trouble with the United States Steel corporation and have returned to work. The men, 300 in number, and fifty girls in the tinning department, walked out last Tuesday because the management cut down the speed of the machinery to half the former number of revolutions, thus bringing down the pay of the men to barely living wages. George Powell, president of the Tin Plate Protective association, was called here and the men compromised on the reduction of one revolution per minute to the machinery.

Fire In Texas Oil Fields.

BEAUMONT, Tex., Aug. 21.—Fire has destroyed twenty-five derricks in what is known as the Shoestring district in the Sour Lake oil fields. The flames were started by a man throwing a gallon of crude oil in the fire box to start a fire under a boiler. It spread quickly and in a short time a considerable area was ablaze, and it looked as if the entire district, on which there are 180 derricks and several immense tanks, was doomed.

Lord Salisbury Very Low.

LONDON, Aug. 21.—A bulletin says Lord Salisbury's condition is critical, and there is little hope of his recovery. Telegrams have been dispatched to the king, the queen and the Prince of Wales acquainting them with the critical condition of the ex-premier.

Policemen of the Seas.

Revenue cutters are the policemen of the high seas. They have regular beats to patrol along the coast, looking for vessels in distress, suppressing smuggling, illicit seal hunting and mutinies. They also enforce quarantine regulations, examine ships' papers, supply lighthouses, and act as life savers, ambulance corps, fire department and messenger boys generally, for the government, at sea. The first revenue cutters were built at the order of Alexander Hamilton, when he was secretary of the treasury, and, except in war times, when they are subject to the authority of the navy, they are still under Treasury department orders. Strange to say, however, it is in times of peace that revenue cutters fight their hardest battles. They save many lives, and property that is estimated at many millions yearly. Their name gives little idea of the great and varied service they render the country.—N. Y. Tribune.

Fortune from Accident.

The late B. F. Jones, some thirty years ago, was a partner and bookkeeper in a Pittsburg firm that conducted a small forging shop; a few thousand dollars comprised the firm's entire capital. An employe one day, in a moment of carelessness while directing the course of a white-hot ingot of iron through the rollers, allowed his cold steel tongs to be drawn along with the half molten metal. The result was a pair of ruined tongs, but the discovery of a process by which a superior grade of steel could be produced. The workman's accident became the basis of the fortune of $50,000,000 of which Mr. Jones died possessed.—Indianapolis News.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark, 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW.

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

Costumes For Traveling—Return of Flounces and Ruchings.

At this time of the year one sees all sorts of charming traveling costumes. Scotch plaids are very popular for the purpose. A charming example in green and blue has a skirt which touches the ground all around and is plaited from the hips downward, the top being composed of strappings of the plaid piped with red and trimmed with little buttons to match. The bodice is made bolero, finished with a red turnover collar and cuffs and a red leath waistband. With this is worn a soft batiste skirt and a perfectly flat hat, the only trimming being a few blue and green wings.

The French stage is largely responsible for the return to flounces, and ruches are seen on many smart frocks.

LINEN DRESS.

There is no doubt that the bodice or blouse of the 1830 period, as well as the mantle and coat of that era, is in accordance with the ruched flounced skirt, for the tremendous fullness around the feet necesitates a fair amount around the shoulders.

Mantles are of really beautiful shapes and lovely models can be picked up at this season at small cost.

Birds and wings will appear on early fall felts.

The illustration shows a linen costume with a long shouldered yoke having strappings of darker linen. The belt and collar are of spotted silk.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SMART GOWNS.

Coarse Hopsacks and Serges Useful For Mountain Wear.

With the short walking skirt, the short bolero, the wide soft leather belt and the wide brimmed French sailor hat turned up at the back with clusters of flowers or choux of ribbon are entirely in keeping.

Coarse hopsacks and serges are admirable for general wear in the mountains. Linens and lighter makes are for the warm days one has every now and then even in the fall months.

FLOWERED MUSLIN DRESS

Cream is the prevailing fashionable color at both English and French watering places. Many heavy fabrics in this shade, such as English and Irish homespuns and all kinds of rough serges and tweeds are being sold for fall wear in the mountains.

Alpaca is a fabric which is never out of fashion. It is eminently useful for traveling. An alpaca gown will give the same service as a linen one, besides being smarter and useful for wear on more occasions.

The full gathered skirt and [illegible] shoulder and cape effect give the appearance of smallness to [illegible] without any pulling in, but the [illegible] an erect and graceful [illegible] part of the wearer.

CHILD DIES OF POISON.

Fourteen-Year-Old Chicago Girl Weary of Work and Worry, Ends Life's Struggle.

Drudging from early morn until night, working day by day to earn food for herself and parents, Sarah Solomon, a 14-year-old Chicago child labor slave, found life's battle too hard for her frail constitution and she ended the struggle by drinking poison.

In front of her home at 6 Liberty street her aged father, Aaron Solomon, found her writhing in pain at 11 o'clock at night.

"It was the hard work, papa," she gasped, "the hard work. I couldn't —stand it."

The father sought a physician, but no physician could be found, and, suffering intense pain, the little sufferer was finally taken by the police to the county hospital. But medical aid was of no avail, and after lingering and moaning for an hour she died soon after midnight.

"IT WAS THE HARD WORK."

Sarah Solomon, says the Chicago Examiner, was a laundress. Only 14 years old and yet she was compelled to do the work that mature and stronger women would have shirked.

She labored until her strength had left her and then she decided to die. In the morning she left home as usual to go to work. She returned shortly before supper and told her father she had quit her place.

"It's too hard work, papa," she said, "I cannot stand it. I just work from the time I get there until the whistle blows, and then I am so weak that it seems my head goes round and round."

She ate sparingly at the evening meal, and when she had washed the dishes and cleaned up the room she spent an hour reading the papers in search of a more suitable place.

Then she left the house and was not seen again until her father heard her pitiful moans in front of the house.

JOCKO TRIES TO DIE.

Sailor's Singing Awakens Fond Memories in Monkey and a Longing for Death.

A correspondent writes from Brooklyn, N. Y., that warship surgeons worked for hours trying to resuscitate one Jocko, monkey and mascot of the monitor Florida, who for the second time in one week tried to commit suicide in spectacular fashion.

Jocko is known along the coast from Pensacola to Portsmouth.

Born a Spaniard, he became an American when his ship, the torpedo boat Isla de Luzon, was captured during the Spanish-American war.

Recently Jocko has been ailing. Two Spaniards who are touring the country visited the navy yard on Wednesday last. Jocko was introduced to them, as a matter of course. The visitors talked in pure Castilian to the mascot, and he seemed to become homesick at the sound of the old familiar phrases.

JOCKO IN MEDITATION.

Officers say the monkey went aft after the visitors had left and actually wept, a most extraordinary thing for a monkey to do. He was found in the evening lying below a bunk and moaning piteously. Investigation showed that he had drunk potash, evidently, it is alleged, with suicidal intent.

Surgeons revived the monkey, but he seemed the victim of melancholia. Today the cook of the Florida, who understands Spanish pretty well, began to sing a Spanish love song entitled "La Senorita Bonita." The monkey listened for awhile, and then walked aft to the rail. There he sat for two hours, a far-away look in his face and his hands crossed.

Unobserved, he went below. A pail of lye was there. The monkey seized the pail, climbed to the main deck, and, turning toward the river, waved his hand to the outgoing craft and drank the poison. He was picked up by Landsman Evans unconscious.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.
The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.
This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.
With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from the time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires; we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.
Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Lovelorn Swains Make and Carry Out Old Vows.

Rejected Lovers Find Unique Ways to Show Their Disappointment—One Took to Bed for Thirty-Four Years.

It is regarded as customary nowadays for the rejected lover to swallow his disappointment, smile at the world, and take courage with the thought he has other chances coming. It is supposed he will be all right in a month or so at the most. This is not always the case, as a few instances will show. There are cases of lovelorn vows being made which resemble election bets. And they have been carried out to better purpose.

Only a few weeks ago there died at Turin a Sig. Mecca, who just half a century ago, was on the eve of being married to one of the sunniest maids in all that land of sunshine and sprightly beauty. But the maid was as fickle as she was fair, and at the last moment jilted her lover in favor of a former rival.

When news of her treachery reached Mecca he had already put on his wedding garments, and he there and then took a vow that, however long he might live, he would never wear any other. This vow he religiously kept to the end of his days, and he might often be seen in the street of Turin, a grotesque, shabby, and pathetic survival of the sartorial arts of the nineteenth century.

It was a similar evil fate that overtook Nathaniel Bentley; only in his case it was the hand of death and not treachery that robbed him of his bride on the morning of the day that was to have made him happy. The wedding feast was already spread, and Nathaniel, who was a noted dandy, was arrayed in all his bridal finery when the tragic news was brought to him.

He immediately locked the door of the dining room in which the banquet was awaiting his guests and vowed that the room should never be entered during his life. He lost all pleasure and pride in his personal adornment and from being the sprucest man about town degenerated into a dirty, shabby, forlorn sample of humanity, the butt of street boys, and an object of pity or derision to his acquaintances.

In the north of England the story of Henry Jackson's eccentric manner of taking a love disappointment is told to-day, although 40 years have passed since the pathetic, if foolish, chapter of his life was closed. Henry Jackson was a Yorkshire farmer, one of the tallest and handsomest men in all the country side, and great preparations had been made for his wedding to pretty Mary Howarth, daughter of his nearest neighbor. He was leaving his house on his way to the church when a messenger rushed up with the news that his bride to be had disappeared and was not to be found anywhere.

"I think I'll go to bed again and wait till she returns," the young bridegroom said, philosophically, and he forthwith retired to his room.

Later in the day news came to him that the fickle Mary had been seen driving through a distant village in company with a former lover. "If that's so," Henry placidly answered, "I may as well stay where I am," and true to his word, he kept his bed for 34 years, until his death, never seeing anyone but his faithful housekeeper, and never once mentioning the name of the girl who had proved so false.

An amusing story is told of another Yorkshire farmer, who accepted his fate in quite a different spirit. The banns had already been called once in the parish church when his fiancee, in a jealous moment, refused point-blank to marry him. "Thah can do as ta likes," he answered, gayly. "I mun just look out for some other lass"; and, to the amusement of the district, he carried out his purpose so promptly that on the following Sunday the banns were called again—but the name of the woman was changed, and they were "for the first time of asking."

But perhaps the oddest celebration of a marriage on record was that of which a certain hotel in a midland town was the scene only a few months ago. In one room of the hotel the guests were making merry over a sumptuous wedding breakfast, while from the adjacent room came peals of laughter from the guests of a rejected but by no means broken-hearted fiance of the bride, who was entertaining his sympathizers at a precisely similar banquet.

Choice Breed of Pigeons.
The Belgians are great pigeon breeders, and one of the choicest birds of this kind is the [illegible], which is comparatively rare.

STOLEN BASES.

The Watchungs, of Dunellen, will play at Metuchen, tomorrow. The stage will leave the Dunellen post-office at 1:15 and about eight beside the players will go. Thorn will twirl for the Dunellen boys.

In commenting on tomorrow's game between Scotch Plains and Westfield, Manager Denman, of Westfield, says: "As it presents the only chance for Scotch Plains to win its series with Westfield, the game at Westfield tomorrow has aroused a heated interest in the two towns. It is certain that the 'Plains' people have taken steps to cure the nervous prostration which overtook their team last Saturday, and the strange faces in Scotch Plains' make-up have been selected entirely for winning purposes. Westfield seems to have an all around advantage, yet the 'Plains take their medicine well and after the fray is over it may be another story. Anyway, it will be a grand game between equals."

There will be a slight change in the Alis batting order for tomorrow's game on Crescent Oval with St. Mary's team. Henriques, who has been playing second base, has left the team, and Manager MacLaughlin has secured Quinby, formerly captain of the Yale 'Varsity team, to take his place. Quinby has been playing second this season for the Crescent A. C., and is considered one of the fastest infielders in the Metropolitan district. He is a hard hitter. Richardson will continue to play first, reports to the contrary being untrue. Another change will be that Barnes will play right field in place of Dupee, who is away. The game will be called at 3:45 and Mr. Blythe, of Brooklyn, will umpire. A great game may be expected and all lovers of baseball should be on hand early to get a good seat. This is the batting order for Alis: Kavanaugh, ss; Barnes, rf; Quinby, 2b; Richardson, 1b; Gormley, c; Davis, cf; Gastmeyer, 3b; Lederer, lf; MacLaughlin, p.

ROD AND REEL.

Gilbert Murray and Patrick Muldoon, of Hedden's stables, landed a good catch of weak fish yesterday at Gifford's, S. I.

Eugene O'Reilly spent yesterday at Gifford's, Staten Island, and returned home last night with a good catch of weak and blue fish.

A large school of porpoises has invaded the fishing grounds near Boynton Beach and driven out the weak fish which were so plentiful there last week. The fishing has been without results for the last few days on account of the invaders, and returning parties complain that their sport is ruined.

Frank Hedden, of Central avenue, who is sperding his vacation on a fishing trip at Tom's River, has been having excellent luck. His second consignment of fish, consisting of 35 weak fish and 15 blue fish was welcomed with joy at Hedden's stables this morning. Frank writes that he will send up a barrel of crabs in a few days.

TENNIS.

But one tournament match was played in the championship singles match in tennis at the Cedar Brook Tennis Club, yesterday afternoon. J. Hervey Doane defeated George Fountain, 6-3, 6-3. Match play between F. M. Letson and H. A. Nomer was stopped in the third set by darkness and will be resumed today.

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and developement. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Applied for Franchise.

The Jersey Central Traction Company, now operating a trolley line from South Amboy to Keyport, Port Monmouth and Red Bank, has applied to the Atlantic Highlands Council for a franchise to give Atlantic Highlands a trolley system. The purpose of the traction company is to connect with the new pier recently completed by the Atlantic Highlands Wharf Company, at a cost of $45,000. Prompt and favorable action by the Council is anticipated.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

The improvements planned for the Mt. Olive Baptist Church are slowly under way.

Rev. Dr. Wm. Stewart, who is at the head of the Toronto Bible School, Toronto, Canada, will occupy the pulpit at the First Baptist Church on Sunday. He has been spending the summer at Asbury Park.

The many friends of Rev. F. H. Jacobs, of Brooklyn, will be pleased to know that he is to lead the 4 o'clock meeting at the Netherwood Fresh Air Camp this Sunday afternoon. Preparations are being made for an unusually interesting service. Mr. Jacobs will sing several solos and will have entire charge of the meeting. A cordial invitation is extended to attend this delightful service.

AUCTION SALE
50 CHOICE BUILDING LOTS
Saturday, August 22, at Half-past Two.

It is a well-known fact that, since the erection of the large factories in the western end of our city, the demand for houses in that section has been far beyond the supply. It is this fact that has led us to open up the large tract of land, part of which we will offer for sale at auction on Saturday, the 22nd, at 2:30 p. m. This property is beautifully situated on Rock Avenue, and running west. Third Street and South Avenue have been put through and four cross streets opened up, all graded to the city grade. The land is high and perfectly drained, is within a short distance of the Clinton Avenue Railroad Station, or is reached by trolley at Rock Ave. and Front St. City water and sewer are within easy reach.

We have no hesitation in calling your attention to the many handsome residences and attractive homes which have been erected in the western end of the city through our efforts and to which the rapid growth of Plainfield in this direction is largely due. Because of this growth, this property which we now offer will soon double in value, making the purchase of lots there an excellent investment; and because of the increase in valuation in the near future, this is your best opportunity to secure a Bargain Lot and begin to put money into a home. We offer these lots to Home-seekers and Investors on the

LOVED AND PARTED; MET AND WILL MARRY

Estrangement Followed by Happiness—Story of Chicago Man's Wooing.

ROMANCE IN REAL LIFE

AFFECTIONS OF SCOTCH PLAINS GIRL HAD APPARENTLY COOLED.

Persistent Lover Won His Suit—Said That the Pair Will be Married in Scotch Plains Tomorrow.

That love will find a way is romantically exemplified in the story of the engagement and probable marriage tomorrow evening of Nicholas Myers, of Chicago, and Miss Susie McNair, of Scotch Plains. The wedding will be held quietly in Scotch Plains and will be the climax of a story of love at first sight, discouragement and final victory for the Chicago man, who has steadily and successfully persisted in his suit for Miss McNair's hand.

The story of the engagement dates back to a visit Miss McNair made at the home of friends in Chicago last summer. There she met Mr. Myers and the two immediately became infatuated with each other. The friendship soon ripened into love and through the mails Mr. Myers is said to have proposed and been accepted. He gave his fiance many valuable remembrances.

After that, it is said, Miss McNair's letters became cooler in tone and fewer in number.

Later, according to the story, all letters from Miss McNair ceased and the anxious lover resolved to come to this State to find out the reason. He came unheralded and when he arrived at Scotch Plains went to Earl's Hotel with the expectation of surprising his betrothed later.

She, however, had secured employment at the hotel and saw her lover as he entered the dining room. She ran to the home of relatives near by, told her story and swooned from the excitement. The prospective groom followed her and sought an explanation of her strange conduct. Miss McNair is reported to have refused all explanation and to have besought Myers to take back his gifts and depart for Chicago without her.

In this unwillingness she persisted for some time but the persevering Chicago man refused to listen and finally won. And so, it is said, when he leaves for the west next week, he will take with him Miss McNair as his bride.

FAR FROM A CORPSE.

Politically or Otherwise Says News of James E. Martine.

Farmer Orator James E. Martine, of Plainfield, has again announced that the nomination of Grover Cleveland for the Presidency by the Democrats would be political suicide. The farmer orator may be mistaken. He ought to remember how often he has gone down to defeat himself at the hands of his enemies, and yet he is far from being a corpse, political or otherwise. —Newark News.

Bad News From the Farm.

Latest advices from southern Jersey are that melons, cantaloupes, citrons and late tomatoes are not at all promising. A total failure of the former is reported in some places. Lima beans are molding on the vines and peaches are rotting on the trees from the lack of warm sunshine. The potato rot is increasing, and to such an extent in portions of Monmouth county that several fields will not be worth the digging. In the northern section, a fairly good crop of hay has been gathered. Buckwheat is making a fine growth, but tomatoes and beans will be a short crop, owing to the prevailing cool nights. The havesting of oats is about completed, with only a fair yield of grain and straw. Corn is generally backward in all portions of the State.

Sweet Singer.

In society notes from Manhattan Beach this week, among the accounts of sweet singers who had entertained the patrons of the Oriental Hotel, the following comment was made of a well-known Plainfield singer of merit: "Mrs. W. L. Saunders is another of the Oriental patrons who possesses a voice of unusually fine quality, and was heard in the music room one morning the last of the week.'

ATTITUDE OF SOMERSET COUNTY

SOMERVILLE PAPER SAYS BOROUGH HAS NO KICK ON LICENSE QUESTION.

Discusses Matter of Changing Borough Into City—Condition of Things Not County's Fault.

The Unionist-Gazette, of Somerville, remarks as follows on the proposal of the borough to become a city:

"The North Plainfield Common Council is considering a change from the borough form of government to that of third class city. Whether this would be a wise step or not we have nothing to say, and we presume it interests no one except the citizens of the borough. But the reasons given for such a change are exceedingly questionable. It is said that the borough is troubled with 'speakeasies' which are permitted by the Somerset Court, and that the new form of government is sought in order that the granting of licenses may be under the control of the city.

"Now the fact is that there are no licensed places in North Plainfield that have not been there for many years. If there are 'speakeasies' the authorities of the borough have been very quiet about them, for not a single protest has been made to granting the renewal of licenses now in existence, and no complaint has been presented to the Prosecutor or the Court of improper conduct on the part of licenses. So it would look as though the borough authorities were themselves to blame if any 'speakeasies' exist, and not the court, as they would have the public believe. Moreover, within the past three years, at the request of the counsel of the borough, the license fees were increased from $250 to $400 by Justice Garretson.

"But if the borough should resolve itself into a city it would have no more control over 'speakeasies' than it does at present. These places would have to be brought to the attention of the Grand Jury then just as they ought to be now, and there would be less reason to expect action under the city government. The city might establish a board of excise to grant licenses, but the people of the borough would find that a much less satisfactory way than the present. It is easy to elect a body of men who are susceptible to the saloon influences, and who will be liberal with applications for licenses.

BOROUGH REAL ESTATE.

Transactions Recorded in County Clerk's Office at Somerville.

The following transfers of real estate affecting the borough, have been recorded in the County Clerk's office at Somerville:

McMurtry, sheriff, to Union County Investment Co., North Plainfield, $6,500; Calvin D. McMurtry, sheriff, to Union County Investment Co., North Plainfield, $9,698.47.

Buys for the Jersey Central.

The purchase by Myles Tierney, as plaintiff in foreclosure, at auction yesterday of the property at No. 101 West street, New York, adjoining the Central Railroad Hotel, at the south corner of Liberty street, was made on behalf of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, which plans to build a footbridge across West street at this point to its ferry house. Mr. Tierney acquired the mortgage lien on the property from the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and the foreclosure suit is said to have been brought in a friendly way to clear the title, Mr. Tierney paying $17,000, while the claims against the lot aggregated only about $15,250. The Jersey Central recently took title from Owen B. McManus to No. 144 Liberty street, abutting on the lot purchased yesterday.

At Asbury.

A large number of Plainfielders will leave this afternoon and evening for Asbury Park, where they will sojourn during the coming week. Among those going are Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Pope, J. C. Pope and son, William Pope, Miss Barnett, George Pope, Clarence Brohaw, W. B. Kennett, Harry DeMeza, Arthur Lederer, Harry Blimm and Albert Clark.

Fell Down Stairs.

Mrs. Webb King, sixty years old, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting her son, David King, of Craig place, fell down stairs at her son's home, Monday. Since the accident she has been confined to the house. She is suffering principally from the shock.

ON TRACK OF MISSING MAN

SERGEANT BOWDEN SAID TO BE WITH NINTH INFANTRY AT FORT WAYNE.

Experiences in Phillipines—Relatives Trying to Locate Him—Story of Patrick Lyons.

Sergeant John T. Bowden, who has several times been reported as missing from the U. S. Regular Army, is now believed to be with the "fighting" Ninth Infantry, stationed at Fort Wayne, Michigan. News of his whereabouts was brought to Plainfield by Patrick Lyons, of the Seventh Infantry, who has just come on a furlough.

According to Lyons' story he met Sergeant Bowden a year ago last May and found the latter ill in the Philippines with yellow fever. Bowden recovered and after being discharged enlisted in the Ninth Infantry, now at Fort Wayne. Mr. Bowden's relatives in this city will now communicate with the War Department in an effort to locate the missing man and there seems to be good reason to believe that he may be found.

Sergeant Bowden has had a long experience in the Philippine Island service, originally enlisting in the Eighteenth Infantry, then going with the Seventh Infantry and afterward enlisting in the Ninth, which is considered the "crack" regiment among the regulars.

WED IN NEW YORK.

Frank Parsons, of This City, and Miss Jerrold, of Connecticut, Married.

A quiet wedding was celebrated in New York Monday, August 17, when Frank Raymond Parsons, formerly of Bristol, Conn., now of this city, and Miss Ida Louisa Jerrold, of Glastonbury, Conn., were married. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons have taken up their residence in this city, where the groom is employed by the Rogers' Corporation in Madison avenue.

COL. BELKNAP WORKED HARD.

Son-in-Law of Plainfielder Ran a Handcar to Fill Appointment.

In order to fill his appointment to make a speech at Grayson, Ky., says a Lexington, Kentucky, despatch, Col. Morris K. Belknap, the Republican candidate for Governor, was compelled to pull a handcar with Steve Willis, of that city, from Lexington to Beattyville Junction to catch a train for Grayson. They had the right of way, and kept the engagement, but Mr. Belknap was almost exhausted by his hard work on the car.

Col Belknap is the son-in-law of J. B. Dumont, of this city.

Horse Had Blind Staggers.

While driving out to Charles Brower's stables last night, John H. Greene, of Putnam avenue, had considerable trouble with his horse which was taken with an attack of the blind staggers near Ninth street. The animal was attached to a runabout and had been hired from the Plainfield Cab Company. It started to bolt and Mr. Greene was unable to bring it to a slow pace but confined his energies to keeping it in the road. He finally came to a stop when almost at the Lehigh Valley tracks near South Plainfield. Neither horse nor rig suffered any injury.

Fire Horses Had Equal Weight.

The gray team at fire headquarters, attached to Hose Company No. 2, was weighed yesterday at the coal yard of D. C. Ivins. Two interesting facts were brought out by the scales. The horses have increased in weight 100 pounds each since they were placed in service in the city fire department and there was not the difference of an ounce between the weights of the two horses. Both tipped the scales at 1285 pounds.

Lawn Party.

In honor of her guest, Miss Elsie Wollenweber, of Jersey City, Miss Ethel Quipp, of Codington avenue, entertained a number of friends last evening on the lawn in front of her house. Japanese lanterns gave to the lawn an attractive appearance and at a late hour refreshments were served.

WILD RIDE OF A UNION SPY

Charles E. Sage Had Hair-Raising Adventures in Carrying Dispatches.

WAS NEVER WOUNDED

ONLY MEMBER OF HIS BAND TO SURVIVE THE BATTLE OF ANTIETAM.

Mr. Sage Died Last Week—Was a Cornetist and Spy—His Father Was a Cousin of Russell Sage, the Financier.

Through the War of the Rebellion as a soldier and later as a Union Spy with the usual distinction of having never been struck by a bullet or wounded in any way was the record of Charles Edmund Sage, who died at his farm in Union Village last week at the age of seventy years. Death was due to rheumatism contracted while living for days in the Southern swamp land evading the Rebels.

To many of his friends in this city and at his home in Union Village, Mr. Sage frequently told stories of his experiences while in the army. His son, Assessor Edmund Sage, of Warren Township, in relating some of his father's adventures to a Daily Press representative, told of several particularly narrow escapes his father had in eluding the Southerners during the time he served this Government as a spy.

Once after Mr. Sage had been fighting all day in the battle of Antietam, a courier came into camp with the news that Lincoln had proclaimed the freedom of the slaves. The general in command called for volunteers to carry the accompanying dispatches to the Army of the Potomac many miles distant. The papers to be entrusted to the carrier told of the movements of that division of the regiments during the next week and a reliable man was indispensible for the service. Young Sage, who was a cornetist in the band volunteered, and persisted though warned of the danger of his undertaking and the fact that Confererate spies were stationed at many points along the road. He took the commission and departed. The rain fell in torrents while he was leaving on his dangerous errand and the roads were almost knee deep in mud.

Several times Sage's horse fell and threw him but the plucky rider kept on with his treasured papers upon which so much depended. While making his way through a particularly dark spot in the woods he came suddenly upon an improvised hospital. Before the tent he saw soldiers standing, and thinking he was in a Union camp he rode up to the entrance. Then he found it was a Confederate camp. A call was made to him to halt and one fellow made a grab for his bridle. Sage, however, was too quick and in a second had wheeled his horse and was riding for dear life for some hills not far distant. The men in gray gave chase and fired volley after volley after the lone soldier, who leaned far out over the horse's neck to escape the bullets which were flying thick and fast in every direction.

Tired with his long trip through the woods Sage's horse began to weaken and the Confederate officers gained on him. Strategy became necessary. One bullet struck the crown of Sage's hat and knocked it off. Then the Union soldier threw away some of the newspapers he carried and his rain coat His pursuers fell behind in the chase while they stopped to look over the papers and when they resumed the pursuit they were too late and had to give it up. Sage then rode his horse into some bushes near by and with his horse tied to his foot slept the rest of the night. In the morning he was up and off again and before noon had the papers delivered to the general commanding. For safely bringing the dispatches through such danger young Sage was highly commended by General MacClellan. Often in relating his experiences of that night, Mr. Sage said that while he was leaning over his horse to escape the bullets he thought of his comrades starving in Libby, and then and there resolved that he would die before yielding himself a prisoner.

Upon one occasion while acting as spy for the Union Army, Sage stopped over night at the same house and in an adjoining room to those in which Confederate officers and spies were lodged.

Acting as courier and spy he was overtaken one night while on a trip

READY PRESENCE OF MIND

THE ONLY THING THAT SAVED A DISASTER AT HOME OF MRS. LORTON.

Stove Wrapped in Flames Carried Out to Lawn—Oil Tanks Blazed Up.

Only strong presence of mind on the part of Mrs. Eugene V. Lorton prevented a serious catastrophe at her home, 507 Plainfield avenue, yesterday noon. She was preparing dinner on an oil stove, and after her cooking was concluded she turned the wicks down, intending to extinguish the flames.

The wicks must have gone down in the oil tanks, for a second later the stove was enveloped in flames. Mrs. Lorton's two children were close by her at the time and her first thoughts were of them. Putting them in a place of safety, she picked up the oil stove and carried it out doors on the lawn. The stove was supplied with two oil tanks and the cooking part was fastened by two hooks. After releasing the hooks, Mrs. Lorton pushed the stove over with her foot, thereby saving the valuable part of it, while the oil was allowed to burn out in the tanks. The experience was an exciting one, and it was only through Mrs. Lorton's carefulness that serious damage was prevented.

MRS. NELSON ILL.

Testimony of New Market Woman in Fair Case Had to be Taken in Sick Room.

The lawyers retained by the family of Charles L. Fair, who are opposing the suit of Mrs. Hannah Nelson, mother of Mr. Fair's wife, of New Market, in an effort to obtain a better settlement from Mr. Fair's estate than was allowed her, were at Caldwell yesterday taking the evidence of Mrs. Nelson, who has been ill for a long time, and is unable to leave the home of her son-in-law, Joshua Leonard, in Hanford place, Caldwell, where she has been residing since Mr. and Mrs. Fair were killed in the automobiling accident in France.

Besides the lawyers, there were present at the hearing, Dr. Bond, of Caldwell, and a trained nurse. Mrs. Nelson was able to sit, but became so exhausted before her evidence was concluded the physician refused to allow further questioning as dangerous to the patient.

While being quesioned Mrs. Nelson was suddenly seized with a chill, whereupon Dr. Bond immediately stopped the examination and ordered her to bed for treatment.

What the nature was of the evidence she gave could not be ascertained, but will have to be presented to the court later. Another examination will take place today if Mrs. Nelson is able to stand the strain.

Prize Tomato.

Thomas McCormack, who has had charge of Frank Hedden's garden in his absence at Tom's River, picked the prize tomato this morning. The big vegetable has been growing under his careful care for some time and when picked today was found to weigh over a pound. Hedden intends to keep the tomato for seed and see if he can do as well another year.

Case of Non-Support.

John Stryker, who used to live on West Front street, was arrested today at Karney, N. J., on a warrant sworn out by local police. The complaint was made by his wife that he had left home in this city and abandoned her without giving her reasonable means of support. He was brought to this city this morning and will be given a hearing this afternoon.

Married by His Honor.

Miss Ellen Booth and Henry Arnold Jones, the latter a machinist employed at the Pond Machine Tool Works, were married Wednesday evening by Mayor O. L. Jenkins. The ceremony, a quiet one, was performed at the home of William Whitehead, 904 West Third street. The couple both residents of this city, will continue to live here.

Advice to Senator Hand.

It is alleged that the Hand faction in Cape May county "has adopted the tactics of Former Senator Reed's crowd in Somerset county." Senator Hand should visit North Plainfield, view the magnificent monument over the Reed political grave and then govern himself accordingly.—Newark News.

Good-Bye Pussy.

A valuable Angora cat belonging to Miss Ada Marsh, of Franklin place, was shot some time during last night and this morning the feline was found in the rear yard lifeless. The cat was a great pet and Miss Marsh greatly deplores its untimely end.

DOWN WITH SLOT MACHINES

JUSTICE EHLIEN, OF MT. BETHEL, INAUGURATING A CRUSADE.

His Coming Announced by Flying Cuspidor at the Mt. Bethel Hotel.

Justice Richard Ehlien, of Mt. Bethel, having recently heard that slot machines are in violation of the State laws, and knowing that one was in operation at the Mt. Bethel Hotel, of which Frank T. Rice is the proprietor, started a crusade on Thursday night.

The Justice visited the hotel and his entrance was announced when a large sized cuspidor was seen flying through the bar-room at the slot machine. Of course, the proprietor objected and a tussel between the Justice and Rice followed, with the result that the machine was put out of business and the exponent of the law won a victory.

It is said that Rice had recently been warned that the machine was against the law, but that he paid no attention to the warning and continued to run it. Justice Ehlien says that he will put every slot machine in his territory out of business, if he has to resort to force to do it.

RELIANCE IS IN THE LEAD

(Special to The Daily Press.)

12:40—Reliance has a lead of several minutes.

11:30—Wind seven knots an hour. Owing to the haze yachts could not be signalled. Preparatory gun fired.

11:37—Both yachts on starboard tack.

11:45—Yachts started. Shamrock crossed line first.

Sandy Hook, 12:08—Reliance overlaps the Shamrock and gains the lead.

Rap at Mr. Swackhamer.

Assemblyman Swackhamer, of this county, spoke at the farmers' picnic in Hunterdon County on Wednesday, where he was saluted by ardent Democrats as the next Governor. This jollying has been carried to such an extent that our Sunny Sam really regins to assume an executive air, and the Democratic papers are taking it quite seriously. The nominating convention is a year away, however, and lots of things may happen in the mean time. Should the Republicans make a strong fight this fall on Assemblyman they could defeat Mr. Swackhamer for re-election, and then his gubernatorial pie would be all dough.—Bound Brook Chronicle.

Funeral of Mr. Quinn.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Patrick Quinn, who died Thursday were held this morning at the home of the dead man on West Third street and at St. Mary's R. C. Church where a solemn requiem mass was celebrated for the repose of his soul. The mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Egan. The interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Telephone Co. at Work.

The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has a force of men employed on the streets of the city overhauling some of the overhead wires and renovating the transformers and distributing boxes. Some new conduit cables will be installed in different parts of the city to make room for enlargement of the local service.

Entries Close Tonight.

Secretary Green, of the Plainfield Driving Association announced this morning that the entries for the races to be held at the Plainfield Driving Park next Saturday will be closed this evening. There are many more entries than was anticipated and the prospects are that a lively series of races will be run.

Bids for Macadamizing.

Chairman James K. Arnold, of North Plainfield Common Council has advertised for bids for the macadamizing of Norwood avenue, North Plainfield. The bids will be received up to Monday. Specifications can be secured at the office of H. C. VanEmburgh, on North avenue.

Miss Sampson Entertained.

A party was held at the home of Miss Mabel Sampson, of Washington street, last evening in honor of her third birthday. A number of her little friends were present. Refreshments were served and the little tots spent the evening in singing and playing games.

Miss Albertta Starr Thoms, of the borough, has returned from her vacation spent at Rockaway Beach.

THE SMALL BOY AND THE CIGARETTE

Lighted Match Thrown From Hayloft Started Blaze in a Barn.

THE BOY IN DANGER

FLIGHT CUT OFF, HAD TO JUMP TO A PILE OF STRAW BELOW.

Was Unhurt—Damage to the Barn About One Hundred Dollars—Fire Corner of Plainfield Avenue and West Front Street.

A cigarette, a match and a boy were responsible for an alarm of fire from box 43 at the corner of Plainfield avenue and West Front street this morning at 10:40. When the department arrived they found that a barn in the rear of Benjamin F. Ruckman's house was afire. A stream was connected to a nearby hydrant and the blaze was extinguished before damage amounting to more than $100 was done.

Arthur, the son of Mr. Ruckman, entered the barn for a quiet smoke. To avoid being seen by his mother he crawled into a corner of the barn, struck a match and lighted the cigarette. After the habit of small boys he threw the lighted match on the floor and then went into the hay loft to finish the smoke.

Some hay caught fire and in a few moments the lower part of the barn was ablaze. Young Ruckman, according to Miss Fanny Walker, a neighbor, was up in the hay loft in ignorance of the existence of the blaze below, but enjoying his cigarette. When the smoke began to curl up about him he forgot his cigarette and started to climb down. The flames rushed up at him as he lifted the hatchway and he was a prisoner. Neighbors saw that the building was ablaze and organized a bucket brigade.

While they were at work trying to extinguish the fire they were startled at seeing master Arthur jump from the door of the hay loft upon a pile of straw near by. The boy was badly frightened but unhurt.

DEATH FOLLOWED ACCIDENT.

Mrs. Weeks Knocked Down by Carriage Monday Died Yesterday.

Mrs. Emeline Weeks, an aged woman living in Madison avenue, died this morning about 11 o'clock. While she had been ill for some time past, she sustained a severe nervous shock last Monday morning, while crossing the street at the corner of Park avenue and Second street. She was struck and knocked down by the horse of Patrick Leary, of South Plainfield. The accident was probably due to the woman's defective eyesight.

Mrs. Weeks had lived in Plainfield for a number of years, coming here from New York State. She was the mother of Mrs. Henry VanName, of Madison avenue.

To Visit Fairview Council.

The members of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will pay a fraternal visit to Fairview Council, at Mt. Bethel next Wednesday evening. It is hoped that the delegation will be a large one as Fairview Council is making elaborate plans for an entertainment. The trip will be made in a stage.

Mrs. Horn Buried.

The funeral services of Mrs. Fanny Capron Horn were held last evening at 8 o'clock from the home in East Sixth street. Rev. E. V. Sevenson, of Grace Church, officiated. There was a large attendance of friends and neighbors. The interment was in Hillside Cemetery.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

The test of pure milk is in the summer time, when the weather is warm. If you have had any trouble in keeping milk, give Wm. Lindsay & Sons, of Mountain avenue, a chance to serve you. There is no doubt that you will be pleased.

J. M. Cahart, at the New York Painting and Decorating store in Park avenue, is showing a choice line of new wall-papers. This is a good time to have your rooms papered, while you are away on your vacation. Contracts for first-class painting are also taken.

There never was a jewelry store in this city where greater reliance could be placed upon the workmanship of the clock and watch repairing departments than Carl Silbert's on Somerset street. Special attention is paid to the stock of silverware, jewelry, watches and diamonds.

Heat is trying to babies. The summer weather is almost unendurable to the little people but their relief is in talcum powder Nagle's talcum powder beats the other brands. Once used, always used. A complete line of toilet articles are at his West Front street store and you can best be fitted out there.

The cool breezes at Asbury Park are a delight to the sweltering multitudes of the metropolitan district and to the people of Plainfield. For the purpose of giving all an opportunity of visiting that well known seaside resort Warren Chapel will conduct an excursion to the Park next Thursday. Everybody should take in this trip.

Saturday is always bargain day at a fish store. Big consignments of all kinds of fish are at Jerry Foss' fish market on Park avenue. Blue fish, butter fish, weak fish, and all the rest of the finny tribe on the market. Hard and soft shell crabs, too, every one alive. And the prices will be 'way down. Stop at the market and get something for breakfast Sunday.

When you are to have company, you always take particular care about the dinner. The crowning glory of a dinner is the meat. What does the guest enjoy about the dinner more than the roast, carefully cooked to perfection and flanked by the vegetables? The cooking of a piece of meat is not the only thing, either, because poor meat cannot be cooked so as to be good. VanSickle's North avenue market has the best.

Lake Hopatcong.

Lake Hopatcong has become justly famous for several reasons but chief of these is its location. High up in New Jersey's beautiful mountains, a thousand feet above the sea level, surrounded by verdant hills and charming landscape, it is the perfection of outing places. To reach it is a delightful journey through a series of picturesque valleys, and the time of the traveler is so occupied feasting on the scenic sights that the few hours journey are like fleeting moments. For a Sunday excursion no place is more popular than Lake Hopatcong, and if you want a day of enjoyment take in the $1.00 excursion to Lake Hopatcong. The New Jersey Central is to run on August 23, 1903. There will be a special train from Plainfield at 9:20 a. m., and the return train does not leave the lake until late afternoon. There is ample opportunity for a trip over the lake or such enjoyment as one may care to indulge in.

Up the Hudson.

History teaches us that Hudson, in his trip up the river which bears his name, was highly pleased with the marvelous scenic surroundings. Were he to make the trip today words would not express his delight, for in addition to nature's handiwork the embellishments by man have made the Hudson one of the grandest spots in the country. The New Jersey Central will run in connection with Steamer St. Johns a popular-priced excursion up the Hudson on Aug. 26, 1903. Rate to be $1 and train will leave Plainfield at 8:46 a. m. Fare for children at half of above rate. St. Johns is one of the famous Sandy Hook Fleet and is the best appointed and fastest excursion boat in the harbor. 8 18 7

AMUSEMENTS.

Never before in the history of summer amusements has such a record in attendance been attained as is shown this year at Luna Park, New York City's newest amusement resort. The original cost of more than a million dollars has already been paid and as the summer advances the crowds become greater and the forms of amusements wider in scope. Other seaside resort proprietors have not been long in learning the secret of Luna Park's success, but up to now have been slow in following on. Luna Park provides a continuous free performance of outdoor sensational attractions, so that it costs nothing more than the original entrance fee of ten cents to have an entire day's amusement unless one is desirous of taking in some of the large illusion spectacles.

Pain will celebrate his twenty-fifth anniversary at the firework's enclosure, Manhattan Beach, Thursday evening next, when undoubtedly the largest and most important display of fireworks that has yet been given in this famous home of pyrotechny will be seen. Twenty-five years is a long time for any entertainment to hold itself in the hearts of the community and remain uninterruptedly in one place. The growth of the pyrotechnic art has kept pace with the passing of time, and on Thursday evening the grandchildren of the babies who saw the fireworks first in the old enclosure back of the Oriental Hotel will look on with amazement while their parents and grandparents enjoy the beautiful colors and attractive set pieces which have become richer with age.

Musical comedy that has been dominant on Broadway with ever increasing popularity for past seasons has had its day. Froth is not substantial or lasting. And the public—even that part of it whose tastes are temporarily satisfied by shallow, glittering trifles—have wearied of those once popular "musical" type. That the very best of this form of entertainment is wanted by the majority of our theatre goers, is proved by the long and honored career of the Bostonians, the oldest operatic organization in America—an organization that has done more in bringing American light opera to a high standard than all the ephemeral companies that ever existed. For the past quarter century they have presented the ideal in comic opera. Messrs. Barnabee and MacDonald—the most prominent exponents of comic opera in this country for twenty-five years—will again be at the head of the company. Mr. Barnabee is indeed the "grand old man of comic opera." Mr. MacDonald in the zenith of his career, now shows the fullest development of his art. The engagement will be for only three weeks at the Academy of Music, New York City, beginning Monday, Aug. 24, when they will produce the greatest American opera ever written, the famous "Robin Hood."

Shorthose Won the Huron.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 22.—The fair weather brought out a very large crowd to the race track. Shorthose won the Huron, the day's featured event, in the very slow time of 2:02 3-5. It was a loafing race over the entire course. Rigodon took the lead at the start, followed by Sheriff Bell and Proper. These positions continued until the three-quarter pole was reached, where Shorthose drew up on the leader, the latter passing him on the outside and winning by a length. Reservation passed Proper and Sheriff Bell in turn and got third money, a length behind Rigodon, while Sheriff Bell passed Proper near the finish.

Racing at Hawthorne.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—The Giver won the mile and a sixteenth handicap at Hawthorne. Orsina, the heavily backed favorite, led for a mile, closely attended by Louisville, the extreme outsider. At the head of the stretch Orsina gave it up, and The Giver took command. Louisville hung on to him gamely to the last hundred yards, where she gave it up, and The Giver won as he pleased, with two and a half lengths to spare. Louisville managed to last long enough to beat Warte Nicht a neck for second place.

Clotheir to Meet Younger Doherty.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 22.—It is now practically certain that W. J. Clotheir will be the one to meet the younger Doherty for the honor of challenging Larned for the national championship. R. F. Doherty is expected to default to his brother in the fifth round, so that H. L. Doherty will next meet R. H. Carleton in the semifinals.

Favorites Bowled Over.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 22.—Favorites were bowled over in four races at Kinloch park. Rainland, the favorite in the feature, a six furlong handicap for two-year-olds, finished back in the ruck, the race going to Magnolin, which beat Old Stone, the outsider, a nose.

Odell at Oyster Bay.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Governor Benjamin B. Odell of New York had a three hours' conference with President Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill. They reached a perfect understanding on all points which they discussed and are in entire accord regarding all matters of either personal or party concern. Governor Odell arrived in Oyster bay off Sagamore hill in the New York naval reserve ship Aileen. On board besides the governor were Lieutenant Commander Frye and Captain Henshew, commander of the Second battalion of New York naval reserves, and Adjutant General Henry.

THE AMERICAN NAVY

Pennsylvania One of the Most Powerful Ships Afloat.

TWO SISTER SHIPS WILL FOLLOW

Senator Quay's Daughter Named Her—Twenty-five Thousand People Witnessed the Launching.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—Miss Susan Quay, eldest daughter of Senator Quay, sent a bottle of wine crashing against the bows of the new armored cruiser Pennsylvania as the huge ship slid off the ways into the Delaware river. In launching the Pennsylvania the United States navy has put afloat one of the most powerful fighting machines ever built. Her two sister ships are now in course of completion.

Miss Quay has been overwhelmed with congratulations on the honor of christening the huge ship. She is popular, and her selection was a source of general satisfaction.

The launching was one of the biggest events of the year here, and it is estimated that over 25,000 persons saw the war ship glide into the water.

Among the interested spectators were two men who were intimately connected with the christening and passing of the huge wooden war ship which first bore the name of the Keystone State in the navy. They are George W. Williams, who was present at the launching of the original Pennsylvania in 1837, and William McAbee, who issued the order for the abandonment of the frigate before she was burned at the Norfolk navy yard.

The governor, the mayor, most of the congressmen and representatives of trade and commercial bodies witnessed the event.

Having a length on the load water line of 435 feet and an extreme breadth of 76 feet 10 inches, the new Pennsylvania eclipses in bulk any United States war ship now afloat.

Her length over all is 504 feet, and it is said that under forced draft she will be capable of a speed of 22 knots.

She will be armed with four 12 inch guns, mounted in pairs in Hichborn balanced turrets; eight 8 inch guns mounted in turrets, twelve 6 inch rapid fire guns, twelve 14 pounders, twelve 3 pounders and batteries of smaller guns. The broadside discharge of the ship will equal in weight nearly 6,000 pounds of steel.

SALISBURY IS DYING.

England's Great Marquis and Statesman In Critical State.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The condition of Lord Salisbury is critical, the members of his family, including Viscount Cranborne, Lord Arthur Cecil, Lord Robert Cecil, the Rev. Lord William Cecil, Lady Gwendolin Cecil, the Earl and Countess of Selborne and later Premier Balfour, who came from Scotland, have been gathered in the vicinity of the sick room awaiting the final call. It is realized that death is inevitable, though the patient is making a wonderful struggle.

For the past twenty-four hours he has been fighting for every breath, helped by a continual supply of oxygen. The heart weakness, which has been the most dangerous feature since the patient's last seizure, is hourly becoming accentuated, and the marquis is gradually passing away. He does not suffer much pain and has only brief periods of consciousness.

Telegrams poured in all day from notable men throughout the world. King Edward telegraphed for additional information, though his majesty has been kept informed by the bulletins.

Hatfield House, the family seat, where the former premier now lies dying, is a gloomy structure, though one of the most magnificent remaining specimens of Elizabethan architecture. It is situated in a magnificent park which skirts the quaint town of which the Marquis of Salisbury is practically the owner. He was always regarded there as the type of England's great nobles, and he retained the love and respect of his tenants and neighbors, which he reciprocated in many kindly ways.

Actor Insulted the Kaiser.

BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Konrad von Fielitz, an actor, was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment on a charge of leze majesty in libeling the German emperor in his jokes at the theater Fielitz was engaged at the German theater at The Hague at the time when the emperor was honoring Field Marshal Lord Roberts in Berlin. He sang couplets voicing the feeling among the Dutch against Emperor William. After the performances there were festive gatherings at which Fielitz indulged in pleasantries which two Germans present considered insulting to Emperor William and reported to Berlin. On Fielitz's return to Berlin he was arrested. The public prosecutor asked for a sentence of fifteen months' imprisonment.

Unknown Man Killed by Tramps.

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 22.—An unknown young man from Indiana was shot in the side by one of four tramps near Augusta. He died several hours later. He and two companions lay down to sleep with tramps last night. The tramps robbed them of watches and money while asleep. They showed fight and one was shot. Two men were arrested at Rose Hill upon suspicion.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 22.—The Baltimore and Ohio signed contracts for 50,000 tons of eighty-five pound steel rails for 1904 delivery. The Carnegie company will furnish 28,000 tons; Cambria, 12,000, and Maryland Steel company [illegible]

MARROQUIN SPEAKS

President of Colombia Defines His Policy.

HE FAVORS THE PANAMA CANAL.

No Obstacles Should Be Placed in the Way of So Grand an Enterprise Even If It Costs Some Sacrifices.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Aug. 22.—The following dispatch has been received from Bogota overland via Cucuta:

Before presenting the Panama canal treaty to the Colombian senate President Marroquin said: "My government is confronted with this dilemma: Either our sovereignty must suffer detriment or we must renounce certain pecuniary advantages to which in the opinion of many we have a right, or we must vigorously maintain our sovereignty and claim in a peremptory manner the pecuniary indemnity to which we consider ourselves entitled.

"In the first case by consenting to the diminishing of our authority and not aspiring to an important indemnity if the canal should be opened through the Panama isthmus the just desire of the inhabitants of that department and of all Colombians, and also the government would be satisfied, but the government would be exposing itself to having the charge brought against it later that it did not duly defend our sovereignty and that it sacrificed the interest of the nation.

"In the second case, should the canal not be opened through Panama the government will be reproached with not having allowed Colombia to obtain that advantage which is considered an essential condition of our aggrandizement.

"I have already expressed my desire that the interoceanic canal be opened through our territory. I think that even at the cost of some sacrifices we ought not to place obstacles in the way of so grand an enterprise, both because it will be a gigantic material improvement to our country and because once the canal is opened by the North Americans we shall strengthen and widen our relations with them which will result in an immeasurable gain for our industry, commerce and wealth. Happily for me, the immense responsibility which must weight upon him who decides this question must be assumed by congress, whose duty it is to definitely approve or disapprove of the agreement proposed by the North American government."

A patriotic demonstration occurred in Bogota after the disapproval of the treaty by the senate.

LIPTON SATISFIED.

Japan May Have a Shy at the Cup Next Time.

HIGHLANDS, N. J., Aug. 22.—"Others may hold differently, but I am better satisfied and surer of the boat than I have ever been before."

That was what Sir Thomas Lipton said after a night's reflection on the race fiasco. He was on board the Erin lying in the bight of Sandy Hook bay. The Irish baronet was in the best of humor and pleased with the showing the new and third challenger for the "blue ribbon of the seas" made.

"Shamrock III. did the better work while there was any wind," he continued. "She showed her speed and quality.

"The treatment I have received here has been marvelous. The kindness and cordiality with which I have been treated has almost overcome me. At times I am positively embarrassed."

The Japanese flag will fly at the masthead of one of the next challengers for the famous cup which Sir Thomas Lipton is trying so hard to lift. So says Lieutenant Commander Isam Takeshira of the imperial Japanese navy, who was one of the guests on the Erin at the first race. He declares he will interest influential men in his country to prepare at once to build a racer to enter the next international contest.

Commander Takeshira said:

"Japan will try to lift the cup. Twenty-five years ago Japan knew little about building ships. Now we can build war ships as good as those built in America, and we can turn out yachts that will compare favorably with the challenger and defender in the present series of races.

Woman Killed Near Gilbertville.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 22.—A special from Gilbertville says that Martha J. Smith, twenty-one years old, of Three Rivers, Palmer county, was killed by a passenger train on the Boston and Albany division at a private crossing near Gilbertville passenger station. She was walking a little ahead of three other ladies, stepped on the track and was struck by the engine. Her head was severed and thrown forty feet.

Tried to Die by Kerosene Fire.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—After saturating her clothing with kerosene and setting it on fire in an effort to commit suicide, Mrs. Mabel Lathey fell upon the floor of the hallway in her home and awaited death. A boarder in the house discovered the unfortunate woman and with the aid of a policeman succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not until the woman had been so severely burned that it is feared she will die.

Massachusetts Sails For Repairs.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—Captain Emory, commanding the Indiana, telegraphs the navy department from Frenchman's bay that the Massachusetts, under convoy of the Indiana, Potomac and Lebanon, has sailed for Tompkinsville. She will be docked and repaired at the New York yard.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co. Report Business Good.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Business is well maintained aside from the quieting influence of the vacation season, which somewhat restricts trade and retards collections. Making due allowance for the period, there is no cause for complaint. The adverse factors that have been operating against prosperity in recent preceding weeks are no longer as potent, normal influences gradually prevailing. Labor controversies still exist, curtailing the output of a few products and the consumption of all the necessaries of life. Crops are not going to market as freely as usual, although the agricultural outlook is distinctly favorable. In spite of several obvious reasons for expecting a check to freight traffic earnings of railways thus far reported in August show an average gain of 9.6 per cent over last year and 18.2 per cent over 1901.

Complaints are beginning to be heard regarding the inadequate facilities of the railways, and it now appears that inconvenience and loss must again be experienced notwithstanding the extensive improvements.

Merchandise is in good demand at Boston, business in some quarters is above the average for August, and the footwear industry continues fully occupied. Building operations are large, and a healthy tone is evident in wholesale trade at Baltimore, while the fall outlook is unusually bright.

Somewhat easier prices for the great food staples testify to brighter prospects. Wheat was forced upward in a most sensational manner, particularly at the principal northwestern flour center, but favorable news from spring wheat sections and a normal movement at the southwest disposed of "dollar wheat" for the time.

Domestic producing capacity has been enlarged even more than home consumption, and consequently foreign markets will receive more attention. Imports were slightly larger than in the preceding month and $2,032,513 more than in July, 1902, making a total gain in foreign commerce of $4,781,286 over the same month last year.

No event of importance affected corn, which fluctuated in sympathy with the principal cereal.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported for August aggregated $6,965,185, of which $5,151,151 were in manufacturing, $1,733,747 in trading and $80,287 in other commercial lines.

THE CANADA LAKE TRAGEDY.

Evidence of Miss Brown's Engagement to Evans Disclosed.

JOHNSTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 22.—It is learned now that the ring found on the body of Florence Brown, who was drowned in Canada lake about two weeks ago, was an engagement ring from George H. Evans, who was drowned with her. The day after the disappearance of the couple Mrs. Biering of New York, sister of the girl, told Evans' guardian that the young man had asked the girl to accept the ring and marry him as soon as possible, promising to break his engagement with Miss Weart of Pittsburg.

Mrs. Biering did not know whether the ring had been accepted by the girl or not, but after Evans' body had been found and it was seen that the ring was not in his pockets it was supposed that the girl must have it, and when her body was found the ring was found tied about her neck. This increases the theories suggested for the explanation of the double tragedy.

THE HUMBERT TRIAL.

M. Labori Scores the Administrators of Justice.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—Among those who had reserved places near the judges at the Humbert trial was Senora Castro, wife of the president of Venezuela, who was accompanied by the Venezuelan minister.

Maitre Labori continued his address for the defense, urging that the larger creditors had acted through attorneys, who should be held responsible, while the small creditors would have been paid if the Rente Viagere had not been wrecked through the premature prosecution of the Humberts.

The charges of Maitre Labori, although avoiding specific accusations, reflected severely on the chief personages in the system of the administration of justice. He reasserted the existence of the Crawfords and maintained that the prosecution had failed to establish that they and the millions did not exist.

Counsel made an eloquent appeal to the jury to render impartial justice and closed with reading an extract from Voltaire's "Truth," declaring that jurors who had responsive consciences and were honest men would acquit.

Maitre Labori caused a considerable sensation by a bitter denunciation of M. Cattaui, the money lender, for prosecuting the Humberts, and, incidentally mentioning M. Waldeck-Rousseau's and M. Valle's part in the prosecution, he declared the political parties' leaders had become degenerate. M. Valle, counsel pointed out, first acted as attorney against the Humberts and afterward became minister of justice, supervising their prosecution. M. Cattaui, he asserted, belonged to that class which is bringing dishonor on France and seeking to gain all through the use of money, thus corrupting the public administration.

BATTLE IN A MORASS.

American Troops Capture Moro Stronghold.

MANILA, Aug. 22.—A Moro fort, the stronghold of the datto at Binang-Binang, has been captured by the American troops.

The battle began at daybreak and lasted half a day. It was the culmination of four months of effort to arrest by peaceable means the assailants of Sergeant Painter and to regain the guns stolen by the Moros.

Major Bullard of the Twenty-eighth infantry had a narrow escape at the outset of the battle. A Moro fanatic, brandishing a kriss, rushed at him and slashed the hat on his head. Before the Moro could strike another blow Corporal Doyle shot him dead.

The battle field was a morass, and the American troops stood waist deep in water in places.

WARLIKE IN EAST.

Japanese Papers Tell of Continued Preparations.

VICTORIA, Aug. 22.—Japanese papers received by the steamship Indravelli from Yokohama on Aug. 4 tell of continued military preparations. The Japan Advertiser says the government is preparing for war, whether war comes or not. The men of the different regiments are taking leave of their families, and Formosa is being filled with troops.

The Advertiser quotes a lengthy interview with W. H. Krumm, an American mining expert from Manchuria, who said his observation in Manchuria showed clearly that Russia intended to keep Manchuria and was prepared to fight. He told of preparations to swarm eastern Asia with troops.

Labor Riot at McKeesport.

M'KEESPORT, Pa., Aug. 22.—Women mixed with men engaged in a street riot here. The trouble took place on Thirteenth street between a number of workmen employed at the Port Vue Tin Plate mill, where the strike declared three months ago still remains unsettled, and a party of strikers. The workmen had a keg of beer and the strikers attempted to take it from them. Shots were exchanged, but no one was injured. The women, armed with brooms and other nondescript weapons, took part in the affair. Several of the workmen were badly beaten in the attack of the amazons, who for the first time have taken a hand in the strike riots here. Two women who conducted a boarding house where a number of the men, nonunionists, are quartered were chased several squares by the infuriated women strike sympathizers and fell from exhaustion. The police were unable to cope with the mob.

Howard Boyd a Suicide.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22.—Howard Boyd, aged forty-eight years, secretary and treasurer of the Swedesford Bridge company, committed suicide at his home in Norristown, near here, by shooting himself in the head. Mr. Boyd had been a victim of epilepsy, and ill health is believed to have impelled him to end his life. He was wealthy and at one time was secretary and treasurer of the Philadelphia, Newton and New York railroad and the Perkiomen and Stoney Creek railroad.

Body Found in Sands Pond.

Boy Held on Charge of Murder.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Ivan Cheney, nine years old, of Potsdam shot and instantly killed his nine-year-old playmate, Stephen Narrow, because the latter had threatened to kill Cheney's pet cat. The boy was arrested and is held on a charge of murder.

FLEET TO WITHDRAW

Russian War Ships Will Leave Turkish Waters.

DANGER OF A CONFLICT ON FRONTIER

Bulgaria Will Strengthen Line of Her Territory Near Adrianople. Her Army Must Come In Contact With Sultan's Troops.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 22.—A high Turkish official said that the porte would never submit to a peaceful occupation of the Bosporus and the Dardanelles, and it could only come after desperate fighting.

Diplomats here point out that the scheme for a settlement of the Macedonian question outlined by the Independance Belge could not therefore be approved.

Official reports say the Russian squadron off Iniada is likely to leave Turkish waters within the next few days, as the Turkish government has given adequate assurances that it will meet all the Russian demands. The withdrawal of the war ships will be due chiefly to Turkey's assurances, but also to Russia's desire to avoid a step which might appear antagonistic to Bulgaria.

All the dispatches received from Sofia indicate that the revolution in Macedonia is spreading. The situation is causing intense anxiety in official circles. The most alarming news relates to an outbreak covering a considerable area in the eastern part of the Adrianople vilayet, where the insurgents have captured the town of Vasiliko. They took the chief Turkish officials prisoners and brought them to the Bulgarian frontier, where they liberated them.

The Turkish officials, fearing to return to Vasiliko, sought refuge of the Bulgarian authorities, who sent them to a hotel in Burgas, where they are at liberty to remain or depart. The insurgents have burned the villages behind Vasiliko and attacked a Turkish military post at the monastery of Elijah, south of Tirnovo.

The eastern part of the Adrianople vilayet is a mountainous region, and the villages are few and scattered. It is thought that the outbreak is not an organized movement, but it is intended as a diversion to draw the Turkish troops from the other districts.

The peculiar danger of the latest outbreak lies in its proximity to the Bulgarian frontier, thus creating a situation long foreseen and dreaded. The sultan is now certain to send a considerable force to this territory to suppress the outbreak, which will necessitate the strengthening of the Bulgarian troops along the frontier. With the two armies close to each other under the present strained relations the situation becomes extremely delicate. The Bulgarian government is taking every possible step to prevent a calamity.

In addition to the danger of a collision between the military forces there is the no smaller one of popular excitement getting beyond control and forcing the Bulgarian government to adopt a belligerent attitude.

Russia's move in sending war ships to Turkish waters has caused surprise in diplomatic circles at Sofia and disapproval and regret in government quarters. The feeling expressed here is that it can only do harm in inclining the insurgents, who are ignorant of the complications of European politics, to the belief that Russia is supporting their cause against the Turks. It is also conjectured that, Russia having apparently acted without first consulting Austria, some rift has occurred in the concert of the powers. Whatever may be the true explanation, the feeling here is that Russia's move can only have the effect of giving a great impetus to the revolutionary movement.

According to advices received at the Russian embassy at Paris, Russia will call home her fleet from the bay of Iniada, Turkey, within a few days owing to assurances given by Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish foreign minister.

Hilmi Pasha, governor of Macedonia, will be censured and European officers appointed over the gendarmerie in Macedonia.

Cincinnati Mayor's Chauffeur Held.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Aug. 22.—Judge Alton B. Parker and County Judge John G. Vanetten caused the arrest of Joseph H. Bridges, chauffeur of Mayor Julius Fleischmann of Cincinnati, who, with a party of friends, was on his way to Fleischmann's, in the Catskills, Mr. Fleischmann's summer home. Chauffeur Bridges sped past Judge Parker's carriage on Broadway at an estimated speed of forty miles an hour. The team became frightened, and only the combined efforts of Judge Parker, Judge Vanetten and Henry Keller, a liveryman, prevented their running away. Meanwhile the automobile caused another team to run away, the horses plunging into the office windows of the Kingston Electric company.

Oil Field Still Ablaze.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—A special from Sour Lake, Tex., says that the oil field fire which started there two days ago is still burning. Not a derrick is standing in the Shoestring district. In addition to the destruction of the derricks many oil wells have been destroyed and several hundred thousand barrels of oil stored in earthen reservoirs are burning. The loss is now estimated at $1,500,000.

Murderer Fired Eight Shots.

ARDMORE, I. T., Aug. 22.—R. T. Lynch, aged thirty years, a merchant of Caddo, in the Choctaw nation, was murdered in his store by unknown persons, who escaped. Eight shots took effect. There is no known motive for the crime, which has caused much excitement.

Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 22, 1903.

The Daily Press has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield.—Printer's Ink.

When anyone talks to you about the thirteen superstition, just remind him of the fact that the late Pope, one of the wisest, most successful and influential pontiffs known to the past few centuries was the thirteenth of his name.

There ought to be enough polo players in Plainfield and vicinity to make the proposal of polo grounds at the Driving Park of unusual interest. Polo is a society game to a great extent; expensive and for this reason not accessible to everyone. It is popular none the less and calls for an alertness of mind and body and a quality of horsemanship that make it well worth the while of those who are able to play it. With polo established in Plainfield athletics next year, the city will be as well represented as possible in almost all lines of modern sport.

The strenuous efforts which Benjamin LaVere has made to provide band concerts for the city and borough are deserving of appreciation. Mr. LaVere has striven earnestly for several years to arrange a satisfactory series and the concerts that he has been able to give have been heartily enjoyed by thousands in this and surrounding cities and towns. His money backing has not been encouraging, however, although the borough Mayor and Councilmen have taken active interest in the project of late. It is to be hoped that the intention of holding a fair for the purpose of raising a fund for a series of twelve concerts next year will not be relinquished. It seems a most excellent means of accomplishing the purpose. The city, too, could readily make possible the holding of concerts at least once a week through next summer. What is needed, is that influential men take hold of the matter early and continue persistently until success is assured.

No Place Like It.

There are seashore resorts everywhere but few sections can ocmpare with the famous New Jersey Coast and here is nothing more beautiful. The bathing is the finest, the climate delightful and the surroundings enchanting. There are fine roads in every direction and the traveler is in the midst of a region in every way to his liking. Likewise the interior of Jersey is interesting from every standpoint. The General Passenger Department of the New Jersey Central has just issued a profusely illustrated book on New Jersey entitled "Seashore and Mountains," which is sent to any address upon receipt of 6 cents in stamps by C. M. Burt, General Passenger Agent, New Jersey Central, 143 Liberty street, New York.

A Little Loss

of flesh and strength, little barking, obstinate cough and a little pain in the chest may not mean galloping consumption, but they are signs that prudence will not neglect. A few doses of Allen's Lung Balsam cause a free discharge of mucus and so loosens the cough. It heals the inflamed air passages and all its beneficent work is accomplished without a grain of opium.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Cards are out announcing the approaching marriage of Frank Hollingsworth, son of Loftus Hollingsworth, of this place and Miss Theresa Bartlett, of Atlantic City. The happy event will be solemnized on Tuesday afternoon, August 25, at the First Baptist Church, of Atlantic City.

Scotch Plains and Westfield are to battle at Recreation Park, this afternoon. This will be the fourth of the series and Scotch Plains will make a hard fight to win, as this would give them an even race with Manager Denman for a majority of the series.

Services at the Baptist Church tomorrow will be: Sunday-school, 9:30; morning preaching, 10:45; Rev. Mr. Osborne, of Short Hills, will occupy the pupit; B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7 p. m.; no evening service will be held.

John Rickerson, who has quite a reputation as a hunter and trap shooter, has purchased a new hammerless gun and will enter the sweepstake matches to be arranged by the local gun club.

Herbert Hetfield, who has been detained at home for two weeks by sickness, is improving and will soon be able to resume charge of the news stand at the station.

Louis Morel, who has been enjoying a three weeks' European trip, part of which time has been spent at his boyhood home in France, will return home today.

Scotch Plains is nearly deserted this afternoon. Almost everyone is at Recreation Park, Westfield, helping the locals try to down Manager Denman's colts.

James Fitzgerald and a party of friends spent Friday at Tremley Point, fishing and crabbing. A fair catch was the reward for their day's work.

Rev. G. M. Shott, who is visiting friends in Cleveland, Ohio, will occupy the pulpit, Sunday, of the First Baptist Church, of that city.

Mrs. Charles Brown and daughters, of Elizabeth, are spending a week with Mrs. John H. Coles, of Park avenue.

Miss Mamie Merceira, who has been spending two weeks with her parents, has returned to her home in Plainfield.

Open air praise service will be held Sunday evening by Rev. George Shaw, of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Ann Dobbins has been entertaining friends from Newark.

Miss May Shott is visiting friends at Heugonots, Staten Island.

Mrs. Augusta Miller is spending a week at Asbury Park.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The committee appointed by Camp 41, P. O. S. of A., and Camp 1, P. O. S. of A., met last night at Charles Brantingham's and completed arrangements to hold a peach and ice cream festival on the evening of September 9 in Washington Hall.

The article in yesterday's paper, referring to the robbing of a "South Plainfield drunk," was wrongly stated. The man in question was a stranger here.

There will be no preaching services at the Baptist Church, tomorrow. The Christian Endeavor Society will hold their evening service at the usual time.

Jack Walsh and George Gearty, of New York, are spending part of this week with their families at Mrs. Mary N. Pyatt's, Clinton avenue.

Several persons from here accompanied the Plainfield excursion to Asbury Park, this morning.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

"Hello Judge, married anyone today?"

"Well, now that is a rather queer question to ask, but to be honest with you, I can truthfully answer the question in the negative."

This conversation was overheard a few days ago in the office of Justice Mosher, who has been rightfully termed the "marrying Justice of Plainfield," and it was brought about by a recent couple who visited this magistrate and had the nuptial knot tied. Laying aside all jokes, Justice Mosher, during his ten years of service in this city, has married more couples than any other one Justice.

"How many couples have you made happy in this way?" inquired an interested bystander, who by the way, did not know how soon he might seek the services of the Justice.

"I have performed the marriage service for twenty-three couples," replied Mr. Mosher, "and I can also state that with one or two exceptions every marriage has been a success. I do the job in the right way and always conclude the ceremony by affectionately kissing the bride. This final act I believe has had much to do with the success of the marriages and I have never yet met a groom who objected to this part of the ceremony. I have been visited at all hours of the day and night and I have never yet refused a couple."

"What fees do I get?" replied Mr. Mosher in answer to the question. "That depends. I have received all the way from the legal fee of 38 cents to $5. I never ask any stated fee, so long as the groom comes within the 38 cents and I have yet to meet the one so mean that he would not give up that price for the sake of being properly married."

"No I have never been asked to give credit, although some of the grooms have looked as though they would like to get married on that plan. But generally they do not have the cheek to ask credit in front of their newly-wedded wives."

There is no doubt but what Justice Mosher is a most accommodating man when it comes to marriages and, as he says, he probably holds the record for performing the greatest number among those of his profession.

—Late yesterday afternoon, Jerry Foss' market delivery boy was sent to Campbell's candy store on West Front street to make a delivery. The boy took Foss' wheel and after doing the errand returned to the store, forgetting that he had ridden the bike. The loss remained undiscovered until this morning when the wheel was found at the police station. It had been taken there by Policeman Vanderweg who found it where the boy left it at 1:30 this morning.

WASHINGTON STORIES

Glimpse of Life and People at the Nation's Capital.

HERNANDEZ, THE MAIMED ONE

Extraordinary Character of Venezuelan Minister—Mrs. Cushman K. Davis' Marriage Causes Stir—Marine Band Growing Old.

Washington.—Washington is to have an acquisition to its diplomatic colony this winter in the person of Gen. Jose Manuel Hernandez, the new minister from Venezuela, who has just arrived with his credentials. Hernandez is one of the most extraordinary characters in all South America. There is no man in all that turbulent continent who has had a more stormy career. He has gone through so many perilous experiences that he is commonly known in his own country as "El Mocho" (the maimed one). He has followers who would obey his slightest call even though he led them to death, and yet he has little impressive or inspiring about to the ordinary observer—just a plain, unassuming, rather shabbily dressed South American.

Gen. Jose Manuel Hernandez.

Hernandez has been a revolutionist ever since he was 20 years old. He got his first taste of powder away back in 1868, and there has been few years since then that he has not spent more or less time in the field. Venezuela has not had a president in all that period whom Hernandez has not tried to overthrow. His last attempt was against the present President Castro.

It was only two days after Castro ousted Andrade that Hernandez raised the standard of revolt against him, and less than a year ago the beaten leader was wearing 60-pound shackles and subsisting as best he could on banana peels while suffering the imprisonment that Castro had sentenced him to. Had it not been for the joint attack of Germany and England on Venezuela last summer Hernandez would probably still be in prison. But in the face of the country's peril he was liberated by Castro, and he is now regarded as one of the Venezuelan president's strongest supporters.

Mrs. Davis a Bride.

No happening in Washington in a good many months has caused more comment than the announcement of the marriage of the widow of Cushman K. Davis. For in the past 15 years there has been no woman in the capital who was more generally known and in whose personality greater interest was shown. The circumstances of her marriage to the late chairman of the foreign relations committee, the social feud which that marriage inspired, the political fortunes which it made and marred, all conspired to lend to it a romantic interest. Added to this was the interest which attached to the woman herself in the long period of her social prominence in Washington.

Mrs. Cushman K. Davis.

It was as Mrs. Cushman K. Davis that she held her place in the life of the capital, and it will doubtless be by the same name that she will be referred to hereafter, in spite of the ceremony which has made her Mrs. Hunter Doll. While Senator Davis was alive his wife played a conspicuous part, and this was especially true after he became chairman of the foreign relations committee, which carries with it a certain social prestige belonging to no other chairmanship in either senate or house.

When the Davises went to Paris at the time of the meeting of the peace commission, of which the Minnesota senator was a member, Mrs. Davis became easily the most conspicuous of the women attached to the mission, and her doings were chronicled on both sides of the Atlantic throughout the time of the sittings. Her receptions were the most crowded, and the number of notables in her train was greater than that of any other American woman.

Marine Band Celebrates.

The oldest musical organization in the United States has just celebrated its one hundred and fifth anniversary—for that is the venerable age of the United States marine band, which comes very near to being for the American government what the various royal and court bands are for the different capitals of Europe. The Marine band has done more for the cultivation of the right sort of musical taste in a popular way than any other organization in America, and yet it has always been compelled to labor under the greatest conceivable disadvantages. It is stationed in Washington at the marine barracks.

"And the Band Played On."

Its members are all enlisted men in the marine corps, including the leader, who by special condescension, is allowed the pay and commutation of a lieutenant. They are all, including the leader, subject to the discipline of the corps, and with the exception of the leader none of them receives higher pay than a private in the corps—$13 a month.

The only way in which it had been possible to maintain for so many years the superlative quality of the organization is by the dispensation that members may secure engagements privately to eke out a beggarly income, and the musical unions have been so bitterly opposed to this that the band has had to fight its way against prejudice and narrowness for many years.

Only a few days ago, when they were engaged to march in the elks' procession in Baltimore, the members of the union threatened to strike and leave the procession without any other music than the Marine band unless the contract was annuled. However, the contract was adhered to, and the bands played on. It was as leader of the Marine band that Sousa made his reputation as the march king. He composed his most famous pieces of music while drawing a salary of $1,200 a year as an enlisted man in the marine corps.

Newspaper Men and Scientists.

The interesting contest which has been going on down the Potomac between the newspapers and the scientists, who have been experimenting with Prof. S. P. Langley's aerdome, has had rather an exciting denouement. For a month the newspapermen have been on the quivive, and Prof. Langley, during the same length of time has kept himself and his machine as much a profund secret as possible. And now the machine has been seen and judging from its antics is more of a fish than a bird, for it made straight for the water after beginning its flight. Prof. Langley has been at work on his invention for over 20 years. He is an old man now and if after the damaged machine is repaired it should still refuse to fly it will prove bitterly disappointing to him. He has devoted his best energies and beside has spent $50,000 of a government appropriation made for military purposes in his endeavor.

Scientist Fleeing from the Ottrusive Reporter.

About a month ago he sent his apparatus down the Potomac in the keeping of a party of scientists and machinists, there to make the all-important trial under the most approved conditions. They have a houseboat from which the machine has just made its disastrious flight and all sorts of other paraphernalia. In their trail went representatives of every important newspaper in the country. The scientists have devoted themselves to keeping out of the way of the reporters. They have been living at the Mount Vernon Ducking club, of which Prof. Langley is a member, and they have relentlessly driven out everybody who ventured too near the sacred precincts. Now it happens that there are other members of the club than Prof. Langley and they resented its monopoly by the scientists to the exclusion of everybody else. Consequently one of these, Truxton Beale, who was once United States minister to Persia, notified the professor of his intention to occupy the club with a few of his friends and the friends he chose were the newspaper reporters who had hitherto been kept out in the swamp. Then it was the scientists who had to shift for themselves.

So much for the contest which had almost eclipsed the interest in the flying machine itself.

Prof. Langley's Airship.

As for the latter much of the mystery—a mystery which has been purposely intensified by those having it in charge—has been cleared by the view which was obtained from the press boat which was not more than 20 feet from the houseboat when the aerdome let it in its aerial flight and submarine dive. It is constructed on the principle of the aeroplane, being equipped with four wings, two on each side. These wings are about four by six feet in dimensions, made of the finest oil silk and held upon delicate wooden rods. The wings are in the shape of a tent. The body of the machine consists of an intricate arrangement of fine steel rods, with the cylinders, motor and boilers carefully balanced thereon. Between the two sets of wings are placed the propellors, which are two in number. Each fitted with two blades. The steering gear is situated in the rear and is constructed from materials similar to that of the wings. The motor carried by the machine is supposed to generate something in excess of two-horse power.

Prof. Langley's Houseboat.

According to all the scientists there is no question about the ability of the machine to remain suspended in the air after it has once got a start. While the machine is being repaired the same profound atmosphere of secrecy, which even a newspaper man is not able to penetrate, prevails about Prof. Langley's houseboat, and the next flight awaited with anxiety.

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries
LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM. PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

A GARDEN PARTY.

How to Give This Attractive Out of Door Entertainment.

September is an excellent month in which to give a garden party, for the weather is then fairly certain and the sunshine just comfortably warm. Flowers are also to be obtained in quantities, which is not always the case in the early summer.

Nasturtiums, goldenrods and even field daisies make pretty decorations when arranged in glass bowls and tastefully placed in a dolly of green leaves. The tables are much prettier made of rustic wood, but ordinary tables may be wreathed in vines and placed under the trees with good effect.

There are two kinds of garden party—the simple and the elaborate.

The simple is merely an afternoon tea with conversation on the shady lawn and plain refreshments—thin bread and butter, cress sandwiches and punch served under an awning or tree.

The elaborate garden party may take the form of a musicale or follow the English fashion of games—tennis, croquet, etc. One of the best plans is to have a little programme of music and dancing or perhaps a little out of door play, followed by supper under the trees lighted by the harvest moon and Japanese lanterns.

Instead of the lanterns, which sometimes catch fire in a strong wind, there have been introduced this year garden party lamps. These are candlesticks made of glass or metal with a candle set into a high bell shaped chimney to protect it from drafts.

While fancy ices are very pretty they are sometimes expensive, and plain ice cream may be made doubly attractive if it is served in long, narrow glasses surmounted by a spoonful of whipped cream. Blackberries frozen in vanilla ice cream are delicious, and coffee parfait is easy to make, for it does not require to be put in the freezer. Serve each slice of cream with a flower by its side and the slices of boned chicken with a small tomato split open and filled with mayonnaise.

Fruit punch is always appreciated, and a ginger punch can either be made with Canton ginger or good ginger ale mixed with lemon and orange juice.

Selters or other carbonated water adds much to a punch and should always be used in preference to plain water.

For the out of door supper little tables seating four will be required. These are prettiest if decorated in different colors throughout. Hot bouillon, chicken or clam broth is the first course; then a croquette of boned chicken with rolls or sandwiches and a dainty salad. Ices, bonbons and coffee complete the little feast. Cigars and cigarettes should be provided for the men.

HELEN CLIFTON.

THE FIREPLACE.

An Up to Date Rendering of an Old English Fashion.

The attractive fireplace in the picture is so simple it could readily be carried out in any country house. The arch over the fireplace is particularly graceful and lends an air of dignity. The stained glass window effects on the sides can be improved by placing an electric bulb on the other side of the panes.

FIREPLACE SEAT.

The hood is of copper and the fireside implements are of the same metal. The settles on each side are of greenish wood upholstered in Spanish leather in green, gold and brown tones. The woodwork of the entire entrance hall in which the fireplace is situated reproduces the greenish tone. The ledges on both sides of the hearth hold green and reddish china and pottery and the rugs on the hardwood floor carry out the general color design.

R. DE LA BAUME.

TWO KINDS OF GIRLS

Exponents of the Wide Open and the Shut In Policy

"WHAT! Only two?" the bachelor laughed cynically. "Why, my dear woman, there are 342 kinds, and the wise man can't tell between. That is too simple a classification!"

"I still cling to it," retorted the woman who knew. "There are just two kinds of girls—those who pursue the wide open policy and those who favor the shut in policy."

"Holy Moses!" groaned the man; "sounds like politics!"

"Yes, it is—politics of the heart," she returned, "and you can tell the follower of either policy after you have talked with her for so short a space as half an hour even. About the time a girl reaches the age when she first sees something serious in life she realizes all at once that joy and pain and knowledge are all very closely connected; that she may start out with one to find herself with the other instead; that if she is venturesome and opens her heart to people and to things she is bound to be hurt; that if she investigates life for herself and starts out to follow her own opinions and to do things differently from those of the other women sheep she is bound to be hurt, and she stops and says to herself: 'I can't stand pain. I will be cautious and spare it to myself as much as possible.' And that's the beginning of the shut in policy. Poor girl! She doesn't realize that in shutting out pain she shuts out knowledge and joy. So when a love affair comes her way she stops and says to herself, 'Will it benefit me?' And if she sees no immediate pleasure or gain in it she passes it by and her heart grows the smaller because she refused it. And if an original idea or achievement occurs to her mind, instead of attempting it, she exclaims: "I wonder what they will think. I wonder if the world will not think it odd and not to its liking and whether it will not turn on me and hurt me with its condemnation.' So her brain and her soul shrink. In the end, after she has turned away many experiences because she was afraid to open wide her arms and take them in, she reaches that age where nothing can change her and she is just what she has wished to become—a shriveled soul like hundreds of others—without sorrow, but also without joy."

"But the girl who follows the wide open policy, who, like an open door, receives every experience that comes along, what of her? Does she not suffer?"

"Yes, indeed. But with the pain comes the ability to bear it and the knowledge which makes her soul and even the very features of her face noble and strong. When sorrow and hardships come to her she does not shirk or refuse to bear them. She puts her shoulder bravely to the wheel and turns them into triumphs. Because one friend proves false or one experience cruel she does not for that reason shirk all friendships or all similar experiences. Her sorrows indeed have the gift of broadening her heart and mind and of enabling her to sympathize with all who suffer. And, above all, she does not deny love because it will not bring her money, power or position, but she loves nobly with her whole soul and heart, as a true woman should love, and in return her whole being grows in understanding, in beauty and in mental strength."

"And which policy has the greatest number of followers?"

"Can you ask me? Look around you and watch the world of women. Are they not all the time seeking to save themselves pain, even the expending of energy? There is, perhaps, one epoch in the ordinary woman's life when she rises to sublime heights, and that is the first time she falls in love. Her soul and heart are stretched, as it were. She has new and wonderful ideas. She dreams of noble aspirations. But if, for some reason, the love affair falls through she becomes embittered and small for the rest of her days. Often, too, in the case of cases when she marries that [illegible] and her ideals never receive [illegible] is content to forget all [illegible] aspirations and wonderful [illegible] mental advancement, and [illegible] stupid and even lazy, [illegible] her comfort. Sometimes [illegible] wonders at the change [illegible] oftener he reflects that all [illegible] come that way when [illegible] middle age."

A Really True Fairy Tale

How a Poor English Girl Got $2,500,000 Because of Her Kindness to a Lonely Old Manchester Factory Owner.

A LITTLE English girl living near Manchester has been made the heroine of a real, actual fairy tale—just like one of the kind she loves. She won the heart of an old, seemingly crabbed man. He is dead now, and "Janey," at the age of nine, is worth $2,500,000.

The story of Jane Lott's good fairy begins 70 years ago, when there was born in a mean street of an ugly Manchester suburb a boy who in the ordinary course of events was christened John Port. His parents were among the poorest of the poor, and the boy had hardly emerged from babyhood before he was plunged into factory work.

Other boys in his position had no hope. They were reconciled early to the prospects of dreary work and hopeless poverty, but John was angrily ambitious.

"I hate poverty; I will be rich some day," he told the foreman.

Living in this state of rebellion, he attained his majority. He was earning $7.50 a week then, and for eight years had been saving a little from his wages. He found himself able to set up a small shop and start out on his own endeavors. Manchester was then a growing city, constantly spreading out. People were beginning to swarm to its suburbs, and particularly to the suburb in which John Port's shop was located.

"Sell the people necessaries; let others sell them luxuries," was the maxim he worked on. He realized that the people flooding the new district must have beds and he began the manufacture of them. His success was immediate and great. In time he had built a large factory and soon had become one of the wealthiest men in Manchester.

He also became one of the loneliest and least known of the citizens. He played no part in public life. He had nothing in common with the other citizens. He had married, but his wife died and left him childless. He was a self-centered man. Business was his all in life. He had succeeded as he had told the foreman he would. He was rich, but he was a solitary old man.

Here begins the romance of a hitherto unromantic life. A little girl of four years managed to entwine herself in the heart of the old martinet. Without knowing that he was yielding to her influence, the old man found that he could not live without the girl. He took her to his home and her welcome when he returned at evening from his factory was the one pleasant feature of his life.

They used to romp about the house together to the surprise of the servants, who never had seen the head of the house unbend. The old man called the girl his "little ray of sunshine" and was a brighter and happier man in her company.

He died a few weeks ago and when his will was opened it was found that everything had been left to little Janey Lott with the stipulation that she take his name and be known as Jane Port.

Good fortune has not changed the girl, who is now nine years old. A visitor found her the other day playing the piano in the drawing-room—a tall, graceful little maiden dressed in white, her well poised head fringed with dark brown ringlets. On a footstool near her feet sat listening silently another pretty little miss with long fair hair, and curled up on the floor between them was a yellow and white dog, slumberously indifferent to the charms of music. A dainty picture the three of them made.

Miss Port played with unusual skill for one so young. Presently she sang in a pleasing childish treble.

The song over, the little musician introduced first her friend, then Jackey, the dog. "Isn't he a beauty?" she exclaimed, caressing the dog—a description which, it is to be feared, a canine expert might question.

"Jackey is my greatest friend. They would not let me take him to Wales with me, and I missed him so much that I hurried back home to see him."

Miss Port does not realize the good fortune that has befallen her, although her school companions have hinted at it to her. She, by the way, declines to leave the public school she has been accustomed to attend and have her tuition undertaken by a private governess.

"What would you like to do, Jane, if some day you became a rich lady?" asked the visitor.

"Please do not call me 'Jane,'" was the reply. "I lake 'Janey' better."

Miss Port gave the visitor to understand that she did not care in the least for horses and carriages or fine dresses and jewels. All she wanted, it appeared, to complete her present happiness was a bicycle—a modest request which at the time of the visitor's departure seemed on the high road to be complied with. "And I hope I shall go to the pantomine next Christmas, for I so love the fairies."

Little "Janey" Port has had her own real "good fairy," who has made her one of the richest children in England.

PUT BOY IN DRAWER.

Jersey Man Dreamed of Burglars and Kidnapers and Wanted Young Son Safe.

Henry Heidecke, of Lincoln street, and the Hudson boulevard, Jersey City, nearly smothered his six-year-old son, Frederick, early the other morning. He dreamed that burglars broke into the house. Exactly what followed Mr. Heidecke does not know, except as it was revealed by subsequent happenings. One of these was that Heidecke and his wife were awakened by a scream. Heidecke lighted the gas and then Mrs. Heidecke discovered that the boy's crib, which stood in the same room, was empty. She felt sure that burglars had abducted the boy until she heard his voice in the adjoining room crying for help. She ran into the other room and traced the sounds to a bureau, in the upper drawer of which the boy was found.

The only explanation of the affair Heidecke can give is that he arose in his sleep and put the boy in the drawer to save him from the burglars of whom he was dreaming.

Telegraph Wire Jewelry.

The descendants of the aborigines of Australia are very fond of jewelry, but they do not pay much for it. They use telegraph wire to make bracelets, earrings and nose-rings, and tear down the telegraph lines for that purpose.

SWUNG BABY BY FEET.

Infant Was Nearly Drowned, But Doctor's Extraordinary Treatment Saved Its Life.

Dr. D. C. Mangen, of No. 95 Park avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., resuscitated a half-drowned baby the other afternoon by swinging it around his head by its feet. The baby was the 14-months-old son of Edward Taggart, of No. 31 St. Edwards street, Brooklyn. It fell into a tub of water in the kitchen, and was unconscious when its mother found it.

GRASPED THE BABY'S ANKLES.

Dr. Mangen, who was called, saw that extreme measures were necessary, and grasping the babe's tiny ankles, he swung the almost lifeless form around his head in much the same way as a hammer-thrower swings a hammer before hurling it. The strenuous method availed. It forced the water out of the infant's lungs, and when an ambulance arrived the baby's heart was beating almost normally and its breath again coming even and strong.

Hint for Poor Churches.

A church recently dedicated in St. Paul, and costing $7,000, was paid for in seven-cent contributions, the novelty of the request bringing pennies from all over the country.

The Most Exclusive Trade.

There are only about 75 men at work in this country cutting gems, and probably not more than 700 in the world who are capable of doing the work.

Do You Wish To Borrow Money?
In order to accommodate all classes of borrowers (those who cannot borrow at a bank, as well as those who can), the Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 113 Market street, Newark, N. J., has a department for handling quickly and confidentially loans ranging from $10 to $500 on furniture, pianos, storage receipts, etc.
The security is not removed from your possession or in any way disturbed. The honest, careful and conservative borrower will try and decide two points before borrowing. First, where he can get the best terms. Second, where he can get fair and square treatment.
This company is in a position to give you by far the most satisfactory terms ever offered by any concern or individual negotiating this class of loans.
With this company you are assured of getting the lowest rates, easiest payments and longest time for repayment. The whole transaction from time the application is made until loan is paid is entirely confidential. We give you another advantage in case you take the loan out for six months or a year, and wish to settle the same before the time expires: we charge you only for the time you have had the money. We also take up loans from other companies and advance more money.
Kindly call and let us explain our simple and up-to-date methods. If not entirely convenient for you to call, please write and our representative will call and give you any desired information. Remember it costs nothing to make application. Loans promptly made in Elizabeth, Plainfield, Westfield, Roselle, Rahway, Perth Amboy and all suburban towns.

Story of Real Modern Ulysses

How Home-Coming Jack Passed the Sirens of New York and Succeeded in Buying a Snug Little Farm.

OF THE temptations that beset the homecoming of Jack; of his weakness in the face of them, and of the Ulyssean measures which one old salt, made wise by many sad experiences, employed to secure himself against the song of the sirens, a naval officer of high rank has this story to tell in the New York Sun:

There was an old boatswain named Sam on board the last ship which this officer commanded before going on shore duty. Sam had served his country some 30 years when his last cruise took him to the Asiatic station and kept him there for more than three years. At the end of that time he had some $800 to his credit, which would be paid over to him as soon as the ship reached New York.

One evening, just before the home shore was sighted, the captain was on the quarterdeck when Sam approached him, tugging his old-fashioned forelock and scraping with his foot as he bowed. He was an old favorite and could get an audience at any time.

"We'll soon be home, Cap'n," he began.

"Right you are, Sammy, and I suppose you'll be happy to get a rest at last."

"Maybe I am and maybe I ain't—there's my sister Sally."

"Well, won't you be glad to see her?"

"Maybe I will and maybe I won't—there's the $800 coming to me."

"The more welcome you should be, Sammy."

"Ya-as; and Sally wants me to buy a farm and stay home."

"Splendid idea, Sammy. I'm sure you'll end as a bloated landholder."

"Ya-as; but there's New York 'tween Sally and the money."

"And what of it?"

"Well, you know, New York is a pretty fine city and—and I've been gone a durned long time and—if I get through New York with any money left, that'll be the first time in my experience."

The captain understood.

"How far away does Sally live?" he asked.

"Thirty-five miles, cap'n."

"Can't you get there without passing New York?"

"Can't be done, cap'n, and that's just the rub."

"It's the worst blankety-blank thing I ever heard of," remarked the captain, reproachfully, "that an old, seasoned, sensible chap like you must be so weak."

"It's a ship's length beyond all excuse," the old man admitted in a mournful tone. But I can't help it, cap'n. I suppose it's the land air."

The captain was thinking hard.

"How would it be for me to send an officer with you through the city?"

"That's terribly kind o' you, cap'n, but—there ain't no man strong enough in the navy to hold me when I feel the smell of the grogshops."

"I shall go with you myself," the captain declared.

Sam shifted from one foot to the other and looked indescribably unhappy.

"I'm afeerd—" he began.

"I'll take a carriage—a closed one."

"God bless you, cap'n, but I'll be blamed if I don't think I might jump out."

"Then I'll be danged if I know what to do for you," the captain concluded, in despair.

"There might be just one way what I've been thinking of—but, of course, that's really too much—"

"Sing out, and don't be afraid."

"S'posing you went with me in a carriage—and the carriage was closed—" the old man was twisting about as if in pain—"and—and my hands and feet were tied up, and you didn't let me loose till we got outside the town—I don't know, cap'n, but I guess I might get through with the money."

The old man's plan was carried out to the letter. He begged and prayed and swore while the carriage was passing through the streets of New York, but, like Ulysses tied to the mast, he was helpless, and the captain remained as deaf to the old fellow's entreaties and outbursts of profanity as if his ears had been filled with wax, like those of the Ulyssean crew.

Once beyond the city, Sam calmed down. At Sally's door, but not until the money had passed into her hands, the captain left his charge. That's how the farm came to be bought.

But to this day Sam vows that but for the ropes that held him during those moments of supreme temptation, he would still be cruising on the high seas, as poor as ever.

WAS TOO GARRULOUS.

Disagreeable Experience of a New York Peddler Who Was Fond of Gossiping.

The New York Herald chronicles this story of a broom peddler who was offering his wares to every one he met and was trudging up the avenue, when he saw a large man standing on the curb.

"I'M THE HENPECKED RUNT."

"Do you want a broom, sir?" questioned the peddler.

"Nope!" snapped the large man.

"Oh, I see! You are a bachelor. Well, you are lucky. Do you see that little house over there with brown steps?"

"Yes; what of it?"

"Well, I have an order for a broom over there."

"You have, eh?"

"Yes, and the lady wants a strong one. She said she wanted one to suit her husband, and from the way she said it I guess she intends to hammer him across the shoulders. Well, the chances are he hasn't the courage or strength to defend himself against henpecking. It serves him right."

"Aren't you a little hard on the poor man?"

"Not at all, sir. But you don't happen to know the little henpecked runt, do you?"

"Perhaps."

"Perhaps? S-say you—"

"Yes, I'm the little henpecked runt that you refer to. I'm the dried-up man that hasn't the courage or strength to defend himself. Take that! and when you get up if you don't get out of the neighborhood I'll eat you up, do you hear?" But the broom peddler couldn't hear. His ears were scooping in the mud from the cobblestones.

DISHES AND BUNS FLY.

Lunchroom Waiter and Customer Argue Over Order with Heavy China Weapons.

The other day there was a panic in one of the Kohlsaat lunchrooms at Chicago, and incidentally a pitched battle in which flying plates, cups and saucers figured prominently between the heads of a customer and a colored waiter. The "rough house" lasted only a few seconds and ended when the customer made a hasty exit, and the waiter an inglorious retreat to the kitchen.

The customer ordered wheat bread, and the waiter served him with graham bread.

"That is not wheat bread," said the customer.

"I know it, suh," replied the colored men, "but it is good."

"Of course it is good, but I ordered wheat bread."

"This is much bettah than wheat bread, suh."

"Who is doing this ordering? I want wheat bread."

"You can't have; we ain't got no wheat bread, suh, and this—"

A cup of coffee thrown by the customer interrupted the waiter's words as it struck his mouth.

The customer lifted a saucer to shy at the colored man, but just then a blank hand swung through the air and two plates smashed on top of the customer's head. He let fly the saucer and it struck the wall on the opposite side of the room.

Other customers left their seats in alarm, the waiter, dripping hot coffee, ran to the rear, and the man who wanted wheat bread dashed out the front way before his name could be learned.

The cashier refused to reveal the identity of the belligerent waiter.

GAMES TODAY.

Scotch Plains vs. Westfield, at Westfield.
Alis vs. St. Mary, at Crescent Oval.
Reform Club vs. New Market, at New Market.
Aeolian vs. Roselle, at Garwood.
Clinton Avenue vs. Bound Brook, at Bound Brook.

HOME RUNS.

The New Jersey Advocate has this to say about the Westfield-Scotch Plains series: "This series has attracted the largest crowds in the history of ball in Union county, as it is recognized that the teams are unquestionably the leaders in fast play and that there is little difference in their individual talent, which is the best available hereabouts. Their game is fully of the league standard."

There has been a decided shake-up in the St. Mary team for today's game with Alis, practically a new team being engaged. Dorscher, of the Brooklyn National League team, is expected to pitch, and Bonner, the old Crescent short stop, will play short. Other professional players have been engaged. The probable line-up will be this: Dorscher, p; Dove, c; Everhart, 1b; Thompson, 2b; Orner, 3b; Bonner, ss; Burke, rf; Hartman, cf; Taylor, lf.

ROD AND REEL.

F. A. Dunham, of Madison avenue, who has been spending a week at Forked River, N. J., will return to this city on Monday. He is with Louis Moraller, of this city and a party of three others at Eno's House near the junction of Forked River and Barnegat Bay and has spent a good deal of time fishing on Barnegat. The party has had great luck, landing a record breaking catch on Monday. Weak fish are the sport and they are so plentiful that Mr. Dunham has been sending consignments to his friends in this city.

TENNIS.

H. A. Nomer played two matches of tournament tennis at the Cedar Brook Tennis Club and was victorious in both. The first match was with Geo. H. Fountain who was defeated 6-2, 6-1. After this Nomer played three hard sets with F. M. Letson finally coming off victorious in the best tennis of the day by scores of 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. The tournament will be continued today when it is expected that several important matches will be played off.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

Fair Play for the Public Service.

The News holds no brief for the Public Service Corporation, but it suggests that in common fairness that company be given a reasonable time in which to carry out its promises of improved transportation facilities. President McCarter's statement upon its face is candid and specific and there is no reason to doubt that the reforms and improvements which he pledges will be carried out. But enterprises of such magnitude cannot be accomplished in a day, and when one remembers for how many years the people bore with the inadequate service offered by the North Jersey Street Railway Company it seems rather unjust to blame its successor, because the latter is unable to perfect its promised improvements in a moment. Give the Public Service a fair chance, and then if it fails to live up to its promises no condemnation can be too severe.

And just here it is not amiss to say that if the Board of Works had shown one-half the solicitude for the public in dealing with the North Jersey that it now exhibits in relation to the Public Service there might perhaps have been fewer matters to complain of. The zeal of the board for the public safety and convenience is commendable, but somewhat tardy.—Newark News.

Asbury Park Improvements.

Great improvements are proposed for Asbury Park by a party of capitalists who have acquired an option on one of the most desirable blocks of ground in Ocean avenue facing the sea for the location of a summer theatre and roof garden, which they propose to connect by an elevated pavilion with a marine observatory to be located on the beach. William T. Stillwell, former president of the Structural Steel Company of Baltimore, Md., is the originator of the plan, the architectural drawings and plans for which have just been hung by Mr. Conover in the foyer of the Coleman House.

The detailed plans of the theatre show a building about a hundred feet square, three stories in height, with elaborate front and entrance. It will have a seating capacity of 1,100, including twelve proscenium boxes and twenty stalls. The theatre will be so aranged that three sides of the house can be opened with swinging windows, so that the sea breeze may sweep through the entire building at all times. The stage as planned is forty feet wide by seventy six feet deep.

From the main foyer a stairway twenty-five feet wide leads up to the balcony and out on the pavilion or roof garden, which spans the ocean driveway, terminating at the observatory. Broad steps on either side lead down to the boardwalk. There will be space for ten stores under the theatre.

The pavilion roof garden will be constructed upon a steel arch spanning Ocean avenue at a height of about forty feet above the driveway. It will be sixty feet wide and about 250 feet long, covered by a roof of Swiss design. The sides will be protected by an ornamental railing. A bandstand to accommodate fifty performers will have a place on the pavilion, as will booths for the sale of newspapers, cigars, soda, etc.

The entrance to this pavilion will be so arranged that the patrons of the theatre can visit there between the acts and enjoy its privileges as well as the promenade and the boardwalk. A small admission fee will be charged to go on the pavilion from the boardwalk.

The newest feature and the one of great interest, on account of its originality, is the provision for building a marine observatory directly on the beach, rising 135 feet above the sea level, and connected with the pavilion and theatre.

This tower is to be constructed of steel covered with a metal jacket and provided with electric elevators to carry sightseers to the upper lookout platform, from which a view of the coast may be had from Sandy Hook to Barnegat. The top of the tower is designed to accommodate about fifty persons at one time. All the resorts from Seabright to Sea Girt could be seen from such an elevation. It is proposed to mount a large signal telescope on the lookout.

It is designed also to use this tower for wireless telegraphy, a life saving signal station, a mariners' range light, weather signals, a time drop ball, searchlight, the cardinal points, yacht signals, the international code, fireworks, etc.

It is estimated that the improvements will cost about $250,000. The capital is forthcoming, and the promoters of the plan will soon go before the Council of Asbury Park to ask for the necessary concessions. If these are granted work will be begun immediately, with a view to its completion before another season. With Asbury Park and the adjoining towns there would be a population of nearly 200,000 to draw on for the theatre.—Newark News.

from one branch of the Union Army to the Army of the Potomac. Twice during the day his horse became stuck in the bog. A light in the distance told of a house in that locality. The Yankee went to the door and was met by a handsome girl of nineteen years to whom he applied for a night's lodging. The girl said that her father was at that time entertaining two Confederate officers and that with them were two Southern spies. There was not another house in the vicinity and as young Sage was turning to leave the young woman, placed her hand on his shoulder and said: "If you will be very quiet I will help you, even though you do belong to that horrid Northern Army." She led him to a small room in the garret and on a pile of old clothes, many of which were Confederate uniforms, Sage slept through the night.

Early the next morning he heard the stamp of horse's hoofs in the yard below and through a chink in the wall saw the Confederate officers and spies stealing away from the house. Young Sage slept late and when he went below was warmly greeted by the father of his friend who had given him shelter. A hot meal was prepared for him and, with many thanks to his hosts, he departed. Years later he wrote to the young girl who had befriended him and after several months the latter was returned through the dead letter office at Washington, stamped "No such person known."

Although engaged in many battles Sage was never even wounded. His regiment went to war 1100 strong but at the close of the engagement at Antietam, there were only 120 members left and that number included the wounded. Sage is the only man who went into that battle in his regiment band who escaped alive. He was at one time confined to the hospital for rheumatism which eventually caused his death.

At the close of the war Mr. Sage located at Newark, where as a public carpenter and builder he erected a number of private and public buildings. In September 19, 1868, he married Mary Ann Esch, of Newark. He finally located at Union Village where he managed a farm until his death. He was a well-known lecturer and at one time toured the country lecturing on the war and its results. His son, Walter Merwin Sage, was the principal of the Fairview School, at Hoboken, nine years ago. The dead man's father was a first cousin to Russell Sage, the great Wall street stock manipulator.

Mr. Sage was buried last Thursday at Cromwell, Conn., where lie the bodies of many of the members of the band which went out to war along with the Fifth Connecticut. He is survived by his wife and three sons, all of whom live on the farm at Union Village.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGrady, of Plainfield avenue, are attending the yacht races today.

Miss Mary Vanderbeek, of North Branch, is visiting Mrs. J. S. Powlison, of Grandview avenue.

Rev. Charles Bayard Mitchell, D. D., former pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church on Front street, will preach in Vincent Chapel tomorrow morning and in Grace M. E. Church, tomorrow evening. He is now pastor of the First M. E. Church, of Cleveland, O., and will shortly build one of the finest church edifices in the United States. He is a fine preacher and a very successful pastor. He will be entertained here by Dr. H. K. Carroll.

Dr. Stewart, who will speak at the First Baptist Church tomorrow, is well-known in the Baptist denomination as an able minister and expounder of the Word of God. The school, of which Dr. Stewart is the able leader and head, has been in operation for seven sessions, during which time 284 different students have attended the day classes and 756 the evening classes. Already more than a hundred Christian workers have gone forth from the school to definite fields of labor, both at home and abroad. It will be a great privilege for the Christian people of Plainfield in general to hear Dr. Stewart's evening sermon upon a timely theme, "The Peerless Word."

AMONG MEN IN THE SHOPS

SEEN AND HEARD IN PLAINFIELD'S INDUSTRIAL PLANTS.

Joseph Burk, of the Campbell Printing Press Company, is confined to his home by illness.

There was a noticable lack of machinists at some of the shops in town this morning, due to the fact that those belonging to Hope Chapel went to Asbury Park on the excursion.

The putting into effect on July 1 by the Reading Railway of its pension plan and the enforced retirement of all employes who had attained the age of seventy years and over, has resulted in more or less hardship to some of the retired employes, and the officials of the company receive letters almost daily from the retired employes pleading for a readjustment of their particular case. The bulk of the complaints come from retired employes who are ineligible to the benefits of the pension plan.

The Milliken structural iron and bridge builders, who are erecting on Staten Island what will be one of the largest steel mills in the country, are making rapid progress in their work. Directly opposite from the work now being done, a rolling mill will be started, but this work will not be commenced until the machine shops, foundry, blacksmith shops and plant proper is completed. Before the entire works are finished several years of employment will be found for those at present on its construction. About 200 men are now employed. The site of the plant is fully a mile in length by a half mile in width. When in working order about 2,500 men will find employment there.

Mrs. Charles Lee, of North Plainfield, left today for a two weeks' stay at Mount Bethel.

Miss Minnie Howden, and Miss Mary O'Brien, of Myrtle avenue, are spending two weeks at Asbury Park.

—The day for the wedding of Miss Gussie Klinsman and William Walters, has been set for Tuesday, September 22.

—At the sale of the household effects of James Lunger, Thursday, which was conducted by P. H. LaTourette, was a successful one and all the articles brought good prices.

SATURDAY GOLFERS FEW IN NUMBER

Smallest Attendance of the Season at the Park Club—Carroll Won First Honors.

THE SCORES WERE GOOD

STEWART MADE BEST SCORE AT GOLF COMMITTEE CUP PLAY AT HILLSIDE.

Several Changes in Standing at the Park Club—Carroll in Third Position—Townley Won at Westfield.

Notwithstanding that there was the smallest attendance of the season at the Park Golf Club on Saturday, some good scores were made and some changes occurred in the standing for the two Hcups. Ray B. Carroll won the first three points for the President's cup, and Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll and Morgan T. Townsend divided the remaining three points. This gives the latter a total of four points and Dr. Carroll 6½. For the Park Golf Club cup, Morgan T. Townsend increased his lead three points, gaining a total of 21. Samuel Townsend won second honors, with a total of five, while S. St. John McCutchen increased his lead by a half point and Ray Carroll got the other half of the point.

The scores for these cups:

Ray B. Carroll, 101, 17—84; Morgan T. Townsend, 85, plus 2—87; Rev. Dr. H. K. Carroll, 109, 22—87; Samuel Townsend, 100, 12—88; William A. Townsend, 103, 14—89; S. St. John McCutchen, 101, 11—90; George T. Rogers, 118, 22—96.

MUSIC BY THE BAND

WOMEN TO BE ADMITTED FREE TO THE GRAND STAND.

Classes Are the 2:20, 2:25 and 2:30 — Horses From Far and Near Entered — Best Races of the Season.

Arrangements are now completed for the race meet at the Plainfield Driving Park next Saturday afternoon. The prospects are that it will be the best meet ever held under the auspices of the Driving Club. Enough entries have already been received to insure a strong card as the horses are well matched in the various classes and the owners will make a big effort to win the money.

The park and grandstand have been improved and women will be admitted to the stand free. During the afternoon LaVere's concert band will discourse popular music.

There will be three races, the 2:20, 2:25 and 2:30 classes, a purse of $150 being offered in each, or a total purse of $450.

SUCCESSFUL SALE.

The Plainfield Land and Building Company Dispose of Many Lots at the Auction Sale.

The auction sale of the Plainfield Land and Building Company on Saturday was very satisfactory, considering the large number of people out of town. There were thirteen lots sold to the following persons: Seaman Williams, two lots; Chas. M. Meeker, two lots; Peter Christianson, one lot; Adam Neuman, four lots; Ernest Thompson, 1 lot; Charles Wilson, two lots; A. L. Force, two lots. Prices ranged from $4 to $8.50 per foot. The Plainfield Land and Building Company now offer the remainder of the lots at private sale.

SOCIALISTS GATHER.

Members of That Party Listen to Address Made by An Editor Exposing Its Views.

G. M. Serriati, of New York, editor of Proletario, an Italian newspaper, addressed his fellow countrymen in this city at Democratic Hall, yesterday afternoon. The speaker was entertained at the Italian headquarters at the corner of Watchung avenue and East Front street.

Lost on Board Walk.

Madeline, the six-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Blair, of Duer street, became lost in Atlantic City a few days ago and a general alarm was sent out. The police of the seaside resort were detailed to be on the lookout for the little wanderer. She was gone almost a whole day and was finally located.

House Afire.

A blaze at the home of Joseph Moon's house at the corner of Watchung and Grandview avenues, was caused by a gasolene stove. Damage, $50; partly covered by insurance.

THIRTEEN INNINGS AND BUT ONE RUN

Scotch Plains Puts Up Great Article of Ball, Though Defeated.

WESTFIELD'S VICTORY

ONE-HAND CATCHES AND STOPS OF HOT LINERS PLENTIFUL.

Best Game of the Season—Such a Scene of Joy Has Not Been Witnessed at Recreation Park—Details of Remarkable Game.

Manager Denman's Westfield team and the crack Scotch Plains nine waged a battle royal for supremacy at Recreation Park Saturday and not a man on either side was able to cross the rubber during twelve innings and not until the thirteenth was the match decided in favor of Westfield. The support given both Waller and Davis would send some of the National League games into the paroxysms of joy. One hand catches and stops of hot line hits were plentiful on both sides, robbing both men of what seemed to be sure base hits, while the outfield for both teams played an errorless game.

Flannery's catch of Waller's long hit in Westfield's half of the eighth was one of the best running catches ever made on the ground, and steered defeat off for the visiting team, for the time being, as Jones would certainly have came home from second base had he missed it. "Red" Waller pitched one of the best games he has ever pitched for Westfield while Lefty Davis was at his best and at several stages of the game by good hard work, prevented Westfield from scoring, especially in the twelfth inning when, by bunting the home team landed a man as far as third base and another on second base, only one man was out and the local fans were joyous, as a little hit or a long fly meant victory but Davis settled down and the next two batters were quickly retired and the game was saved again.

Before starting the thirteenth a conference was held and it was decided to bring the game to a close if neither side was able to score. Scotch Plains went to the bat in their half of the last inning with blood in their eye, the sun had long since set in the West and they knew that all Scotch Plains was depending upon them to win out in one of the greatest games ever held, but they failed, going out in one, two three order. Capt. Mallon's men went to the bat in their half, determined to win or die, but their hopes were beginning to wane as Sporhing, the first up, struck out, then came Davis' one mistake of the game, Waller was presented with the first pass to base "Lefty" had given, in the whole game. Barry followed with a hit to Allen, which advanced Waller to second base, Mallin then came up and drove out a pretty single to right center field. Waller started on the hit and by the time Flannery could field the ball in, Waller had crossed the plate and won the game by a hair, as ball and runner were there together without one second to spare.

Pandemonium reigned, Westfield rooters in their enthusiasm, hugged Scotch Plains followers and a regular ovation was given both visitor and vanquished as they left the dust of battle behind them in the arena. Mr. Cullim's impartial umpiring was one of the nice features of the game, but few kickers being registered against his decisions. Following is the score and tale of the great battle:

Death of Mrs. Schwed.

Mrs. Charles Schwed died at her home in Somerville on Friday last. She was forty-seven years old and was the wife of the senior member of Schwed Brothers in this city. The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from the late home and the interment was in Easton, Pa.

Wm. Schupp, of Duer street, has returned from New Brunswick where he visited his parents.

MRS. EMELINE WEEKS BURIED

FUNERAL HELD AT HOME OF HER DAUGHTER, MRS. VAN NAME.

Interment at Staten Island—Member of Trinity Reformed Church.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Emeline Weeks were held this morning from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry VanName, in Madison avenue. A. P. Tulp, of Marconnier Chapel, conducted the services, and the interment will be at Staten Island, this afternoon.

Mrs. Weeks was born in New Haven and for many years lived in Oswego, N. Y., coming to Plainfield from that city. She was a member of Trinity Reformed Church. She leaves two sons living at Oswego and one daughter, Mrs. Henry VanName, of this city. One of the sons visited his mother a week ago yesterday, unexpectedly, and she was overcome with joy, not having seen him for some time.

AMBITION IS THE NEED

DR. C. B. MITCHELL SAYS THE WORLD WANTS MEN OF CHARACTER.

No "$20 a Week" Man Need Apply —Sermons at City and Borough M. E. Churches.

"God pity the young man of this age who has no ambition," said Rev. Dr. Charles Bayard Mitchell, pastor of the First M. E. Church, of Cleveland, O., last evening to an unusually large congregation in the Grace M. E. Church in North Plainfield. "To him who has not an ambition I pray that God will give one. To you who have ambitions let me say that if the world has not yet found you out it is because you have not what the world wants. If you have what the world needs and wants and cannot get unless you supply it, you can get your own market price for it. The demand today is not for $20 a week men but for men who can earn $5,000 a year. That is the kind of men that are wanted; the woods are full of the $20 a week fellows. The world, above other things, seeks a character. A man with a character can always forge ahead."

"No man living in the twentieth century can help but find Christ. He is apparent in a hundred ways. He is present in politics and in social circles, in business and at home. He cannot be driven out. Chauncey M. Depew is credited with saying that there are five millions of Pilates in this country. I say, that all these five millions of Pilates are forced to stand by with chagrin in the presence of Christ and hear his desciples repeat 'And low, I am with you always.'"

In closing the preacher said that what we do not need today in the pulpits of our churches is evangels who go about proclaiming that there is sin in the world and telling how sinful the people are. What is needed is a man with the remedy. Not the one with the statement that men are sinful. We want to know and to lean on Jesus; He is the only remedy. "More remedy and less proclaiming about the wickedness of the world," said he, "is the chief necessity of the world today."

During the offeratory Miss Grace Carroll, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church choir, sang a solo and Rev. Dr. George H. Whitney offered the prayer. Dr. H. K. Carroll was in charge of the services.

In the morning Dr. Mitchell preached at the First M. E. Church and in the evening he occupied the pulpit of the borough church. The preacher is well-known in this city and many were present to hear him.

COLORED RECTOR.

Rev. G. F. Bragg, Jr., of Baltimore, Assists at Service in Grace Episcopal Church.

Rev. George F. Bragg, Jr., rector of St. James Church, Baltimore, assisted Rev. E. Vicars Stephenson at the regular morning service in Grace Church yesterday. He will address the Mission meetings tonight and tomorrow.

Miss Mary Ross, of West Fifth street, will return to Alfred University, early in September, where she will this year conclude her studies at that institution.

ALIS TEAM WINS IN THE FIFTH INNING

Downs St. Mary's Nine in a Hard Fought Battle by Score of 5 to 2.

BATTLE OF PICTHERS

WARRY M'LAUGHLIN SUPERIOR TO NATIONAL LEAGUE TWIRLER.

Other Games Making Up Saturday Schedule—Good Ball the Rule—Big Crowd at Alis-St. Mary's Match.

Alis and St. Mary crossed bats on Crescent Oval Saturday afternoon in the second game of the series of five, and it was one of the finest exhibitions of the season. The first game two weeks ago between these teams resulted in a victory for the Saints by a score of 5 to 3. On Saturday Alis turned the tables and defeated their opponents by a score of 5 to 2. The management of the Saints materially strengthened their team, practically having a whole new line up. Doscher, the Brooklyn National League pitcher, and Dove, veteran catcher from the same city, occupied the points for the Saints, but even this strong battery could not defeat Alis.

The Alis boys touched Doscher up for eight hits, while "Warry" MacLaughlin held his opponents down to four hits. The strike outs were in favor of Doscher, he having fifteen to his credit, as against five for "Warry." The latter had his own catcher, Murray, and he caught a superb game. Not a base was stolen on him and he did not have a pass ball.

In the first inning Alis drew a blank, while the Saints made one run, Taylor scoring on an error. In the next inning Bonner, at short, tried to stop a hot liner off Gastmeyer's bat and he split his left hand, taking him out of the game. Keen then went to first base and Seaman played short. In this inning Lederer scored the first run for Alis on a wild pitch and passed ball.

Neither side then scored until the fifth inning, when Alis tallied four and won the game. In the last half of the fifth inning the Saints scored one run and they failed to get any more. In the fifth inning Quinby, the new second baseman for Alis, got a two base hit and Richardson made a three bagger, scoring Kavanaugh and Quinby. Murray then singled and brought Richardson home. Murray stole second and came home on a passed ball, making four runs in all. Alis did not score after that.

The last run scored by the Saints was made by Doscher, who made a three bagger and came home on an error by Kavanaugh.

The local men on St. Mary's team, Keen, Montross, Taylor and Hewitt played good ball, but it was the opinion of many that they were in pretty fast company. It was a disappointment that Bonner, the old Crescent League player, could not stay in the game. His friends would have liked to see him play.

The Alis boys played a snappy game throughout. Quinby at second proved a valuable acquisition and put up a fine game, in fact the whole infield played up to standard. Gormley occupied center field in place of Davis, while Barnes played right field and Lederer was in left garden. They did not have much to do. In the ninth Lederer dropped a fly. He was too sure of catching it, but luckily it was not a serious error. The defeat of the Saints was largely due to their inability to hit MacLaughlin, he having them completely at his mercy.

The line-up:

Alis—Kavanaugh, ss; Gormley, cf; Quinby, 2b; Richardson, 1b; Murray, c; Barnes, rf; Lederer, lf; Gastmeyer, 3b; MacLaughlin, p.

St. Mary—Hartman, cf; Seaman, 1b-ss; Montross, 2b; Bonner, ss; Burke, 3b; Dove, c; Hewit, rf; Taylor, lf; Doscher, p.

Score by innings:

Alis	0	1	0	0	4	0	0	0	0	—5
St. Mary	1	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	—2

Mr. Blyth, of Brooklyn, umpired the game, and he gave entire satisfaction, his decisions throughout being fair and unimpartial.

WATCHUNG SWAMPED.

The Watchungs of Dunellen were swamped by the Metuchen ball players at the former place by a score of 24 to 1. The Dunellen team was outplayed in every way and at no time of the game was the outcome in doubt. Jesse Ayers, the Watchung

UNIDENTIFIED LAD NEARLY ASPHYXIATED

Found Stupified in Hotel and Now in Custody of the Police.

A DISCONNECTED STORY

CHIEF KIELY AT WORK SOLVING MYSTERY SURROUNDING THE YOUTH.

Claims He is An Orphan—Searching for a Man Named Keller—The Story of His Strange Career.

Stupified by inhaling illuminating gas, Louis Kohler, fifteen years old, was found in a room in the Hotel Kensington this morning by a porter. The lad was found on the bed in a semi-conscious condition and was taken to the police headquarters where he was revived. There he told a disconnected story of a remarkable career for one so young.

It was evident that the boy's mind was stupified by the gas. He said that he had no parents, they having died when he was one year old. Since that time he has been shifting for himself. He has several sisters and brothers but he knows not where they are. After his parents died he went into a home in New York City. There he lived for some time. The next place he stopped at was at the poor farm at Hackensack. There a man took him to a Catholic home in Verona, near Caldwell. He lived there for some time and then went to live with a family at Jersey City.

He tired of his life there and so one day jumped on a freight train for New Brunswick. To a reporter of The Daily Press he told his story. It seems that he went to live at the home of a farmer, whose name he cannot remember. From the location given it is apparent that the boy lived near Milltown, three miles from New Brunswick. He said he went to a little school on a hill surrounded by trees which answers the description of the Oak Hill schoolhouse near Milltown. He declares he went there for five months. He says he was told that he could secure work on a farm there where he could receive $5 a day.

He declares he left his position there last week and came to this city, walking the entire distance. The lad says he was in search of a man named Keller, who, it was said, would give him work.

An attempt is being made by Chief Kiely to locate his friends. The clothes worn by the boy are neat and of fine texture and show that he has been well cared for.

CAR LEFT THE TRACK.

Filled With Visitors to Netherwood Home—Nearly Ran Into Pole—No One Hurt.

Trolley car No. 129 of the Netherwood division in returning from the Netherwood Fresh Air Home yesterday afternoon with fifty-eight passengers aboard, jumped the track in rounding a curve in front of the residence of Theodore Jantz, on Richmond terrace, and almost crashed into a trolley pole. According to the stories of the passengers the motorman was running his car at a high rate of speed. The car was in charge of Conductor Ayres.

The passengers were considerably jolted. The car swung around and finally stopped in a position sidewise across the tracks. Several of the women who were standing in the aisles of the car made an attempt to alight but were restrained by several men on board. The spreading of the rails is said to be the cause of the accident. No one was hurt. An hour was required to replace the car on the tracks.

Former Plainfielder Dead.

Levi VanBuskirk, of Orange, formerly of this city, died last Friday at his home in Orange. The funeral services will be held today. Mr. Van Buskirck was ill last spring with pneumonia and he never fully recovered. Last Thursday he came home from a health trip to Niagara Falls and death followed the next day. Mr. VanBuskirk was in the undertaking business at Orange. He was a brother to Ira VanBuskirk, of this city.

Struck by a Baseball.

James Sullivan, son of Michael Sullivan, of South Second street, was struck in the head by a baseball while playing in a vacant lot in the West End Saturday. He was stunned for a few seconds and a deep gash was cut over his eye. The injury is not serious.

HIS MIND AFFECTED; MAN WANDERED AWAY

Clarendon Woodward Missing Since Saturday, Was Found in Newark.

BROUGHT HOME AGAIN

CAME NEARLY BEING SENT TO AN INSANE ASYLUM.

Son of Edward Woodward, of Madison Avenue—Twenty-Six Years of Age—Acted Peculiarly Lately.

Edward Woodward, of 104 Madison avenue, notified the police Saturday that his son, Clarendon, twenty-six years old, had strayed from home. The young man, it is said, had been in charge of his father's business and that he had overworked himself, his mind becoming affected.

Early last Friday morning a Newark policeman encountered a stranger wandering in the darkness. The stranger was detained at the police station until Saturday. Experts in mental disorders examined him and pronounced him insane. Commitment papers consigning the man to the Essex County Hospital for the Insane were made out and arrangements were made to commit him as an "unknown" patient. The police decided to hold the man in their charge until yesterday.

When a police captain examined a pad he saw written thereon several times by the stranger the word "Plainfield."

The man's identification was established yesterday and he was brought home by relatives.

MADE DISTURBANCE.

Plainfielders Sought to Injure a Conductor, But Land Instead in Police Court.

Eugene Jennings and Harry Randolph were put off a Dunellen car forcibly for causing a disturbance on Saturday. They "laid" for the conductor on his return trip but the latter was accompanied by a policeman and were arrested. Mayor Jenkins this morning fined Randolph $15 and Jennings $10 with the alternative of twenty days in jail.

NO BURGLARS THERE.

Patrolman Quaas Climbs Fire Escape Only to Put Out Gas Light in Stillman Building.

Patrolman Mosse Quaas's attempts to climb up a fire escape on the Stillman building yesterday was due to the fact that M. Bostin, who has apartments in the building left the gas burning in his kitchen range. Mr. Bostin telephoned to the police headquarters from Roselle asking that the gas light be put out.

Mrs. Herbst Dead.

Mrs. Frank Herbst, of Terrill road, died at her home, Saturday morning, in her seventy-second year. The funeral will be from the house on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock and the interment will be in the Lutheran Cemetery at Brooklyn, N. Y.

For Violating Game Law.

It is said that a warrant will be served today on James Frazer for shooting an eagle last week. When asked for a statement this afternoon Frazer said he did not shoot an eagle. He asserts that the bird was a hawk.

Marriage Announced.

Anthony Alberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Alberts and Miss Sadie Creger, of Plainfield, have announced their marriage, the happy event being solemnized by Rev. Father Wesley, of Westfield, on Saturday evening.

Fight Over Race.

Unable to settle their dispute amicably, John Duffy and Edmund Brown resorted to fighting Saturday and were arrested. They were released on suspended sentence by Mayor Jenkins.

Young Pugilists.

Frederick Waldron, Arthur Drake, Albert Drake and Leslie Tingley were arrested for fighting on Grant avenue Thursday evening and were severely reproved by Mayor Jenkins this morning.

Boys Broke Windows.

Small boys playing baseball in the school yard behind the Somerset street school have broken a number of the windows. Some of the panes broken were large and expensive.

Returns From Boat Race.

The progress of the International boat race will be told in large bulletins displayed in front of The Daily Press office tomorrow. Come around.

On July 30, August 19, and September 3 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run its usual midsummer excursions to the "Upper Hudson," under personal escort. Special excursion tickets will be sold on those dates for regular trains arriving at Jersey City prior to 10:05 a. m., good to return on same day on any regular train leaving Jersey City after arrival of steamer. A stop will be made at West Point, giving those who disembark an hour and a half at that point, and enabling them to view the United States Military Academy. In order to insure an early return, no stop will be made at Newburgh, although the steamer will run to a point off that city and there turn. Round-trip rates: Princeton, $2; New Brunswick, Metuchen, and Perth Amboy, $1; Rahway, 80 cents; Elizabeth, 75 cents; Newark, 50 cents. Proportionate rates from other points.

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by L. W. Randolph.

THE MIMIC WARFARE.

Prisoner of War Captured at Wireless Station.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 24.—The United States training ship Alliance, which has been in the harbor for the past week, has sailed under orders from Rear Admiral Barker. It is rumored that her presence was distasteful to the defending forces, which, it is said, thought her a spy.

Major Welch, N. G. S. M., has captured the wireless telegraph station near the Two Lights and put a guard into the building to prevent Electrician Burbank, who was in charge, from giving information to the enemy, with whom he is supposed to be in league.

Brigadier General Frank L. Hoyt, inspector general of the Maine national guard, was in the station at the time, and Electrician Burbank was explaining to him how the machine worked when Major Welch appeared on the scene under orders from the commanding officer and asked Mr. Burbank with which side he fought. Mr. Burbank said he had rather not tell him, and Major Welch then said it was his painful duty to make him a prisoner of war and to take possession of the station. Mr. Burbank bowed to the inevitable, since Major Welch had taken the precaution to have with him more than three times the number of men employed at the station.

Yacht Causes False War Alarm.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 24.—While the lookouts at Fort Greble, which guards the west passage of Narragansett bay, were on the watch for the enemy's ships from Rear Admiral Barker's attacking squadron, the search lights flashed upon a large white moving object. Immediately general quarters was sounded, the alarm given to the other fortifications, the guns all manned and three blank shots were fired at the moving object. In a few moments all the search lights at Forts Greble, Wetherill and Adams were playing on the vessel, while Fort Greble continued to fire. It was learned that the object which they supposed was a ship of the enemy's fleet was the steam yacht Josephine, owned by P. A. B. Widener of Philadelphia.

SALISBURY IS DEAD.

England's Great Premier Passed Away at Hatfield House.

HATFIELD, England, Aug. 24.—Lord Salisbury is dead. The distinguished statesman was unconscious when the end came, having remained in that condition since his momentary rally two days ago.

It was announced at 11 o'clock that Lord Salisbury was sinking.

Sir Richard Douglas Powell, physician extraordinary to the king, was summoned.

A bulletin issued at Hatfield House at half past 9 was as follows:

"Lord Salisbury is slowly sinking."

All the members of Lord Salisbury's family were gathered in or within call of his bedroom at Hatfield House.

Since the condition of Lord Salisbury became critical the members of his family, including Viscount Cranborne, Lord Arthur Cecil, Lord Robert Cecil, the Rev. Lord William Cecil, Lady Gwendolen Cecil, the Earl and Countess of Selborne and later the premier, Mr. Arthur Balfour, who came from Scotland, had been gathered in the vicinity of the sick room awaiting the final call.

It was realized that death was inevitable, though the patient was making a wonderful struggle. For the last twenty-four hours he had been fighting for every breath, helped by a continual supply of oxygen.

Robert Cecil, marquis of Salisbury, came of a distinguished line. His forbears had held important places in the English government during the Elizabethan era, William Cecil having been appointed secretary of state by Queen Elizabeth at her first council in Hatfield palace. In the Victorian era Lord Salisbury's achievements added luster to the great name of Cecil.

King Edward's tribute to the deceased Marquis of Salisbury says:

"The king has received with profound regret the news of the death of the Marquis of Salisbury, and his majesty deeply deplores the loss of so great a statesman, whose invaluable services to Queen Victoria, to the king and his country in the highest offices of state which he held for so many years will ever dwell in the memory of his fellow countrymen."

Supposed Insane Man's Suicide.

NORWICH, Conn., Aug. 24.—Joseph L. Coughlin, aged twenty-two, committed suicide by cutting his throat at his home while at his prayers. His mother went to church and left him praying in his room. Upon returning at about 10 a. m. she found him lying dead in a pool of blood, with a crucifix in his left hand and an open razor near his body on the floor. Coughlin had been acting queerly for some time and is suposed to have been insane.

Attorney Shot a Housebreaker.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 24.—Marcy K. Brown, former prosecuting attorney and a prominent lawyer and Democratic politician, shot and seriously wounded Frank Hunter, a shipping clerk. Hunter, while evidently insane, attempted to force an entrance into Brown's house. He refused to stop when Brown fired twice as a warning, and a third shot was fired with effect. The bullet passed through the body.

Fatal Automobile Accident.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 24.—In climbing a hill toward Little Mountain, a summer resort twenty-five miles east of here, an automobile containing four people suddenly became unmanageable and started backward down the hill. At the bottom it was upset and the four people thrown out, killing one and seriously injuring the others.

NEWS TRAIN WRECK.

New York Central Engine Jumps the Rails—Crew Killed.

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 24.—A special train of the New York Central railroad carrying New York city newspapers was wrecked at Gulf bridge in this city. Two men were killed and a number injured.

The killed: Engineer Robert Lilley, Albany; Fireman Peter Conley, Albany. The injured: Edward Dorf, messenger for the World, other bone broken; Eddie Dutton, messenger for the Sun, scalp wounds; Emanuel Hilsen, Rochester News company, bruises; Robert Newman, messenger for the American and Journal, bruises.

Conductor Erhardt and the other members of the train's crew were slightly injured. The wounded were taken to the local hospital, and all are expected to recover.

The train, which was running at the rate of a mile a minute, was composed of an engine and three express cars. In rounding the sharp Gulf bridge curve the engine jumped the track and landed at the foot of the embankment into a roadway. The front car, in which were all of those injured, followed the engine down the slope. The bodies of Engineer Lilley and Fireman Conley were burned in the wreckage, but were later recovered.

Engineer Lilley was an extra engineer, and this was the first time he had had the newspaper train, which is scheduled to make fast time across the state. Members of the crew assert that Engineer Lilley did not reduce the speed of the train while rounding the curve.

CAYMAN ISLANDS SUFFER.

Hurricane Causes Ruin to Buildings and Crops.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 24.—A schooner which has arrived here reports that the Cayman islands have been devastated by a hurricane. Many houses at Georgetown, a village near the west end of Grand Cayman island, were demolished. The vessels in the harbor were driven out to sea. Two subsequently returned, but the others have not been heard of.

It is feared that serious loss of life has occurred. All the trees and crops were destroyed, and a famine is imminent. The people expect the government of Jamaica to send supplies. Seven schooners were wrecked on the east side of the principal island.

No news had been received from Cayman Brae and Little Cayman, but it is thought certain that these islands have also been devastated by the cyclone.

The Cayman islands belong to Great Britain and are attached to Jamaica.

Laborer on Spree, Stabbed Three.

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 24.—John Brown, a laborer at the quarries near Rheems, this county, is in jail here as the result of a spree, in which he stabbed three men, two perhaps fatally. Brown was at a hotel at Elizabethtown when he got into a quarrel with Harvey Foltz of that place and struck him on the head with a club. Foltz was being assisted home by his brother-in-law, William Briggs, when Brown, who had been ejected from the hotel, attacked the two men. He stabbed Foltz near the heart and inflicted several serious stab wounds on Briggs. Then, resenting his ejectment from the hotel, Brown returned to that place, and, mistaking Cyrus Sherbourne of Newville for the proprietor, stabbed him half a dozen times, one wound laying open Sherbourne's abdomen. Foltz and Sherbourne are in a critical condition.

Two Killed in Railroad Wreck.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 24.—A special excursion train on the Northern Pacific en route to the Elks' clambake at Olympia was wrecked about 11 a. m. between Chehalis and Centralia. The engine and five of the seven passenger coaches went into the ditch. The two remaining coaches left the track, but did not turn over. Tacoma and Olympia doctors on a special relief train have been dispatched. The excursion train left here at 7 a. m., and all the coaches were crowded. The wreck occurred on a grade and is said to have been caused by spreading rails. The first two coaches were badly shattered. As far as known there are two killed and about thirty injured.

Boat Capsized, Two Drowned.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 24.—While three men were rowing from the pier along shore their boat capsized, and two were drowned, one of them a Swede and the other named J. Stoughton, a native of New York state. The third man, a Swede, was rescued by Surfmen Card and Clarke of the Narragansett Pier life saving station. The bodies of the drowned men have not been recovered.

Cripple Creek Mines to Reopen.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Aug. 24.—A compromise has been agreed upon between President James F. Burns of the Portland mine and President Charles M. Moyer of the Western Federation of Miners that will probably lead to a settlement of the miners' strike. Work will be resumed in the Portland mine next week.

Fight Against A. O. U. W. Assessment

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Samuel A. House, manager of Bradstreet's Baltimore (Md.) agency, is dead here of heart disease. He was seventy-two years old.

FIRST FOR RELIANCE

The American Flier Wins by Seven Minutes.

SHAMROCK MADE A GOOD FIGHT.

She Was Beaten In Her Own Weather by the New Iselin Sloop, Which Is Now Conceded Three Straight by tae Experts.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The Reliance on Saturday in the first race for the challenge cup and on the fifty-second anniversary of the first winning of the cup by the schooner yacht America over the Isle of Wight course defeated the Shamrock III. by 8m. 59s. actual time. Allowing the Shamrock III. 1m. 57s. time allowance, the defender wins the race by 7m. 2s. This is based on the allowance under the present measurement.

The Reliance consumed 3h. 32m. 24s. in covering the thirty mile course, and the Shamrock III. consumed 3h. 41m. 23s.

The course was fifteen miles to windward and return. The start was made at a point at sea about five miles off Long Beach. The turning point is about six miles off Long Branch, and the course out was a beat to the southwest. The run home to the starting point was with a free wind.

After a battle that was thrilling in the desperation of the fight for the lead during the first hour the Reliance won the first race of the 1903 series for the America's cup. At the finish the Yankee defender had a wide margin, as the figures will show.

The Reliance crossed the line at the start four minutes after the Shamrock III. and turned the outer mark 3m. 16s. ahead, beating the Shamrock III. on the windward fifteen miles by 3m. 20s.

The two great sloops got away on the starboard tack under mainsail, headsails and topsail in a wind that blew steady and strong out of the southeast ten knots an hour.

The wind, which early in the day was from the west southwest, seemed to be getting more to the southward, and the boats had every opportunity to show what they could do in a beat to windward in a comparatively smooth sea and a lively blow.

The contest immediately developed into a close and exciting one, for while the Reliance seemed to pick up and to be to windward of the Shamrock III. she was unable to get by. The American boat swung around on the port tack and headed for the New Jersey shore. The Shamrock III. kept on two minutes longer before tacking to port. At the expiration of the first half hour of sailing the boats seemed to have covered at least five miles.

For thirteen miles challenger and challenged fought out the magnificent duel, sailing between two lanes of excursion boats as free from interference as if they had been in the middle of the Atlantic. All the time the wind was increasing, and the whitecaps were whitening the waves in tumbled ardor.

The scene at the finish was soul stirring. Under her towering cloud of canvas, rolling rhythmically in the swell, the Reliance bounded across the viewless finish line like a queen. The excursion boats gathered there fairly awakened the echoes of heaven with the terrific din which they let loose. Such pandemonium can only be heard when an American yacht is victorious in a cup race. Every skipper wasted enough steam to carry him back to New York. Several of the yachts threw their powder into smoke, and the patriots shouted themselves hoarse. Then the immense concourse of vessels waited nine minutes longer until the Shamrock III., with a slight rent in her spinnaker, but majestic looking even in defeat, swept by between the stake boats. The reception she received was if anything more hearty than that accorded to her successful rival.

EXCURSION BOATS CROWDED.

Tremendous Jam of Sightseers View Contest Sailed.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Full of confidence and fresh air, no less than 50,000 people sailed out to the Sandy Hook course today to witness the second contest between Reliance and Shamrock III. From the looks of innumerable hampers that went aboard the excursion boats and yachts the 50,000 were destined to come home full of something other than fresh air. Out of this vast multitude—equal to the population of a prosperous city—it is probable that not more than 1,000 men and women hoped for anything but victory for Reliance. Laying aside considerations of superiority as between the yachts engaged, it would appear that the feature that stands out in this race of today is the enormous attendance at the scene of the encounter. There has been nothing like it in history.

Every craft capable of floating outside the Hook took on passengers today. Disreputable looking little steamboats puffed down the bay alongside of towering coasters and enormous Hudson river and sound steamers. Tugs without number, bearing loads that swamped their decks, tolled and sputtered along in the wake of the big fleet.

From Thursday's experience it appeared that the masters of craft in this port capable of going out where the waves roll unhindered had concluded that interest in the yacht races was not sufficient to draw great crowds. But they reckoned not the thousands who are in New York from Manistee and San Antonio and Kokomo and Abilene and Painted Post and Albert Lea and Kansas City and Fairfield and Chicago and other country towns.

VERDICT OF GUILTY

Humberts and d'Aurignacs Get Long Sentences.

THERESE SHOWED NO EMOTION.

One of the Greatest Crimes Ever Committed In France—A Ten Million Fraud Brought Home to the Perpetrators.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—One of the greatest criminal trials in the history of France culminated when the jury in the court of assizes rendered a verdict of guilty against Therese and Frederic Humbert and Romain and Emile d'Aurignac, accused of obtaining about $10,000,000 on false pretenses. After a brief deliberation the court sentenced Therese and Frederic Humbert each to five years and to pay a fine of 1,000 francs, Emile d'Aurignac to three years and Romain d'Aurignac to two years.

The verdict was reached after the jury had been out for four and a half hours. Therese Humbert seemed to be hopeful until the last, maintaining that the jury was certain to bring in a verdict of acquittal. Even after condemnation her emotion was only momentary. She soon resumed her self possession and warmly thanked her physician for his ministrations. She also thanked Maitre Labori.

Frederic Humbert acted as though dazed by the shock of conviction. His thin face assumed a ghastly pallor. Romain and Emile d'Aurignac preserved an air of stolid indifference.

The verdict in the case of the Humberts absorbs public attention, the Paris journals giving it prominence equal to that of the Dreyfus and Zola trials. The mention by Therese Humbert of Regnier leads to the publication of many biographies of him. Regnier was condemned to death Sept. 20, 1874, after having been found guilty of communicating with the enemy, of being a spy, of entering a fortified place to procure information for the enemy and of plotting with the enemy to secure the possession of the fortified town of Metz. Regnier fled before the trial, going to Switzerland. It was generally believed that he died at Ramsgate, England, in November, 1886, but the Presse recalls the fact that three years ago a mysterious personage died in the United States whom many believed to have been Regnier.

The result of the trial has caused a general feeling of relief, many, especially among the lower classes, having feared till the last that occult influences would succeed in procuring a verdict of acquittal.

In spite of her defiant attitude when receiving sentence, Mme. Therese Humbert broke down on her arrival in the Conciergerie prison and had a long crying fit. On recovering she took a small bowl of soup and then retired. The men of the party, though depressed, bore up better. Maitre Labori, her counsel, visited Mme. Humbert and found her still prostrated, but she obstinately maintained her innocence and denounced the sentence as iniquitous. She and her husband will undoubtedly appeal to the court of cassation on the ground of technical irregularities. If successful in their appeal, which prominent legal authorities think will probably be the case, they will be retried before another assize court, possibly at Versailles.

Emile and Romain d'Aurignac will not appeal, as owing to the time they have spent in prison awaiting trial the period of release on a ticket of leave will arrive before a rehearing could possibly take place. The defending counsel are greatly disappointed at the result of the trial. Maitre Labori refused to be interviewed, but his colleague, Maitre Clunet, expressed his opinion that but for the ill timed and futile revelations of Mme. Humbert a general acquittal would have been possible. Members of the jury say that the person who did most to secure the conviction of the prisoners was Mme. Therese herself because her rambling statements irritated the jurymen. The foreman of the jury declares there was no difference of opinion concerning the guilt of Mme. Therese and her husband.

Attempt to Dynamite a Train.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 24.—An apparent attempt to wreck two passenger trains on the Missouri Pacific railroad was made near Quindaro, Kan. A charge of dynamite was exploded under the engine. An open switch was placed for train No. 51, out bound from Kansas City. The latter train was uninjured, and the incoming train escaped with only the headlight and the windows of the cab of the engine shattered. The dynamite was placed on the track at Big Eddy. When the train reached that place it was running at the rate of fifty miles an hour. The explosion dazed the engineer and fireman for a moment and shook the entire train. When the train stopped the trainmen found that a large hole had been blown out under the right hand rail of the tracks. One-half of a tie was gone, and no trace of it could be found.

Bark Is Given Up For Lost.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Aug. 24.—Hopes for the safety of the American bark Gabrielle, Captain Mundy, of Boston, have been abandoned. The Gabrielle left Ponce Aug. 7 and was due to arrive at Fajardo Aug. 10. She had a cargo of forty tons of iron and sugar. Captain Mundy was sixty-five years old and his son acted as mate. It is thought that the bark foundered during the recent gale.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

As required by an act entitled "An act to provide for submitting proposed amendments to the Constitution of this State to the people thereof," approved April 8, 1903, notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the twenty-second day of September, 1903, a will be held in the several election districts or precincts of this State, at such places as the clerks of the several townships, cities and municipalities of the State shall provide, to enable the electors qualified to vote for members of the Legislature to vote for or against each of the following proposed amendments to the Constitution.

S. D. DICKINSON,
Secretary of State.

ARTICLE V.

EXECUTIVE.

1. Insert in lieu of paragraph 10 a new paragraph, as follows:

10. The governor, or person administering the government, the chancellor and the attorney-general, or two of them, of whom the governor, or person administering the government, shall be one, may remit fines and forfeitures and grant pardons, after conviction, in all cases except impeachment.

ARTICLE VI.

JUDICIARY.

1. Insert in lieu of Section II a new section, as follows:

1. The court of errors and appeals shall consist of a chief judge and four associate judges, or any four of them.

2. In case any judge of said court shall be disqualified to sit in any cause, or shall be unable for the time being to discharge the duties of his office, whereby the whole number of judges capable of sitting shall be reduced below four, the governor shall designate a justice of the supreme court, the chancellor or a vice-chancellor, to discharge such duties until the disqualification or inability shall cease.

3. The secretary of state shall be the clerk of this court.

4. When a writ of error shall be brought, any judicial opinion in the cause, in favor of or against any error complained of, shall be assigned to the court in writing; when an appeal shall be taken from an order or decree of the court of chancery, the chancellor or vice-chancellor making such decree or order shall inform the court in writing of his reasons therefor.

5. The jurisdiction heretofore exercised by the supreme court by writ of error shall be exclusively vested in the court of errors and appeals; but any writ of error pending in the supreme court at the time of the adoption of this amendment shall be proceeded upon as if no change had taken place.

Section IV.

1. Insert in lieu of paragraph 1 a new paragraph, as follows:

1. The court of chancery shall consist of a chancellor and such number of vice-chancellors as shall be provided by law, each of whom may exercise the jurisdiction of the court; the court shall make rules governing the hearing of causes and the practice of the court where the same is not regulated by statute.

Section V.

1. At the end of paragraph 1 add the following:

The court may sit in divisions at the same or different times and places.

Strike out paragraph 3.

Section VI.

1. Insert in lieu of paragraphs 1 and 2 the following:

The court of common pleas shall be constituted and held in each county in such manner as may be provided by law.

ARTICLE VII.

CIVIL OFFICES.

Section II.

1. Insert in lieu of paragraph 1 a new paragraph, as follows:

1. Judges of the court of errors and appeals, justices of the supreme court, the chancellor, the vice-chancellors and the judges of the circuit court and of the court of common pleas shall be nominated by the governor and appointed by him with the advice and consent of the Senate; all persons now holding any office in this paragraph named, except the judges of the court of errors and appeals as heretofore existing, shall continue in the exercise of the duties of their respective offices according to their respective commissions or appointments; the judges of the court of errors and appeals, except those first appointed; the justices of the supreme court, the chancellor and the vice-chancellors shall hold their offices for the term of seven years, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during the term of their appointments; and they shall hold no other office under the government of this state or the United States; the judges of the court of errors and appeals first appointed shall be appointed one for three years, two for five years and two for seven years; judges of the court of common pleas shall hold their offices for the term of five years.

Strike out paragraph 2.

WORLD OF SPORT.

World Bike Championship Goes to Denmark.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—Chicago's errors at critical moments gave New York the first game. Although outbatted two to one in the second game the locals bunched their hits with two errors and scored three runs. A base on balls and two errors were responsible for the only run scored by the visitors. Scores: First game, Chicago, 5; New York, 6. Second game, Chicago, 3; New York, 1.

Hub Got Double Header.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 24.—Boston won both games of a double header here, the first 5 to 3 and the second 4 to 2. Budhoff and Young pitched in the second game, and Boston was lucky in winning a triple play and a double, being all that saved the visitors. Both games were full of sensational playing.

World's Bike Championships.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 24.—At the international cycling meeting, which was continued here, the two kilometer professional championship of the world was won by Ellegard of Denmark, and the 100 kilometer amateur world's championship was taken by Andemars of Switzerland.

Utica Shut Out Troy.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Troy could do nothing with Horton's Benders and was shut out. After giving five passes and forcing in two runs in the fourth Devoe was taken out and Robertaille substituted. The score: Troy, 0; Utica, 5.

Newark Defeats Providence.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 24.—The Newarks took two more games from Providence. The scores: First game—Newark, 8; Providence, 2. Second game—Newark, 4; Providence, 2.

Schenectady Defeated.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Both Pastorius and McDougall pitched erratically, but Schenectady was better at the bat. The score: Albany, 5; Schenectady, 8.

CEBU'S BISHOP.

Hendrick Wants Irish Monks and Nuns In Philippines.

ROME, Aug. 24.—The consecration of the Rev. Thomas A. Hendrick of Rochester, N. Y., as bishop of Cebu, P. I., was performed by Cardinal Satolli in the pretty church of the Franciscan missionary nuns. The occasion acquired special importance because Cardinal Satolli's assistant at the function was Archbishop Harty, the metropolitan of the Philippine Islands, while contemporaneously Cardinal Satolli consecrated Mgr. Cavallari as titular bishop of Philadelphia, Asia Minor, whom the pope has appointed provicar of Venice. Pius X. will still keep for himself the patriarchate, thus avoiding a revival of the question whether the Italian government has the right to choose the patriarch of Venice, which it claimed when Sarto was appointed to that post.

The scene was picturesque in the extreme when the red robed cardinal, surrounded by the bishops and a number of nuns clad entirely in white, proceeded to the symbolic function of consecration. The students of the American college came to Rome from their villa at Castle Gandolfo specially to assist at the ceremony.

Bishop Hendrick, who has received instructions regarding the Philippines from the secretary of state, will have a private audience with Pius X. and will afterward leave for Ireland, as he wishes to have Irish nuns and monks sent to his diocese of Cebu for teaching purposes. He also desires that several Irish priests be sent at least for a time.

Law to Legalize Strikes.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 24.—A law legalizing strikes is in preparation. A general strike has started at Ekaterinoslav. The troops who were summoned to restore order met with a hostile reception, but dispersed the crowd after firing a few shots. The tramway and railroad traffic was stopped, the newspapers did not appear, and the factories were surrounded by troops. Thousands of strikers gathered in the market place, and a collision with the military occurred. Eleven strikers were killed and twelve wounded before order was restored. Before evening the street cars resumed and work was started again in some private workshops. The governor has since announced that work will be generally resumed on the railroads and in the factories, special measures being taken to protect the workmen from violence on the part of the strikers.

Death of Menotti Garibaldi.

ROME, Aug. 24.—The body of Menotti Garibaldi, the eldest son of the Italian patriot, attired in evening dress, has been laid on a catafalque in the largest room of his apartment, which, with sable hangings, has been transformed into a mortuary chapel. Beside the body stand four candelabra. A vigil is kept by Garibaldian veterans, some of whom have been unable to restrain their tears. His brother Ricciotti on coming out of the chapel kissed his relatives and said in a tone of reproach: "Why did you not dress Menotti in his red shirt? No one wore it with more honor."

Killed His Divorced Wife.

HONOLULU, Aug. 24.—E. M. Jones has shot and killed his divorced wife and probably fatally wounded her mother, Mrs. Parmenter. Jealousy is assigned as the cause of the shooting. Jones' wife recently obtained a divorce on the ground of cruelty. Jones is a half breed, while his wife was a member of a prominent white family. After the shooting Jones disappeared with threats to commit suicide. There is talk of lynching him in the event he is found alive.

PANIC AND PILLAGE

Country Around Adrianople Ravaged by Rebels.

MUSSULMAN INHABITANTS FLEE.

Russian Fleet Has Sailed For Sevastopol—The Porte Made a Record Reply to the Czar's Firm Demands.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 24.—The Russian Black sea squadron, which was ordered to Turkish waters and which anchored at Iniada, eastern European Turkey, in order to support Russia's demands on the sultan growing out of the assassination of M. Rostkowski, Russian consul at Monastir, has been recalled to Sevastopol, the squadron's point of departure.

On the receipt of a favorable reply from St. Petersburg M. Zinovieff telegraphed the order of withdrawal to Admiral Krieger, commanding the Russian squadron at Iniada.

M. Zinovieff, Russian ambassador here, announces that the sultan has yielded completely to Russia's demands. In addition to the condemnation and execution of M. Rostkowski's murderers and the punishment of their accomplices, those officers who made disrespectful allusions to M. Rostkowski are dismissed from the service. A careful search is being made for the persons who fired at the consul's carriage.

All the officials, twenty-four in number, whose names were handed to the porte as objects of unfavorable comment by the Russian ambassador are relieved of their posts and handed over to justice. All private persons mentioned in the same list as guilty of various offenses will likewise be tried.

Ismail Haki Pasha, the chief of police at Palanka, province of Uskub, is restored to his post. The persons under arrest for accusing Mussulmans of outrage and abuse are liberated.

Hussein Milmi, inspector general of Macedonia, is reprimanded. The chief of gendarmery and police at Salonika are replaced.

The porte's reply accepting the Russian demands was delivered twelve hours after the presentation of the Russian note, a promptitude most unusual in the history of Turkish diplomacy. Tewfik Pasha, the foreign minister, and Naum Pasha thereupon called on M. Zinovieff, the Russian ambassador, and requested the withdrawal of the Russian squadron from Turkish waters on the ground that its presence tended to encourage the insurrection.

It is said that the sultan appealed to the German emperor to use his good offices at St. Petersburg in favor of the recall of the Russian squadron.

An extraordinary council of ministers assembled at Yildiz kiosk to consider the situation in the interior and discuss the military measures rendered necessary by it. The sultan has consulted the French ambassador on the situation.

News from Adrianople represents the situation in that vilayet as verging on a panic. The insurgents have destroyed telegraphic communication at several points between Adrianople and Kirk-Kilise, thirty-five miles to the northeast, and have burned and pillaged several Greek and Mussulman villages, including Kavakli and Kizilji, southwest of Kirk-Kilise. Troops have been dispatched to the environs of Adrianople.

Two sailing vessels crowded with Mussulman refugees from villages on the Black sea coast have arrived at Kavak, at the entrance to the Bosporus.

A strong feeling prevails among the Mussulmans at Salonika and Monastir on account of the execution of M. Rostkowski's murderers. The remains of the murdered consul were shipped at Salonika to Odessa with great pomp on board the Russian embassy guardship Teretz. The Turkish civil and military authorities attended the ceremony.

MACEDONIAN SUCCESS.

Sofia Reports Much Fighting and Turkish Defeats.

SOFIA, Aug. 24.—From eastern Adrianople come reports of more fighting, which so far appears to be resulting chiefly in favor of the revolutionists. Many villages have been burned, and their inhabitants have taken refuge across the Bulgarian frontier. After a long fight at Stollofo the insurgents defeated a detachment of Turkish troops, which lost twenty killed and wounded.

At Chanagasko, near Surovicovo, the insurgents are reported to have annihilated an entire Turkish regiment.

At Bulankzera, near Ternovo, seventy-five revolutionists are credited with defeating a Turkish battalion. The villages of Amdermis and Enrik, near Vasiliko, have been burned to ashes.

The Turks have bombarded and destroyed the monastery of Constantine, near Losengrad, where fifty insurgents had fortified themselves. The villages of Bakdgik, Konakara, Evren, Dingisco and Brusheva have all been burned and their inhabitants have fled. The large village of Drumbegle, near Losengrad, has been burned by Bashibazouks. The villages of Buch, with 300 houses, and Rakovo, with 200 houses, situated in the vilayet of Monastir, have also been burned by Turkish troops. Two hundred women and children from these villages are now begging in the streets of Monastir.

The Turkish government has organized a special court at Monastir to try the captured insurgents. The tribunal is composed of a Turkish president, three other Turks, two Greeks and one Albanian. It will partake of the character of a criminal court and not of a court martial.

Former Congressman William J. Bryan is more fortunate than any other politician in the country in one respect. He doesn't have to hire another man to act as his press agent.

Rev. Dr. Mitchell, of Cleveland, thinks that there is a demand for men who can earn $5,000 a year and that there are to many of the $20 a week kind at the present time. It is sufficient to say that generally the fellow who draws the $20 really does the work for the man who is getting the $5,000.

Does anyone suspect that Grover Cleveland seeks to run for the Presidency again? It is more rational to believe that he desires an opportunity to decline the honor from his party, which in convention jeered his name. Such a privilege would make a fitting climax to the public career of the great advocate of tariff reform.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

While running about the yard Saturday morning, Almer Russel stepped on a rusty nail and inflicted an ugly wound in the sole of his foot. He was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment.

Mayor Whykoff has filled the position on the Board of Directors of the Building Loan Association, made vacant by the death of ex-Mayor Swackhamer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giddes, of Philadelphia, were the guests of Isaac Giddes, of North avenue, over Sunday.

William Gallegher left Saturday for Steelton, Pa., where he will take a position in the iron works there.

A meeting of the Holy Name Cadets was held yesterday afternoon and routine business was transacted.

Mrs. Joel Giles, of Peekskill, N. Y., has returned home after a brief visit with Mrs. Carman.

Miss Hogan, of Trenton, who has been a guest at St. John's parsonage, has returned home.

M. J. MacNamarre has returned after a few days' visit with friends at Hampton Junction.

Mrs. Jane Apgar has returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives at Bell Mead, N. J.

A special meeting of the Foresters will be held this evening in Apgar's Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moynihan enjoyed an outing at Glen Island yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McLean are entertaining relatives from Trenton.

Thomas MacNamarra is visiting his parents at Newburg.

Hugh Birch visited relatives in Paterson yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

Henry C. Gaskill, who has been suffering from Bright's disease for the past two years, died at his home on Center street Saturday afternoon. The dead man was fifty-eight years old and well acquainted in this neighborhood. The funeral services will be held at his late residence at 3 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. Mr. Sproul officiating. Interment will be made at South Plainfield. He leaves a son and two daughters.

Large numbers of visitors from neighboring towns spent yesterday morning on the lake. Every available boat was pushed into service and still many were unable to enjoy the sport.

Justice R. P. F. Von Minden returned today from New Brunswick, where he has been attending to business matters since Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers, Jr., took in the excursion to Mauch Chunk yesterday.

A new flag walk and steps have been laid in front of the Baptist Church.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Rev. George Shaw, of the Methodist Church, who is conducting a series of Sunday evening open air services on the corner of Bartle and Park avenues, made a severe arraignment last night of the evils of Sunday descration. He said: "The great sin of descrating the Sabbath, is bound to lead to a national calamity, when the arm of the Lord would be felt by the country the same as it has been in the past, for history is bound to repeat itself. The evils of slavery previous to the Civil War led to one of the greatest calamities this Nation has ever felt, but it wiped out the evil. So it is with the rum question, the open doors on Sunday, the baseball parks, the saloons, amusement parks and all others forms of sport which we are as a country looking to for amusement, on this Sabbath day instead of going to the house of the Lord. Galvin's Park, located in your midst, is a favorite gathering place for many on Sunday. The place is so bad that they have barred out the colored man, for fear of debasing him." Mr. Shaw's meetings are being well attended, last night services he was assisted by Mr. Richardson.

Samuel Johanson, who was standing on Park Avenue Sunday morning, came near being the innocent victim of a dog fight. Two curs started a scrap which was all one sided, so the whipped dog started to take satisfaction out on Johanson, jumping on him and sinking his teeth into his clothing, but fortunately did not break the flesh. The animal was beaten off before he could renew the attack.

A family reunion was held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Ann Dobbins, the pleasant event being in honor of Mrs. Dobbins' 70th birthday. The several children and grandchildren from Newark, Summit and the village were present, as well as many friends who called to offer congratulations. Mrs. Dobbins received a number of handsome presents as reminders of the happy event.

That was a great game. We take our hats off to Westfield but at the same time we do not forget that Scotch Plains has a great ball team when they play their game. When the two teams meet on the local grounds on September fifth, one of the largest crowds of the season will no doubt be on hand to witness the struggle.

Flannery's catch of Waller's sky scraper, which was good for three bases, was one of the prettiest catches he has made this season. Center garden is well taken care of and Manager Johnston would have hard work getting one who could cover the same amount of ground as Pete does.

Joe Kavanagh, who plays right field on the ball team, was unfortunate enough Saturday afternoon to lose a pair of pants which were stolen from the room at the hotel where the team dressed. The proprietor stood the loss and Joe was fitted out with a new pair before returning to Brooklyn.

In the absence of Rev. Mr. Shott the pulpit of the Baptist Church was occupied Sunday morning by Rev. Mr. Osborne, of Short Hills. Mr. Osborne is an able divine and his sermon was enjoyed by all. No evening service was held.

A large number of those in the village, who are interested in Miss Curry's work at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, attended the Sunday afternoon meeting yesterday at the Home.

The trolley service on Sunday was very good, cars were run on the eight-minute schedule and considering the large crowd handled, the accommodations was all that could be expected.

"How to make our lives count like His," was an interesting topic discussed by the members of the B. Y. P. U., at their weekly meeting held in the parlors of the church last night.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Coles left for Midland Beach today in company with Mrs. Mary Frentz, of Summit, who has been visiting them for the past few days.

Louis Morel, who has been enjoying a three weeks' vacation, which has been spent at his childhood home in France, returned home Saturday.

Rev. George Shaw, of the Methodist Church, occupied the pulpit, Saturday morning, of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church, of Plainfield.

George and Alexandra Archibald, of Westfield, spent Sunday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Archibold, of Washington Valley.

Mrs. James Paff, who has been visiting her brother-in-law, Thomas M. Paff, Sr., has returned to her home in Brooklyn.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Beekon, of the borough, have blen enjoying life for a few days, cruising on board a yacht at Barnegat Bay.

A special car for the patrons of the ball game was run at the close of the game at Recreation Park Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Charles H. Vincent, of the borough, who has been sojourning for a time at Asbury Park, has returned home.

McManus was lonely in left field in the game at Westfield Saturday afternoon. Not a fly ball came Mac's way.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Barrett, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Noble.

George H. Johnston spent Sunday with his wife and children, who are spending August at Bay Shore, L. I.

A number of the fans journeyed to Elizabeth and Rahway, yesterday afternoon, to see the ball games.

John Wade led the weekly gathering of the Epworth League at the Methodist Church, Sunday evening.

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and developement. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Kirby's Cigars are sold at all first-class places. If they have none, call at main store, 106 Park avenue. 8 20 6

NEW EDISON BATTERY

Wizard Declares It to Be a Success in Every Respect.

Says Its Light Weight, Small Size and Great Mileage Will Drive Out Other Modes of Road Locomotion.

Thomas A. Edison, when questioned about the new storage battery which the public has been expecting for over a year, said:

"The popular impression seems to be that my new storage battery was more or less a possibility, but that it began and ended there.

"That is not so—one of them has been in operation for the last three weeks in a New York delivery wagon, and is doing all that I expected, and claimed for it.

"There is a great deal to be said for the new battery, and all in its favor. It will average more than a third greater mileage for half the weight than will the old lead battery. It has an additional advantage, inasmuch as it can be recharged at a much faster rate than the old battery. As much electricity as will send the motor 40 miles can be put in it in less than an hour.

"Ever since I took up this problem of the greater capacity battery I have worked with the idea of using it for street locomotion—in automobiles and trolleys. And now the auto battery is finished. Last Monday three friends and myself took a trial run to Atlantic City in a car containing a Morse frame and one of my batteries. We wished to attain great velocities over rough surfaces, and we succeded beyond any of our expectations. The idea was to find any defects in either the frame of the car or the battery and motor. The latter two were entirely successful, but there are a few things which can be bettered in the car.

"My experience shows me that we have much to learn from the French makers—they have been at it longer than we have, and are still several years ahead. Several of the auto makers in this country have sent for my battery specifications and are beginning to make types of their machine in which it is to be used.

"I have been experimenting with an electric coach to-day, and it is surprising how well it showed up. We climbed Eagle Rock, where the hill-climbing contests are held, with the greatest ease, and we really did not dare to attain our maximum speed.

"We cannot put the battery on the market in any quantity as yet. The best we can do now is to make one a day. By October we will make at least six daily, and about Christmas we will be in shape to meet any demand. The trouble has been that special machines had to be built. Another disadvantage I have to contend with is paying 40 per cent. duty on a certain sheet steel that must be imported from England or Germany, and then in only limited quantities. By Christmas three rolling mills will be able to make it for me here in this country, and then the present high price for the batteries will be reduced.

"This battery will drive all other methods of locomotion out of business, and in less than ten years the horrible odor of gasoline on the public highways will be unknown. As for a lack of recharging stations, that is nonsense. In the last month 45 new ones have been installed in the New England states alone, and this is going on all over the country.

"Next year I will wager that I can take a car of my own design, fitted with my motor and battery, and go to Chicago and return in less time and with more pleasure than any other machine in existence. There will be no break-down, no explosion of gas or gasoline, and the trip will be made at an even 25 miles an hour.

"Another thing, the battery will be made in four sizes, so that when fully charged it will run 25, 50, 75 or 100 miles, and if wanted, they will be made in any size larger or smaller. Of course, the running power of the battery will depend to a certain extent on the work it is called to do. If the roads are rough and there are many hills, a charge will last a shorter time than if the conditions were such as are found in the city. But, taking the maximum of bad going, the battery will only be exhausted about 25 per cent. sooner than it would be under favorable conditions."

In looking up the official test made of the new battery in the delivery wagon, the books showed that the old lead battery weighed 1,260 pounds, and had a maximum of 25 miles, while the Edison battery which replaced it weighed 650 pounds and drove the wagon 26 8-10 miles. Besides which the old battery occupied 12.8 cubic feet, while the Edison took up only 8.5 cubic feet.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

THE NEW WOMAN

Her Stage of Action

A LADY was just going to sleep at night in her handsome suburban home. It was luxuriously furnished and had in the dining room much silverware. The lady's personal jewels were also valuable. Nobody was in the large, isolated house except the lady and her maid. She thought she heard a rustling noise just as she was dozing off. It brought her to her wideawake senses at once. She arose and investigated, but thought her dogs were making the noise and went back to bed. Presently she heard a low whistle. "I am sure burglars are in the house," she said to herself. She arose softly and went into the hall. On the floor below she saw a light. She slipped back and got a revolver. It was loaded too. The brave woman went lightly downstairs to the kitchen and found a man just in the act of escaping with a great bag of plunder. She fired, and he dropped. He was not killed, however, and managed to crawl through the door, and before the police could come had got away, with the help of a pal outside. In the yard was a big sack full of the household silver. The outside pal had dropped it. Another new woman example. It is an example that other women should follow. Let women learn to protect themselves and their homes even to the extent of putting a bullet through an evil doer if necessary. Then desperadoes of all kinds will beware how they attack lone women. There will be fewer lynchings when women assert the courage that is in them and become able to take care of themselves. Pistol practice, athletic culture, a cool head and dauntless courage are needed by women now as they never have been since Indian times. None is so well protected as those who protect themselves.

So, after all, it seems, the objection to women immigration inspectors at New York was not that they were unable to climb ships' ladders, as alleged by the male political tooters who wanted everything for themselves. After the immigration commissioner had succeeded in working the women out, pressure was brought to bear on him, so it is said, from a quarter where there is a sense of justice and decent courtesy, and after some squabbling and quibbling, the latter evidently to save official dignity, women were put back in the immigration inspection service, actually to board ships as though there had never been a doubt of their ability to do so. But they are no more called "inspectors," look you. That is a title only to be appropriated by the trousered, voting sex. Now the women who go down the harbor and board the ships are to be called only humble "matrons" and their office is no longer to "inspect" women immigrants landing as strangers in the ravening wilderness of New York, but only to "guide and protect." Dear, dear! Who would not be a man and be endowed with the noble masculine reasoning power?

If you will notice, these two phases of thought run together in the old fogy mind—opposition to woman suffrage and opposition to feminine athletic culture. Wherever a blind, antediluvian old fogy froths at the mouth and rails against equal rights you will find that this antediluvian grandmother of the male sex inveighs also against woman riding the bicycle. It never fails.

* *

Wherever a minister sets himself against full citizens' rights for woman he sets himself against the very foundations of Christianity, in which there is neither sex nor race, and in so far is a stumbling block to religion itself. Witness Rev. Drs. Buckley and Lyman Abbott, also Bishop Doane.

* *

Countess Anna de Montaigu, an American woman in spite of her French name, is now in Paris. Note what, in a private letter, she writes of the French people, then think of our own country: "I am invited to dine at Dr. Baraduc's to meet Camille Flammarion. I go also to Mme. Noggerath, the leader of the high class spiritualists and successor of the Duchesse de Pomar. Paris is full of interesting people and everybody is not striving to outdo everybody else in dress and elegance of living. You can be received here without people asking how much money you have. In the literary and artistic set it is. How much brains have you? Here one meets people from all over the earth, and it enlarges one's ideas."

* *

Women who would do things must remember that physical health is the basis of all achievement. And any woman can have physical health who works for it.

* *

Have you seen the new sandals for grown people? They are among the best of recent health giving devices. There is an ordinary shoe sole with a leather support at the back sufficiently high for the attachment of a strap that passes around the ankle. Leather thongs support the sandal easily at the toes. It is worn without stockings, allowing air and the life giving electric earth currents to touch the pale or pinched, strangled foot freely. For the summer in the country and at home these sandals are quite the thing.

CHAPTER I.

ARRIVALS.

The flower-laden breeze of late May, carrying with it a threat of falling weather, came in through the wide casements, now puffing out the dimity curtains in white clouds, and again drawing them against the tiny panes of the long French windows, which had been set ajar that Miss Ellery might enjoy the balmy air and also superintend work in the flower-garden upon which they opened.

One need not wish to look upon a prettier picture than this young mistress made as she stood that morning by a little deal table in the great Ellery dining room, washing with her own hands the breakfast china and at the same time issuing orders to the negro slaves.

A huge, bibbed homespun apron protected her figured cotton morning dress, a white kerchief was demurely crossed beneath her chin, and a snowy cap sat coquettishly upon her brown head, in which gold and red fought hard for supremacy. Her sleeves were rolled above the elbow, displaying a handsome arm, while a small, slippered foot now and then tapped imperiously upon the polished floor as she gave some command.

The room itself was receiving its morning cleaning. The drugget had been taken up from the polished floor and was having a good beating out on the lawn at a sufficient distance to keep the dust from flying into the house; Aunt Rachel was rubbing down the great mahogany dining-table and the smaller breakfast-table; Gabriel was polishing the silver; Judith was looking over the table linen that had been used for breakfast and the last night's supper to see if there were stains that should be removed or worn places darned before it was consigned to the laundry; Enos was at work upon the silver and glass candlesticks, while in the garden outside Uncle Peter was busy among the flowers, singing the while at the top of his cracked old voice.

In the detached kitchen, some 20 feet from the house, Aunt Esther and Aunt Deborah were sending up quavering contraltos in rivalry of Uncle Peter's bass, accompanying themselves with the rattle of pots and pans, and interrupting now and then to shout a command or a threat at their crew of picaninny assistants.

The watchful eyes of the mistress were everywhere, for the hand which held the domestic reins during her stepmother's absence was not lax, and it took no little vigilance to keep that army of lazy, grown-up black children to their tasks.

"Uncle Peter," she called, in her mellow southern voice, "methinks you have been resting full ten minutes upon that rake. Is the sun then so hot that you cannot work?"

"Hist, missy," whispered the old darky, sticking his white cotton head in through the window, "thah's a band of Britishahs ridin' up de av'new. Ole Petah hab bin watchin' der red coats tro' de trees."

"And if so," said the mistress calmly, as she placed her china upon a silver tray and herself carried it to the china-closet, a stoop-shouldered affair with glass-knobbed doors below and an overhanging shelf above on which were arranged such pieces as were kept out for display and could not find room on the tall, columned sideboard laden with silver candlesticks and glass decanters, gold-chased tankards, and fat goblets, "and if so," she repeated, "what of it? Are we such poor royalists that we need fear his majesty's soldiers? Tut, tut, pick up your cloth, Aunt Rachel, and go on with your cleaning. Think you the British will know that you remember Mr. Washington in your prayers, and in your heart espouse the cause of your old master, my Uncle Elijah?"

For lately Jane's father had bought from his brother a number of blacks whom that patriot's circumstances, reduced by the war and his espousal of the American cause, would not permit him longer to support. Aunt Rachel and Gabriel were among these, and they had brought the principles they had borrowed from their old master into their new home.

Just then Sampson appeared at the door leading from the dining room into the hall and announced in his most expressionless tones, while he held himself like a very stiff pasteboard figure—

"Maj. Broadus to see Miss Ellery."

Jane knew that he had been too well trained by her stepmother to voluntarily bring a stranger into her presence with so little warning, and she surmised the British officer had persisted in following at his heels. It was somewhat haughtily, therefore, that she drew down the sleeves of her gown and turned to meet the visitor, who stood in the entrance.

He looked both astonished and embarrassed as her beautiful young face came within range of his vision. Evidently, he had not expected to be confronted by so much youth and loveliness. "Pardon me, but are you—ah—the mistress of the house?" he asked hesitatingly.

"The temporary mistress, yes," she answered. "My father and mother are from home. Is there aught I can do for you?"

"Col. Bessemer bids me present his compliments and request the privilege of resting his troops here for a short space. He also desires me to express the hope that, inasmuch as he understands your family to be loyal subjects of the king, you may not object to providing himself and his officers with breakfast, since they have been upon the road the entire night, after fighting a hard battle yesterday, without either food or rest."

"Certainly, I shall comply with his request," Jane answered. "It is not the rule of my father's house to turn away anyone hungry, be he British or American."

The officer raised his eyebrows at this and stiffened perceptibly. It did not agree with his ideas of loyalty that American sympathizers should be fed by adherents of the king; but Jane was a contrary jade, and while she was never so devoted a royalist as when she was talking to revolutionist neighbors and relatives, she never came so near being American in her sympathies as when she was thrown with British or tories. It might be because her father was dubbed a timeserver, even by those who once had loved him best and respected him most, that the girl had developed this contradictoriness. Certainly, it was the occasion for many a passage at arms between herself and her tory stepmother.

The officer heard her give orders for the preparation of a good meal, and then went back to his colonel.

As Bessemer entered a wave of astonishment swept over his florid face, and he hurried forward to greet his hostess. "Miss Ellery—you?" he cried. "Ah, how fortune has blessed me with her smile this morning in directing me hither and permitting me to renew an acquaintance so delightful!" He raised her hand to his lips as he spoke with a gallantry of which few were greater masters.

Jane swept him a deep courtesy, while an ironical smile played about her lips. "I feel honored that Col. Bessemer should remember me," she remarked.

"Remember you? As though I could forget you," he exclaimed in a low tone. "Your image is engraved too deep upon my heart for that. It is true, I had forgot—nay, I could never have known, for it would be impossible to forget aught which concerned you—that your home was in this vicinity, and to come thus unexpectedly upon you is the happiest moment of my life."

The cynical smile did not leave Jane's lips. She had listened to Col. Bessemer's flowery speeches before; yet she was a woman, and she could not help a flattered thrill even while she was saying to herself, "I wonder how many women he has spoken to thus since I met him last in Philadelphia?"

"But permit me, dear lady, to have the honor of presenting my officers to you." He turned towards those who had accompanied him as he spoke. They had remained in a little knot around the door while he was greeting Jane, and about their mouths a reflection of the smile her lips had worn. They also had seen their commander kiss the hands of beautiful women before, and while they could not hear the speeches he poured into her ears, they could imagine somewhat the purport of them.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

The recent victory of Walter E. Egan at Cleveland, where he won the title of western amateur golf champion, was gratifying to a large number of golfers because Walter has been near championships so often but failed in the final rounds. He has been the runner up twice in the western, and last year he reached the semi-finals in the national tourney at Glen View. He was the runner up in the western event in 1899, being defeated by D. R. Forgan in the final round, 6 up and 5 to play. In 1902 he was again runner up, and was defeated in the final round by his cousin Chandler by 1 up in an extra hole match. This year Chandler again defeated him in the final round for the Exmoor cup, and at the Onwentsia open tournament he was put out in the final match by Roswell Mundy, of Riverside, for the Ravinoaks cup. He again worked his way into the final round for the western championship, but as he had been defeated by Chandler so many times few thought he would win, but he managed to reverse the history of last year and win in an extra hole contest.

Walter E. Egan

Dr. J. Lee Richmond, of Toledo, O., made a good showing in the tournament. Dr. Richmond became famous in a day some 25 years ago by pitching the old Chicago white stockings out without a run, hit, or "reach first base" in an exhibition game with the Worcester (Mass.) team. Richmond was a Brown university student at the time and had been called up from Providence by telegram to pitch the game. One result of Richmond's showing was that Worcester entered the National league the ensuing season, but there Richmond met with only indifferent success and soon retired from baseball. He tried it again in 1887 with one of the old American association teams, but did not achieve success. Richmond is now a successful physician.

James Collins, better known to baseball enthusiasts as "Jimmy" Collins, the captain and third baseman of the Boston Americans, and one of the best players in the profession to-day, believes that a rule should be enforced that would compel pitchers to cut out useless motions in the delivery of the ball to the batsmen. Collins says that these motions constitute a balk in most instances, but that umpires do not enforce the rule.

James Collins

"Motions such as the bending of the knee, the throwing forward of the body, the swinging of the arms and all kinds of business," declares the Plymouth Rock player, "are done with the evident purpose of deceiving base runners. They certainly don't help the pitcher to get any more speed on the ball or better curves. There is no doubt on earth that base running is hurt by the practices. The runner who gets on first doesn't dare take a lead if he knows the pitcher has a good balk motion—for a balk is what the motion is. There has been a lot of comment regarding the apparent falling off in base stealing this season. The reason is apparent. Runners don't dare take a long enough lead for fear of being caught on a false motion by the pitcher. I believe that pitchers should be made to deliver the ball to the batsman after he takes his position without all these motions."

The tour of the Philadelphia cricketers in England and Scotland which finished recently reflects much credit on the players and on the game in Philadelphia. From a comparatively small number of players a team has been found capable of giving most of the first class counties of England a hard battle and of defeating several of them. Even the Englishmen are loud in their praises of the prowess of the visitors, and some of the players are counted good enough to make a place on any team in England. The tourists won more than half their matches and several were drawn. Cricket, in spite of the fun poked at it on this side of the water, is essentially a game of skill and science and takes a number of years to master. With their limited opportunities the Philadelphia players have certainly made a grand showing, and it is within the bounds of reason that within a few years England may have reason to produce its best eleven to take the measure of the United States team.

Water Boy, the great son of Watercress, upheld the honor of the east against all comers by winning the rich and coveted Saratoga handicap, the feature of the opening day of racing at the springs, in masterly fashion. The victory was won in the presence of 10,000 racing enthusiasts.

B. L. Woodward, who had a national reputation as a trap shooter, died recently at his home in Brockton, aged 38. He was considered one of the best marksmen in the country and was a member of the All-American team which took part in the international shooting contests two years ago in England.

Matty Matthews, formerly welterweight champion, has deserted the prize ring for good and all. He has applied to Pat Powers for a position as a ballplayer in the Eastern league and Mr. Powers promised to find a place for him at once.

SEA ISLAND COTTON

Porto Rico Now Ginning One of the Largest Crops Ever Raised.

Bright Outlook in the Island for This Valuable and Important Crop—How the Quality Is Improved by Selection.

The new ginneries which have just been erected on the water front of San Juan, island of Porto Rico, are busy working up the crop of sea island cotton which is the most pretentious and significant crop which has yet been raised in the island. It is expected that the output will be something like 10,000 bales of some of the finest sea island cotton grown.

About three years ago the first systematic attempts at growing sea island cotton were made in Porto Rico, and the results thus far obtained are most gratifying. The principal promoter of the new movement declares that the island should grow 50,000 bales of this superior quality of cotton each year, and where it is properly cared for, and the grade of plants improved by selection, it should net the grower $60 per acre, while the sugar planter is contented if he clears $15 per acre.

Sea island cotton differs from the common upland variety in the greater length and silkiness of its fiber. The localities where it can be successfully grown are limited. In 1786 the first sea island cotton was raised on the coast of Georgia from seed obtained in the Bahamas. The first successful crop was grown by William Elliott in 1790 on an island in the mouth of the Savannah river. The superior quality of the cotton was soon recognized. It is now grown in limited areas in South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama.

COTTON FIELD AFTER THE FIRST SELECTION

Porto Rico is the latest section to endeavor to grow the cotton for commercial purposes. As in the growing of the upland cotton, the process of selection to improve the length and fineness of the fiber must be resorted to by the planter. It proves essential also in increasing the yield, encouraging early ripening, and hardier plants. The first care is the choice of the field from which the selections are to be made. It must be good soil and thoroughly cultivated in order to insure a good development of the plants and satisfactory conditions for making selections. Just before the first picking, the field is gone over and every plant examined with reference to the productiveness, number and size of bolls, vigor and shape of plant, earliness, etc.

The seed of the individual plant selected the first year is planted in the spring of the second year and plainly maked to distinguish from the seed of any other plant selected. Care is taken to note whether these plants grown possess the desired qualities, thus showing their power of transmission. If they do not they are discarded. The seeds of those that do are carefully preserved and planted the third year, and thus the process is carried on until the plants of the desired qualities are obtained. Our illustrations show a field after the first and third selections are made and the undesirable plants are removed. The planter will use the seeds produced from the selected plants in the future planting.

The sea island cotton industry is a most important one, but like all other desirable products the plant had its natural enemy. A few years ago the industry was threatened by a serious disease, which attacked the roots of the plants, oftentimes affecting whole fields, thus greatly reducing the yield. After careful study the government experts discovered that the disease was a minute fungus, which through its action on the roots cut off the water supply and caused the trouble, to which the cotton growers had given the name of "wilt." The effort to discover some fungicide which would destroy the fungus was unsuccessful, but it was noted that in fields which were very badly affected by the disease there were plants which seemed to be immune. The method of selection briefly outlined above was employed and a cotton plant developed which was a resistant to the disease. Thus was overcome a condition which threatened the entire industry.

Care is being taken in Porto Rico to produce the best plants for its climate and soil by the process of selection and it is only another demonstration of the importance to the farmer of the seeking of the survival of the fittest.

VISITORS TO CAMP HOPE

CHAPEL BOYS DINE AND ENTERTAIN THEIR FRIENDS.

Craft Brought Into Service to Convey Party to Camping Ground—Pastimes Enjoyed by the Lads.

"Camp Hope," Lake Hopatcong, Sunday.—Fully fifty people from Plainfield visited camp today arriving at Nolan's Point at 11:30. Row boats, steam launches and private yachts were called into service to carry the visitors to the camp which is about a mile and a half distant from the Central Railroad depot. "Chef" Edward Washington prepared an elaborate, seven course, table d'hote dinner for seventy-five people.

A repetition of Hope's minstrels was given Friday night at Lee's pavilion to the immense delight of a big crowd. Camp Hope continues as popular as ever with visitors, a multitude of whom gather nightly to enjoy the impromptu songs and dances and other stunts.

"Teddy" Holmes and "Narrow" Morton arrived at camp Saturday and will remain one week. An aching void was left in the hearts of the campers today by the departure for home of Raymond McVoy. The emptiness was partly filled, however, by the news that the Texier brothers, who were expected to leave, had received a message home from granting them gracious permission to prolong their stay until the camp breaks up. B. "Comedian" Firstbrook received a check from home today and he too concluded to stick out the week. John Cose has been called away on business and will leave tomorrow.

Others who came on the excursion from Plainfield and called at Camp Hope were Phillip Jahn, William Feiring, Charles Dixon, Robert Gow, Walter L. Hefield, Jr., George Cose.

SERVICE AT FRESH AIR HOME

REV. R. F. H. JACOBS CONDUCTED THE SINGING AND GAVE INTERESTING TALK.

Six Hundred People Present—Much Interest in the Exercises—Children Entertained Saturday.

Since the Children's Home at Netherwood was opened there has never been more interest shown in the work than yesterday at the Sunday afternoon services conducted by Rev. R. F. H. Jacobs, of Brooklyn. Six hundred people were present.

A service of song was rendered by twelve members of the Park Avenue Baptist Church Sunday-school, lead by Dr. Jacobs. D. M. Torrey, of Netherwood, a worker at the camp, conducted the service of prayer and Mr. Jacobs sang the solo, "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown?" Little Willie Ponsford, one of the brightest children at the camp, sang an effective solo. Mr. Jacobs rendered two stanzas of the hymn, "Saved By Grace" and the last two stanzas were sung by Miss Florence Hawkins and Mr. Jacobs in duet. Mr. Jacobs' talk was along the line suggested by the story of the "Healing of Naaman, the Leper," from which the speaker drew lessons of obedience.

The singing by the congregation was a special feature of the afternoon. Those in charge of the services were Miss Ella Benedict and Miss Florence Hawkins, of this city; and Clarence Titus, of Elizabeth. Mr. Jacobs, the speaker, is the secretary of the National Central Committee of the Twentieth Century National Gospel Campaign. He is a well-known speaker in this part of the State.

The children at the camp were entertained Saturday by the members of the East Third Street Mission. Webster Grant provided each boy with a soldier cap and a battalion drill was held by the children in the yard. Watermelons were served during the afternoon.

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

Clippings From Other Newspapers Which May be of Interest to Plainfield and Its Citizens.

The Proposed Constitutional Amendments.

For several weeks the proposed constitutional amendments providing for changes in our judicial system have been the subject of discussion in the State press. Prominent lawyers have been heard on both sides, although it must be confessed that among members of the bar sentiment is largely in favor of the amendments. A few days ago Attorney-General McCarter, in the columns of the News, submitted fourteen reasons in support of the amendments and on another page of this issue Supreme Court Justice Fort adds the weight of his authority upon the same side.

Opposition to the amendments is based largely upon the claim that they are insufficient to remedy the well-recognized defects and weaknesses of our system of court procedure. In other words, it is asserted that it is better to endure our present ills than to accept partial relief. With this view the News cannot agree. While it believes that the proposed amendments are far from accomplishing the reforms needed, at the same time it cannot endorse the policy of refusing the half loaf which they offer. New Jersey's antiquated legal system needs not merely reforming, but revolutionizing. Mr. Charles H. Hartshorne, of the Jersey City bar, has demonstrated this so clearly in a series of articles published in the New Jersey Law Journal, as to carry conviction to every candid mind. He has shown how our anomalous system of courts, our antiquated methods of procedure, and our division of law and equity practice tends to delay litigation, to obstruct the speedy course of justice, and to make the observance of mere technicalities more vital to the successful issue of a suit than the merits of the case itself. The proposed amendments will wipe out some of the anomalous court conditions, but will do little to remedy the other evils. This can only be accomplished by the adoption of an entire new code of legal procedure. Not only the present statutes governing legal practice, but the rules of the courts, all tend to delay litigation and to elevate the non-essential above the essential. Instead of providing for a speedy and orderly mode of procedure, they tangle the seeker for justice in a labyrinth of costly technicalities and artificial restrictions repugnant to common sense and deadly to common right.

The News believes that inasmuch as the proposed amendments seem likely to accomplish something in the direction of reform they should be adopted, but it also believes that the system of legal procedure is in greater need of reform than the system of courts.—Newark News.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY OF WOMEN'S LODGE

Mizpah Lodge, I. O. of O. L., Hold Celebration in Central Theatre.

IS FIFTEEN YEARS OLD

FARCE COMEDY ENTITLED "HESTER" A FEATURE OF THE PROGRAMME.

Short Session of Lodge Held—Refreshments Were Served—Those Taking Part in the Affair—Other Details.

In celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the organization of Mizpah Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Ladies, the members held anniversary exercises in Central theatre last night. A one act farce-comedy, entitled "Hester," was produced by a number of friends of the lodge members. Those who took part were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Willard, who arranged the programme and coached the performers in preparing for the play; Miss Ciara Kester, Clarence E. Meade, Alfred Palmer, Claude Slater, Fred J. Huff, Harold Willard and Joseph Longhead. All did exceptionally well in their respective parts and little Harold Willard, in an Irish character ong and buck dance, made a decided hit.

A short session of the lodge was held in the lodge rooms in Washington Hall and afterwards the members adjourned to the theatre below. Refreshments were served and music was a feature of the evening's entertainment. The lodge was organized fifteen years ago and has enjoyed a steady growth. The members are all active in the work and at almost every meeting new members are added.

ELECTION MUDDLE.

Secretary of State and Attorney-General at Odds Over Law, Which Will be Amicably Settled.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Aug. 25—Having sent out the election instructions for the officers of last November to follow out at the first registry day for the constitutional amendment election on Sept. 8 the Secretary of State is confronted with an opinion of the Attorney-General that the newly appointed officers, whose terms commence Sept. 11, are the correct officials to take charge of this election.

The Attorney-General claims that the new law covers this point. The Secretary of State believes that as the new law does not specifically mention the matter the old law is in force. A conference this week is expected to adjust the deadlock.

SELECTED DELEGATES.

Plainfield Democratic Club to be Represented at Outing—New Primary Law Discussed.

The nominating committee of the Plainfield Democratic Club met last night at the Democratic headquarters on East Second street and selected delegates to attend the Democratic outing at Whitestone, Long Island. They are James E. Martin, Jeremiah V. F. Dilts, Charles Moffett and Andrew Nolan.

Part of the evening was taken up with a discussion of the new primary law. The forms for nominating candidates prescribed were received from the County Democratic Committee. They will be filled out and filed at the office of the City Clerk, Friday night.

Trip in Mr. Besler's Car.

General Superintendent Huntington, of the New Jersey Central, returned last week accompanied by his family from a two weeks' trip from their former home in Iowa. The party travelled in the private car Atlas, belonging to Vice President, W. G. Besler, of North Plainfield. Mr. Huntington's mother returned with him and will visit the family in Elizabeth.

Awarded Contract.

A. I. Smalley of North Plainfield, has been awarded the contract for paving Norwood avenue and by the street committee of the Common Council. There were two other bids. One was from William Emmons and the other from Charles M. Meeker. The bids were opened yesterday. In the contract it is stipulated that the work must commence today.

Judgment for Plaintiff.

Justice Von Minden, of New Market, yesterday, rendered judgment for full amount and costs in favor of the plaintiff in the contract case of W. H. Smalley against Soren M. Sorensen.

SALAMAGUNDI PARTY FOR SWEET CHARITY

A Successful Entertainment Given in Aid of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home.

QUITE WELL ATTENDED

UNIQUE METHOD OF AWARDING PRIZES FORMS A FEATURE.

A Watermelon Eating Contest—Parlor Games and a Pie Eating Contest—The Affair Ending in a Dance.

Fully two hundred were present at the Salamagundi party held last night at the Hotel Netherwood for the benefit of Miss Curry's Fresh Air Camp. Ten or a dozen of the more common parlor games were played and prizes awarded to the winners of each game. The award of prizes was carried on in a novel way as the prizes were suspended by vari-colored ribbons from the main chandelier and were tied up in packages, each winner cutting down with a pair of scissors the prize which by the shape of the package most appealed to him or her.

Much merriment was caused by this method of distribution as several times the articles were not exactly what the winners would have selected had the prizes not been tied up. The arrangements were in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brown. The affair was quite successful and a goodly sum was realized for Miss Curry's work.

Later in the evening there was a donkey party, the winner of which was Miss Rose. Considerable jollity was furnished by the hotel hall boys who gave a varied entertainment of recitations and monologues. Lester Kennett rendered a monologue which was well received and a watermelon eating contest between teams of two colored boys and two white boys from this city. The colored team was victorious, demolishing a half melon in two minutes. A pie eating contest was finished up in a minute and a half. The affair was concluded by an informal dance.

POPULAR COMEDIAN.

Frank M. Bacon's Nephew Scoring a Hit Before the Footlights.

In a recent edition of a New York newspaper a pleasant comment is made concerning Frank Bacon, a comedian, who has been having so much success at the Alcazar in New York, during the past three years. Mr. Bacon is a nephew of Frank M. Bacon, of this city, and this is what the New York paper says of him:

"Frank Bacon, the delightfully droll comedian, who has been such a favorite with Alcazar audiences for the past three years, has decided to give up stock company work and next week will start out as a star. He has chosen for a play 'The Hills of California,' a rural comedy, written especially for him and one well calculated to display his best character style. After playing in a few interior cities he will go to Portland, where he plays for a week, and then is booked for ten months, going as far East as Chicago. He has engaged a capital company. * * * Mr. Bacon is a great favorite in New York and he embarks on his new venture with the best wishes of the entire community."

Martine vs. Smith.

The Camden Courier rightly seized up the Democratic estimate of Plainfield's silver-tongued orator when it said: "Farmer Martine, of Union County, is of the opinion that Grover Cleveland's nomination for President by the Democrats would be political suicide. As Mr. Martine is Democrat of the straightest sect, his opinion, especially among the Democrats of Union County, will have great weight—much greater than that of former Senator Smith, the State party leader. Union County Democrats, it may be relied upon, will not agree to give Cleveland the State delegation next year, as Smith and Little propose."—Elizabeth Daily Journal.

Swackhamer to Speak.

The tri-county farmers' picnic, of Morris, Hunterdon and Somerset counties, will be held at Black River Falls, Wednesday, September 2. "Our Vicious Laws" will be the subject of an address by Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer. Rev. J. B. Cleaver will be present and speak on "Party Shortcomings." Many people from this city and all parts of the counties will be present.

STREET WORK BIDS DECLARED EXCESSIVE

Common Council at Its Meeting Last Night Arranged For Re-Advertisement.

DUE TO COST OF LABOR

DETAILED BIDS AS OPENED BY CITY FATHERS AT THE SESSION.

Were Only Three Bidders—Secret Session—Time Set for Public Hearing of the Property Owners.

The principal object for which the adjourned meeting of the Common Council was held last evening, was not accomplished, the session having been held for the purpose of taking definite action regarding the macadamizing of certain streets in the city. It was possible to get just a quorum present, Councilmen Buckle, Randolph, Gloak, Daniel, Pray and Garrigues being in attendance. Bids were received from A. I. Smalley, C. M. Meeker and W. H. Weldon, the last of Rahway. After they were read, the members took a recess to consider the bids. In order to obtain more light on what appeared to be and in reality were high figures, the bidders present were invited to join the members in secret session.

After the recess, Mr. Pray stated that all of the bids were too high, in fact much more so than was anticipated. The increase had been explained as due to the high cost of labor and material. He added that the property-owners on the streets proposed to be macadamized had been informed that the cost to them would be about 25 cents per front foot and it had been learned that the cost would probably exceed that by five cents. In view of this, the members considered it wise to re-advertise for bids, modify the specifications a little and make an effort to reduce the cost.

Mr. Pray then offered a resolution calling for new bids and setting Tuesday evening, September 8, as the time when the property-owners affected can appear and make such objections as they may have. The resolution also called for re-advertising for new bids in the official newspapers of the city.

The bids received last evening, showing the prices asked for the macadamizing of the various streets, the lowest bids being indicated by a plus mark, are these:

	A. I. Smalley.	C. M. Meeker.	W. H. Weldon.
Woodland avenue	45	1.40	1.55
E. Seventh street	83*	90	85
E. Third street	78*	81	85
Berckman street	78*	83	85
Prospect avenue	84	80*	87
W. Seventh street	76	72*	83
West Fifth street	1.15	1.00	1.25
So. Second street	70	76*	83
Albert street	80	74*	83
Dunellen avenue	90	80*	80
Rock avenue	90	76*	90
Darrow avenue	—	90	—
North avenue	78*	89	95

The only other business considered by the Council was a petition received from Assessor H. O. Runyon, in which the latter stated that Ida A. Opdyke had been assessed in error in 1891-1892 on a property at 608 West Fourth street. He said that there was no such property, that the property in question is at 610-612 West Fourth street. He communicated with the Council regarding the matter to prevent the property being included in those to be sold under the Martin Act. The petition was referred to Mr. Daniel, chairman of the finance committee, who will adjust the matter.

STAG PARTY.

Affair Given in Honor of Return of Three Young Men From Their Vacations.

A stag party was given last evening at 427 West Front street, on the return of James McGill, Thomas Carter and Walter Butts from their summer outing. The house was filled with guests. By way of amusement a vaudeville programme was presented by some semi-professional talent and there were several vocal and instrumental solos and duetts by the guests.

During the evening refreshments were served by Mrs. Whitlock, of 440 West Front street. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion in colors of red and green.

Burial of Child.

The funeral of Annie E. Hafer, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson Hafer, 319 Plainfield avenue, was held this afternoon from the residence of her parents. The child died Sunday at the age of three years and death was caused by whooping cough.

PROGRESS OF YACHT RACE

RELIANCE AND SHAMROCK IN SECOND RACE FOR CUP.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, Aug. 25—Notwithstanding the predictions for a light breeze today, there is every indication that the Reliance and Shamrock III will successfully cover the prescribed course, ten miles to each leg, in the second of the series of five international yacht races. At 10:45 this morning the first bulletin was received. This stated that the wind was blowing a seven knot clip and that from indications at that time the yachts would cover the course within the time-limit.

11:15—Starting gun fired at 11 o'clock, the Reliance crossing the line at 11:00:32 and the Shamrock at 11:02:10.

11:30—Reliance is steadily gaining and now is one and one-half miles on the course.

12:04—Wind at Holland Beach shifts South West. If this should change at turn, would benefit Shamrock. Reliance had lead; Shamrock gaining.

Yachts close to outer mark. Reliance 12:24:55; Shamrock, 12:25:51. Deducting for time allowance the Shamrock is slightly in the lead.

1:50—Reliance turns second mark. Reliance, 1:25; Shamrock, 1:29:30. Reliance leads by 4 minutes, 30 seconds.

2:08—Reliance now leads by four minutes four miles from finish. Reliance seems sure winner.

2:15—Reliance wins.

A NEW WAR SECRETARY

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Oyster Bay, Aug. 25—Elihu Root's resignation as Secretary of War has been accepted. He will be succeeded by W. H. Taft, governor of the Philippines.

ELABORATE QUARTERS.

Odd Fellows to Have Elegantly Furnished Lodge Rooms in Babcock Building.

The work on the Odd Fellows lodge rooms at the Babcock building is reported to be progressing favorably and it is expected that the rooms will be ready for meetings by the first of October.

A suite of five rooms is being finished at a cost of between $5,000 and $6,000. These rooms will be for the use of Queen City Lodge, No. 126, and Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, and both organizations are contributing to the expense. Aside from the regular lodge rooms for meetings, there will be a large banquet hall and several smaller ante-rooms. These rooms will be decorated with the lodge insignia and the furniture will all be of special design.

LABORING SEVEN DAYS.

Confectioner to His Sorrow Takes Advantage of Law Which Permits Working on Sunday.

J. Genisman, who conducts a little fruit and candy store near Burn's hotel on Somerset street, got in trouble with Chief Marshal Campbell on Saturday for having his store open all seven days of the week. Geinsman was discovered delivering fruit on Saturday and as this is the day he declares he keeps as a Sabbath, he was gathered in by the marshal. Genisman was much alarmed to see the law after him but after consideration decided that he would keep open Saturday and observe Sunday instead of vice-versa as heretofore.

Civil Service Examination.

By order of the United States Civil Service Commission an examination will be held for the clerk-carrier service on November 18. All persons wishing to avail themselves of this opportunity may receive applications of the Secretary upon application at the postoffice. Applications must be filed with Secretary W. B. Sharp for this examination at the hour of closing on October 19th.

Rev. Mr. Johnstone Dying.

Rev. Jocelyn Johnstone, formerly rector of the Church of the Redeemer, of North Plainfield, but now secretary to Borough President Swanstrom, of Brooklyn, is critically ill in a private hospital at 148 East Thirty-fifth street, Manhattan. He was operated upon a week ago for appendicitis, and while the operation was considered successful he has failed to rally.

THE ENTERTAINMENTS

THE SPECIAL WORK IN THE SEVERAL BRANCHES TO BE A FEATURE.

Schedule for Star Course—Booklet Well Illustrated—Announcement of Opening Dates in Detail.

The annual prospectus of the Young Men's Christian Association for 1903-04 has just been published and it makes quite an attractive booklet. Aside from the usual advantages, spiritual, physical and social in the regular departments, the association, under the direction of the Boys' Work Committee, consisting of Orra S. Rogers, L. H. Biglow, Jr., Lindsey Best, Dr. N. H. Probasco, J. A. Stafford and P. S. Suffern, a new department will be instituted. This will be known as the "intermediate department."

The Board of Directors of the association have realized the advisability of such a department, that the older boys might develop a more fraternal feeling. There will be the religious work with Bible classes, physical, with special classes in the gymnasium, educational tours to places of interest and socials and entertainments, including six entertainments for the benefit of the Intermediate and Boys' departments. The cost of membership in this department will be the same as in the boys' department.

The list of entertainments thus far arranged are these:

October 26, J. Rosani, manipulator and juggler; November 20, James R. Joy, "The Yellowstone Trail;" December 7, Charles R. Taggert, in his impersonations, ventriloquism and comic songs; January 22, Ronald Reeded, humorist, cartoonist, impersonator, prestidigator; February 15, E. R. Ackerman, glimpses of foreign lands; March 18, Prof. A. E. Hendrickson, magician and shadowgraphist.

Announcement of the Star Course entertainments is also made. These have been arranged:

Monday, October 12, The Mendelssohn Club, of New York; Thursday, November 26, S. M. Spedon, sketch artist and entertainer, Willard and Marler, instrumentalists and vocalists; Monday, December 14, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Labadie, Fred and William VanEps, banjo and mandolin soloists; Friday, January 1, New Century Trio and John F. Dillon, singing humorist; Thursday, January 14, Albert Armstrong, in his dramatic picture play, presenting "The Little Minister;" Monday, February 22, "The Edison Projectoscope Company, with Helen M. Gomes, readings from English and American authors.

In connection with the Intermediate department there will be a cabinet, comprising three members from the Plainfield High School, three from Leal's School and three from the North Plainfield High School, and they will select a president, vice president and secretary, while Kenneth Robbie, boys' secretary, will, as heretofore, have general charge.

The book also contains several excellent pictures, including one of the class leaders in the gymnasium. In this picture there is one of the late Elias Giles, who was killed in the Westfield wreck. The others in the picture are Percy Hand, Ray Smith, W. E. Neal, H. S. Brokaw, Arthur Denton, Walter Cahoone, Walter Mc Naughton, William Heinecke and Ray Collins.

Another picture of interest is that of the championship basket ball team, winners of The Daily Press trophy, presented to the team by the proprietor of this paper. Those in that picture are Ray Smith, Percy Hand, William Heinecke, Arthur Denton, Walter Cahoone, W. E. Neal and Harry Soull.

The opening of the various departments and fixed dates are:

Opening reception, September 26; fall term opens October 6; fall term closes December 24; spring term opens January 4; International examinations to be announced; spring term closes March 29; closing reception to be announced.

N. J. Senators There.

United States Senators John Kean and John F. Dryden, were the guests of President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay yesterday.

STRANGE LAD FALLS INTO GOOD HANDS

Louis Kohler Given Lodging at Home of President of Common Council.

EMPLOYMENT FOR BOY

HIS ANTECEDENTS STILL REMAIN A MYSTERY, BUT KIELY HAS HOPES.

Given Work in Plumber's Shop—Says Father Was a Carpenter in New York—Lad Has Worked on Farms.

Louis Kohler, the fifteen-year-old lad found yesterday morning nearly asphyxiated by inhaling gas in a room in the Hotel Kensington, has been given a job. Through the efforts of the police and of J. F. Buckle, president of the Common Council, he is now working for D. S. Dunavan, a plumber of Park avenue.

The boy was cared for last night by Mr. Buckle who gave him a room to sleep in at his home on Westervelt avenue. In spite of his disconnected story of his history he seems intelligent and of good character. It is certain that he has lived in institutions for the poor practically all his life. That much has been gathered from his story. While sitting in front of police headquarters talking with the men last night the boy expressed wonder at the crowds of people passing, judging from which it is safe to say that he has spent most of his time recently apart from cities. He still sticks to his story as told yesterday, with the additional statement that his father was a carpenter in New York City and was killed while at work. Since that time the boy has been living in poor farms from Jersey City to Hackensack and judging from the subdued nature of his references to them his treatment has not always been of the best.

Louis is a very respectable-appearing little fellow. He is small for his age, with small, pale features, brown hair and dressed in a well kept suit of gray.

John F. Auten, clerk of the Hotel Kensington, this morning told The Daily Press that the story that young Kohler, after retiring, arose to light the gas and turned it on slightly while looking for a match, was greatly exaggerated. Unable to find the match he again lay down, forgetting to shut off the gas. An attendant noticed the odor and woke the boy up. Kohler was not seriously affected by the amount of gas he inhaled as to be unable to eat a hearty breakfast.

Kohler was brought to the hotel by a man who signed the name of A. Kiel, and who paid for the boy's room and his breakfast. His statement was that the boy had applied to him for food and lodging.

MR. AND MRS. ROOME INJURED.

Trap Upsets and the Plainfielders Tumbled Out.

Mr. and Mrs. William J. Roome, of Sycamore avenue, who are spending the summer at Magnolia, Mass., met with an accident last Friday, while out pleasure driving. While driving along a country road, they met an automobile. The machine frightened one of Mr. Roome's team, causing him to plunge to one side. As the animal shied he knocked the other horse over an embankment, upsetting the carriage and throwing the occupants out.

While neither Mr. Roome or his wife were seriously injured, they both were considerably bruised and scratched. Fortunately the team did not run away.

Compressed Air.

The Daily Press has received the August number of Compressed Air, a monthly magazine. Former Mayor William L. Saunders is editor and proprietor and Charles B. Morse, formerly city editor of The Daily Press, is managing editor of the publication. It contains a great volume of news concerning compressed air and its uses.

Skin Grafting Case.

The New York Herald in its magazine section on Sunday published a half page illustrated article on the Wilson Frederick skin grafting case by its local correspondent, Ralph L. Morrow.

New Members.

Miss Viena McCutchen, "Oakwood," Washington Park, and Miss Emeline L. Moses, of Somerville, have recently been enrolled as members of the International Sunshine Society.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY FOR PLAINFIELD

Smith American Metal Company May Build a Place in This City.

ALL SKILLED MECHANICS

WILLIAM B. SMITH IS PRESIDENT OF THE CONCERN.

Manufacture Magnesium Bronze, Open Hearth Steel, Castings and Electric Steel—Have Plant in Philadelphia Now.

Another industry, that of the manufacture of hammers of all kinds, is quite likely to be located in this city in the near future by the Smith American Metal Company, of 120 Liberty street, New York. This company, of which William B. Smith, of Washington avenue, is the president, manufactures magnesium bronze, open hearth steel, castings and electric steel. For some time past the company has been having hammers made at a Philadelphia plant.

The fact that Mr. Smith is a resident of this city, which is close to the main office in New York, has led the concern to believe that it will be somewhat advantageous to have the plant established here where the rates for shipping are lower. The company has not yet determined whether to build a plant of its own or lease a building. The advantages of both will be considered and if a suitable structure can be found ready for occupancy no doubt it will be leased. If there is no such place then the company will build.

The concern will probably employ between twenty-five and fifty men, all skilled mechanics and desirable residents to have. The grade of hammers turned out by this concern are said to be of standard make and quality and a market for them is found in all parts of the world.

THEY ARE DOWN EAST.

Colony of Local People Spending Summer Days in Gloucester, Massachusetts.

Among the Plainfielders who are enjoying life at "Mooreland Hall," Bass Rocks, Gloucester, Mass., are these: Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Barrows and son, Dudley H. Barrows, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McGee and son, Harry McGee, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ladd, Jr., and three sons, Miss Mellick, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hegeman, Jr., and daughter, Miss Virginia Hegeman. Mr. Hegeman was called home yesterday by a change in his father's condition, he having had a slight stroke of paralysis. Today he is a little improved and Mr. Hegeman will return to Gloucester, where he and his family will remain until after Labor Day. Most of the Plainfielders will return about September 1.

ANOTHER STROKE.

Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman's Father Afflicted Again by Paralysis.

B. A. Hegeman, Sr., who has been quite ill at his home on Sycamore avenue, and whose condition was considered quite favorable, suffered a slight stroke of paralysis last Saturday. For a time his condition was critical, but he has since partially recovered from the stroke. Mr. Hegeman's son was summoned from his summer outing at Gloucester, Mass., but was able to return today, his father being improved.

Farmers to Meet.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 25—The regular quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture will be held in the Court House here on Saturday afternoon. The principal address will be made by Franklin Dye, Secretary of the State Board of Agriculture. Mortimer Whitehead, of Middlebush, is scheduled for a talk on "Fruit."

Suspended Sentence.

Mrs. Elizabeth Vardon was arrested on the "boulevard" last night for drunkenness. Patrolman Huff took her to headquarters. She was the only offender before Mayor Jenkins this morning and she was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

County Politics.

The Union County Republican Committee will hold an important meeting tonight.

The County Clerk's office will be opened tomorrow evening for the purpose of naturalization.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

When you leave on your vacation tell H. J. Wierenga, of North avenue. He will free you of all worry about your baggage.

W. W. Dunn, of Lincoln place, has at the Park grocery a line of goods that can not be equalled in this city. Trade at Dunn's, and be content.

Meats that are tender, juicy and delicious are found at Smalley Brothers. The wise woman deals at Smalley Brothers. They save you money.

Perhaps the most important article of daily food is bread. Good bread is a rarity. W. W. Warnock, the West Front street baker, has it of the best.

James R. Blair, of Park avenue, haberdasher, makes a specialty of catering to men who have fastidious tastes. Every thing that is up to date, is on sale there.

This is the height of the season for deep sea fishing. If you want to land your share, get your tackle of Harry Dreier, of West Front street. Imperial bicycles, baseball goods and dress suit cases.

When your supply of stationery gives out go to A. M. Harper in Park avenue and make a selection from his fine assortment. He also keeps pens, pencils and in fact everything in the stationery line.

Putnam & DeGraw, the West Front street dry goods merchants, are closing out their stock of summer goods at low prices, preparatory to receiving the fall and winter goods. Now is a good time to get bargains in first-class goods.

To go or not to go—into housekeeping; that is the question. If you decide to try it you can get a beautiful one hundred and twenty-nine piece decorated English dinner set at a merely nominal price, of J. W. Gavett, West Front street.

If the sun streams into the front windows or into the show windows of the store it is time to have awnings erected. Shirley & Johnson make a specialty of putting up window and store awnings at prices more reasonable than New York houses.

The Boston Cloak and Fur Store is offering a special sale of fancy and plain shirt waists, of the best material and the lowest prices. This firm is also carriyng a superior line of women's suits and separate skirts. Satisfaction as to fit and quality of goods is guaranteed.

L. W. Randloph, the West Front street druggist, has the reputation for selling only pure drugs and compounding them in a quick and accurate manner. You will find his goods to be just as represented and as to soda water he can give you just the kind to suit your most delicate taste.

Up the Hudson.

History teaches us that Hudson, in his trip up the river which bears his name, was highly pleased with the marvelous scenic surroundings. Were he to make the trip today words would not express his delight, for in addition to nature's handiwork the embellishments by man have made the Hudson one of the grandest spots in the country. The New Jersey Central will run in connection with Steamer St. Johns a popular-priced excursion up the Hudson on Aug. 26, 1603. Rate to be $1 and train will leave Plainfield at 8:46 a. m. Fare for children at half of above rate. St. Johns is one of the famous Sandy Hook Fleet and is the best appointed and fastest excursion boat in the harbor. 8 18 7

Up the Hudson.

On July 30, August 19, and September 3 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run its usual midsummer excursions to the "Upper Hudson," under personal escort. Special excursion tickets will be sold on those dates for regular trains arriving at Jersey City prior to 10:05 a. m., good to return on same day on any regular train leaving Jersey City after arrival of steamer. A stop will be made at West Point, giving those who disembark an hour and a half at that point, and enabling them to view the United States Military Academy. In order to insure an early return, no stop will be made at Newburgh, although the steamer will run to a point off that city and there turn. Round-trip rates: Princeton, $2; New Brunswick, Metuchen, and Perth Amboy, $1; Rahway, 80 cents; Elizabeth, 75 cents; Newark, 50 cents. Proportionate rates from other points.

BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Plainfield People Receiving the Full Benefit.

There have been many cases like the following in Plainfield. Everyone relates the experience of people we know. These plain straightforward statements will do much toward relieving the suffering of thousands. Such testimony will be read with interest by many people.

Mrs. M. A. Hall, of 219 Prescott place, says: "For several years I had a dull aching pain across my back, at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position all night and stooping, lifting or bending forward aggravated the pain. Although I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

AMUSEMENTS.

It is not often that a comedian acknowledges in practical fashion the debt he owes the group of pretty girls who assist in his specialty, but Arthur Dunn is making himself very solid with the dainty widows in "The Runaways," who participate each night in the pow famous kissing song. Whenever the specialty is accorded a particularly strenuous succession of encores, Mr. Dunn marks the event by sending to the dressing room occupied by the six widows some toothsome treat.

It is doubtful if any Shakesperian event ever planned for New York has excited wider attention than is manifested in Henrietta Crosman's revival of "As You Like It" at the Manhattan Theatre September 7th. The marked interest which is felt in this artiste's re appearance as Rosalind is shown by the fact that there is not a mail delivery but what contains inquiries about the engagement and requests that seats be reserved.

—L. D. Wood, proprietor of the Club House, Park avenue, will give his first annual clam bake on Wednesday of the week.

—Frank W. Roller, of Putnam avenue, took a 125-mile tour in his automobile on Saturday. He went to Lake Hopatcong and return, spending a little time at the Lake and returning in the evening.

GREATEST OF ALL SCHOOL SUPPLY SALES.

Largest Assortments and Unmatched Prices.

Placing orders for enormous quantities many months in advance, restricting ourselves to those lines which have been proven best through long continued use and by taking advantage of every discount obtainable through spot cash transactions, we are in a position now, more than ever before, to name prices impossible to the average dealer. In open competition for furnishing the schools of Newark with supplies during the coming year, we were awarded the contract by the Board of Education.

What clearer demonstration of our ability to undersell—what stronger recommendation could be given the lines that we carry? Children appreciate the pennies and enough of them can be saved by coming here to make purchasing anywhere else almost a folly.

Racing at Saratoga.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The Saratoga meeting had fair, warm weather and a fast track. The Mohawk, the day's featured event, was won by Sheriff Bell in an exciting finish with Leader, the decision being by a head. Florham Queen had the lead at the start, but was soon headed by Tam O'Shanter, who made the pace to the three-quarter pole, at which point Sheriff Bell was in third position. Sheriff Bell then challenged, with Leader hanging to his heels. They promptly passed the leaders and fought it out to the finish. Reservation was only a length away. The Guardsman in the first race took second money only by a head, and in the third Hazelwood won by a head in a driving finish. Jockey Fuller repeated his performance of Saturday, riding three winning mounts.

Lou Dillon Breaks World's Record.

READVILLE, Mass., Aug. 25.—Lou Dillon broke the world's trotting record for a mile here. The fleet mare went the mile in two minutes flat. This is two and a quarter seconds faster than the best previous record, 2:02¼, made by Cresceus at Columbus, O., last year. The mare was driven by William Sanders. Driver and animal received a tremendous ovation from the crowd when it was seen that the world's record was broken. The last quarter was trotted in 0:29 flat.

Beckart Hung Up New Record.

BUFFALO, Aug. 25.—Jockey McQuade sustained serious injury in the first race at Fort Erie. He fell with his mount, Dr. Riley, and his right leg was broken in two places. The physicians are afraid that the limb will have to be amputated. Beckart hung up a new Canadian record for one mile and a quarter by covering the distance in the third race in 2:07 and beating Dubious by a head at the post.

Auditor Got Handicap.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The Monadnock handicap for two-year-olds at Hawthorne went to Auditor by two lengths. Commodore, the favorite, in a driving finish beat Flower King a head for the place.

Driven Crazy by Heat.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 25.—The hot wave which swept over central Illinois resulted in a number of prostrations. William Campbell, crazed by the heat, had to be put in a straitjacket. J. W. Higgins, a Chicago and Alton engineer, was overcome by heat while on his locomotive and is in a critical condition.

Vice President Fell and Died.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 25.—Charles A. McCarthy, vice president of the Atlanta Cornice and Roofing company of this city, was found dead in the bottom of the elevator shaft of the Winter & Loeb company in Montgomery, Ala. He had fallen into the shaft during the night.

A. C. Cleveland Is Dead.

ELY, Nev., Aug. 25.—A. C. Cleveland is dead at his ranch in White Pine county, Nev. He died suddenly. Mr. Cleveland was one of the largest cattle raisers in the west. He was born in Maine in 1839, but came to Nevada upon attaining his majority.

Sioux Interpreter Dying.

CANNON BALL, N. D., Aug. 25.—Louis P. Primeau, the famous Sioux interpreter, is dying at Standing Rock agency. He has participated in all the Sioux treaties made in the last thirty years.

SAN JUAN'S LEPERS

Acting Governor Hartzell Suspends Ruler of Colony.

A HORRIBLE STATE OF AFFAIRS.

Patients Herded With Animals in a State of Indescribable Filth. Some of the Unfortunates Without Clothing.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, Aug. 25.—Acting Governor Hartzell has suspended Dr. Nater, superintendent of the leper colony, and Jose Aldrich, his assistant, on the strength of a report of Acting Director of Charities Goenaga, revealing a horrible and dangerous state of affairs at the entrance of San Juan harbor.

According to this report, chickens and pigs raised by lepers had been freely sold in the city, and goats, rabbits, poultry and dogs had been herded in the patients' quarters in indescribable filth. Some of the lepers had no clothing. It was added that paper money was circulated in the leper colony and that as this money might possibly be used in other parts of the island it was considered dangerous, as likely to cause a spread of leprosy.

B. H. Osterhout, director of charities of San Juan, Porto Rico, who is visiting at Poughkeepsie, makes a most emphatic denial of the reports to the effect that because of the alleged unsanitary condition of the leper colony near San Juan the whole island of Porto Rico is threatened with contagion.

Mr. Osterhout said:

"The reports are not only untrue, but ridiculous. There are about twenty lepers in the colony, twelve males and eight females. They are well housed in buildings of heavy masonry, such as were used as public buildings by the Spanish. The possibility of contact with the outside world is impracticable and according to all recent reports of investigation of the disease the danger of contagion is reduced to a minimum. I can state from my own personal knowledge and frequent inspection that the lepers of Porto Rico confined in the colony are well housed, well cared for, well fed, well clothed and as contented as people in their unfortunate condition could possibly be. The charges made in the reports are absolutely false."

The executive council has ordered a committee of three of its members to immediately investigate the leper colony scandal and make their report at the earliest possible moment. Ugly disclosures continue.

Van Wormer Boy's Again Respited.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Governor Odell granted a further respite until Oct. 1 to the Van Wormer boys, Willis, Burton and Frederick, the three youthful brothers awaiting execution at Clinton prison for the murder of their aged uncle, Peter A. Hallenbeck, at Greenport, Columbia county, on Christmas eve, 1901. The respite is given to allow their counsel, J. Rider Cady of Hudson, additional time in which to prepare his argument to induce the governor to commute the death sentence to imprisonment for life.

Explosion Caused Serious Injury.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—While railroad men were engaged in trying to place a derailed freight car on the track near Union station a torch was accidentally brought in contact with a bursted pipe from which gas was escaping, resulting in an explosion that will probably cause the death of Engineer L. Bouquet and seriously injured Switchmen H. Harding and B. J. Hunt. The men were thrown high into the air by the force of the explosion, and the derailed car, loaded with wheat, was destroyed by the fire which resulted.

Lava Stream Flows Toward Pompeii.

NAPLES, Aug. 25.—The slight increase in the activity of Vesuvius continues. The eruption is accompanied by detonations, while the stream of lava flowing in the direction of Pompeii is still slowly advancing. Some of the fissures recently noted have become enlarged and are assuming almost the aspect of new craters.

A Female Chinese Reformer.

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 25.—Kong Tung Back, daughter of Kong Yu Wei, leader of the reform movement in China, has arrived to organize the reform movement among the Puget sound Chinese. She has established twelve lodges of the Woman's Chinese Reform association; three of them being in Canada.

Steam Launch Destroyed.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The fifty foot cabin launch Junior, owned by Dr. Holmes of New York, was destroyed by the explosion of a gasoline stove at the Lozier Motor company's dock in this city. Captain Anderson, commander of the yacht, was badly hurt.

Peasant Reformers Near Rome.

ROME, Aug. 25.—The peasants around Rome have invaded the estates of Princes Chigi, Torlonia and Piombino, claiming the right to cultivate the land and share in its profits. Soldiers have been sent to the scene to re-establish order.

Hand Ironers' Strike Off.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 25.—The strike of the hand ironers in the Quett-Peabody & Co.'s shop at Leominster has been settled, and the seventy-five strikers have returned to work.

THE MIMIC WARFARE

Major General Chaffee at Portland Ready For Defense.

GAME IS AN ACTIVE SERVICE TEST

Fort Preble Is the Key to the Whole Position—Once Captured the Other Defenses Are Sure to Fall.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 25.—Major General Chaffee, the commander of the army in the war maneuvers, when interviewed on the war game now going on said:

"How busy we in the army will be will, of course, depend on the navy. The troops are on guard in this vicinity. That is their part in the affair. Neither the army nor the navy is playing for victory in this game. It is a test and practice of material more than anything else.

"These maneuvers will be more for the purpose of ascertaining the preparedness of the situation—to test it and find out what is needed. Unless we had these maneuvers we would never learn the conditions of actual service in the field and at sea."

Fort Preble is considered the key to the whole situation. If the enemy can capture Fort Preble or even the knoll just to the westward of it the other forts might have to capitulate. But if the enemy captures all the other forts Fort Preble cannot be captured except by a heavy land attack, and Fort Preble, still holding the key to the situation, can drive an enemy from all other forts, according to the defenders.

The reason for Preble's commanding position is this: The guns of none of the other forts can be trained on it, while the shells from its four mortar batteries can be dropped into each of the other forts. Thus, if the enemy should succeed in capturing Forts Williams, Levitt and McKinley, it could not retain them, for the mortars from Preble would drive it out, though if the forts at the entrance of the channel were captured the forcing of an entrance for the ships would be a comparatively easy matter.

But if Fort Preble be captured in an attack from the rear, then its mortars could be trained on the other forts, and at the moment of capture during these games they would be held to have been captured and out of the game. This will be an important victory for the navy. But as these games are not to be a contest, but executions simply to test the strength of the fortifications and to work out search light ideas, no such attack is likely to take place.

The daylight attack on the fortifications will probably be a brilliant affair. It will be if it is anything like the attack during the maneuvers a year ago. Probably the entire fleet under Rear Admiral Barker will participate. The ships will approach the fortifications, and as they come in range all the guns on the shore batteries will open fire. After the first round only one gun of each class will continue the fire with full blank charges, while the others will use caps. The ships will reply at first with a round from all the guns which can be brought to bear. After that the fire will be continued by one gun from each class.

On another day the fleet will make an attempt at landing a large force of men on the shore.

The gun practice was a part of the programme at Newport in connection with the joint army and navy maneuvers. Day and night drills are conducted at Fort Wetherill and Fort Adams, including tests of the search lights. Everything is in readiness for a strong defense of Newport in case Admiral Barker elects to bring the north Atlantic squadron this way.

At sunset the coast patrol system of the defending forces was put in operation for the first time since the official notification of the departure of the naval forces for Portland. The patrol consists of detachments from the various companies of the First and Second regiments, N. G. S. M., and stretches from Fort Preble to Bowery Beach, some nine or ten miles. Without this precaution the naval forces could land small boats without number in the many small and thickly wooded coves along this vulnerable part of the coast. A heavy artillery company has been assigned the wireless telegraph station taken by Major Welch near the Two Lights.

Bas d'Or Won Easily.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25.—Bas d'Or, favorite in the feature at Kinloch park, a mile and a sixteenth handicap, romped away from Little Scout, the second choice, and won easily by a length. Orris, at 4 to 1, and Optional, at 9 to 2, both finished ahead of the odds on favorite, Croix d'Or, in the third race at seven furlongs.

Kaiser's New Hunting Lodge.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—The emperor has added the fifty-fourth residence to the list he owns by buying the estate of Damm-Muehle, called "the pearl of Brandenburg," for $500,000. It was owned by a country squire, Von Mollank. The present residence will be rebuilt and converted into a hunting castle.

Church Treasurer Arrested.

THE TERRIBLE TURK

Sultan's Troops at Old Game of Massacre and Pillage.

WOMEN AND CHILDREN NOT SPARED

Macedonians In Sofia and Throughout Bulgaria Are Planning to Help Their Brethren Over the Frontier.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 25.—Authenticated statements by the Russian and Austrian consuls at Monastir give horrifying details of massacres and atrocities by the Turkish troops. At the village of Armensko they have destroyed 100 houses out of a total of 157 and massacred every man, woman and child. The women were subjected to the most terrible maltreatment by the soldiers.

Eighty revolutionaries captured at Krushevo who were sent in the direction of Monastir in chains were slaughtered by their guards.

The sanitary conditions at Krushevo are described as revolting. The dead are lying in the streets, stripped of every garment, the Turks even taking the vestments off the body of a priest.

The Turks are reported to have massacred all the women and children in twenty-two villages of the districts of Florina and Monastir and to have burned the villages. They are also alleged to have killed a number of prisoners.

With the rumors of massacres, atrocities and the murder of prisoners in Monastir now authenticated the general situation is considered here as fast becoming intolerable. Official and diplomatic circles are alike concerned, having every reason to fear that only a part of the horrors enacted in the interior of Macedonia have yet come to light.

The revolutionary committees are doing their utmost to force the hands of the Bulgarian government, and the immediate outlook is exceedingly serious.

The villages of Bouli, Rakoro and Armesko, near Florina, have been bombarded and their garrisons annihilated.

In an engagement at Ostrorot fourteen Komitajis have been killed and thirty-seven wounded.

During another fight near Okrida 217 Bulgarians were killed.

An important action is proceeding near Florina. The commandant there demands immediate re-enforcements. Twelve battalions have started for Florina from Monastir.

The mutilated corpses of ninety women and children were found in one building at Krushevo. Pieces of the bodies had been thrown into the streets. Fifteen of the principal merchants of the town were killed and their heads exhibited on poles at Monastir.

At Monastir the churches were demolished, the houses sacked, and the town is now a heap of ashes. The populace fled to the hills, where they are in a starving condition.

Insurgent bands have occupied the strategic points around Malkotemovo. Eight villages to the north of Losengrad have been burned by Bashibazouks, while the insurgents attacked two Turkish posts in the vicinity of the same town and killed their entire garrisons, consisting of sixty soldiers and one officer. At Almogic sixty insurgents engaged in fighting with 300 Bashibazouks. The result is not known.

The town of Bunar-Hissar has been burned, and a part of the Bulgarian population was massacred. The rest of the Bulgarians fled to the mountains. At Burgas-Majura after eighteen hours' fighting the garrison was killed by rebels, who also destroyed the garrisons of Silkilhor and Kalovo. At Karacunovo the insurgents killed fifty-seven Turks, while another fifteen Turks were destroyed at Kurkolibi, in the vilayet of Uskub. New outbreaks are reported from the vicinity of Kresna, where serious fighting has occurred.

The Macedonian organizations in Sofia and throughout Bulgaria are busily planning to help their brethren across the border. It is said that the rival committees have buried their differences and are now working in harmony, confident that the rich Bulgarians who have hitherto withheld their contributions on account of the committee's dissensions will now give liberally.

The Macedonian leaders admit that the insurrection in the vilayet of Monastir is practically at an end, and they appear to pin their hopes on the transfer of active operations to the territory near the Bulgarian frontier. Within three weeks, they assert, eastern Macedonia will be in full revolt, and then the Bulgarian government will be forced to take action.

The porte has promised the Italian government satisfaction and the punishment of the Turkish soldiers who were guilty of insulting Count Devisart, the Italian consul at Monastir, by calling him a "giaour." The Turkish officers who failed to intervene between the soldiers and the consul will also be punished.

According to advices received here, the Bulgarian insurgents now claim to have over 20,000 well armed men at their disposal, and the number, they declare, will soon reach 30,000. They hope to checkmate the Turks by adopting the same tactics as those followed by the Boers in the Transvaal war.

It is reported that all the Turkish military men strongly desire a war with Bulgaria. The mobilization of the army continues on a large scale. The war minister has signed a contract with the firms of Krupp and Mauser for 200 guns, 200,000 rifles and 100,000,000 cartridges at a cost of $12,500,000.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Stanley Mosher, of West Fifth street, has secured a position in the engineering department of the New Jersey Central and he expects to enter upon his new duties within a short time.

—While playing ball, Saturday, Burt Steward, of Netherwood, suffered a painful split of the finger. The wound was dressed by a physician and he will be incapacitated from playing ball for several days.

—Fancy preserving peaches and plums can be found today at Neuman Brothers. Both purple and green plums are right now for canning and should be done up this week. Fresh consignments daily. Only the best.

—A barrel of crabs received at Hedden's stables, furnished testimony that Frank Hedden who is spending his vacation in a fishing trip at Tom's River has been having his usual good luck. Mr. Hedden is expected back in Plainfield today.

—George Apgar, a letter-carrier, connected with the local postoffice, while riding along Whitewood avenue, Saturday, ran over a large black snake. He says the snake coiled about the wheel and caused him to almost fall. He killed it with a club.

—The Philadelphia School for Nurses in alliance with the American National Red Cross has undertaken to train a sufficient number of young women who shall be subject to the call of the Red Cross or the government for prompt nursing service in the event of National calamities or in case of war.

—It is said that the Democrats of this city intend to purchase the use of two columns of the Elizabeth Times for their party uses this fall and have already considered a man for correspondent. John Moody, of Cranford, has been in town discussing the matter with the Democratic city committee.

—Word received from Lucius T. Koons, of Sandford avenue, who is travelling in Europe, states that owing to the fact that he missed steamer connections at Naples, he will be unable to return to this city on Wednesday as expected. He now plans to take a North German Lloyd steamer from Naples so as to arrive here on September 15.

LITERARY.

In the September number of Scribner's Magazine Frederic Irland adds another to his remarkable articles on little known regions of the wilderness on this continent. "The Wyoming Game Stronghold," which leads this number, describes that great valley between the Shoshone and Wind River Mountains on the East and the Tetons on the West, where antelope by hundreds and elk by thousands congregate, and where the wild goose still undisturbed makes her nest. Mr. Irland spent two months this spring, while the snow was still in the passes, observing and photographing the wild game in their stronghold.

The Popular Science Monthly for September contains the following articles: "Palm and Solo Impressions and their Use for Purposes of Personal Identification," by Professor Harris Hawthorne Wilder; "Some of the Extra-artistic Elements of Esthetic Emotion," by John Cotton Dana; "Karl Lamprecht and Kulturgeschichte," by Professor Wm. E. Dodd; "Pulse and Rhythm," by Mary Hallock; "Theories of Sleep," by Dr. Percy G. Stiles; "Hertzian Wave Wireless Telegraphy," by Dr. J. A. Fleming; "Mosquitoes and Suggestions for their Extermination," by W. L. Underwood; "The Ascending Obelisk of the Montagne Pelee," by Professor Angelo Heilprin; "Professor Shaler on Animal Intelligence," by Dr. Eug. L. Fisk and the usual departments.

Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

The New Jersey Central will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk on Sunday, Aug. 30, 1903. Round trip $1.50; child, 75 cents, from Plainfield at 9:22 a. m. Mauch Chunk is one of the most charming mountain resorts in this section. The trip over the gravity railroad to Summit and Mt. Pisgah is one of scenic grandeur and a trip that will never be forgotten. After the trip over the Switch-back you should go to Glen Onoko where you will find beautiful litle cascades, caverns and like attractions. 8 25 td

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

Tom Kelley and James Benson were arrested late Sunday night on Main street by Constable Mohan for disorderly conduct and abusing a horse belonging to Charles Rogers, of New Market. The young men had driven the horse down from the mountain and were amusing themselves by racing from one end of Main street to the other, beating the horse unmercifully. They were arraigned before Recorder Campbell yesterday morning and each one was fined $5 and was severely reprimanded.

While walking through the mountains below Washington Rock Sunday afternoon, Richard Randolph ran across an inland black snake. The reptile was curled up on a log sunning itself and as soon as Randolph approached, it started for a pile of rocks near by. Dick, however, was a little too quick for him and landed on him with a large club. The snake measured four feet nine inches.

The crack pitcher, Ettinger, of the Dunellen A. C., has decided to postpone his trip West and finish the season with the local team. This is indeed good news for the members and supporters of the team, as it is doubtful if as good a man could be secured at present.

Charles Doolittle, who has been working on a farm in Washington Valley, is now at home, where he will spend the remainder of his vacation before entering Rutgers' College.

The tax payers of the borough will be pleased to learn, that although the appropriations of $500 was voted for, the tax rate is the same as last year.

Stacy H. Opdyke, a graduate of Rutgers' Preparatory School, expects to enter Columbia College next month for a course in engineering.

Miss Annie Logan, of Newark, has returned home after spending a week, visiting her brother, John Logan, of Lincoln avenue.

Miss Mabel Skerrit, of Cincinnati, has returned home after spending a week, visiting Mrs. Eugene Runyon.

Poison from mercury has set in in John Logan, Jr's., right arm and he is obliged to carry it around in a sling.

John Eganey, of New York, has been visiting his parents on Front street during the last few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Craig have moved into the house recently vacated by Frank Broshart.

Archibald Brakeley has returned from a brief visit with friends in Cranford.

The Daughters of Liberty will meet this evening in Apgar's Hall.

NEW MARKET.

The funeral of the late James Gaskill was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the house. Rev. N. J. Sproul officiated and in a brief address, told of the life and character of the dead man. Miss Mildred Gaskill rendered two solos. Interment was made at South Plainfield.

Some steps have been taken towards having a carnival on the lake on Labor Day night. There is no reason why such a project should fall through with as we have all the facilities for making it a success.

Mrs. Phillip G. Mitze and family have returned home after a few days' visit with her brother, Paul Reusch, of Orange.

Miss Lottie Crause has returned to her home in Somerville, after a few days' visit with Miss Edith Dent.

Mrs. Fred Halstead and daughter, of Newark, have returned home after visiting Mrs. E. A. Calhoun.

William Pizie and wife have been entertaining friends from Millbrook during the past week.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

It is again reported that Manager Johnston is to lose MacManus, who covers left field for the locals. Mac is said to have secured a position at the Aeolian Works at Garwood and will don their uniform for the balance of the season. If this is true, the local team will have hard work finding an outfielders who can cover the same amount of ground Mac can, and his loss will be felt.

Manager Johnston's quiet talk to the team seems to have put some life into the players. Saturday's game was all that could be desired, with the exception of stick work. The team has some heavy hitters, but they are not finding the ball of late.

The marriage of Frank Hollingsworth, son of Loftus Hollingsworth and Miss Theresa Bartlett, of Atlantic City, will be solemnized this afternoon at the First Baptist Church, Atlantic City.

Manager Johnston's team will play the St. Mary's team, Saturday afternoon on the local diamond. As this is the first local game in several weeks, the fans should turn out in large numbers.

Samuel Parsells, of New Brunswick, spent Sunday with his wife and family, who are spending the summer with Mrs. Parsells' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bartle, of Glenside.

Nicholas Delivero, who was recently fined $50 for overloading a crippled horse, will not be fined again for the same offense, as the poor animal died Saturday night.

Mrs. Charles Brown and daughters, who have been spending a week with Mrs. John H. Coles, of Park avenue, have returned to their home at Elizabeth.

Fanwood Council, R. A., will meet in its rooms tonight. A full attendance of members is desired, as business of importance will be transacted.

Augustus Sheelen, of the borough, who has been enjoying the breezes of the Atlantic for a week at Asbury Park, returned home Sunday.

One of the prettiest flowers, a night blooming cereus, was out in full bloom at the home of Mrs. George Stillger's last night.

Isaac Oliver, of Newark, spent Sunday with his wife, who has been spending a week with Mrs. John Flannery.

The Misses Debbies, of Stony Hill, have been spending two weeks with their sister, Mrs. Louis Morel, of Park avenue.

Mrs. Otto Peterson, who has been enjoying a week with her parents, returned Sunday to her home at Montclair.

Conrad Peltz, who has been spending two weeks with his son, has returned to his home at Bayonne.

Josehp Schmidt and Phillip Jahn have returned from a pleasant outing at Lake Hopatcong.

Isaac Ryno has resigned his position with Tuttle Brothers, of Westfield.

Louis Allen, of Passaic, has been visiting friends in town.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Blackford and Miss Laura Brokaw, of New Market, are guests of Mrs. J. A. Cubberley.

Miss Luella Derby, of West Front street, Plainfield, was the guest of Mrs. J. A. Cubberley yesterday.

Miss Lyons, of Jersey City, has returned home after a short visit with Mrs. Fred LaTourette.

Ernest Thompson, Jr., returned home this morning after a two weeks' visit in town.

PROPOSALS FOR MACADAMIZING.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Common Council at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at 8 o'clock p. m., on Tuesday, the eighth day of September, 1903, for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the macadamizing contemplated in the following ordinance, entitled "An Ordinance for the permanent improvement of certain streets and portions of streets of the City of Plainfield with permanent and durable macadam pavement, and to provide the necessary funds in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits;" adopted by the Common Council and approved by the Mayor July 6, 1903, and as provided for in the specifications on file in the office of the Street Commissioner.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents thereof in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of said prices and terms.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

A separate bid must be named for each street, and proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Macadamizing."

THE CHICAGO STRIKE.

The Attempt to Tie Up Restaurants Proved a Failure.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The attempt of the officials of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' unions to tie up the Chicago restaurants has proved a failure, not a single establishment having been compelled to close for lack of help. Out of 9,000 members of the different unions ordered on strike not over 10 per cent responded to the summons, and the places of those who did quit work were quickly filled with nonunion employees.

The calling of the strike by the local joint board of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees' International alliance without consulting the various local unions is said to have been responsible for the refusal of the majority of the employees to obey orders, and the indications are that the strike will be of short duration and will end disastrously to the unions.

AT OYSTER BAY.

President Will Attend Unveiling of Battle Monument.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 25.—Governor Murphy of New Jersey and Senators Kean and Dryden of the same state were visitors of the president at Sagamore Hill. They arrived in Oyster Bay on the steam yacht Alcedo, owned by Senator Dryden.

In behalf of the people of New Jersey Governor Murphy and the senators invited the president to attend the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the monument erected on the battle field of Antietam in memory of the New Jersey soldiers who fell in that historic engagement. The ceremonies are to occur on the 17th of September, the fortieth anniversary of the battle. After some consideration the president accepted the invitation and agreed to make an address at the unveiling.

Fatal Fire at Budapest.

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 25.—Fire broke out in a four story building, the two lower floors of which were occupied by a firm named Goldberg and the upper floors as residential flats. There were 200 work people in the building, and the escape of many of them and of the residents on the third and fourth floors was cut off by the flames. The warehouse contained piles of flimsy material, and the flames spread with frightful rapidity and soon reached the residential floors. Only the work people near the doors below were able to effect their escape. The residents above, seeing their escape cut off, clung desperately to the windows, screaming for help. The firemen held out sheets and called to the people to jump. Fifteen persons were saved in this way, but many in jumping missed the sheet, nine being killed on the spot, including two children, eight others mortally and two seriously injured.

Strike Ends, Cost $255,000.

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 25.—The trolley men's strike, just ended, has lasted sixty-nine days and is estimated to have cost the street car company $125,000, the strikers in loss of wages $50,000, the state by reason of the necessity for troops to maintain order $75,000 and the city for special police, etc., $5,000. One man was shot and killed by soldiers during the trouble, and one motorman was fatally stabbed by another, while scores of persons have been more or less seriously injured in various ways.

Negro Ambulance Driver Shot.

YOSEMITE, Cal., Aug. 25.—William Duncan, proprietor of the California hotel at Raymond, shot Ben Bane, a colored ambulance driver of the Ninth United States cavalry, in the hotel saloon after Bane had threatened to cut his heart out. Bane has a dangerous wound in the stomach.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

THE WORM TURNED.

What Kind of "Men Folks" Did These Women Have?

Two women were talking of ways and means and how to increase their income on a farm. Both had husbands. One was the up to date farm woman. She had beautiful, plump, crimson combed chickens by the hundred, turkeys galore, and gentle, shining Jersey cows that were a source of revenue the year round. What is more, the sole revenue from the cows and poultry was hers and hers alone. In cooking and making a home and "doing for" her husband she considered she made ample return for the feed of her cows and poultry, and her husband agreed. If he had not he would have been reasoned with in a way to make him see a great light, for Mrs. Farmer was fully aware of the respect due to both wifehood and womanhood—likewise to the individual citizen. But in her case the respect and consideration were willingly accorded. Mr. Farmer ever carried her butter and eggs to market in a neat receptacle in his buggy when he went to town, faithfully handing her over the money on his return. So all was well in the Farmer family.

Mrs. Farmer said to the other woman that there certainly was good money for women in rearing poultry if they managed it properly. The other woman agreed, then made the following remarkable remark:

"Unbeknownst to the men folks me and Marthy Ann has set a hen."

Mrs. Farmer stared, for she did not catch the woman's meaning at first; then she snickered, but suppressed the snicker, dying to explode with laughter all the while. Then as the situation became quite clear to her she thought to herself how she could help that poor, ignorant, benighted slave of a woman to an understanding of her own worth and deserts.

Set a hen unbeknownst to the men folks!

Of all things! Are there still men of that sort in this land of Bibles and free schools and new women?

One could not have believed it. Yet the story is fact, no made up fake. Poor Mrs. Slavey was married nearly forty years ago, and had gone to live with her husband in a poor little house on a poor little bit of land. Like a slave she had toiled, like a slave she had been rewarded. Marthy Ann was her daughter. The "men folks" were her husband and a widower son. The son had brought to his mother a tow-headed boy in his own lanky, slow moving, tumble down image, and that image was the exact reproduction of the old man, the boy's grandfather.

"ME AND MARTHY ANN HAS SET A HEN"

Marthy Ann and Mrs. Slavey cooked and washed and tended these not handsome men folk, going around and picking up things after them and cleaning up the kitchen dutifully when the old man brought his harness in there to clean and oil, making a fearful mess, and the wife never said a word. She had milked cows and made butter to sell—rather poor butter it was, for she was too spiritless to demand modern dairy conveniences—and old Cale, her husband, and the son had marketed it and bought chewing tobacco with the money, whether Marthy Ann had any new spring hat or not. The two women raised poultry and sent occasionally some likely pullets and dozens of fair eggs to the town. Old Cale took them to the customers, got the money and put it away in his own thin leather wallet to help out with the taxes. Wasn't what was his wife's his, and wasn't what was his his own? Old Cale would have regarded as a dangerous anarchist one who thought that what was his wife's was not his—that is, if he could have conceived of anybody holding ideas so subversive of law, order and religion.

Soul and body, he had owned that wife and worked her nearly forty years and enjoyed the fruits of her toil, and never thought he was getting any more than his just dues. He would have been astonished if anybody had hinted that in all this time he had been any other than the best of husbands.

But forty years give a woman time to learn something. It was beginning to dawn on Mrs. Slavey that she was an individual, and one who had been badly used. She discussed the point with Marthy Ann. They put their heads together and resolved to assert themselves. It was a daring step for two ground down women to take, for the woman's rights idea never had reached them. They rebelled, and the utmost they dared was to—

"Set a hen unbeknownst to the men folks."

A REAL DAUGHTER OF THE REVOLUTION

The breakfast was a good one, for the plantation was large and well looked after, and there was always enough in its storehouses to feed a regiment. There were great platters of broiled bacon and chicken fried in that delicous style which has descended as a heritage to the south from those colonial days; there were venison steaks and sugar-cured ham; there were plates piled high with golden-brown biscuits and hoecakes; there were the syrup of sugar-cane, and berries fresh from the garden beds; there was an abundance of milk and cream and butter; there were coffee and tea—all set off with the brightest of silver and china that had been brought from over the seas and was well-nigh priceless, so precious that none but the hands of the mistresses of the house were allowed to wash it.

A bountiful, attractive repast, and one the British officers were in a mood to enjoy to the full; nor were they minded to be interrupted at it, yet such was destined to be the case, for, as they sat at table, a volley of shots was heard and a great commotion ensued.

Bessemer and his companions sprang to their feet and rushed to the door with such impetuosity that it was well the table was the stout piece it was, else it must have been overturned in the excited jostling. Outside, the soldiers, who had been lolling at ease upon the ground eating the rations they carried, had started up and stood at attention.

Bessemer, red with excitement and full of energy, as was his wont, ordered his horse and, jumping into the saddle, clove the air with quick commands. Into this confusion there dashed a single horseman clad in the blue-and-yellow continental uniform. Jane, standing within the broad side-porch, watching the scene with interest and not a little curiosity to know the cause of the tumult, turned pale when her eyes fell upon him.

Surrounded by redcoats, who were bringing their muskets to their shouders to fire, the horseman swept the lines with his eyes, saw a thin place in their formation, spurred his horse towards it, and lifting the animal until it seemed to literally spring over the heads of the astonished soldiers, dashed forward, not forgetting, as he passed the porch where Jane stood, to lift his hat and wave his hand.

The girl, with white face, strained her eyes to gaze after him as he disappeared in the clump of woods to the left of the house amid a storm of bullets.

CHAPTER II.

THE FIGURE IN GRAY.

The horseman's daring was so great that it had taken the breath from Bessemer and his men. Tempted to pursue, the British colonel yet feared a trap. He had heard much of the ambush warfare waged by southern revolutionists, and he had no desire to have his troops caught in an ambuscade. It did not seem to him that even one of these dare-devil southerners would risk his life in so reckless a manner without some definite object in view; and what object could he have unless it were to tempt the British to pursue him and thus lead them into the arms of a superior American force? Besides his own troops, he had many prisoners taken in yesterday's battle to be guarded.

Calling his officers about him, he consulted with them hastily. Almost to a man they were against pursuit. Perhaps the half-finished breakfast awaiting them had something to do with the unanimity of opinion, for your Britisher loved his food then as he does to-day.

So back to breakfast they went, and Jane was so relieved at their decision that she ordered Aunt Deborah, an expert hand, to bake them some of her famous, crisp-edged, golden centered batter cakes to help repair any injury the breakfast might have suffered from the interruption.

"Reckless, reckless Godfrey," she was saying to herself, as she bade Gabriel pass the syrup to her guests and herself filled their coffee cups, "will he never learn discretion? Why should he so risk his life out of mere bravado?"

But, indeed, she wronged the horseman. Though he was quite capable, as she well knew, of having ridden into the British lines out of foolhardy defiance and because he loved to take his life in his hand for the thrill such adventure gave him, yet in this instance he was guiltless of so mad a piece of folly.

On the contrary, he had been as much surprised to find himself in the midst of so large a body of redcoats as the British had been to see him. One of the few Americans who had escaped from the fight of yesterday, he was flying through the country as fast as his horse could carry him, striving to get together a band of American sympathizers to revenge Bessemer's refusal of quarter to the Americans at that battle.

This mission bringing him close to his own home, he stopped there to see his parents for a few moments, and was besought by his sister to carry a note to her dear cousin, Jane, since his route lay past the Ellery place. He was at the mouth of the lane which led to the Ellery plantation when he came upon a couple of scouts whom Bessemer had sent out to reconnoiter. Thinking them but stragglers from the British army, and having no idea the main body was so close, he set upon the soldiers and pursued them as they retreated towards the mansion, firing as he went. It was these shots which startled the British from their ease, and before the young man could realize his predicament he was facing the stern, straight lines of Bessemer's dragoons with their leveled weapons staring at him.

As the horse went pell-mell through the woods, taking the underbrush and stumps that came in his way until he could find the bridle path, his rider looked back over his shoulder, on the watch for pursuers. When he became convinced that none followed, he dropped back nonchalantly into his saddle and shrugged his shoulders contemptuously.

"Upon my soul, what cowards these British be at heart, for all their splutter and their murderous ways," he muttered, out of the insolence born of his temporary triumph.

He rode on through the woods, humming the snatch of a patriotic song, but when the moment's exhilaration had passed his brow was overcast, for his errand had not been accomplished, and it ill suited his pride to leave his commission unperformed. Furthermore, on the road he had learned that Jane's father and mother were from home, and that she was alone save for the black servants and the white overseer and his family, whose house was fully a quarter of a mile from the mansion.

Under other circumstances this would have caused him no uneasiness, for he well knew the devotion of the slaves to Jane, but the presence of Bessemer and his soldiers perturbed him much. His distrust of the British colonel was great, and vastly did he dislike the thought of Jane being alone in her father's house with only servants to protect her against possible British insolence.

If he could only have a word with Aunt Rachel or Jane's black mammy, two faithful souls, and warn them to keep a careful watch over their mistress's welfare until he could bring a force to oust the interlopers, his mind would be easier. It would well suit his mood to ride back to the Ellery mansion, dash through the opposing redcoats again, snatch a word with Jane or some of her devoted dependents, and gallop away.

"By the Gods, it could be done too," he told himself, his blood quickening at the notion.

Back at the Ellery place the officers had eaten their fill, rested their men and horses, and had really no excuse for lingering, yet not one of them, from the Colonel down, but was loath to go.

At length they began their preparations for departure, but ere they were ready to set forth the colonel turned to Jane with real concern. "Is it possible, dear lady," he asked, "that you are left alone in this great house with only these blacks? Surely, 'twere a perilous situation, and I must crave the privilege of leaving with you a guard of some of my faithful fellows until your father and mother ..."

EMPEROR IS REVERED.

Ruler of Japan Usually Has His Own Way in Things Ceremonial and Political.

Although Japan has in the last 30 years become a modern civilized nation, it still retains many of its ancient superstitions. The pomp of monarchy has not become obsolete with the changes in the practical government. But the emperor of Japan is not a mere puppet; he has real power. "Japan, our New Ally," by Mr. Alfred Stead, gives an account of the emperor's position.

In 1900 there was a majority of four-fifth against a scheme of extra taxation, which was then before the house of peers. The emperor sent word that he wanted the bill passed, and the opposition voted for it unanimously.

Everyone reveres the emperor, which is good in a monarchy wisely governed, and, what is not so good, he is still surrounded with superstitions and

THE EMPEROR OF JAPAN.
(He Is Looked Upon with Awe and Respect by His Subjects.)

ceremonies not quite in keeping with the western character of the new Japan. Last year Marquis Ito, the greatest of living Japanese, prounced a funeral oration in the temple over his murdered political colleague, Mr. Hoshi.

The next day several of the newspapers, in a party spirit, denounced him for having gone immediately into the presence of the emperor in the garments which he had worn at the funeral.

In November of each year the emperor gives a garden party. Many of the members of the old regime gather up the soil where his chair has rested and take it away, believing it to be a cure for all ailments. Other guests take away portions of the food provided by the emperor, as things too sacred to eat, and preserve them in the holiest place in the house.

The emperor rarely goes out. When he does, he is attended in his carriage by one of two old gentlemen, who alone enjoy this privilege. The attendant sits opposite, and does not venture to lift his eyes to look at the emperor. He has a large palace, and is known as "the man who drives with the emperor."

GENUINE GEORGIA GIANT.

He Lives at Wayeross, Tips the Scales at 570 Pounds and Has Great Strength.

The biggest K. P. in the world lives at Wayeross, Ga. The name of this extraordinary members of the Knights of Pythias is W. T. Brinson, and he is not only active but he is energetic. Nor has he dreamed his life away as a bachelor, for he has a handsome young wife and eight hale and hearty children, ranging in ages from 18 to 3.

WILLIAM T. BRINSON.
(The Biggest Knight of Pythias in the United States.)

Mrs. Brinson was a Miss Hart and weighs only 115 pounds.

Mr. Brinson tips the scales at 570 pounds, and has a waist measure of 92 inches and wears number 11 shoes. As a child he was not above the average; but at 16 he weighed something like 200 pounds, and since then his weight has steadily increased.

He has had repeated offers from northern museums to put himself on exhibition, but has preferred to stay at home and run his turpentine still.

His buggy, his chairs, and his bed, it has been necessary to have made specially to order. Mr. Brinson finds it difficult to arise from a sitting position, but once upon his feet he is tremendously strong.

A short time ago a mule ran away near his store, and hearing the shouts of his neighbors he walked to the middle of the street just as the frightened animal dashed up. With a couple of strides he was in the middle of the road and had the mule by the bride. To the consternation of all the mule came to a violent stop, falling to his knees.

Mr. Brinson is a member of Wakefield lodge No. 27 of Knights of Pythias.

SECOND RACE TODAY.

Shamrock Bends New Mainsail, Reliance a New Jib.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—In the second race between Shamrock III. and Reliance for the America's cup the former will carry a new mainsail. The new sail was bent on to the spars after the challenger had reached her anchorage.

The new sail is a Ratsey, and Sir Thomas Lipton and Captain Wringe assert the change is made not because the other mainsail was considered inadequate, but that the new sail, which has been tried before and found a good one, may be better in the style of racing to be followed. The new mainsail when fully stretched was a much better fit than the old one. Sir Thomas Lipton was a close watcher of the change of sails. He said:

"The remeasurement was simply a form so that every portion of the conditions under which the race is made would be complied with. It was the simplest matter in the world to add the anchor and chain and take out the same amount of our lead ballast or to leave on the lead and remove the anchor and chain. Tell me what difference it is, will you? Mind you, I'm not finding any fault, but simply making a query as to what was gained by the remeasurement."

Then, with a smile and pointing to a bunch of telegrams on the table, he said:

"I see I am credited with being despondent and unhappy over Saturday's result. Well, I'm neither. I wish we might have won, 'tis true. I am not at all willing to concede that the Reliance is a winner. My boat will make a good showing yet. I also want it understood that I have not criticised Captain Wringe's sailing of the Shamrock III. on Saturday."

Shamrock III. did not go out after returning from New York. The Reliance's crew watched with interest the Shamrock's men at work on their new sail.

Reliance will go out with a new jib, but otherwise in the same trim as the first day. Mr. Iselin and Captain Barr declined to talk of Reliance's ability in a triangular race or why they had changed their jib.

Thirty Hurt In Collision.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 25.—Thirty or more passengers, all from Bloomington and neighboring towns, were seriously injured, some perhaps fatally, by a peculiar collision at the junction of the Illinois Central and Lake Erie and Western railroads, two miles southeast of this city. While a passenger train west bound on the latter road was passing over the crossing a car of stock which was being pushed by a switch engine on the Illinois Central broke loose from the engine and dashed into the side of the passenger train with terrific force, breaking the coach in two and injuring nearly every one of the sixty occupants. The coach was thrown over on its side and partially down an embankment.

Unknown Man's Body Found.

ROCHESTER, Ind., Aug. 25.—The handsomely dressed body of a man of medium weight was found by a huntsman's dog in a clump of bushes near here. From the fact that the body was badly decomposed and from the fact that a heavy beaver overcoat formed part of the clothing it is thought the man was murdered some time last spring. Both sides of the head had been crushed in. There was nothing on the body by which to identify it. A gold watch and $1.50 in silver were in the dead man's pockets.

Sending Danish Defaulter Home.

OAKLAND, Cal., Aug. 25.—In custody of United States Marshal John Shine and Captain of Detectives John Martin of San Francisco, Julius Jorgensen, the Danish defaulter, has started for New York, there to be turned over to the Danish authorities to be returned to Copenhagen. Jorgensen's two children, whom he took with him when he fled from Denmark with 40,000 marks of his employers' coin, went with him. Miss Moeller, who fled with him, remains in California.

Cuban L...a Negotiations.

HAVANA, Aug. 25.—Mario Menocal, a distinguished general and a prominent planter, has accepted the appointment as one of the commissioners to negotiate the $35,000,000 loan. Senator Dolz, now in Europe, will be offered a commissionership, and Rius Rivera, the administrator of customs at Havana, is mentioned as the third member of the commission. The government has not received any direct offer to undertake the loan.

Gasoline Explosion Injures Twelve.

COCKEYSVILLE, Md., Aug. 25.—The rear coach attached to the York and Baltimore accommodation train on the Northern Central railroad caught fire near this station and was partially demolished. A dozen passengers, including several women and children, were painfully burned or injured by jumping from the train, but no one is thought to have been fatally injured. The explosion of a gasoline lamp caused the blaze.

Will Hire Only Nonunion Men.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 25.—The Bagley & Sewall Co., manufacturers of paper making machinery, have posted notices that all employees of their foundry are no longer in the company's employ, and ninety-eight men are idle. The company received intimation that the men were to be called out on strike. Hereafter the plant will be run entirely with nonunion men.

Bahia Honda Naval Station.

HAVANA, Aug. 25.—The engineers have completed the delimitation of the American naval station at Bahia Honda and report that the area contains 17,000 acres.

DOUBLE PLAYS.

The Watchung nine will play the Somerset team, Saturday, at Dunellen.

With such a team as Alis put in the field last Saturday, they should not have any trouble in defeating Westfield next Saturday, when the teams meet on Crescent Oval.

Quinby, who played second base for Alis last Saturday, is one of the fastest players seen on a Plainfield diamond this season. His work on Saturday was of the highest order.

The Watchung team desires to secure a pitcher who will play for his expenses to fill the place of Thorn, who has been signed with the Eagles. Address L. Churchill, Dunellen, N. J.

TENNIS.

Five championship matches were played off Saturday afternoon at the Cedar Brook Tennis Club, and two additional matches formed the play yesterday afternoon. The best match of Saturday was the defeat of Charles H. Hall, handicap 15, by Harold A. Nomer, scratch. The scores were 6-4, 8-6. Alden Moore, handicap 30, won an uphill match from Fred Lounsbury, handicap 15, by scores of 2-6, 6-3, 6-0, and Nomer won from Lounsbury, 6-0, 6-3. Charles Clarke, handicap 30, defeated Lounsbury 6-3, 6-3 and from Nomer 6-2, 6-1. Yesterday afternoon Nomer defeated Lewis Wilson, handicap 30, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2 and Moore won from Wilson 6-8, 6-2 and 6-4. Match tennis is again scheduled for this afternoon.

Business Manager Resigns.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Rev. Dr. Wm. Stewart, who occupied the pulpit of the First Baptist Church, last Sunday, was entertained by L. V. F. Randolph, of East Front street.

The Seventh-Day Baptist Church conference closed at Salem, W. Va., last evening and the Plainfield delegates will reach home today and tomorrow.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church, will have charge of the entertainment at the Westfield Fresh Air Camp on Thursday evening.

G. E. Hall, superintendent of the Park Avenue Baptist Sunday-school, will give a stereopticon exhibition at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, Thursday evening. An invitation is extended to all.

Professor Knox, of Union Theological Seminary, will have charge of the prayer-meeting at the Crescent Avenue Church tomorrow evening. He will occupy the pulpit at this church next Sunday for the last time.

Professor James Everett Frame, of Union Theological Seminary, will preach at the Crescent Avenue Church on September 6 and 13 and on September 20 the new pastor, Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, will occupy the pulpit for the first time.

The second of the series of three mission services conducted at Grace Church Sunday-school was held last evening under the direction of Rev. George F. Bragg, Jr., and was attended by a good sized audience of the colored people. Rev. Mr. Bragg was assisted by Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, of Grace Church. Rev. Mr. Bragg preached the sermon on the text from St. Matthew: "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." The last service of the three will be held at the chapel tonight, Dr. Bragg leaving for the South on Wednesday.

PERSONAL.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—A bicycle found by Patrolman Messler, this morning, is at police headquarter awaiting a claimant.

—Henry D. Morrison, of New York, has conveyed his property on Somerset street to Mrs. Mattie J. Wolfe, of North Plainfield.

—The case in contract of Murphy against MacDonald was brought up before Justice Hand, yesterday, and adjourned one week.

—In Saturday's Daily Press appeared the statement that a horse from the stables of the Plainfield Cab Company had been afflicted with blind staggers while driven by John H. Greene, of Putnam avenue. The horse in question is frisky, and become strenuous in some of its motions, but The Press was misinformed in attributing its actions to blind staggers.

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

Freedom Castle, No. 42, K. G. E., meets tonight.

Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., confers the apprentice degree at its regular communication, tonight.

The Independent Fife and Drum corps will hold a fair in the Gesang and Turn Verein Hall during the week of October 12-17.

The committee in charge of the Retail Clerks' Association trolley ride to Boynton Beach, Thursday evening, has decided to postpone the trip until some future date.

A reception will be given by the Young Men's Progressive Club in T. A. B. Hall on Thursday evening. Music will be furnished by Vanderveer's orchestra. James Miller is chairman of the committee of arrangements.

The members of the Independent Gun Club are planning for their annual big time at their grove on October 6. On that occasion the large wooden eagle will be raised on the flag pole and shot at for prizes. The image is mounted on a thin staff and placed in position on the pole, then being shot at by the members of the club. Prizes are offered for the shooter who carries away the head, the right wing, the left wing, and finally to the one who shatters the support of the eagle itself. The prizes can only be won in the order named and the one who finally shoots down the bird receives a large medal for his marksmanship.

Left Her Brother in Trust.

Almost daily one sees records of different persons being detained in default of various sums of money. Here is an account of a girl who the other day offered to place her little flaxen-haired brother in trust for the tiny sum of five cents. The transaction, or what might have been one, took place in a certain barber shop in Philadelphia. The barber had just finished rounding off the little fellow's bangs and was heaping all manner of praises on him for his good behavior during the process of the operation, and the sister stood proudly by happy in the thought that she was guardian through such an ordeal. Finally the time came to "render unto Caesar, the things that are Caesar's," and she handed over to the barber a bright ten cent piece. "Oh, hair cuttin's 15 cents," remarked his Tonsorial Highness. "Is it?—but that's all I have with me! Well, you keep him here," remarked the sacrificing young guardian, "and I'll run home and get the rest."—Golden Days.

Each Kitten Got a Swallow.

In the course of a heavy storm lightning struck the chimney of a house in Mechanicsburg, killing a score of chimney swallows that nested in the flue. Some of the birds were thrown down alive and entered one of the rooms through the old-fashioned fireplace, fastening themselves in their terror to every object, even to the clothes of the frightened occupants of the room. After the excitement consequent upon the accident had subsided the family cat was observed carrying the dead swallows, one by one, to her kittens in the woodshed.

Ikey Was on Hand.

"This, indeed," murmured the poetic maiden, as they sat on the side of the mountain trail, "is the primeval solitude."

Just then a pack peddler came around a bend of the road, and asked if they desired to purchase any suspenders, collar buttons, soap, combs, hair pins or handkerchiefs.

When he had passed on the unpoetic man turned to her and said:

"Sollytude? Seems more to me as if it were Ikeytude. He said his name was Isaac Einstein."—Chicago Tribune.

No Bother Whatever.

"Do you have any trouble with the plants when your wife goes away?" asked the hatchet-faced man, sadly.

"None whatever," replied the cheerful chap, "they always die within a week after she leaves, and all I have to do is to put them away until she comes back."—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

Frozen Cherries.

Make a syrup with one quart of water and one pint of sugar. Boil ten minutes, and add one quart of sweet pitted cherries rubbed through a colander. The first meeting will be held at 10:30 in the morning. Prof. Gilbert J. Raynor, of Brooklyn, will represent the "Anti-Saloon League," of New Jersey.

In the afternoon at 2:30 the W. C. T. U. will be reppresented by one of its speakers, atter which the Prohibition party will be represented by Rev. E. A. Boom and others. Mr. Boom will speak in the evening at 7 o'clock.

New Election Officers.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, August 26—Gov. Murphy, Attorney-General McCarter and other State officials yesterday decided that newly named election officers shall have charge of the coming primaries. In the county the party adviser first decided that the old officers should serve at first registry day. At a meeting of the county committee it was decided to accept Attorney-General McCarter's officers.

The Fisks Successful.

Bids were opened yesterday at the Bureau of Insular Affairs, War Department in Washington, for the purchase of $3,000,000 certificates of indebtedness or the Philippine government. Harvey Fisk & Sons, New York, bid for all or any part of the amount at $102.24. This was the only bid for the whole amount and it was accepted. The bonds are deliverable in New York on September 1.

COUNTY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION DATE

To Take Place at Lyceum Theatre, Elizabeth, Thursday, September 10.

A COMMITTEE MEETING

PROVISIONS OF NEW PRIMARY LAW EXPLAINED TO COMMITTEEMEN.

Westfield to Have Five Delegates—Plainfielders at Meeting—Discussion as to Possible Candidates.

The new primary election law was discussed and instructions given to the members by the chairman of the committee at a special meeting of the Union County Republican Committee last night at Elizabeth. The county officials, as well as the Board of Registry and Election, have found it difficult to understand the new law. Nomination blanks were given out to the various members and it was announced that the county convention would be held in the Lyceum Theatre, Elizabeth, on Thursday, September 10, two days after the special election to be held on September 8.

An opinion of the Supreme Court regarding the disputed question as to the number of delegates to which Westfield is entitled, was read. According to the opinion Westfield will have five delegates. Another question affecting Westfield, that is the dispute regarding the number of members on the county committee to which she is entitled, was not discussed and nothing whatever was done with this matter.

The Plainfield representatives of the committee present at last evening's meeting were Assemblyman Wm. Newcorn, James Morrison and Frank H. Smith. There was some informal talk regarding probable nominees for the various offices to be held at the coming election, but nothing definite resulted.

PRESIDENT ACCEPTS.

To Attend Unveiling of New Jersey's Monument on Antietam Battlefield.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Oyster Bay, Aug. 26 — Governor Murphy, of New Jersey, and Senators Kean and Dryden, of the same State, visited President Roosevelt, at Sagamore Hill, Monday afternoon. On behalf of the people of New Jersey, Governor Murphy and the Senators invited the President to attend the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the monument erected on the battlefield of Antietam, in memory of the New Jersey soldiers who fell in that historic engagement. The ceremonies are to take place on September 17, the fortieth anniversary of the battle. After some consideration the President accepted the invitation, and agreed to make an address at the unveiling.

DEATH OF MRS. BELKNAP.

Well-Known Resident of Borough Dies From Heart Trouble.

Mrs. Sophia Belknap died yesterday at her home at 105 Somerset street of acute inflammation of the tissues of the heart. She was sixty-eight years of age and had been ill for almost three years. Mrs. Belknap was a widow of some years and is survived by a son, Charles, who is employed with the Jersey Central at Elizabeth, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Grey and Miss Maude Belknap. The funeral will be from the house tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock and the interment will be at Hillside Cemetery.

Suspicious Characters.

Chief Marshal Campbell arrested two suspicious characters shortly after midnight this morning. They were prowling around on the upper part of Somerset street and attracted considerable suspicion by their actions. Their names are not known. They will be brought up before Recorder Doud tonight for a hearing.

Fined for Drunkenness.

Joe Monahan, of Manson place, was arrested yesterday by Chief Marshal Campbell and was haled before Recorder Doud at a session of the borough court charged with being drunk and disorderly. The Recorder imposed a fine of $5 which was paid.

Veterans Inactive.

Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., met last evening for the first time in several weeks. There was no special business, and it was decided to "call off" until the last Tuesday in September.

ALL READY FOR THE CALL OF THE STARTER

Out-of-Town Flyers Have Arrived for Saturday's Races.

GOOD SPORT CERTAIN

SPEEDY STEPPERS FROM TWO STATES TO GO UNDER THE WIRE.

Some of the Favorites—Revised List of Entries—LaVere to be There With His Band—The Races Start at 2 o'Clock.

Everything begins to take on a racy aspect at the Driving Park in preparation for Saturday's events. Already several out-of-town horses have arrived, among them Tom Hunter, from New York, in fine trim, to show his heels to his opponents in the 2:20 class. The supporters of Sir Arthur Wilkes, of East View, N. Y., say he can't do it, however, and the gray gelding, Col. Julius, from P. H. Powers & Sons' stables in Brooklyn, the horse that won the large sweepstakes at Parkway this spring, "has it in" for both of them. The winner of this race will be subjected to the stiffest kind of opposition.

The same sort of a fight is on in the 225 class. Albert L., the little whirlwind owned by M. H. Brandon, of this city, has many followers who believe that they have first money already counted, but Fred. V., formerly owned by Mayor Smalley, and J. H. Greene, Jr.'s Glitters Lad will make him march. Dan P. and Woven Wind are also favorites and there isn't a one in the bunch of five that looks like an "also ran."

The 2:30 class has a fine list of evenly matched horses entered. Belle, Manners, Flora Downing and four others will start. This race is going to be a "beaut," alone worth the price of admission.

The races will start promptly at 2 Saturday afternoon. Carriages will be allowed on the grounds free and preparations have been made for the comfort of those using them. LaVere's band has prepared a special programme.

The grandstand has been painted and cleaned and a part will be reserved for ladies who will be admitted to seats free of charge. Stages will meet all the cars on Park avenue below Randolph road and there will be no delay in either direction. Below is a corrected and final list of the entries:

FREDERICK IS IMPROVING

SO FAR 145 MEN HAVE AIDED IN THE SKIN GRAFTING WORK.

Dr. Good, of Philadelphia Board of Health, Visits Afflicted Man—More Grafting Tomorrow.

The process of skin grafting in the case of Wilson Frederick, of Dunellen, was not continued at the hospital last evening, owing to the illness of some of those who were to furnish skin. Arrangements have been made to have the work go on tomorrow evening, when several employes of the U. S. Express Company will visit the hospital.

Notwithstanding the recent warm spell Mr. Frederick improves and his general condition is good. Last evening he was visited by Dr. Good, of the Philadelphia Board of Health staff. The physician was surprised to learn how well the patient seemed to be. Thus far fifty-two Masons and ninety-three employes of the U. S. Express Company have bared their arms in aid of the work.

KOHLERS ANTECEDENTS KNOWN

MYSTERY SURROUNDING PAST OF YOUNGSTER SOLVED.

Ward of State Living With Stelton Farmer—Ran Away With Colored Boy—To be Returned.

The fifteen-year-old wanderer, Louis Kohler, discovered in the Hotel Kensington, Monday, unable to explain himself or his antecedents and yesterday placed at work in the store of a local plumber, was a ward of a Stelton, N. J., man.

This is according to the statement of John V. Baird, of Stelton, who telephoned to the police yesterday that Kohler had been placed out at his farm for two and a half years. Kohler has always been a good boy said Mr. Baird, but ran away at the instigation of a colored boy.

Chief Kiely this morning received a telephone message from Mrs. Williamson, representing the State Board of Children's Guardians at Jersey City, stating that the boy is a ward of the State and asking that he be sent back to Jersey City. He will be given over to the charge of the State Board as soon as arrangements can be completed.

PYTHIAN FIELD DAY.

Crescent Company, Knights of Pythias, to Have Special Car for Trip to Asbury Park.

Crescent Company, Uniform Rank, K. of P., met last night for the transaction of business in connection with the field day to be celebrated by the order at Asbury Park on Labor Day. The full strength of membership will be out for the day under command of Captain Flannery and members from Perseverance and Unity Lodges will accompany the excursion. A special car for the local knights will be attached to the Elizabeth train. The car will go through from Plainfield to Asbury Park. Those who wish to make arrangements for attending should communicate with the committee, David Bowden, J. B. Higgins and Phillip Jahn.

FRIGHTENED BY FIGHT.

Mrs. Sprague Goes into Hysterics Over Quarrel.

Some excitement was caused on Central avenue this morning by one of the tenants in the Manning flats, Mrs. Sprague by name, who went out into the front yard and performed what is commonly known as the operation of "throwing a fit." Mrs. Sprague had been frightened by a quarrel between some of the other boarders, and imagining that murder was being done, went into hysterics. She was calmed by Patrolman Higgins.

REVIVAL MEEETINGS.

Evangelistic Services to be Held by Reform Club.

A meeting of the Reform Club in Reform Hall last night was for the purpose of making arrangements for a series of revival exercises to be held the second week in September. The musical part of the observances will be made a feature. W. C. Smith, of this city, is chairman of the committee and he is assisted by Benjamin Hand and Mr. Richards.

NEIGHBORS INCENSED OVER GALVIN'S PARK

Strong Sentiment Against It Being Run Wide Open on Sundays.

UP TO THE AUTHORITIES

PROBABLE THAT ACTION WILL BE TAKEN TO SUPPRESS NUISANCE.

Petition Westfield Town Council for Aid—What Clergyman Has to Say Regarding Subject.

The open manner in which Galvin's Park has been conducted as a place for amusement on Sundays for several weeks past has at last aroused a storm of sentiment from the people residing in the neighborhood who have appealed to the officials of Fanwood township and the town of Westfield to relieve them of what they declare is a nuisance, a place of disturbance on the Sabbath day, and a place that will depreciate property in the vicinity.

Galvin's Park is located along the trolley line of the Elizabeth, Plainfield and Central Jersey Railway Company, connecting Elizabeth with this city, and is situated in Fanwood township just over the Westfield line and opposite the Westfield Golf Club. The running of vaudeville shows, merry-go-rounds and other attractions on Sunday, as well as balloon ascensions, have brought great crowds of people to the Park.

The residents of Embree Crescent, a fashionable section of Westfield, petitioned the Town Committee last evening to be relieved of what they declared was a nuisance and prevented them from enjoying quiet at their homes during the day or night. The petition was signed by twenty-five residents of the neighborhood. Acting President Arthur N. Pierson, of the Westfield Town Council, stated that he wished the petition was signed by 125 residents and that something should be done to close up Galvin's Park.

Town Treasurer Morehouse, who resides at Embree Crescent, stated that the Fanwood township officials had also been asked to suppress the doings at the Park. Attorney Oliver upon being asked how best to act in the matter informed council that the Park was under the jurisdiction of the county officials, and suggested that council appoint a committee to wait upon Prosecutor English and to lay the case before him that steps might be taken to at least close up the Park on Sundays.

The Rev. F. B. Ham told of how the neighborhood near his home on Prospect street was thrown into a state of excitement when the big balloon fell upon the trees in front of John Jacques' property on Sunday afternoon, and of how men from the Park destroyed the handsome shade trees by cutting the limbs to remove the balloon yesterday afternoon. Mr. Ham declared he did not want to live in a neighborhood where shade trees could be cut without authority and where such actions were permitted upon Sunday. The matter was referred to the law committee of council and a committee comprising Councilmen Dickerson and Alpers and Attorney Oliver appointed to lay the matter before the county prosecutor.

NEGRO PUNISHED.

Sentenced to Sixty Days Imprisonment for Using Indecent Language to Women.

For indecent behaviour and annoying women and children, Charles Johnson, colored, was sent to Elizabeth for sixty days by Mayor Jenkins in the city court this morning. Johnson is an old offender. He was discovered by Patrolman Higgins last night lurking about back yards near the corner of Liberty and Front streets. The officer called upon him to surrender himself but the colored man resisted, and the officer had a hard time of it before he was able to subdue him and take him to headquarters.

Will Lecture to Youngsters.

The little tots, as well as the older people at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, will be entertained tomorrow evening by George E. Hall, superintendent of the Park Avenue Baptist Church Sunday-school. He will give an illustrated lecture, showing views of exceptional interest.

Deacon A. K. Willett, of Trinity Reformed Church, is rejoicing over the gift of a baby girl, as company for three brothers.

FUNERAL SERVICES OVER "TINKER" SMITH

The Body of Brave Old Fireman Borne to the Grave in Hillside Cemetery.

THE SKETCH OF HIS LIFE

PALLBEARERS MEMBERS OF THE EXEMPT FIREMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

Aged Eighty-six and is Survived by Two Sisters and a Brother—Interment at Hillside.

Funeral services for James M. C. Smith, who was found dead on the porch of his farm at Green Brook, near Dunellen, yesterday morning, were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from his late home. The pall bearers are members of the Exempt Firemen's Association. The interment will be in Hillside Cemetery.

Death resulted from a general breaking down due to old age. "Tinker" Smith, as he was familiarly known in Plainfield, was eighty-six years old and leaves two sisters and a brother who reside at Elizabeth. He was the oldest fireman in the city and many stories are told of his good work in conquering fires with his tin buckets in the early forties. He was successful in the hardware business and owned property on Front street, which he later sold to the First National Bank. He then bought a farm for an exorbitant price and lost practically all of his money.

"Tinker" was always the first at a fire and the last to leave. The study of astronomy was one of his hobbies and his habits of spending the nights viewing the celestial bodies was the salvation of many a building which would have been burned to the ground but for Smith's habit of seldom sleeping. He belonged to the Harmony and Gazelle Engine Companies and to the Exempt Firemen's Association.

A PUBLIC NUISANCE.

Mrs. McGuiggan, Who Hold Record for Disturbance, May Finally Land in County Jail.

For the third time in as many months, Maggie McGuiggan, of South Second street, was arrested and brought into the city court on a charge of using indecent language, being drunk and making generally a nuisance to her neighbors. Mrs. McGuiggan has been especially abusive towards Mrs. Mary McCann and her children who testified against her before Mayor Jenkins this morning. His Honor suspended sentence with the warning that should Mrs. McGuiggan offend again she would be sent to the county jail for sixty days.

IVINS & CO. OUT.

Old Established Firm Conveys Its Business to J. D. Loizeaux.

The coal and lumber business conducted for a number of years by D. C. Ivins & Co., on Watchung avenue, has been sold to J. D. Loizeaux, of East Second street. The papers were signed yesterday and Mr. Loizeaux is now in possession of the business. The work of taking an inventory is now progressing, but the yards will not be closed. Mr. Ivins has retired from the coal and lumber trade in this city and will devote his entire time to his New York business. Mr. Loizeaux has planned to open an auxiliary coal and lumber yard at the corner of Rock avenue and West Second street.

EXCHANGE OF COURTESIES.

Colored Man Returns Compliment in Brick Throwing.

Walter Thompson, a colored expressman of North avenue, yesterday threw a brick through the window of his neighbor, Mary Clyne, also colored, both of them dwelling on South Second street. Thompson told Mayor Jenkins this morning in the city corut that the brick had been thrown through his own window and that he had taken the liberty of retaliating by returning it through the first window that presented itself. As no serious damage had been done the Mayor contented himself with administering severe reproof and suspending sentence.

Cold Water Rally.

Arrangements have been completed for a temperance and Prohibition rally at the W. C. T. U. rooms, Madison avenue, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. E. A. Boom will speak and Mr. and Mrs. Gibbon will sing. All interested in temperance work are invited to attend.

JOCELYN JOHNSTONE DIES IN SANITARIUM

Former Rector of Church of the Redeemer Passes Away in New York.

A MUCH VARIED CAREER

FIGURED IN POLITICS—ACTIVE IN VAN-WYCK ADMINISTRATION.

Convert to Roman Catholicism—Conducted Private School Here—Services in St. Columbus' Church Tomorrow.

Jocelyn Johnstone, lawyer, clergyman, instructor and politician, died yesterday at a private sanitarium in East Thirty-fifth street, New York City, as the result of an operation for appendicitis. Mr. Johnstone resided here for three years, coming here in 1894.

He was chosen rector of the Church of the Redeemer, of North Plainfield, at that time a "split" of Holy Cross Church. He was succeeded by Rev. W. Montgomeyr Downey in 1896, the latter rector effecting a reconciliation of the parishioners. While in town he conducted a boys' school on Prospect place. Mr. Johnstone afterwards became a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

It was in this city that his career as a politician began. At the nomination of President McKinley for his first term, Mr. Johnstone made a strong campaign speech for that leader from the balcony of the Hotel Kensington.

Mr. Johnstone was probably one of the best known men in New York politics during the four years of the Van Wyck administration when he acted as private secretary to Council President Randolph Guggenheimer. Mr. Johnstone was a prominent members of Tammany Hall and of the Democratic Club but was appointed secretary to President Fornes of the Board of Aldermen when the fusion faction came into power and about a year ago resigned from this position to accept a similar one with Borough President Swanstrom of Brooklyn.

On his arrival in this country from Ireland, his mother country, some seven years ago, Mr. Johnstone spent some time teaching and later was admitted to the legal bar. He was a graduate of Oxford and the author of a Latin grammar and other works. Four children survive him, one of whom is a cadet on the School-ship St. Mary.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon from his home in New York City and there will be requiem mass said in St. Columbus' Church. The funeral arrangements will be in charge of the Horatio Seymour Club, of which he was a member.

PRIZE FIGHTER COMING.

"Terry" McGovern, of Brooklyn, to Cover Second Base for St. Mary's Nine.

The management of St. Mary's team will probably present a change in the lineup for next Saturday's game with Scotch Plains. Hughes, who formerly twirled for the Saints, wants a chance to redeem himself and he has made the management a flattering offer Malley will do the catching and it is reported on the best of authority that "Terry" McGovern, of Brooklyn, will cover second base. There will also be some other changes, both in the outfield and infield.

MISS CALANTHE'S TRIP.

Famous Pythian Goat Sojourning in Lone Star State.

After traveling two years on a tour of the United States, "Miss Calanthe," the Pythian goat, has reached Texas, having visited Pythian lodges once or twice since that time.

Miss Calanthe was in Elizabeth in the fall of 1901, and was entertained by Volunteer Lodge. From there she came to this city where she was given a royal reception as the guest of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74. Samuel Robinson was her host during her stay here. From here she went to New Brunswick, where another jubilee was held by the local lodges.

She is the only female member of the order, and is therefore accorded much honor wherever she goes. "Miss Calanthe" is headed for the National Pythian convention which will take place in 1904. She will keep going from lodge to lodge until that time.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Poole, of Chester, Pa., have been the guests of Miss Susan Pound.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

William H. Kirch, of Duer street, is a thoroughly reliable carpenter for all sorts of work. Jobbing a specialty.

This hot weather when you don't want to eat meat take Schreiner's malt extract to keep up your strength.

Are you a stranger in Plainfield? If you are you can get all the comforts of home by registering at the Hotel Kensington.

John Wirth, the baker, does a big business. Do you know why? Have you tasted his bread? If you have, you know why.

A well-appointed and strictly up-to-date pharmacy is the one kept by Dudley Miller, of Park avenue. He gives the best possible service.

It will make these hot days more endurable for you. Schreiner is local agent for Lowney's candies. Try an ice cream soda there tomorrow when you're hot.

Don't be foolish and wait until it is too late to get your winter supply of coal. TenEyck & Harris, of Watchung avenue, will take your order now and deliver at your convenience.

Charles E. Vail, the Park avenue jeweler, sells a superior line of silver and goldware, also the standard makes of watches. His repair department is second to none and if you are troubled with your eyes he can properly fit them with glasses.

If you ever buy a suit of clothes at the New York Bargain store you will buy another. The habit grows. The same is true of the habit of buying men's furnishing at the store. You get the best and you get it at prices often lower than New York prices.

Neuman Brothers are leaders when it comes to fresh vegetables and fruits. Every morning a fresh consignment arrives at the store; everything that is in season—cucumbers, squash, beets, corn, peas, beans and lettuce. Special preserving peaches and the famous Rocky Ford muskmelons.

You can live without a good many things in daily use, but you can't live without saucepans. The thrifty housekeeper who wants a pan that will wear well can have it for nothing by applying at the great A. and P. Tea store, West Front street. Everyone who buys a small amount of the A. and P. specialties in coffees, teas and spices gets a fine "Ideal" three quart sauce pan free.

At a great deal of expense S. Sobeuer & Co., of West Front street, are re-fitting their new building, and when they take possession they will have one of the finest grocery stores in the State. In the meantime the firm is continuing to sell the best groceries and meats at very low prices. The quantity of goods handled by the concern makes it possible for them to sell at a very low figure.

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and developement. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Peter Bowers and George Gates, of Somerset street, are visiting at Summit.

Henry Nitschwitz and family, of Watchung avenue, returned home yesterday after a three weeks' vacation at Scioto, Pa.

DeWitt is the Name.

When you go to buy Witch Hazel Salve look for the name DeWitt on every box. The pure, unadulterated Witch Hazel is used in making DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which is the best salve in the world for cuts, burns, bruises, boils, eczema and piles. The popularity of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, due to its many cures, has caused numerous worthless conterfeits to be placed on the market. The genuine bears the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Miss Carrie McLoughlin, of Elizabeth, has returned after a two weeks' visit with Miss Lizzie Cole, of Washington Park.

Setting a Prisoner Free.

A man with rheumatism is a prisoner. His fetters are none the less galling because they are invisible. To him Perry Davis' Painkiller comes as a liberator. Rubbed well into the swollen, stiffened joints it not merely drives away the pain, it makes the muscles pliable so that the prisoner becomes a free man. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. 25 and 50 cts.

CHEYENNE SUN DANCE.

Professor Mooney Denies That He Encouraged Indian Tortures.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Professor Mooney of the bureau of ethnology has made a statement to Professor Langley, secretary of the Smithsonian institution, in reference to the Cheyenne sun dance, which he is said to have encouraged. He denies that the dance was paid for by him in whole or in part, but says that it was the regular tribal ceremony enacted by numerous tribes on various western reservations every year. He denies that any dancer was strung up with cords and that of the thirty-nine Indians who participated in the dance recently held one was anxious to undergo the peculiar form of torture in accordance with a vow of sacrifice.

A public council of chiefs was held, and he advised against anything in the nature of torture, although he learned afterward that on the last night of the dance the man referred to had two slits made in his breast with a knife, each cut being about half an inch in length. He declares that he was not present and did not know of the occurrence until the next day. He refutes the charge that he hired or instigated an Indian to drag a buffalo skull by means of cords passed over skewers fixed in the man's shoulders. He says he was not present when the man started, but that later Mr. Seger, the superintendent, who, it is said, made the charges against him, witnessed the act and attempted no interference.

Hargis Won by a Neck.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Hargis, the heavily backed favorite in the one and one-sixteenth miles handicap at Hawthorne, was beaten by Linguist and Louisville. Lingnist took the lead at the start and finished a neck in front of Louisville after a fierce drive from the head of the stretch. Hargis finished third, half a length back of Louisville. The second race furnished the surprise of the day, when Glenrice, at 20 to 1, finished first, with Fair Lady Anna, a 50 to 1 shot, second and Mr. Dingle, at 5 to 1, third.

Africander Got Champlain Stakes.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Africander, added in the last minute, won the Champlain stakes. Hermis and McChesney, who were to meet in this event as the representatives of the east and west respectively, were scratched on account of the heavy going. Africander was made a 7 to 10 shot and won handily by a length and a half.

Rainland Won at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 26.—The weather was hot and track fast at Kinloch park. Rainland at 3 to 2 won the feature of the card by a nose. Hugh McGowan finished second, a nose in front of Old Stone.

TOWNS INUNDATED.

Marysville, Kan., Struck by Great Flood.

MANY TAKE REFUGE IN TREE TOPS

Wall of Water Covered Vleits, Driving the Residents of Lowlands From Their Homes—Town Five Feet Under Water.

MARYSVILLE, Kan., Aug. 26.—A cloudburst has struck this vicinity, causing the Big Blue river to rise sixteen feet within a few hours and sending a great flood of water down the bottoms along that stream. Many inhabitants in the lowlands were driven from their homes, and heavy damage to property was done.

Marysville was deluged, and the bottoms were filled with water from ten to fifteen feet deep. Fifty houses were almost entirely submerged, their inmates taking refuge in trees and on housetops. Seventy-five persons were rescued in boats. The storm washed out the tracks on the Blue River branch of the Union Pacific for several miles and wiped out telegraph and telephone wires, cutting the town off from outside communication till late in the day. One of the rescuing parties was headed by Congressman William A. Calderhead. The river is now falling, although farms for miles around will be under water for several days. South of here, at the town of Blue Rapids, the Blue river rose to within a few inches of the highest point of the June rise, causing much damage to farm property.

A wall of water struck Vleits, a town of 1,000 people on the Vermillion river, east of here, in the same county, driving the residents of the lowlands from their homes. Previously the Vermillion had risen four feet in an hour, and now Vleits is five feet under water. All the stores and perhaps twenty-five residences are inundated, and the damage at that place is estimated at $50,000. The river is three miles wide.

Slight damage also was done at Marietta, close to the Nebraska line.

The same storm struck Seneca, in the next county east, where four and three-quarter inches of water fell. It was the heaviest downfall since 1881 and left the Nemaha river the highest for years. Many fields of corn were inundated, the Grand Island railway bridge at Beattie was washed out, and several miles of track and half a dozen culverts on that road are gone.

Frederick Ivers of Baileyville was drowned near that town, going down with a bridge over a swollen stream.

ITHACA IN DARKNESS.

Storm Buried Electric Wires—Stopped Trolleys and Phones.

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 26.—The city of Ithaca is without lights, street cars and telephone service. Giant trees lie across the streets in every part of the city, and buried beneath are electric light, trolley and telephone wires.

The storm struck the city about 1 o'clock and lasted only ten minutes, during which one and a half inches of rain fell. A fifty mile an hour gale swept the rain in sheets before it.

At the local office of the United States weather bureau it was said that half an inch of rain fell in four minutes, a record unequaled in Ithaca since the establishment of the local bureau.

A score of small boats anchored at this end of the lake were driven on the beach at Renwick. The steamer Agnes, coming to Ithaca with a load of passengers, lost her hurricane deck, but landed at Renwick in safety.

WRIGHT TO BE GOVERNOR.

Vice Governor of Philippines Will Be Promoted.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 26.—General Luke E. Wright of Memphis, Tenn., will succeed Judge Taft as governor general of the Philippines when the latter becomes secretary of war next January, in succession to Elihu Root.

President Roosevelt has authorized the announcement that the post had been offered to General Wright and that he had accepted it.

General Wright is now a member of the Philippine commission and vice governor of the islands. He is a life long Democrat.

President Roosevelt spoke in terms of high praise of General Wright's ability and fitness for the position of governor general. He entertains a sincere regard for him both personally and officially. Both the president and Secretary Root regard General Wright as a man of proved executive ability, his services as a member of the Philippine commission having been of a distinguished character. During Governor Taft's extended sojourn in this country General Wright was acting governor general, and his conduct of the office was a source of congratulation to the administration. General Wright is popular not only with Americans in the Philippines, but also with the Filipinos, who hold him only second in their estimation to Governor Taft.

School of Whales Ashore.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 26.—A school of 143 small whales drove ashore at St. Mary's bay and were unable to retreat. The residents—men and women—waded waist deep into the water and killed them all with hatchets, scythes and pitchforks. The last time such an incident occurred was forty-six years ago, and then only nine whales went ashore. The [illegible] converted into oil and the carcasses into guano.

American Yacht Wins a Hard Fought Race.

SHAMROCK A DANGEROUS ADVERSARY

Lelia's Fleet Winged Skimmer's Official Margin Over Time Allowance Was 1 Minute and 19 Seconds at the Finish.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—In a glorious whole sail breeze over a triangular course, ten miles to a leg, the fleet footed cup defender Reliance again showed her heels to Sir Thomas Lipton's challenger, taking the second race of the cup series of 1903 by the narrow margin of 1 minute and 19 seconds. It was as pretty and as hard fought a contest as has ever been sailed off Sandy Hook, and had the wind not fallen during the last ten minutes the record for the course, 3h. 12m. 15s, made by Columbia two years ago in her memorable race against Shamrock II., would have been broken. As it was, Reliance sailed the thirty miles within 2 minutes and 39 seconds of the record, which speaks wonders for her speed in the wind that was blowing.

CAPTAIN BARR.

The Reliance did not win by so handsome a margin as her admirers wanted to see, the Shamrock showing splendid qualities in the beat to windward, which was the first leg of the course.

All of the Reliance's gains were on the two reaches that finished the triangle.

There were no mishaps, and the Shamrock showed a decided improvement over her form of last Saturday, due, no doubt, to the change in trim.

The official boat fired the preparatory gun at 10:45 o'clock.

This meant that the warning cannon, giving the contestants five minutes to prepare, would be fired at 10:55. Long before the course signals were displayed the masters of the aquatic duelists were busy in hammer and tongs fashion with each other. Barr, the master of the American sloop, resorted to his old tactics of chasing Captain Wringe, the sailing skipper of the challenger, about the broad expanse of water inside the excursion fleet.

It was a magnificent test of nautical generalship for the first ten minutes, and for the first time since the two men measured brains Wringe won, being clever enough to work to the northwest of the starting line and get from under his rival.

It was a sacrifice, however, for when time was eventually taken the Irish challenger was handicapped, crossing nineteen seconds after the handicap gun was fired at 11:02. This nineteen seconds was time lost, the official start of Shamrock being reckoned at 11:02.

Meantime Barr, finding that Wringe was too clever for him, had gone over the line about his own business, his official time being taken at 11:00:36.

As the Reliance crossed the line one minute and twenty-four seconds ahead of Shamrock, it was apparent that she would have to lead the challenger at the finish by more than three minutes and twenty-one seconds to win the race. This figure was obtained by adding to one minute, twenty-four seconds, the official time allowance given by Reliance to Shamrock of one minute fifty-seven seconds.

Once fairly away Captain Wringe of Shamrock III. resumed his tactics of the previous race, gave his boat a good rap full and sailed through Reliance's lee and out under her lee bow, while Captain Barr pinched Reliance close into the wind and began to cover the distance to the windward mark. Captain Wringe's maneuver gave him a wind clear of interference, and when once satisfied that Reliance could not blanket his boat he flattened in his sheets and began to point closer to the wind. Captain Barr, however, was nursing Reliance up to windward in masterly fashion.

Half an hour after the start the gap between the two boats had widened materially, Reliance pointing higher and Shamrock footing faster. They were half a mile apart when they tacked off Highland Beach at 11:42. The Reliance was the first to go about. When both yachts were filled away it was clear that Reliance was gaining. Shamrock III. was far astern and very little to windward of Reliance's course. Meantime the wind had been increasing and was now blowing at the rate of seven knots. Carrying a hard full Shamrock III. was heeling prettily, moving through the water at a fast clip and making considerably more fuss under her bows than the American boat. Captain Barr was pinching Reliance into the wind until her little baby jiptopsail fluttered. Reliance sought to make her gain by outpointing the British boat, while the latter endeavored to make up for what she lost in pointing by footing faster with a rap full.

At noon the wind had increased to ten knots and hauled about a point to westward, so that both yachts could lay a straight course to the turning mark, not more than two miles distant. They were keeling hard and dragging their lee rails through a lather of froth, making at least twelve knots. Without making another tack both boats made the turn of the first mark as follows: Reliance, 12h. 21m. 30s.; Shamrock, 12h. 24m. 45s.

Though the Reliance had a lead of 3m. 15s., she still lacked six seconds of making up the time allowance and the difference of 1m. 24s. at the start. Officially the Shamrock III. was still seconds ahead of the slippery Yankee craft, but it was evident that the latter had won the race barring accidents. In a breeze varying from four to ten knots an hour she had made good the time allowance in a ten mile thrash to windward, and there was every reason to believe that in reaching and running, which are her two strongest points of sailing, she would quickly overcome that official six seconds. Both captains broke out balloon jib topsails when they squared for the second turn.

The wind was so far aft that they quickly discovered that instead of being a broad reach, as intended, the course to the turn was a run. Spinnaker booms were guyed out, and the great sails added to the tall reachers of canvas. Staysails were taken in, and with spinnaker booms guyed well forward the yachts ran away for the turn. Both were heading off their course a bit in order to make their spinnakers draw well, and they ran that way for half an hour, when the Reliance smothered her spinnaker and began to set her staysail. During that time she did not appear to have gained an inch, but immediately upon laying her true course she began to draw away. Ten minutes after Reliance the Shamrock III. also took in her spinnaker, set her staysail and headed for the mark. With the wind over their quarters both yachts made fast time of it, but it was apparent that Reliance was gaining. They made the second turn as follows: Reliance, 1h. 17m. 50s.; Shamrock III., 1h. 21m. 45s.

The Reliance was leading by 3m. 55s., having gained 40s. in the run across from the first to the second mark. She had overcome the time allowance, made good the difference at the start and established a margin to her credit of 34s. With a close reach still to be made there was faint hope for the challenger.

The Reliance whirled about the mark, gybed over, trimmed in her sheets and romped away on a close reach toward Sandy Hook lightship and the finish line. She was three-quarters of a mile away before Shamrock III. rounded the mark. Both yachts were heeling before a twelve knot wind from south by west and were sailing at least one mile an hour faster than the wind was blowing. Their sheets were eased just enough to put them on almost their best point of sailing and one upon which Reliance has often demonstrated that she is faster than any racing craft ever built. She was heeled just enough to bring her long overhangs to bear and give her the benefit of her great sailing length. The guide vessel Coastwise was scurrying along ahead of her at full speed, but Reliance was overhauling her inch by inch and when the lightship hove in sight, about two miles away, was not more than a quarter of a mile astern of the guide vessel. A mile farther on the Coastwise sheered off and gave Reliance a clear course to the finish.

As the wind softened Reliance first set a baby jibtopsail, which Shamrock had been carrying since turning the second mark, and then exchanged it for a big reaching jibtopsail, in which Shamrock promptly followed suit. The two yachts held their relative positions for about a mile. When Reliance was a quarter of a mile from the finish line the wind died away considerably, but Shamrock III. came booming along carrying a splendid breeze and fast overhauling the leader. It looked as though the British boat was going to get within her time allowance, but the finish was too near, and Reliance slipped across it with one minute and nineteen seconds to spare. Shamrock III. finished in a softening wind.

The third race will be sailed on Thursday.

Sir Thomas Lipton said:

"The only thing I can say is that we did better than in the last race, which is hopeful. I figure my defeat at a little over one minute. If I make as much progress in the next race as I did in this over the last I will be a good bit ahead in the finish of the third race. I was more than pleased with the way my own boat was handled. It is hard to admit it, but the best boat won."

KRUSCHEVO IN RUINS

Komitajis Captured Town and Massacred Turks' Garrison.

TURKS RECAPTURED AND SACKED IT

Town Suffered Under Bashibazouks' Ill Treatment and Pillage For Three Days—Women Robbed and Abused.

MONASTIR, European Turkey, Aug. 26.—The once beautiful city of Kruschevo is a heap of ruins. The women and children are homeless, exposed to the weather and famine. The town is rendered uninhabitable by the odor of corpses which are being gnawed by dogs and pigs, the Turkish authorities refusing to allow them to be removed under the pretext that an inquest will be held.

Kruschevo is situated on the summit of a hill eight hours distant and to the northwest of Monastir. It contained 2,000 houses and 10,000 inhabitants, mostly Vlachs, calling themselves Greeks. There were only 100 poor Bulgarian houses. The Vlachs are prosperous merchants who travel abroad on business, leaving their families in Kruschevo. After making fortunes abroad by their diligence and economy they return to spend their wealth in Kruschevo, where they own fine houses, furniture and jewels. The Turkish inhabitants of the surrounding villages have long envied the prosperity of Kruschevo.

The Macedonian committee, in concert with Bulgarian bands, had been completing arrangements during several months with a view to occupying the town. In July last the authorities of Kruschevo, observing the threatening movement, begged the vali of Monastir to send re-enforcements, as the garrison of thirty soldiers was insufficient to cope with an insurgent attack. These warnings were ignored.

On the day fixed for the Bulgarian attack on Kruschevo, while four marriages were being celebrated in the Greek church, a number of Komitajis by prearrangement remained hidden in the church and were locked in by the sacristan on the conclusion of the ceremonies. At 10 o'clock at night they sounded an alarm by ringing the church bells. Simultaneously a band of 300 insurgents, headed by Petroff, entered the town, discharging their rifles. The terrified inhabitants remained indoors. The band first burned the residence of the mudir and massacred the garrison of Turkish soldiers and the officials of the town, but the invaders spared the Turkish harems.

The Komitajis established a provisional government and instituted a new police and municipality. They killed ten Christians who they believed had betrayed the plans of the committee.

The Turks, informed of the capture of the town, sent from Perlepe three squadrons of cavalry, which were attacked en route and compelled to retire with a loss of 100 killed.

The Turks then concentrated seven battalions and one battery on Kruschevo. They made an offer to the Komitajis to allow the women and children to leave the town. This proposal was declined, and the bombardment began. The Komitajis quickly abandoned the town and escaped to the neighboring forest, where pursuit was impossible.

The Turks entered the town and, guided by Turkish villagers from the neighborhood, attacked the houses of the Greek notables and ordered the inmates to be searched and stripped. They seized the money and jewels and ravished the women, those who resisted being immediately killed. A Greek priest who sought to protect his daughter was killed. The girl's earrings were torn out, and her hand was chopped off to secure a bracelet.

When the houses had been pillaged the Turkish peasants loaded their horses with whatever the soldiers left, and the residences were burned. The sack of Kruschevo lasted three days, during which time the women and children remained without food and shelter and at the mercy of the soldiers and the Bashibazouks.

Many Turks are attempting to cross the frontier, but the Bulgarian guards have turned them back. The insurrectionary movement is reported to have gained strength, particularly in the districts of Kukusch, Gergiele, Enidje, Vardar, Voden and the environs of Salonika. Both sides are reported to have lost heavily. At Solnia, near Uskub, the Turks attacked the insurgents, but were obliged to retire in the face of bombs which were thrown among them.

Universal Earthquake Predicted.

NAPLES, Aug. 26.—The state of Vesuvius remains much the same as yesterday, except that the crust of the crater is breaking up and falling. Visitors, however, are now allowed to approach the crater. Among those who ascended the volcano was Professor Krull of Munich, who predicts that before the month is finished there will be a great eruption and an earthquake all over the world.

So Governor Odell has seen fit to answer former Governor Hill's tirade against the spectacular man in American politics. Did the shoe fit?

Stephen B. Roath has distributed $1,000,000 among his relatives in order to see how his heirs will spend the money. Maybe he will learn how true that adage is about fools.

The Common Council's refusal to award the contracts for street macadamizing because the bids were too high is an indication of prosperity. When labor is dear there may be no fear of hard times.

One thing is certain and that is that the local branch of the Young Men's Christian Association is a live institution. Its prospectus published in yesterday's issue shows that it is a flourishing organization.

An obituary notice of the wife of a Kansas farmer stated that she had darned 10,000 socks, cooked 100,000 meals, washed 1,000,000 dishes, raised nine children, then died and went to Heaven.—That's a good obituary, all right.

Some of the editorial criticisms of Joseph Pulitizer since he gave $2,000,000 as an endownment for a school of journalism prove conclusively that such an institution is sorely needed. Newspaper ethics should be made a feature of the course.

A letter addressed to Miss Sara Curry, superintendent of the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, Plainfield, enclosing a check for the benefit of that worthy insititution, will be appreciated. Miss Curry is doing a great work for the poor children of Gotham.

There has been a good deal of nonsensical talk concerning the matter of women wearing their hats while in church, and many ignorant people have railed at the rector of an Asbury Park church because he will not permit members of the gentler sex to enter the church edifice unless their heads are covered. It is only necessary to say that the clergymen is obeying the rules of his church in this particular. Neither the Episcopal nor Roman Catholic Church allow women to have their heads uncovered while in a church edifice and each points to the Scripture as their authority.

The New York Times, which is always sober, makes a suggestion in editorially treating of the subject of the coming special election. It asks: "Would it not be wiser to put up with slight inconveniences in the Court of Errors and Appeals, assuming their existence, and to work steadily toward such a readjustment of New Jersey's judiciary system as would bring that State into line with the most approved systems? The burdens of the Judges in the Court of Errors and Appeals cannot be so intolerable, since, as we are informed, with but one or two exceptions, every case brought before that court during the last three years has been decided within the term. No State can boast of a more speedy disposal of appellate cases."

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Budlong and daughter, Miss Lucie Budlong, of Madison avenue, who have been sojourning in Pennsylvania and the upper part of New York State, have returned home.

Rev. G. B. Shaw, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist Church, while attending the annual church conference at Salem, W. Va., during the past few days, was taken quite ill as a result of drinking milk. He is now much improved.

Asbury Park Lively.

The annual baby parade occurs at Asbury Park, Friday, and the favorite seaside resort has given up its entire attention to this celebration. The city is gay with bunting and decorations of all kind. The parade will be witnessed by a legion of Plainfielders. The firemen's parade will be a strong attraction, tomorrow, when the Warren Chapel people will journey to the shore.

No Reconciliation.

James Mosgrove Colwell a well-known resident of Cranford, was ordered yesterday by Vice-Chancellor Stevens, sitting at Newark, to pay to his wife, Marion Hyde Colwell, $10 a week alimony and $50 counsel fee, pending her action against him for a limited divorce. Mrs. Colwell alleges cruel treatment. She asks for the custody of her fourteen-year-old son.

Mrs. George B. Wean and children, of West Fourth street, who have been passing the summer months at North Adams, Mass., returned home this week.

The Misses Abbott, of West Front street, and Miss Helen Burroughs, of East Fifth street, are included in a party of Plainfielders who are enjoying mountain climbing and similar diversions at West Brookville.

Wm. Eppinger and Wm. Limoze, of Worcester, Mass., are visiting Herbert L. Hetfield at his home on East Front street. Mr. Eppinger is foreman of the designing department of Allen, Higgins & Co., wall paper manufacturers, of Worcester, and Mr. Limoze is a designer in the same concern with which Mr. Hetfield is also connected.

Peculiar Character in Jail.

Jack O'Brien, a North Plainfield character, who a short time ago made a scene in court by declaring that he had a silver plate in the top of his head, has been arrested again for drunkenness. Last night he was sentenced to thirty days in the Somerville jail and was taken there this morning by Chief Marshal Campbell. He is to be examined there as to his sanity.

Remembered by Lodge.

Past Chiefs Frank Bowman and Raymond Carver received past chief's jewels from Freedom Castle, No. 42, K. G. E., last night. The presentation was made by Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan. Both men made brief speeches in appreciation of the honor.

No Reasonable Man imagines that a neglected cold can be cured in a day. The uncountable air cells in the lungs are inflamed and the throat is as tender as an open sore. But time and Allen's Lung Balsam will overcome the cold and stave off consumption. The cough will cease and the lungs will be sound as a new dollar. All druggists sell Allen's Lung Balsam.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The third game of baseball which is to be played here Saturday afternoon between the Dunellen A. C. and the Bound Brook team is awaited with much interest. The last game was won by the local team on a very close margin, and at three or four periods of the game the result looked very doubtful. The Dunellen team is fortunate in having Ettlinger to twirl for them.

William Smalley is lying in a critical condition with scarlet fever at his home on the Greenbrook road. He has been sick for the past two weeks and the disease has now reached a critical stage.

Work is expected to begin shortly on the new tower for the fire bell and in the meantime Chief Whyhusky expects to call the men out once a week for drill.

Lewis Churchill has returned from a two weeks' visit with Thomas Thomas at Asbury Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Haver, of North avenue, are entertaining their two nieces from High Bridge.

James McMahon is now acting in the capacity of extra brakeman on the Central Railroad.

Paul Kratzel has taken a position as a fireman for the Central Railroad Company.

The Dunellen Checker Club held one of its interesting meetings last evening.

The Juniors held their regular monthly meeting in Apgar's Hall last evening.

Regular prayer meeting will be held in the Presbyterian Church this evening.

Robert Craig represented Dunellen at the International yacht race yesterday.

Abner Corriel and Percy Abbott are spending the week at Asbury Park.

Joseph Marlow, of Newark, was in town yesterday on business.

NEW MARKET.

Mrs. A. E. Ahrens, of Stratford, Ontario, is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Day.

Mrs. Harry Machamer, who has been confined to the house with a severe cold, is considerably improved

Frank Fletcher, Jr., has returned to work in New York, after enjoying a week's vacation.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Manager Denman, of the Westfield team, says: "The Westfield fans demand three more games with the Scotch Plains team. As the nines are pretty evenly matched there is no doubt that an extension of the series would not only be a money maker but would furnish a great article of baseball for the lovers of the National game. That game of Saturday, when the two teams battled for thirteen innings, was the greatest game Westfield has ever witnessed."

Manager Johnston received word last night that the report that Mac Manus is to play with Aeolian is true. Mac has secured a position with the Aeolian Company at their New York office. Mac's absence from the game will be sorely felt by Scotch Plains.

The locals ball nine will line up Saturday against the St. Mary's team, of Plainfield. St. Mary's is one of the strongest teams in Plainfield and "fandom" is assured of witnessing a pretty contest.

The public school reopens on Tuesday, September 8. The building has been thoroughly cleaned and renovated and a number of improvements, including city water, have been installed.

Fanwood Council, R. A., met in the Library rooms last night. Considerable business of a routine nature was transacted, and an enjoyable hour spent by the members over their cigars.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dobbins and children, who have been visiting Mr. Dobbins' mother, Mrs. Ann Dobbins, have returned to their home in Newark.

Miss DeMott, who has been spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dunn, has returned to her home at Peapack.

John, Harold and Victor Todd, of Fanwood, who have been enjoying life for a week at Asbury Park, have returned home.

Harry Flannery, who has been taking a few days' outing at Bay Shore, L. I., has returned home.

The Township Committee will meet in the Township rooms on Friday evening, September 4.

Miss Mattie Hull, of Plainfield, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hull.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Clark are spending a week with relatives and friends at Keyport.

Mrs. Caroline Hoyt and daughter, of Westfield, spent Tuesday with Mrs. Charles Haberly.

Miss Sadie Lee is visiting relatives at Trenton for a week.

Clinton Clark is out with a new milk wagon.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Miss Julia Heenan entertained a number of friends at her home on Monday evening. Music and games were a feature of the evening's entertainment.

Philip P. Smith is spending a few days at the home of his cousin, Melville Brown, of Brooklyn.

The Misses Julia and Mamie Geary, of Newark, has returned home after a week with their parents.

Miss Sadie Mack, of Metuchen, has returned home after a visit with her sister, Mrs. McGuire.

William Hamilton's little son, Robert, has been ill for several days.

William Drake, of Stelton, was in town this morning on business.

William Hamilton is entertaining his mother from Perth Amboy.

MAKING NEEDED REPAIRS

COMMISSIONER GAVETT'S MEN WORKING ON SEVERAL CULVERTS.

An Improvement in the Setting of Curbs on Watchung Avenue.

Street Commissioner Gavett's men have just finished work on Carlton avenue between Watchung and Putnam avenues. The west side curb has been set into the street nearly eighteen inches. When Carlton avenue was macadamized year before last it was found that the west side of the street was below grade and that the west curb was eighteen inches too near the sidewalk. The street was macadamized and the property owners were requested to move out the curbs Nothing was done at the time, however, and the matter has now been taken up by the city. The gutter has been graded to street level and the curb has been set out into the roadway and raised to grade. The property owners are now requested to raise the sidewalk and ground between sidewalk and curbstone to grade level.

A gang of Mr. Gavett's men have also been active in repairing the culvert at the corner of Watchung and Carlton avenues, which was discovered to be ineffective and unable to carry off the vast flow of water at each storm. Investigation proved that the culvert stones had slipped from position under the cross walk and blocked the passage, causing the water to flood the sidewalk in severe storms. The repair gang made an auxiliary culvert branching from the main one and joining Watchung avenue. The culvert at the corner of Putnam and Carlton avenues is now undergoing similar improvements and repairs are also being made on the south side of Putnam avenue.

When this work is completed, it is expected that culvert repairs will be started on Kensington avenue at both Watchung and Putnam avenues for the flow of storm water there is frequently more than can be accommodated.

—Peach season is here. The fruit is now reasonable and good and just right for slicing and preserving. "Reeve's Favorite," "Alberta" and "Mountain Rose" are the leaders for the table. Fresh consignments daily at Neuman Brothers' Watchung avenue store.

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by L. SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

Living at Riverside, Cal., is a family with a wonderful athletic record. Of 13 children ten are sons, and of these ten sons six have already distinguished themselves in the field of athletics, and the other four promise to do as well as soon as years and opportunity offer. Geo. H. Dole, a brother of the territorial governor of Hawaii, is the father of this remarkable family who have figured so prominently in college athletics in this country. The following is a synopsis of the records made by the six eldest sons:

Wilfred H. Dole.

Walter Sanford Dole, Cornell, '92—Varsity crew four years, rowing stroke oar; varsity football team four years; end a half.

William Herbert Dole, Cornell, '94—Captain of freshman crew; three years on varsity crew; best cross-country runner ever at Cornell; swimmer.

Charles Sumner Dole, Stanford, '99—Captain freshman football team three years; varsity track team four years; captain varsity track team of '97. Records: Pole vault, 11 feet; high jump, 5 feet 9½ inches; broad jump 21 feet 2 1-2 inches; 100-yard dash, 0:10 1-5; 220-yard dash, 0:23 1-5; 120-yard hurdles, 0:16 4-5; 220-yard hurdles, 0:26 2-5; 16-pound hammer throw, 113 feet; 16-pound shot put, 38 feet. Won fourth place for Stamford in western intercollegiate individual meet at Chicago, 1897.

Alfred Rowell Dole, Stanford, '03—Volunteer of First California in Philippines from 1898 to 1899. Guard freshman football team; tackle varsity team of '02.

Norman Elliott Dole, Stanford, '04—Records: High jump, 5 feet 8 inches; pole vault, 11 feet 7¾ inches. Holds Pacific coast amateur and western intercollegiate record for pole vault.

Wilfred Heinrich Dole, Stanford, '05—Full back on freshman football team; half back on varsity team of '02; track team three years; quarter-mile runner.

Three of the other four sons are now in the high school at Riverside, and the youngest is in the grammar school at the same place. All four have already shown remarkable qualities in athletics.

Sarcastic comments are the order of the day about the training quarters of both Corbett and Jeffries, and Tommy Ryan seems to be the cause of it all. Before he joined the staff of Corbett's trainers there came from both camps the most dignified statements of the opposition, but since he arrived hard feelings on both sides are the rule. When the big fight comes off Ryan will stand to lose $500 on Corbett, and would undoubtedly place a larger bet if he could afford it, for he wants to see Jeffries whipped badly. To the public Jeffries says he will be decidedly cautious in the ring, but to his training cronies he intimates that he will use hurricane tactics when he meets Corbett. As for Corbett he is saying nothing, but saws wood in a way that keeps every one guessing. However, he is undoubtedly relying to a great extent on his new heart punch. Of this Yank Kenny said recently: "It's no use talking, I've been with Fitzsimmons for years and I've sampled some of his hard ones, but I don't know of anything I'd sooner avoid than Corbett's body punch. I guess it would be pretty hard to make the average person believe it. I will frankly say that I wouldn't have believed it myself that it was possible for a man like Corbett to get into his present shape and become such a punisher."

Corbett Training.

Articles of agreement have been signed for a six-round bout between Young Corbett and Tim Callahan, of Philadelphia. They are to meet before the club offering the best inducements; weight, 128 pounds at 6 o'clock.

Johnny Burns, the featherweight, who has been out of the game since he fought Jimmy Gardner, of Lowell, to a standstill in Boston, is anxious to fight some of the top notchers in his class. He gives Jimmy Briggs, Hughey Murphy, Tim Callahan and Young Corbett the preference, and says he has money to bet he can outpoint any of them.

Joe Gans will not go abroad to fight, as he has been offered two coast matches for the fall months.

Mike Memsic now wants to meet anybody at 126 pounds, Tommy Mowatt and Hugh McPadden preferred.

Benny Monroe, of Memphis, Tenn., was the record-breaker in the golden wheel race at Charles River park, Boston, riding in the fourth hour of the week's contest forty-nine miles 210 yards, which is 624 yards better than the world's record made last night on the same track by De Guichard. The latter covered forty-seven miles 1,056 yards and Lawson 39 miles 176 yards.

Mike Egan is now the undisputed handball champion of the world. In his international match with Timothy Twohill, of Dublin, he did not lose one of the fifteen games played, and in practically every game the Irish champion was overwhelmingly defeated.

A deal has been consummated between the Cleveland and St. Louis American league clubs whereby Cleveland acquires Pitcher Frank Donahue from St. Louis in exchange for Gene Wright and a cash consideration. The amount of the latter is not stated.

At the sporting events at Ibrox park, Glasgow, Arthur Duffy won the 100-yard dash in 9 4-5 seconds. This equals the English and beats the Scotch record for the distance. Westney was third. In the high jump Westney and Murrey tied at 5 feet 10 inches.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Hands of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.
FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

CHARLOTTE CANTY

A Girl of Grit

"I KNOW you are death on women," said Mr. Starr. "Wouldn't you like to hear about Charlotte Canty, the young California story writer?"

"I would, indeed, if she's a girl of grit and power and one other girls would like to read about."

"She is all that and more, too," said Mr. Starr. "The Canty family of brothers and sisters are notable for their ability and aspiration and, above all, for their faithful love toward one another. There never was a more united family. They were born in San Francisco, but the family removed to Oakland, where they still live and where Charlotte began her literary work. Their father died when Charlotte was thirteen, and the mother struggled on as best she could."

CHARLOTTE CANTY.

The simple story of this one girl's life is deeply interesting.

"Our mother ruled us absolutely, and her only law was love," Charlotte told Mr. Starr once. Charlotte had planned out her life gloriously. She would write—she always meant to do that—but to be thoroughly prepared for her profession she intended to be a college graduate—get the literary style. When a child at school she wrote her compositions with the dream in her brain of one day getting stories printed and being an author. But five years ago the mother whose only law was love died. Charlotte uncomplainingly put aside her own cherished hopes and dreams and became the head of the family. No college now, apparently no hope of writing stories, either. The very bread the family ate had to be earned by Charlotte and her sister. They took their places in a large store in Oakland, Charlotte as cashier, Sister Nan in one of the departments. Sister Mary kept the house for them and the brothers.

But the girl who was a born writer could not forget the radiant dream of her childhood. It fairly broke her heart to give up being an author. She wrote something of her grief and disappointment to a friend.

But you will see how the Power that rules human destiny plans for us better than we can plan for ourselves if we only do the manifest duty that lies nearest us day by day.

Charlotte's friend who received this letter showed it to a literary lady whom she knew. The literary lady was struck with the power and grace of expression even in this everyday letter. She immediately commended Charlotte to William C. Morrow, a well-known writer of San Francisco. Charlotte went to see him.

"Write me something on a subject I will give you," said Mr. Morrow.

She wrote it nights and Sundays, a fairy story, and it hit the mark so exactly that Mr. Morrow gave her further instructions how to proceed. In the scant and precious spare time allowed to a department store cashier she began teaching herself to compose. She and Sister Nan served in the business establishment from 8 o'clock till half past 6, on Saturdays till 10 at night, and yet this determined girl snatched bits of time to write. Sometimes 1 o'clock in the morning found her at her desk, when Sister Nan, who embodies common sense for two, would make her stop and go to bed.

By and by she got some stories printed. Of course she did! Nobody who strives perseveringly, and strives in faith, ever is finally disappointed. It is in Charlotte Canty's favor, perhaps, that she has had little time to compare her own work with that of so called classic authors. She is therefore bravely original. Living with her brothers and loving them dearly, as they likewise loved her, she was able to enter into thorough sympathy with them, and through them with all youthful masculinity. She has written some spirited and charming stories for boys. This, for lack of knowledge of them, women seldom are able to do. One of the best known of Miss Canty's general stories is "The Whistling Girl," which has been widely published.

The brothers for whom she worked are young men now, and in this case, at least, men appreciate what women have done for them. This no doubt is owing to the influence and remembrance of the sweet mother whose only law was love.

Charlotte Canty now looks forward with reasonable assurance to the day when she will write books and spend all her time in the tasks she loves. Not yet, however. She still sits at her cashier's desk and does the work her hands find to do, not grudgingly, but cheerfully, thankfully, writing stories in her off moments, and waiting, strong, sweet tempered and strong, in the sure faith that she will come into her kingdom.

MARY EDITH DAY.

A REAL DAUGHTER OF THE REVOLUTION

By CAROLINE GEBHARDT.

Copyright, 1902, by J. B. Lippincott Company.

Jane threw back her head and smiled at him in a bewitching derision. "What a harsh mistress Col. Bessemer must think me," she remarked, "that I should needs be afraid to be left alone with these, my people. Know you, sir, that every negro upon this plantation has belonged all his life to either my father's family or that of my own mother or my stepmother. Each of them is bound to us by ties that have been weaving through generations. Every one of them is as dear to me as though he were my kinsman, and I dare to believe that I am equally dear to each of them. Nay, colonel, you are not half so safe at the head of your legion as I am here surrounded by my black servants."

She spoke with spirit, the rich color mantling her cheeks, for it was a matter of pride with the Ellerys that no family in all the colonies could more confidently claim or better merit the devotion of their dependents. Strict disciplinarians they were, knowing well that laxity was mistaken kindness, but liberal and just always.

"Ah, madam," Bessemer answered, "it is not necessary to tell me that your people love you. No one could be associated with you an hour without doing that, much less years."

She swept him a mock courtesy, and then, in true southern fashion, accompanied him to the front door; 'tis a fashion that even yet southern hostesses find it hard to wean themselves from. Stepping out upon the portico, she saw that the sky, so smiling when they arrived, was overcast, while banks of ominous black clouds had gathered in the east.

"Methinks, colonel," she said, "there is a storm brewing. I beg that you tarry until we see how much of a one it is to be, for our South Carolina tempests are not often mild, even at this mild season of the year."

"I thank you, sweet lady," Bessemer answered, "but I fear we have infringed too long upon your hospitality as it is, and that the rebels will have taken advantage of our self-indulgence to be up to mischief. Duty tells me I must join my Gen. Cornwallis as soon as possible, though inclination fain would chain me here."

Even as he spoke the wind rose into a gale, and swayed this way and that the tops of the great elms which lined the avenue from the carriage gate to the house. There was a blinding flash of lightning, a growl of thunder, and a splash of rain. Then, as though encouraged, the elements let loose their fury.

It would not be the first storm that Bessemer and his men had breasted, but never had they set out in one from surroundings so hospitably inviting. Not since they left Charleston had they seen such lavish display of luxurious living as here; and, indeed, few country seats even in rich Virginia maintained the daily scale of munificence exhibited by this South Carolina plantation.

The storm was augmenting its force. Bessemer hesitated what to do. As rain began to descend in sheets, he gave the command for his men to break ranks and pitch their shelter-tents.

"You see, dear lady," Bessemer said to her, as she stood watching the soldiers' deft work, "that the very elements are leaguing for my happiness to-day in offering me so good an excuse for indulging longer in your sweet society."

"Perhaps," Jane answered, "it is my pleasure they are considering," and could he who six months ago angrily accused her of being the most heartless coquette in thirteen colonies have seen the glance she bestowed upon the Englishman, he would have gnashed his teeth in fury.

The storm, coming from the east, soon made the portico untenable, and Jane led her guests through the wide hall into the drawing-room—a long apartment, hung with rich tapestries. At one end was the great fireplace with its marble mantel and its costly mirror in its setting of blue and gold. From the center of the ceiling hung a chandelier all a-glitter with gilt and glass, rarely lighted save for some special function. Along the walls were brackets with smaller candelabra, and so dark had grown the day without that Jane ordered Enos to light these. A harpsicord, beautifully inlaid, stood, with its long, low seat in front of it, between the two west windows. Bessemer, catching sight of it, begged for music.

Jane, a little at loss how else to entertain her guests, seated herself without ado and sang and played the popular airs of that day. Her voice, naturally sweet, had received the highest cultivation that Charleston and Philadelphia could afford. Bessemer, standing beside her, bent forward as though entranced.

JANE SEATED HERSELF AND SANG AND PLAYED THE POPULAR AIRS OF THAT DAY.

"To think," he murmured in so low a tone that his officers, seated at a discreet distance, could not hear—"to think that Nature, not contented with her prodigality in lavishing such wondrous beauty, grace, and wit upon one being, should add this gift of music too."

Jane flashed him another alluring glance as she turned upon her seat to divide her attention with her other guests. Those young officers, however, attracted though they were by her good looks and her gracious manner, were too wise to poach upon their colonel's preserves.

She excused herself presently and went out to supervise the dinner, unlocking from the keys at her side the various cupboards and chests in the mammoth storeroom to set forth dainties and sweetmeats for the noonday meal. The breakfast had been a slim affair compared with the feast to which they sat down a little after one o'clock.

Outside the rain was falling heavily. Within the dining-room all was good cheer, the tall silver candlesticks upon the table making a wide circle of light. As the hostess and her guests sat toying with their coffee and sweetmeats, a wet figure in a long gray cloak and hood stepped hastily through one of the open windows, dropped something into Jane's lap and backed out the way it had come.

CHAPTER III.

AN INVASION.

Bessemer and his officers half started to their feet, and all bent their eyes inquiringly upon Jane, whose nomad color fled her cheeks and then came back with a mighty rush.

"Who was that? What is the meaning to this strange proceeding, if I may inquire?" Bessemer demanded, fingering his sword nervously.

"You may well ask," Jane answered, "and I must apologize for so amazing an interruption, but among our retainers there is one whose brain is flighty and, allowed through our indulgence much liberty, he does some startling things at times. He is harmless, however, and I pray you to dismiss the incident from your mind."

As she spoke she was with deft and stealthy fingers slipping the note which had fallen into her lap under her girdle. The gentlemen resumed their meal with apparent sangfroid, but upon Bessemer's brow there lingered the slightest cloud of perplexity.

Jane sat with palpitating heart, the necessity for keeping a calm front making her hands cold and putting her brain on fire. Her ears were strained to catch every sound without, expectant of shots or melee of some sort.

"Is he worth it?" she asked herself angrily. "Is he worth that I should trouble thus? Nay, it would be but meet that the British should catch him and deal with him as his hare-brained folly deserves. Little does it behpove me to care aught what becomes of such an addle-pate, and especially when I recall how he dared talk to me when last we spoke together." Her eyes sparkled with anger at the recollection, and the truant color mounted again her creamy cheek, until Bessemer, sitting opposite her, thought never had he seen such changeful and ever-increasing loveliness.

LITERARY.

The announcements of The Red Book for September indicate that the standard of excellence required of the literature selected for that sparkling publication is constantly rising. Among the contributors to appear in the September number are Robert Hichens, Yone Noguchi, Harriet A. Nash, Wingrove Bathon, E. Phillips Oppenheim, Elia W. Peattie, Elizabeth L. Banks, and half a dozen others who are recognized as favorite contributors of the best fiction to publications of the highest standing.

At the Fourteenth Street Nat Wills in "A Son of Rest" remains the strong attraction.

STARTLING THEORY.

Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace Announces That Earth Is at Center of the Universe.

Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace, of London, had already celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary last January when he put forth a new idea that surprised the scientific world almost as greatly as the tremendous theory of natural selection—the Darwinian theory—which Dr. Wallace and Charles Darwin discovered independently of each other almost half a century ago.

The famous old scientist's new theory is that the earth is at exactly the center of the universe, and that the whole scheme of creation was evidently planned for the purpose of producing man. Some of the old theologians have always maintained this, but Dr. Wallace arrived at the idea quite independent of theology. When his first announcement of his discovery was made a few months ago scientists in all quarters of the globe arose forthwith and smote him hip and thigh. They said it was all nonsense, just as they had said it was madness to suppose man had descended from monkeys—which was the popular way of describing the doctrine put forth by Dr. Wallace and Darwin, and now almost universally accepted.

DR. ALFRED R. WALLACE.
(He Believes That Earth Is at Center of the Universe.)

Dr. Wallace was living in one of the remote Moluccas islands in 1858 and suffering from a violent attack of fever when the idea of the law of natural selection burst upon him. Fever or no fever, he could not rest until he had worked it out and put it upon paper. He sent it off to his friend Darwin to ask him what he thought of it, little dreaming that his letter would be a thunderbolt to Darwin.

Dr. Wallace, who, at the age of 80, is setting forth on one of the greatest scientific battles of his life, has always been a tremendous worker. He began to earn a living at the age of 25 as a land surveyor, but soon turned his attention to natural history, setting forth to the Amazon on a scientific expedition, and going later to the Malay archipelago, where he was when he hit upon Darwin's great idea. He lectured in America 17 years ago and has written many books that take high rank in scientific research.

THE SERVIAN THRONE.

Should King Peter Pass Away Suddenly There Would Be Two Claimants for It.

Should King Peter, who is well advanced in years, die suddenly or be assassinated, there will be at least two throne claimants. The first is, of course, Crown Prince George, the son of ex-King Milan. Countess Cristitsch, whose son, Prince Milan, nine years old, is a pretender. It was feared recently that the foes of the Obrenovitch dynasty, in their determination to extinguish the house, intended to kill the boy. For this reason the sultan of Turkey ordered the widow and her son to remain in the house during the revolt, and furnished them with an extra guard.

CROWN PRINCE GEORGE.
(Son of King Peter of Servia and About 16 Years of Age.)

pressed forward by the friends of the Obrenovitch dynasty. Though King Alexander had no offspring, their lives in Constantinople the morganatic wife of ex-King Milan, the Countess Cristitsch, whose son, Prince Milan, nine years old, is a pretender. It was feared recently that the foes of the Obrenovitch dynasty, in their determination to extinguish the house, intended to kill the boy. For this reason the sultan of Turkey ordered the widow and her son to remain in the house during the revolt, and furnished them with an extra guard.

Cook Lady Held the Fort.

Mrs. Charles Johnson, of New Haven, Conn., engaged a comely cook in New York, and she proved a jewel in her line. On the fourth day in her new home she paralyzed her mistress by falling in an epileptic fit. On recovering, the cook stated that she was subject to them. Mrs. Johnson said the girl must leave the house. The latter declared that as she had been engaged for a month, she was determined to stay. All persuasion having been useless to dislodge her, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson sought a temporary home at a hotel, leaving the cook in possession for a month.

LINKING TWO OCEANS

Particulars of Remarkable Transandine Railway Now Building.

Will Unite the Trunk Lines of Argentina and the State Lines of Chili—Perilous Passage Around Cape Horn Avoided.

The Transandine railway will form, when completed, the connecting link between the trunk lines of the Agentine Republic and the state railways of Chili, giving a through railroad communication to the east and west coast ports of Buenos Ayres and Valparaiso. At present the line on the Argentine side of the Andes (the Buenos Ayres and Valparaiso Transandine Railway company, limited) is finished up to Las Cuevas, colse on to the frontier, where a tunnel of ove. 2½ miles will pierce the Summit ridge, to connect up with the Chilian section of the railway. In Chili progress is arrested pending an arrangement between the Chilian government and the owners of the line on the side (the Transandine Construction company, limited), which still requires some 22 miles to complete. The following description, therefore, will be confined to the finished portion on the Argentine side. The location of this line presents some interesting features. Mendoza, the terminus of the broad gauge (five feet six inches) lines from Buenos Ayres, is over 652 miles from that port, and stands 2,278.68 feet above sea level, and the lowest point of the pass over the summit of the Andes is at 12,762.75 feet. The railway, which is of metre gauge, is on fairly easy ground, with only one important bridge up to entering the mountains, at about 18½ miles. At this point the line begins to follow the valley of the River Mendoza, a mountain torrent which, with its tributaries, drains the melting snows of the principal summits, and like many rivers of its kind, is subject to sudden rises and also to many treacherous variations, owing to the amount of heavy gravels and bowlders it brings down. The floor of the valley is formed by a series of terraces (the beds of old lakes or sea beaches (in which the torrent has cut its channel, in places to a considerable depth.

A word about the bridges. Of the 246-foot girder spans there are four, and one 196.85 feet, all bridging the river. These through bridges are of steel composite, American truss pattern, built to English factors of safety, and with pin connections to avoid riveting during erection. There are six deck bridges of 147.64 and 131.23-foot spans, and these are steel girders, all of English make. For the 49.21 and 65.62-foot spans the same type is used, the 65.62-foot span being square-ended girders. Smaller spans are plate girders, generally deck bridges. The 246-foot spans weigh 158 tons each, and the 147.64-foot 85 tons. As may be imagined from the nature of its route, the railway is not free from interruption by falls of snow in winter, and sudden rushes of water from heavy rainstorms, and sudden rises of river, cause interruptions in summer. An occasional source of trouble, too, is what is termed a mud-run, when the accumulated debris of a rocky valley is collected by the flood following a rainstorm and sweeps over the track to a depth of several feet. A carefully superintended system of line watchmen, however, by which each section is walked over immediately before the passage of a train, reduces to a minimum the risk of accident from these causes. The traffic of the railway, in spite of its incomplete state, is steadily increasing, some 5,000 to 6,000 passengers passing over each summer, besides a constant traffic of some 3,000 passengers to the two sanatoriums of Cacheuta and Puente del Inca, where there are hot mineral springs. The route may be said to be the highroad from the west coast republics to Europe, and with the railway completed, an all-year service can be run by which the dreaded sea passage round Cape Horn will be avoided.

SPORTING NEWS.

TWO-BASE HITS.

St. Mary's ball team will journey to Scotch Plains next Saturday afternoon, where they will endeavor to retrieve lost honors.

Alis and Westfield will meet on Crescent Oval next Saturday afternoon 3:45. The home team will line up exactly as in the last game with St. Mary's team and the game should be one of the best. Alis will make a strong and determined effort to win this third contest of the series.

The Aeolian A. A. and the Equitable Life teams will cross bats on Aeolian Oval, Garwood, next Saturday afternoon at 3:30. The Equitable team is composed of Hoboken players and is considered one of the strongest in the Metropolitan district. The first game between these teams resulted in a victory for Aeolian team by a score of 10 to 9. The batteries for Saturday's game will be Aeolian—Maurer and Poole; Equitable—Hopper and Freidburg.

ROD AND REEL.

A. E. Hoagland, of West Front street, has returned from a two weeks' vacation in West Brookville, Sullivan county, N. Y. Much of his time was spent in fishing, the streams in the vicinity being well stocked with bass and other fish. Mr. Hoagland had rather poor luck owing to a lack of familiarity with the fine points of the piscatorial art.

GOLF.

Col. John Jacob Astor told a friend in Morristown, N. J., the other day, that the Newport Golf Club would be closed this fall and the course would be turned into an automobile track.

DR. SARLES DEAD.

Stelton Minister, Whose Wife Was a Plainfielder, Passed Away.

The Rev. John W. Sarles died last night at his home, in Stelton, N. J. He was born in Bedford, N. Y., on June 26, 1817. He was ordained pastor of the Central Baptist Church, in Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1847, and occupied that pulpit until 1879, when he resigned and became pastor of the Baptist Church at Stelton, of which he remained in charge until 1897. He was twice married. He is survived by a widow, two sons and a daughter. His second wife was Miss Kate Cooley, at one time a resident of this city.

—Fred Meeker, of Pearl street, has obtained a position in the advertising department of the Elizabeth Journal and starts work tomorrow.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Rev. Dr. J. L. Campbell, of New York, will occupy the pulpit at the First Baptist Church, next Sunday.

A peach ice cream festival will be held on the lawn of Mrs. Teeple, Park avenue, September 3, for the benefit of Marconnier Chapel.

The members of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's parish will hold their regular monthly meeting in Stafford Hall on Friday evening instead of Thursday. An entertainment will be given after the regular business of the society by Messrs. Romaine and Yost.

Last Saturday was a great day for Methodists now attending the camp-meetings at Mt. Tabor. On that day, Rev. Dr. J. R. Bryan, of Albert street, vice president of the association, led the love feast. Thus far the meetings have been largely attended and very successful.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

The Woman's Relief Corps will meet Friday evening for the first after the long suspension of sessions.

Freedom Castle, No. 42, Knights of the Golden Eagle, held a regular meeting last evening, but owing to the heat the entertainment arranged was not given. At the conclusion of the meeting, the members had light refreshments, after which the Commandery went through a short drill.

In the "Roll of Honor," published by the New Jersey Junior American Mechanic, comprising the councils in this State attaining a certain standard, Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., stands tenth and Somerset Council, No. 103, thirtieth. Benevolent Council, No. 256, the youngest in this city, stands seventieth, but as regards gains since last October, stands first.

In speaking of the excellent gains made in securing new members since last October, the New Jersey Junior American Mechanic, says: "Benevolent Council, of Plainfield, has made the greatest gain, increasing its membership from fifty-eight to one hundred and fifteen, making nearly one hundred per cent. increase. Is there a council that can beat it before October 1?"

CASTS OFF WIFE.

John G. Stryker, Arrested for Non-Support of Wife, to Answer in City Court.

John G. Stryker has been arrested in Arlington on a warrant issued by Chief of Police Kiely and held in $500 bonds to appear in the city court Monday morning to answer to a complaint of non-support of his wife, Mrs. Lizzie Stryker. The complaint was made by Mrs. Stryker who says she has been in a destitute condition for months at her home on West Fifth street. Stryker, it is said, announces his willingness to support his two children but refuses to give sustenance to his wife, who he claimed has been going with another man.

State Education.

The State Normal and Model Schools at Trenton are steadily and surely accomplishing a valuable work in advancing the educational interests of the State. They are equipped with a strong faculty, trained in the best universities and Normal Schools of the country, and skilled in that learning which is most practical in the essential avenues of life. The Model School is serving well its two-fold purpose, namely, to serve as a model where the normal student can see demonstrated in practice the theories of the normal, and incidentally it is proving an excellent academy where pupils may prepare for the Normal or for college.

Singing at Races.

Ernest R. Ball will sing baritone solos in the afternoon during the races at the Driving Park.

TENNIS CHAMPION REWARDED

C.M. KOONS WHO WON Y.M.C.A. TOURNAMENT WAS GIVEN A WATCH FOB.

Informal Entertainment Accompanied the Presentation at the Association Hall.

Chauncey M. Koons, winner of the title of tennis singles champion of the Y. M. C. A. last month, was awarded the championship prize last evening at a gathering of the tournament players in the Y. M. C. A. Hall. Twelve of those who contested for the championship attended and witnessed the presentation of a handsome watch fob to Mr. Koons. Secretary Robbie made the presentation speech.

The boys' parlor was pleasingly decorated with streamers of the National colors and strings of Japanese lanterns. After the presentation came an informal entertainment with phonographic selections by H. C. Brose and story telling all around.

Later in the evening watermelons were served and the festivities were concluded by an informal "sing."

MSS. SWALM DEAD.

Died at Home of Her Son, Albertus Swalm, at Age of Eighty-nine Years.

Mrs. Maria Swalm, widow of William Swalm, died today at the home of her son, Albertus Swalm, of West Front street. She had been sick for a brief time only. She was eighty-nine years old and is survived by four children, Dr. Frank S. Swalm, Everett Swalm, and Mrs. Pascal Swalm, all of Brooklyn, and Albertus Swalm, of this city. Mrs. Swalm was a native of New York State and had lived in Plainfield for about thirty-five years.

AMUSEMENTS.

Thomas A. Wise and John C. Rice continue to appear at the Garrick in "Vivian's Papas" which draws large houses.

"Beware of Men" is the name of the new melodrama at the Metropolis next week. It promises to make a great hit.

David C. Montgomery, the tin woodman in "The Wizard of Oz," returned to the cast Monday night at the Majestic Theatre.

An excellent vaudeville show attracts many to Riverside Park this week. Matinee and evening performances daily. Dancing every evening. Admission free to holders of round trolley tickets.

No single attraction at Coney Island in all its history has commanded the phenomenal attendance vouchsafed the Bostock Arena. A surprising feature of the exposition is the constant infusion of novelty from week to week, an effect easily secured by the Animal King by the transfer of rarities from his several menageries traveling the country. Recently the Bostock Zoos at Atlantic City and Cleveland have been rich contributors to the Coney Island exposition.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. J. Hervey Doane and daughter May, of East Seventh street, left this morning for a month's vacation at Point Pleasant.

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Stevens and daughter, Miss Jessie Stevens, of East Fifth street, are stopping at "The Berwin," Asbury Park.

SEPTEMBER DAYS ON LOCAL GOLF LINKS

Renewed Activity on Hillside and Park Golf Club Courses Assured.

COMPETITION FOR CUPS

PARK'S GREEN IS CONSIDERED MORE SPORTY BY LOVERS OF GAME.

How Golf Cures That Tired Feeling—Friendly Rivalry Between Two Organizations—Season to Continue Until Snow Flies.

With the end of the present month the prevailing dull season at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and Park Golf Club will end and renewed activities are promised. During August play has been limited to one or two regular events, but with the opening of the fall season there will be competition for other cups, all of which will have a tendency to attract a large number of enthusiasts to their favorite course. From September 1 until snow flies there should be plenty of golf for all.

Plainfield and North Plainfield can boast of two of the finest courses in the Metropolitan district and players from other places visiting them have been loud in their praise of the links. It is conceded that the Park Golf Club thas a course more sporty than its rival at Hillside, although the latter is an eighteen hole course and allows greater freedom in lay. Golfers have discovered that a low score on the Park course is more difficult than at Hillside.

There was a time, when golf was considered in the light of mere child play, but that day, it is believed, has passed and as a means of obtaining healthful exercise, the game is considered hard to beat. For persons who are confined in offices and at their various places of business, a few hours play on a golf course is considered a most desirable way of throwing off "that tired feeling." It brings people into the open fields where they are obliged to take walks and at the same time exercises the body in the swinging of clubs which, after awhile, leads the player to become quite expert in the play of the ancient game.

JACOBS' DAY.

Evangelist to Have Charge of the Choral Service at Netherwood Fresh Air Home.

Evangelist F. H. Jacobs, who, with Rev. Mr. Henderson, of Brooklyn, met with such success in a series of meetings in this city some time ago, will be at the Westfield Fresh Air Home on Sunday. During the past four or five years Mr. Jacobs has conducted at least one Sunday service at this camp in the season and next Sunday will be "Jacobs' Day" at the camp. Besides being a popular chorus leader and soloist, Mr. Jacobs is a strong speaker.

MAYOR'S CIVIC PRIDE.

Uses Influence to Have Appearance of Local Property Improved.

Through the influence of Mayor O. L. Jenkins the Durlach heirs, owning the property in East Front street corner of Watchung avenue, will probably erect a handsome brick structure on the property now occupied by old buildings. The heirs were in Plainfield this week considering the improvement. The Mayor has succeeded in convincing them that such a building would not only better their property, but would be a vast improvement to that part of Front street and Watchung avenue.

From Policeman to Farmer.

George Lunger, whose resignation from the police force was received by Chief Kiely yesterday, will take a year's rest probably on a farm in Hunterdon County. Mr. Lunger's absence from the force, necessary from the fact of his poor health, is deeply regretted by officers and men. He was assured by Chief Kiely that his position would be open to him at any time when he may be able to take it. He has proved himself an able and conscientious officer during his seven years of service.

Police Department Stable.

Work on the stable to be erected in the rear of police headquarters is scheduled to begin today. The building will be small, though sufficiently large to house comfortably the patrol wagon and horse. It was expected that work would be begun yesterday, but the contractor is delayed by the difficulty in finding men.

CONRAD SCHEELEIN DEAD

FORMER PLAINFIELDER DIES A VICTIM OF HEART TROUBLE.

Brother of George and Laurence Scheelein, of This City—Leaves Wife and Two Daughters.

Conrad Scheelein, a former resident of Plainfield, died at his home in Greenville, Jersey City, yesterday, after a long illness with heart trouble. He was well-known in this city, where for many years he was a cutter in the employ of Christian Schepdin, the tailor, with whom he learned his trade. During the past twenty years he has been employed by Rogers, Peet & Co., as a cutter.

Mr. Scheelein was a brother of George and Lawrence Scheelein, of this city. He also leaves a wife and two daughters. The funeral services will be held from the late residence tomorrow evening and the interment will be at Hillside Cemetery, this city, Saturday morning.

GRUESOME FIND REPORTED

WORKMEN UNEARTH A HUMAN FOOT AT WESTFIELD.

A Gold Watch Also Said to Have Been Found at Scene of Railroad Disaster.

During the past few weeks the New Jersey Central has been making extended repairs to its roadbed between Dunellen and Elizabeth, and in this connection a remarkable gruesome is reported.

According to the rumor, which seems to be well founded, a gang of laborers while working on the tracks near the point where the Westfield disaster occurred last January, unearthed a foot. A gold watch was also picked up. The supposition is that both the foot and watch were buried in the earth the night of the wreck and in the clearing away of the debris they were buried still deeper by the laborers without being detected.

There was a very little flesh left on the foot, it is said, and the bones were greatly discolored. The watch, it is reported, appeared to be a valuable timepiece and looked as though it was quite old. So far as known the railroad officials have been unable to ascertain who owned the watch, nor have they been able to tell to which one of the victims the foot belonged.

GOVERNMENT'S MOVE.

Steps Taken by Federal Authorities to Release Boats From Sheriff Coriell.

Cortlandt Parker, Jr., of Newark, acting United States District Attorney, yesterday received instructions from the Solicitor of the Treasury to take the necessary steps to have released from the custody of Sheriff Coriell, of Union County, N. J., the United States cruiser Chattanooga at the Crescent Shipyards at Elizabethport.

This proceeding will take the claims filed against the vessel out of the New Jersey court and place them in the United States District Court, where they will be adjusted.

JUNIORS VISIT BRETHERN.

Franklin Council Members Guests of Fairview Council, Jr. O. U. A. M.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., had a jolly outing last night on the occasion of their visit to Fairview Council, No. 248, at Mount Bethel. Seventy-five lodges members left Washington Hall in three big stages at shortly after seven o'clock last evening. Arriving at Mount Bethel, there was a combined business meeting of the two lodges and after this refreshments were served and the women folk became popular in the dancing which followed. Festivities were continued until a late hour and there was a jolly ride back to town.

Mayor Bill, a Groceryman.

"Mayor" W. B. Smith, of New Market, has taken up the grocery business again. Several months ago Mr. Smith turned over his interest in the firm of Smith & Thornton to C. H. Thornton, who decided to retire from the business several days ago.

Colored Infant Dead.

Theresa Burnley, the six-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burnley, colored, of 635 West Third street, died yesterday afternoon. The funeral will be from the house tomorrow afternoon and the interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

ONLY 4,000 SMITHS AT ANNUAL REUNION

Twenty-Eighth Session of the Descendants of John Schmidt, a Hollander.

MEETING AT PEAPACK

SCHMIDT SETTLED IN STANTON, HUNTERDON COUNTY.

Marriage of Dutchman and German Girl and Now There's Thousands of Smiths—Uncle Abe Now the Oldest Member of Family.

The twenty-eighth annual reunion of the Smith family and friends was held yesterday in the grove on the farm of the late Peter Z. Smith, one mile east of Peapack. The Raritan Cornet Band was in attendance. The officers of the reunion are Isaiah Smith, president; Abraham Smith, vice president; John D. Smith, treasurer; James C. Smith, secretary; Charles V. Smith and William A. Smith, recording secretaries. There were 4,000 Smiths in attendance.

The grounds, which have been exclusively devoted to the reunions of the Smith family, are on the banks of the North Branch of the Raritan River, and were once a part of a 600-acre farm owned by Zachariah Smith, whose log cabin, erected about the year 1800, was the first structure that identified the grounds with the Smith family. For many years a flagstaff has designated the precise spot where the hearthstone in the old log cabin stood.

Facing the grove, on the opposite side of the road, stands the old homestead of Peter Z. Smith, who, in 1876 organized the Smith family reunion.

Rev. C. H. von Glahn, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Bernardsville, was the orator of the day.

Abraham Smith, familiarly known as "Uncle Abe," is the oldest member of the family and enjoys robust health.

John Schmidt, the founder of the Smith family, arrived in America from Holland in 1743. Reaching New York he immediately came to New Jersey and settled in Stanton, Hunterdon County, where he remained until his death. He was a farmer. A short time after settling in New Jersey he married Christiana Hassel, a German girl, who lived near his home. Seventeen children—nine boys and eight girls—were the progeny of this marriage.

They were named respectively, Christopher, Martin, John, Andrew, Joseph, Isaac, Peter, Jacob, Zachariah, Charity, Taney, Catharine, Elizabeth, Mary, Rebecca, Sarah and Christina.

All these married, and had children ranging from three to thirteen. The descendants of Rebecca now number somewhat more than 500, while those of Zachariah are about 418. Christopher, who went to New York State, left nearly 300 descendants. Among these was General Isaiah Smith, who had commanded of the Western division of the New York militia, and figured prominently in the War of 1812. All the children of John Schmidt, excepting Christopher and Mary, stayed in New Jersey, and their descendants now number more than 3,000.

Shortly after his arrival in New Jersey John Schmidt adopted the American name of Smith.

SALT WATER DAY.

Colored Folk Enjoy Day's Outing at Boynton Beach.

The annual Salt Water Day for the colored people at Boynton Beach took place yesterday, and four special cars loaded with local colored folk started for that resort shortly after 8 in the morning. The day was spent in the pleasures of the shore, and there were hundreds of colored people there from all over New Jersey enjoying the bathing, fishing, vaudeville and other amusements of the resort.

Young Traveler Returns.

Lucius T. Koons, of Sandford avenue, returned yesterday from an extensive European trip. The young man, accompanied by two New York City friends, has been absent for five weeks, touring through England, France, Spain, Italy, Algiers, Tripoli, Morocco, Gibraltar, Suez and Northern Africa.

Business Improvement.

Robert Gardner, a Watchung avenue tailor, has purchased of F. A. Pope, the property on Watchung avenue and East Fourth street. The new owner will erect a brick building thereon.

RELIANCE LEADS SHAMROCK

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, Aug. 27—Weather conditions for the third of the series of five of the International yacht races, today, were not favorable to a successful go. At 10:45 the wind was blowing a three knot clip. Ten minutes later the preparatory gun was fired. Unless the wind increases the boats will not be able to finish within the time-limit.

11—The firing gun heard and the Reliance crossed the line at 11:02:45. The Shamrock followed at 11:03:47.

11:30—A war from the start. Captain Barr was not able to cross the line before the handicap gun was fired, but he so effectually killed the Englishman's wind that he crossed the line one minute ahead of Shamrock.

11:40—Wind picking up from the Southeast and is now blowing six miles an hour. Reliance gaining steadily. The race will probably be finished in time-limit.

12:03—Reliance leading Shamrock by three minutes. The wind is still blowing at six knots.

12:55—Wind still southward; six to seven knots. More than likely race will be finished in time-limit.

1:01—At 12:50 the yachts were four miles from outer mark. Reliance still increasing her lead.

1:00—The first one and one-quarter hours' sailing gives further proof that with a fair wind and smooth sea the Reliance is superior in every respect.

1:45:10—Boats have rounded mark. Wind 8 knots.

REMOVING THE OBSTRUCTIONS

THE SIGNS AND OTHER OBSTACLES ORDERED FROM SIDEWALK.

Action Taken by Chief Kiely—Clearing Business Section of the City.

The street commissioner and the chief of police have combined forces to accomplish the removal of all advertising signs on the sidewalks of the city streets. Complaints have been made frequently in months past by leading citizens calling attention to the fact that the signs were such as to obstruct free passage along the sidewalks. The matter was taken up by order of Chief Kiely about a week ago and all owners of stores who allowed their sidewalks to be used for advertising purposes had their attention called to the city ordinance which forbids the obstruction of streets or sidewalks by sign boards. Front street, Park avenue and North avenue were cleared of numerous unsightly signs and the improvement in their appearance and the added convenience to pedestrians are considered sufficient proof of the wisdom of the movement.

BAND CONCERT AT RACES

PROGRAMME OF MUSIC FOR PLAINFIELD DRIVING PARK EVENT.

Some of Casey's Selections to be Rendered—Hiawatha Not to be Forgotten.

Benjamin LaVere's band will play through a fine programme at Saturday afternoon's races at the Driving Park. The music will begin half an hour before the first race is called, and the band will play also between the races. The programme of ten selections as given below will be increased by other popular selections if demanded. The personnel of the band will be the same as in the evening concert to follow in the borough. This is the programme:

March, "Victorious America," Keiser; overture, "Bohemian Girl," Balfe; waltz, "Soul of the Rose," Frantzen; vocal solo, selected, Casey, Ernest R. Ball; medley, "Voice of the Hudson," Levesser; sextette from Lucia, Donizetti; "A Trip Through Dixie," James W. Casey; selection, "Sulton of Sulu," Ade; idyll, "Hiawatha," Moret; barn dance, "In Old Alabama," Creger.

Visiting the Dutch.

Councilman Jan vonHerwerden, of South avenue, has returned from a European trip. He spent most of his time visiting relatives in Holland.

—A telephone message was received at police headquarters at 10:30 o'clock last night stating that there was a terrible fight on at Lake street. The woman who sent in the message refused to give her name. Three patrolmen were sent to the spot hot foot, but found no indications of a battle.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet this evening and every member is urged to attend.

MISS JENNIE SHOTT MARRIES SOUTHERNER

Daughter of Scotch Plains Pastor Quietly Married to Henry M. Wharton.

DR. PARKS OFFICIATES

WEDDING A SURPRISE, THE EVENT BEING A QUIET AFFAIR.

Groom a Professor in Florida Institution—Wedding Takes Place in Scotch Plains Parsonage—To Reside in the South.

Miss Jennie Mae Shott, daughter of Rev. Gideon M. Shott, pastor of the Scotch Plains Baptist Church, was quietly married to Henry M. Wharton, of Emporia, Florida, at the parsonage in the former place yesterday morning. The ceremony was performed at 10 o'clock, the officiating minister being Rev. Dr. Parks, pastor-emeritus of the Baptist Church, who was assisted by the father of the bride. Only the immediate family and a few intimate friends were present at the ceremony. Miss Shott was attended by Miss Ethel Priest, of Huguenot, S. I.

Mr. Wharton is a professor in one of Florida's large schools. The bride and groom will reside at Emporia after their honeymoon which they will spend visiting friends at Luray.

The announcement of the marriage was a surprise to Miss Shott's friends, many of whom did not even know of the engagement. The wedding is the culmination of a romance which began when Miss Shott was a pupil at the school of Dr. Wharton in Luray, Virginia. There she met her future husband, who is a nephew of Dr. Wharton. The friendship soon ripened. No formal announcement was made at the time.

When Mr. Wharton came north from Emporia on Tuesday the marriage was arranged for Wednesday morning and the young couple were well on the South before the news had spread beyond the family.

Miss Shott has been an active worker in the church of which her father is pastor ever since she left school and her presence will be missed, especially in the several associations connected with the church. There is much rejoicing in the little village today over the match and the best wishes of the villagers follow the couple on their southern honeymoon.

CEDAR BROOK TENNIS.

F. M. Letson and C. H. Hall Stopped on Account of Darkness.

Match tennis was played in the singles championship tournament at the Cedar Brook Tennis Club yesterday afternoon, three matches being played off and a fourth stopped by darkness.

Harold A. Nomer, scratch, defeated J. Hervey Doane, scratch, 6-2, 6-4 and also won from Fred Pope, handicap 30, 6 4, 6 4. Lewis Wilson, handicap 30 won from Fred Pope 7-5, 6-2. The best tennis of the afternoon, match play between Fred M. Letson and Charles H. Hall was called off on account of darkness after each of the contestants had won a set. The match will be finished this afternoon.

Steel Cells Now.

The new steel cages to be substituted for the present antiquated wooden cells in the city police station will be received, it is expected, by Monday or Tuesday of next week. The institution of the new cells is an improvement of great value, in line with the progress made in other directions in the police equipment during the past few months. The new cells will provide a much-needed change for the better particularly in the matter of cleanliness.

Cedarcroft's First Year.

The prospectus of the fall term of "Cedarcroft," R. M. Huse's school on Park avenue, has made its appearance. Eighteen boys are enrolled for college preparatory work there when school opens on September 16. Mr. Huse plans to erect a gymnasium, for basket ball and indoor games, on the school grounds this fall.

Mrs. Swalm's Funeral.

The funeral services of Mrs. William Swalm will be held from the residence of her son, Albertus Swalm, 913 West Front street, tomorrow morning at 10:15 o'clock. Interment will be at Greenwood.

—Excellent assortment of fresh vegetables at Neuman Brothers' Watchung avenue store. All vegetables which are in season. Dew wet and fresh from the ground.

TWO PLAINFIELDERS DEFEATED

F. O. REINHART AND J. WHITNEY BAKER BEATEN.

Oxford and Cambridge Golfers Show Their Superiority on the Shinnecock Club's Course.

The Oxford and Cambridge teams beat the team of American golfers by 8 points to 3, yesterday afternoon in the International match at the Shinnecock links. It was a complete surprise as the Americans felt confident that they would win with ease. One of the first matches finished was the contest between H. W. Beveridge and F. O. Reinhart, the former establishing a new amateur record of 71 for the links. Reinhart made a 77. J. Whitney Baker was also defeated, his opponent making a score against him of 4 up and 3 to play. Baker turned in an 81.

J. M. C. SMITH LAID AT REST

FUNERAL OF WELL-KNOWN FIREMAN HELD AT LATE HOME.

Exempt Firemen Act as Pallbearers Interment Made in Hillside Cemetery.

Funeral services over the body of James M. C. Smith, who died Tuesday, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence at Green Brook. Rev. N. J. Sproul, of the Presbyterian Church, of Dunellen, conducted the services which were simple and impressive. The pall bearers were members of the Exempt Firemen's Association, Guillermo Thorn, the secretary of the association, V. W. Nash, one of the trustees, W. A. Woodruff, L. E. Barkalew, T. O. Doane, chief of the fire department, and Eugene Laing. Other members present from the association were B. A. Mumford, the president, and Wallace Vail. Many beautiful flowers and set pieces were contributed by friends. The pieces sent by the Exempt Firemen's Association were in the shape of the badge of the organization, one having the form of the crescent and the other of the star. Interment was made at Hillside Cemetery.

Hope's Boat Race.

Fred Breem has taken up his duties again at the fire department headquarters. He has been spending his vacation with the Hope campers at Lake Hopatcong, returning yesterday. He reports that an impromptu boat race between members of Hope camp provided much excitement Tuesday. The competing crews were Kenny, Hoffman and Tillerman and Texier, Banks and Kaleen. The first named crew won out in twenty minutes over a two mile course, the others trailing four minutes behind. The prizes, according to Mr. Breem, were three extra pies at dinner. George McComb was a newcomer at the camp yesterday.

Family Feud.

Edward Eskerson was arraigned before Mayor Jenkins in the city court this morning on a charge of assaulting William McGuiggan yesterday afternoon following the arrest and trial in the morning of Mrs. Maggie McGuiggan for indecent language and general disorderly conduct. Eskerson was dismissed and he and Mr. and Mrs. McGuiggan together with Eskerson's mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary McCann, were given due notice that unless they drop their family feud the result will be the sending of all concerned to the county jail.

Headed by Farmer Jim.

Headed by James E. Martine, the "Farmer Orator," a dozen Democrats left here this morning to take part in the big Democratic outing at Whitestone, Long Island. Democrats from all over the county will meet at Point View Grove and there have a jolly day. The trip will be made from New York and there will be a good sail out the Sound, arriving at the grounds in time for dinner. The return will be made late this afternoon.

For Pastor's Benefit.

A lawn party for the benefit of the Rev. Scott Wallace, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, will be held at the home of Tucker Johnson, of Webster place, at four o'clock. There will be music and singing and an address by Deacon Spencer Conway. Refreshments will be served at 5 o'clock.

Important If True.

It is reported that the Public Service Corporation will supply the local lines with new trolley cars of an improved type, this fall, relegating the old cars to the woods.

COLLEGE OPENING.

Rutgers' Fall Term Commences Next Month—Changes in Faculty.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, Aug. 27 — Dr. Austin Scott, president of Rutgers College, announces that the fall term will begin on Wednesday, September 23, and he expects there will be a big freshman class.

Professor Richard Morris will have a leave of absence of a year to pursue his studies at Cornell University, and his place as instructor in mathematics will be filled by Professor George Wykeham. Robert W. Neal will take the place of Dr. Henry DuBois Mulford, who will study at Harvard for a year.

It is expected that the new college library will be completed this fall and it will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies.

Small Blaze.

This morning's fire was off Front street, near Grant avenue, in a building occupied by Maybury, a sewer contractor. There were several bales of hay and straw in the building and sewer pipes and other matter stored in it. It is thought that the fire resulted from boys and matches. The damage will amount to about $100. The building was owned by Bernard Brady, of Central avenue.

Choristers' Outing.

Father Miller and the entire choir of St. Joseph's Church spent yesterday at Glen Island. This is the first of outings for the choir and all enjoyed the delightful sail out and the dinner on the island. A return was made late in the afternoon.

Unconfirmed Rumor.

A rumor that Jacob Kleiner, a former marshal of the North Plainfield police department, had committed suicide by hanging himself in Pennsylvania, was widely circulated this morning. All efforts to verify the statement failed.

Mercy Shown.

Harry Wagner, of Warrenville, was found helplessly drunk on Somerset street, Tuesday night, and was given a hearing before Recorder Doud last evening. He pleaded guilty and, as it was his first offense, sentence was suspended.

Plainfield's Representation.

The Union County Republican Committee has allotted Plainfield nineteen delegates in its apportionment for the convention to be held on September 10. Elizabeth will have forty-eight delegates.

Sudden Departure.

John Quint, assistant to C. T. Anthony, a barber of Watchung avenue, left town suddenly this morning, it is alleged, leaving debts unpaid.

—Rev. Scott Wallace, of the Calvary Baptist Church, leaves tomorrow for a week's outing at Boston, Mass.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

You never need worry about your baggage when you place it in charge of Hoagland, the Park avenue expressman.

Carpentering and jobbing carefully attended to by Herman Hansen, the Regent street carpenter and builder. Estimates furnished.

Stanley, the North avenue florist, has a big supply of cut flowers, potted plants, ornamental shrubbery, palms and ferns always on hand.

I. N. Wyckoff, the painter of West Front street, will cheerfully estimate on all kinds of painting, papering and decorating and he guarantees all work.

Plainfield is noted for the beauty of its residences. Much of the credit for this belongs to the Belleview Nursery Company that supplies the shrubbery, trees and flowers.

When you buy your first fish at the Rogers' Seafood Market you wonder why you haven't always traded there. Try some of Rogers' soft shelled crabs if you want to experience true gustatory joy.

For the most select and beautiful laces go to Peck's on West Front street. He has goods that for excellence of quality cannot be duplicated in Plainfield and at few, if any stores in New York City.

Powers' Somerset street pharmacy is the place where you can always have a prescription compounded with care by skillful workmen. Don't run any chances on having prescriptions compounded. A careless clerk may cost a life.

Wm. Hand & Son, of East Second street, have an established reputation for doing first-class work in moving household furniture, safes, pianos or in fact anything. The firm has had years of experience and you can trust them with your work.

Tier's confectionery and ice cream has been known in town here for years as the best. When you want good candy and good ice cream it will pay you to leave the order with Tier at his Park avenue confectionery store. Branch store on Bank place.

For the best quality of hardware one cannot go astray in trading with A. M. Griffen, of East Front street. His stock is one of the largest in this part of the State and you will surely get full value. Mr. Griffen keeps everything in the hardware line and he also does first-class plumbing and tinning.

During the closing days of August the people of Plainfield and vicinity will have an exceptional opportunity to get furniture bargains at Woodhull & Martin's store, besides every department is offering big values in summer goods. Preparations are gradually being made for the reception of fall and winter goods and the bargains now offered are every one a money-saver. This firm has one of the best carpet departments in the State and contracts are made for making and laying. A fine assortment of window shades, lace curtains are kept in stock and awnings are made and put up.

PERSONAL.

Miss Mary A. Brown, of Washington avenue, has returned home from Bristol, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs Randolph Marsh, Jr., of Plainfield avenue, are spending the week at Asbury Park.

LIPTON SMILES.

Well Pleased With Shamrock III. as a Flier.

HIGHLANDS, N. J., Aug. 27.—"I center my hope in today's race. While there's life in the patient there's hope and the patient give a very lively kick in the second race."

This is the way Sir Thomas Lipton, smiling and as game as ever, expressed himself aboard the Erin. His buoyancy, his persistent confidence in the ability of Shamrock III. to yet lift the cup or, failing, that she would take one and perhaps two races of the series, is unshaken.

Colonel Duncan Neill, declared to be the best amateur yachtsman on the Clyde, stood on deck beside Sir Thomas as he spoke and when he had finished said:

"Watch Shamrock III. in this race. She will be first at the weather mark."

"I can't understand the loss of those nineteen seconds at the start," said Sir Thomas Lipton. "Of course I might as well have been beaten by fifty miles as by a short distance, but I am gratified that Shamrock III. did so beautifully."

The baronet said he would go to Chicago after the completion of the series and that he might, though he was not certain, visit Boston.

He said that he had a great desire to visit the Athens of America and that President Adams of the Boston board of trade had extended him a cordial invitation, which he would accept if possible.

Captain and Crew Perish.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Aug. 27.—Schooner Willie L. Newton, hailing from Bangor, Me., capsized off Norwalk light during a storm and the crew, believed to number seven men, were drowned. Field S. Pendleton and W. S. Pendleton, Jr., of the firm of Pendleton Bros. of New York, owners of the schooner Willie W. Newton, arrived here and identified the body which floated out of the cabin of the capsized vessel as that of Captain Edward Coombs of North Islesboro, Me. The Pendletons visited the wreck in Wilsons cove and will make an effort to raise the vessel and have her towed to New York for repairs. Captain Minot of the tug Patience, who picked up the schooner, will remain by her. No bodies have been recovered except that of the captain.

General Oliver Retires.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 27.—In an order issued by Adjutant General Henry General Oliver is upon his own request placed upon the retired list. The order says: "The retirement of General Oliver is ordered with great regret, as the national guard of New York thereby loses the services of one of its most valued and superior commanding officers, whose genial personality, soldierly qualifications and undeniable ability have not only been appreciated by his state, but also have been recognized by the United States government in appointing him to the high and honorable position of assistant secretary of war."

Yacht Race Visitor's Body Found.

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa., Aug. 27.—William Keyes, son of Thomas Keyes of this place, went to New York last week with, it is said, $2,800 in his possession to bet on the yacht race. Word was received here that his body was found in the river at New York and that no money was found on his person.

Fear Catharina Has Been Wrecked.

PORT TOWNSHEND, Wash., Aug. 27.—Shipping men at this port fear that wreckage found on the Queen Charlotte islands, including a boat marked "Catharin—," is from the Norwegian bark Catharina, which sailed from here June 2, from Tacoma for Delagoa Bay.

Sweet Gretchen Won Adirondack.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The track was still heavy. Sweet Gretchen won the Adirondack stakes of $5,000 by half a length from Leonidas, William C. Whitney's entry, chiefly owing to the clever work of Jockey Fuller. Gold Saint got away in front, with Crown Prince and Greenerest close up. Leonidas soon took the lead, however, and was not passed until well into the home stretch, where Sweet Gretchen came up on the outside. Leonidas, the favorite, was second by a length from Gold Saint. Fuller rode a beautiful race in the last event, carrying his mount, Bob Hilliard, all around the bunch from seventh position at the quarter and winning by a head from Mabel Richardson. Tankard always had the steeplechase well in hand, Step Lightly failing to fence well. Hicks also performed well in the fourth race on Reservation, the Canadian horse, winning in a drive by half a length.

English Golfers Won International.

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The Oxford and Cambridge golfers played grand golf over the Shinnecock links and won the international team match in a dashing manner by 8 points to 3, winning five of the individual matches and losing but three. The team match was preceded in the morning by an eighteen hole medal play scratch competition for a cup presented by R. H. Williams, on which depended the selection of members of the team in the match with the English players. In this competition Walter J. Travis and F. J. G. Alsop tied at 74, Ellis leading the Englishmen with 76. A new amateur record for the course of 71 was made by H. W. Beveridge and equaled by Walter J. Travis. This is the greatest golf that has ever been seen upon the course.

Glassful Won as He Pleased.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Glassful won the mile handicap at Hawthorne as he pleased, having three lengths to spare over Henry Bert. Dutch Carter, the extreme outsider, was third. The latter led all the way to the final eighth pole, where Glassful ran over his field and came home alone. Henry Bert had to be hard ridden to get the place by a neck from Dutch Carter. Buccaneer, a heavily played second choice in the first race, in which he finished second, was disqualified by the judges for fouling, and the place went to Banwell, with Salto third.

Doherty Wins Again.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 27.—In the final of the national tennis matches here to determine who is to meet W. A. Larned for the title of American champion H. L. Doherty defeated W. J. Clothier 6—3, 6—2, 6—3.

Kindred Won at Kinloch Park.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27.—Kindred won the feature at Kinloch park over a muddy track. Miss Golightly was second and Frank Bell third. All three horses finished heads apart.

Farmer Killed by Lightning.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 27.—During the severe storm which prevailed over this section during the night Thomas Blink, a farmer, aged sixty-four years, living at Hillside, near Staatsburg, Dutchess county, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. He was in an outbuilding when a bolt of lightning struck a tree near by. It jumped from the tree to the building, passed through the roof and killed Blink. He leaves a widow and one son.

PORTLAND STORMED

Kearsarge, Illinois and Alabama Enter the Harbor.

NOISE AS OF A GREAT NAVAL BATTLE

When the Historic Hartford Came In Cleared For Action the Fire of Batteries Was Withheld in Honor of Grand Old Ship.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 27.—Amid the tumult of continuous cannon fire the battle ships Kearsarge, Illinois and Alabama entered this port, having stormed the main entrance to the harbor.

When the scouts of the hostile fleet were discovered by the pickets of the army on shore and the battle ships came up the channel Portland was treated to an experience very much like actual war.

For a time the firing was as violent as that of a great naval fight. The action ceased suddenly, and the Olympia and Baltimore came to anchor just off Cow island, in the direction of Little Cheboague; the Newport got farther in back of Great Diamond and well off Indian cove, the Vixen was anchored near at hand, only a little farther in toward the city, and the two torpedo boat destroyers took positions almost under Fort George. Later the Kearsarge, Illinois and Alabama anchored not far from Fort George, and for a time hostilities were suspended.

The attacking fleet, with the exception of one converted cruiser, is lying at anchor off Long island. This cruiser left the fleet and steamed up the harbor a short distance, possibly looking for cables attached to mines. She fired several rounds and was answered by Fort McKinley. She anchored off Little Johns island.

Several of the fleet were observed off Whale Boat island in upper Harpswell bay, evidently trying to land parties.

As the last of the modern ships of war were passing the forts the historic Hartford came into the harbor cleared for action. Colonel Mills ordered his batteries to withhold their fire in honor of the record of the grand old ship, and she continued on her course unmolested.

A fleet of seven torpedo boats was made out on the horizon moving slowly in an easterly direction. It is believed they were joining the battle ships which participated in the attack. Whether it is this apparent concentration of the fleet or other information which led the officers here to believe some sort of hostilities would occur is not known, but active preparations in anticipation of something are in full progress.

The two gunboats off the town landing at Falmouth Foreside, three miles from the harbor, were fired upon from Fort McKinley while sending ashore landing parties.

Three torpedo boat destroyers are reported to have passed Forts Williams and Leavitt and attempted to countermine the harbor. They were fired upon by Fort Preble.

Court Acquitted de Wyckoff.

HAVANA, Aug. 27.—The criminal court has acquitted Joseph de Wyckoff, an American lawyer, of the charge of misappropriating $10,000 sent to him by Colonel Michael J. Dady of Brooklyn for the purpose of securing an option on the aqueduct at Cienfuegos. The purchase was not consummated, and De Wyckoff did not return the money. The contention of the defense was that the power of attorney given by Colonel Dady to De Wyckoff was not special, but general; that Colonel Dady owed De Wyckoff more than $10,000 and that De Wyckoff was justified in applying the money to that account. The court agreed that De Wyckoff's business relations with Colonel Dady justified his applying the money to other purposes than the purchase of the aqueduct.

Stole $20,000 In Gold Dust.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 27.—Four masked men held up the watchman of the Featherstonhaugh mines at Atlin, Alaska, and stole nearly $20,000 worth of gold dust which had been collected in the sluices during the day. Twenty workmen had just gone to supper, leaving the watchman in charge. He was caught from behind, pinioned and gagged. In twenty minutes the robbers had their booty and escaped.

Powder Works Explosion.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Aug. 27.—The Independent Powder company, situated four miles southwest of Carthage on Center creek, had an explosion in the mixing room which killed three persons and injured three others, one fatally. The dead are: W. O. Roll, superintendent; Ernest Pearman, Jerry Haworth, all of Carthage. Thirty workmen escaped injury.

Possessor of Valuable Secret Dead.

M'KEESPORT, Pa., Aug. 27.—Charles Price died late Tuesday night at his home of pneumonia. He was forty-two years old and with his brother, William, had the sole control of the secret iron refining processes used by the National Tube company.

Reservists Disobey Orders.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—According to a dispatch from Belgrade, Servia, many of the soldiers belonging to the reserves called out by Turkey are refusing to join the colors, as the troops in the field have not received any pay for months.

Mark Hanna Is Better.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 27.—The condition of Senator Hanna, who was taken ill in his office, is much improved. The attending physician [illegible] the belief that the senator will be able to be out today.

URGE GREAT POWERS

Macedonians at Sofia Ask Europe's Aid.

TO STOP THE TURKISH CRUELTIES

Bulgarians Are Called Upon to Help Their Brethern Across the Border. Want a Christian Governor to Insure Peace and Security.

SOFIA, Aug. 27.—At an immense mass meeting of Macedonians held here it was resolved that a memorandum should be presented to the representatives of the great powers, urging their governments to take action.

The recent visit of the Russian squadron to Turkish waters was much commented upon at the meeting. It was described as "a movement of sunshine which quickly passed." The speakers impassionedly appealed for the immediate intervention of the powers in Macedonia, declaring that if the pouring out of blood in Macedonia continued another fortnight Europe would find nobody there to save. The Bulgarian ministers were urged not to stand by while their brethren were dying in Macedonia.

The gathering was the largest ever held in Sofia. Most of the shops were closed during the meeting as a mark of sympathy with its object.

Resolutions were adopted thanking the publicists who have defended the cause of the Macedonians, regretting the hesitation on the part of Europe to take steps to ameliorate the lot of the Christians in Turkey, demanding the appointment of a powerful Christian governor who would insure security for the country and inviting all Bulgarians to aid in securing the triumph of the work already begun.

The telegraph wires have been cut between Salonika and Vardar, twelve miles southwest of the former city.

The Macedonian committee has issued a black bordered list of seventy villages which have been pillaged and destroyed in the vilayet of Monastir, to which are added instances of the revolting outrages perpetrated on women. The publication of this sheet has created a sensation.

The revolutionists at Kischevo are reported to have six quick firing guns. In a fight which has just occurred in that district the insurgents defeated and slaughtered an entire detachment of eighty soldiers.

A Turkish courier carrying 40,000 francs intended for the pay of the troops has been captured by insurgents near Surovitchovo. The rebels have blown up an iron bridge over a deep ravine on the high road between Losengrad and Demirdgehand.

The sultan's government has decided to call to the colors all the remaining European reserves belonging to the Second and Third army corps and a number of other reserves, which will bring to total of the Turkish soldiers in Macedonia up to 350 battalions. This is almost double the force utilized in the Turco-Greek war.

The enrollment of such large bodies of troops indicates the seriousness with which Turkey views the situation and her determination to use all the means at her disposal to repress the rebellion. Ibrahim Pasha, a young and capable officer, has been appointed to command the troops operating in Macedonia.

Riddick's Body Found In River.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., Aug. 27.—A launch party has arrived at Hertford bringing with them the body of G. Wallace Riddick, which was found in the North river near this place. Riddick left his home at Hertford a week ago to join a house party at Nags' Head, N. C., and was last seen a few minutes prior to the departure of the steamer from Elizabeth City. When he left home he had $125 on his person, although but $6 was in his pockets when his body was found. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict of accidental drowning, but it is thought by many that he was robbed and thrown overboard.

Strikers Take Unusual Action.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—The strikers who have been out of the W. & A. Fletcher machine shops in Hoboken for fourteen weeks have taken an unusual step in retaliation against the concern in filing an application in the court of chancery for an injunction against the Fletchers and the police for the purpose of restraining them from interfering with what the strikers call their legal rights in the stationing of pickets and the privileges of these pickets while on duty.

Revenue Cutter's Long Voyage.

BUFFALO, Aug. 27.—The revenue cutter Fessenden, which has been doing duty on the great lakes, is at this port being dismantled preparatory to a trip to the Atlantic ocean. She is a side wheeler and is fifty-two feet beam. Inasmuch as the locks of the Welland canal are only forty-five feet wide, it became necessary to remove the port wheel. The Fessenden has been ordered to Tampa, Fla., and is expected to reach Montreal in six days.

Veteran Died From Rat Bite.

CAMBRIA, Wis., Aug. 27.—David G. Williams, aged sixty-three years, who was bitten by a rat two weeks ago, has died from blood poisoning as a result of the bite. Mr. Williams was a member of the lower house of the last legislature. He served in the civil war.

Sam Parks' Sentence.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Samuel J. Parks, the walking delegate of the Housesmiths' union who was convicted of extortion, has been sentenced to state prison for a term not less than two years and six months and not more than three years and six months.

MARKET LETTER ON APPLICATION.

NOMINATED JOHNSON

Democratic State Convention at Columbus Unanimous.

ZIMMERMAN'S NAME NOT PRESENTED

Meeting Was With Johnson on State Issues as With Bryan on National Questions—J. H. Clarke Made Masterly Speeches.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 27.—The Johnson programme was carried out completely in the Democratic state convention here. Although the opposition obstructed the proceedings with minority reports for some hours, the name of John L. Zimmerman of Springfield was not presented for the gubernatorial nomination, and every nomination on the state ticket, including Mayor Tom L. Johnson for governor, was made by acclamation. Even after the chair announced that the name of Mayor Johnson was the only one before the convention for governor there were some dissenting Zimmerman votes on the motion to make the nomination unanimous, but the Zimmerman supporters subsided after the selections for governor and senator were made.

The following ticket was nominated: Governor, Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland; lieutenant governor, Frank B. Niles of Toledo; attorney general, Frank S. Monnett of Columbus; state treasurer, V. J. Dahl of Washington Courthouse; auditor, Charles A. Kloeb of Wapakoneta; commissioner of schools, J. H. Secrist of Ottawa; member board of public works, W. B. Jones of Ironton; supreme judge, E. J. Dempsey of Cincinnati. John H. Clarke of Cleveland was indorsed for United States senator.

The opposition by various obstruction movements kept the convention in continuous session for about seven hours. While minority reports were presented from the committees, the only fight that worried the Johnson managers was on the senatorship. The only ballots forced on the dominant element were in that contest. The minority report on rules and order of business, which was intended to omit the indorsement of a senatorial candidate, was defeated by a vote of 211 yeas to 448 nays, which was considered a test vote between Johnson and Zimmerman, after all the contested seats had been decided in favor of the former.

On naming the candidate for senator the Johnson supporters were divided among themselves. Mayor Johnson and former Congressman John J. Lentz have been very close personally and politically for years, but a most intensely bitter feeling existed between them in the convention, at least on the part of Lentz, who openly accused Johnson with favoring for senator a man who had voted against Bryan.

John H. Clarke, who will canvass the state with Mayor Johnson and other prominent Democrats, has been a leading attorney at Youngstown for many years, but now he is located in Cleveland, which city has four prominent candidates, the Republican as well as the Democratic candidates for senator and governor.

Next to the commanding presence of Johnson was the part of Clarke in the convention. He made two masterly speeches, one presenting the name of Johnson and the other in accepting the senatorial nomination. Mr. Clarke intimated that he would ask Senator Hanna for joint debates during the campaign.

With the single exception of senatorial indorsement the Johnson men controlled the convention as fully as the district and committee meetings of the day previous. The convention was as distinctly with Bryan on national as with Johnson on state issues. The supporters of both Temporary Chairman Saltzgaber and Permanent Chairman Goeke insisted that if the Democratic party is to change its policy to suit the times the change "must be made by the friends of the party and not by its enemies."

The result of the convention leaves the state committee eighteen to three in the hands of the Bryan-Johnson element for next year, when delegates to the Democratic national convention are to be selected.

Honors For General Miles.

THE WEIRS, N. H., Aug. 27.—General Nelson A. Miles, who came as the guest of the New Hampshire Veterans' association, has arrived from California. He was received with a salute of seventeen guns and escorted to the soldiers' pavilion for dinner by the survivors of the Fifth regiment, N. H. V.; officers of the Veterans' association and invited guests under command of Edward L. Bailey, formerly of the Second regiment, N. H. V. General Miles spoke at a camp fire of the association.

Zionists Will Visit Africa.

BASEL, Switzerland, Aug. 27.—The debate in the Zionist congress on the British proposal to set apart a portion of British East Africa for colonization by the Jews closed. The congress by 223 votes to 177 adopted a resolution to appoint a committee of nine who should be sent on an expedition to East Africa to investigate the situation. The Russian delegates opposed the project and left the hall as a protest.

Albert E. Sivyer's Body Found.

NANTUCKET, Mass., Aug. 27.—The body of Albert E. Sivyer, the seventeen-year-old son of F. W. Sivyer of Milwaukee, who was drowned by the capsizing of a sailboat last Saturday, was found on the north shore of Coatue by Charles Stackpole, a Nantucket fisherman. A reward of $500 offered for the body will be paid to Mr. Stackpole.

Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 27, 1903.

The Daily Press has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield.—Printer's Ink.

Well, the Englishman can play golf if they can't win yacht races.

After all is it not the man at the wheel and not the boat that counts?

The Zimmerma wing of the Democratic party in Ohio seem to think that there is too much Johnson out there.

The new Pope displays such a democratic spirit that one would be led to believe that he was reared in this country.

The Smith family can never be accused of race suicide. There were 4,000 Smiths at the reunion at Peapack yesterday.

"The best boat won," was the comment of Sir Thomas Lipton after the second race. That's the spirit of the true sportsman.

Edison believes that he has discovered a cure for cancer. It might bring relief to the country if he would experiment first of all on Ben Tillman.

Modern advertising sets the pace for the commercial growth of the world. It is a recognized factor in business—a trade necessity of unprecedeeted importance.—Printers' Ink.

There are three degrees of intoxication according to Judge Wheeler, of the United States Circuit Court. We hope his honor did not base his judicial opinion on personal experience.

The authorities at Long Branch have the right idea and are enforcing it. No quarter is shown Italian organ grinders at that place. It is a lazy way to earn a living and the music is generally a murder of popular airs.

The New York Sun in drawing attention to a new order in the Federal Government's printers at Washington says: "They are required to take the regular oath of office, which puts the Constitution of the United States above union labor rules." How remarkable! Is it any wonder that some of its contemporaries believe the Sun is afflicted with assinity?

Complaints have been frequent of late regarding the "wide open" condition of Galvin's Park on Sundays. There seems to be little or no difference at that resort between Sunday and a week day. Why should this condition be allowed, when storekeepers are punished to conducting their business on more than six days out of every seven? That the state of affairs existing at the park on Sunday is a desecration of that day we believe no one will deny. Why tolerate it? It is up to the authorities to suppress this evil.

Death of Little Fellow.

Little James Seam, the two-months-old son of Henry Seam, of Watchung, died yesterday at the Baby Camp on Johnston's drive. The little fellow had been sickly from birth and his life merely wasted away. The funeral will be held from the home tomorrow afternoon and the interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Patrolman F. S. McCarthy, of West Second street, has returned from his vacation at Asbury Park.

—George F. Randall has been appointed general superintendent of the B. and O. Railroad, with offices at the foot of Whitehall street, New York.

—The market opened for Glenwood oysters this morning at Jerry Foss' market on Park avenue. These oysters come from Shinnecock Bay and are the best flavored bivalves on the market.

—Frank Hedden, of Central avenue, has decided to prolong his vacation for the remainder of the week at least. He has left Tom's River and is now visiting his wife's father in Annandale.

—Henry Leifke, of West Front street, has had several chickens killed by dogs, recently, and if the practice continues he says there will no doubt be a number of dead dogs in his vicinity.

—T. H. Leary & Co., members of the New York Consolidated Stock Exchange, one of whose ten branch offices is located in the Babcock building here, have issued a circular on the Rock Island stock as a security.

—Olaf Saugstad, of this city, superintendent of the Boys' Club, finds much real enjoyment these days in running an automobile of a special make. The machine is capable of running a forty mile clip an hour and, it is said, that it holds the record for speed in this vicinity.

—An invention, said to be an improvement upon the air brakes now in use, is so connected with the air brakes that, when the front wheels of a locomotive pass over a danger signal placed upon the tracks, it will automatically put on the brakes, at the same time opening the whistle valve.

Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

The New Jersey Central will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk on Sunday, Aug. 30, 1903. Round trip $1.50; child, 75 cents, from Plainfield at 9:22 a. m. Mauch Chunk is one of the most charming mountain resorts in this section. The trip over the gravity railroad to Summit and Mt. Pisgah is one of scenic grandeur and a trip that will never be forgotten. After the trip over the Switch-back you should go to Glen Onoko where you will find beautiful litle cascades, caverns and like attractions. 8 25 td

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

Edward O'Donnel, an employe of Levering & Garrigues' Iron Works, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon while at work which, it is feared, with cost him the sight of his right eye. He was working at a lathe when a piece of steel flew up and buried itself in the pupil of his eye. As soon as the serious nature of the injury was discovered he was at once taken to Muhlenberg Hospital. The physicians there confessed their inability to do anything for him, and he was removed to New York last evening. It is feared he will loose the sight of the eye. Mr. O'Donnel's home is at Phillipsburg and he had been working in the shop but a short time.

A car on one of the heavily loaded east bound coal trains proved to be unable to stand the tremendous strain and torn nearly in two while passing through the borough Tuesday night. The disabled car was placed on the siding at Rock avenue and was later removed to Elizabethport by the wreck train.

The order issued by the Borough Council for flag sidewalks is being ignored by a number of the property holders concerned, and although the time allowed has almost expired they are making no move to comply with the ordinance. This will necessitate the borough putting them down for them.

An attempt is being made to arrange a series of three games of baseball between the Watchungs and the Y. M. A., of New Market. Both of these clubs claim to have the better team and a series is about the only way left to decide the question of supremacy.

The Western Union Telegraph Co. is erecting new poles and stringing wires through the borough and John Rhinehart has been transferred from brakeman on the drill engine to conductor of the hand-car for the linemen.

Robert Lowrie and Charles Lake attended an auction sale of horses at Stelton on Monday afternoon and the latter purchased a trotter of considerable fame.

The supply of dwellings in the borough is entirely inadequate for the demand. Fifty ordinary houses could be rented without any trouble.

The residence of Mrs. Fanny Humpston, on Grove street, is being improved by a coat of paint.

Abner Corriel and Percy Abbott are spending the week at Asbury Park.

Work is progressing rapidly on the Carman house on Prospect avenue.

Frank Smalley is a spectator at the International yacht race today.

Fred Vail left today for a week's visit with friends in Newark.

NEW MARKET.

As a result of the excellent weather we have had for the pas two months the farming products have turned out much better than was expected. The long drought of early spring evidently did very little damage.

The members of the Fishing Club held a meeting in Harricane Hall Tuesday evening and decided to take an outing on Labor Day. Just where they will cast their lines has not been decided.

Miss Marjorie Burk, who wrenched her knee some weeks ago, has entirely recovered and is able to be about again.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The local ball team has fell off in batting during the last three games. Manager Johnston has some who are capable of hitting the sphere, but their eye has been bad. A little brushing up would do no hurt. Those who are weak with the strick should work the bunt hits oftener. When Westfield found they could not line them out against Davis last Saturday they started bunting the ball, the result was three men were on bases before the side was retired.

Rev. G. M. Shott, who occupied the pulpit of the Emanuel Baptist Church, of Cleveland, on Sunday, returned home on Tuesday. While there Mr. Shott was extended an unanimous call to accept the pastorate of the church. Mr. Shott has the call under consideration, but will probably refuse as his associations with his people are most pleasant and a severance of these ties would be painful to both pastor and people.

Saturday's game with the St. Mary's should be an interesting game. The Saints are playing a fast article of ball and the locals are putting up a regular league article, so the fans can rest assured the contest will be a pretty one.

A number of complaints have been made during the summer to the Board of Health about the stench arising from pig-pens in the village. There is an ordinance against such things and it should be enforced.

Conrad Peltz, who has been conducting a barber shop in the postoffice building for several months, has rented the shop in the Cook building, recently occupied by Adolph Fleischer.

Mrs. Deals, of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, will address the Sunday evening meeting at the Methodist Church. A collection will be taken for the benefit of the Camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas MacCready, of New York, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Charles Sykes, of East Front street.

Miss Egan, of Plainfield, has been engaged to fill the vacancy in the corps of teachers of the public school.

John Alberts has purchased a new rubber tired surry to meet the increasing demands of his business.

Robert Walpole spent Wednesday angling for the elusive bass at the Passaic River.

Miss Mary Westcott is spending a week with friends at Bridgeton, this State.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., meets in weekly session tonight.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Henry Teeple and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Major, have returned from Pennsylvania, where they spent two weeks.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley has returned from Hamilton Square, where he filled the Baptist pulpit last Sunday.

Rev. J. A. Cubberley attended the funeral of the late Dr. Sarles, of Stelton, this afternoon.

ENGINEER ATEN'S RECORD

MADE YEARS AGO ON THE JERSEY CENTRAL TRACKS.

Aten Well-Known in This City—Story Recalled by Railroad Employee.

"Apropos of the great expense assumed by the New Jersey Central for improvements, new motive power, track beds, signals, during the past two years," says The Railroad Employe, "the question of speed has not been overlooked. As with other lines the clipping of a minute or so from a fast schedule run means much to the travelling public in this fast age. * * * * The Central has ever kept pace with its competitors in the matter of speed, and enjoys many enviable records, not only of recent date, but back in the early seventies and eighties, made by men who are still in the service and who could if necessary break a record today, as easily as they did in times gone by.

"A record run was made from Jersey City to Somerville, a distance of thirty-six miles in 38 minutes, by Engineer William C. Aten, with engine 169, attached to two special cars, the occasion being a visit of President Chester A. Arthur to Secretary of State, Hon. Fred'k T. Frelinghuysen, at his country home between Somerville and Raritan. Still better time was made the following day on the return trip when the distance was covered in 32½ minutes. The fastest time was made in forty-two seconds, between Dunellen and Westfield."

DECORATING CHURCH EDIFICE

INTERIOR OF FIRST M. E. STRUCTURE BEING GREATLY IMPROVED.

Work to be Completed by September 5—General Description of the Improvement.

The improvements planned at the First M. E. Church are now well under way and Wooiston & Buckle, of North avenue, who have the contract for painting and re-decorating the interior of the edifice, are making much progress. The contract specifies that they shall complete the job by September 5.

The entire general appearance of the interior will be changed. The ceiling is of a light salmon color, while the side walls are finished in a rich terra cotta color, with an attractive of a fleur-de-lis pattern. At the top extending around the entire room is a scroll pattern and at the bottom there will be a broad eight inch stripe of a maroon shade. Around the windows there will be a scroll stencil.

The decorations around the organ loft are especially attractive. On either side there will be scroll work in imitation of windows and there will also be scroll work around the alcove. The gallery ceiling will be a deep red terra cotta and the same color will be used in front of the gallery with a fleur-de-lis pattern. All the decorations are of the warm sunny colors and around the three centre pieces there will be a three-foot scroll of a sienna shade. The organ pipes are also to be redecorated.

—The Misses Wilcox, of Woodhull & Martin's store, will return this week from their annual vacation.

—A large gang of laborers are busy in this city repairing the eastbound railroad tracks on the New Jersey Central and improving the ballast.

—Bartlett pears at Neuman Brothers, tomorrow morning. One hundred baskets of choice fruit. On sale the first thing in the morning.

PROPOSALS
For Macadamizing.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Common Council at the Council Chamber, No. 149 North avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at 8 o'clock p. m., on Monday, the 24th day of August, 1903, for doing the work and furnishing the materials for the macadamizing contemplated in the following ordinance, entitled: "An ordinance for the permanent improvement of certain streets and portions of streets of the City of Plainfield with permanent and durable macadam pavement, and to provide the necessary funds in advance of the collection of assessments for benefits"; adopted by the Common Council and approved by the Mayor July 8, 1903, and as provided for in the specifications on file in the office of the Street Commissioner.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals the Common Council will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents thereof in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided said parties or agents choose to be then and there present, and also make proper record of said prices and terms.

The right to reject any or all bids is expressly reserved by the Common Council.

A separate price must be named for each street and proposals must be endorsed "Proposals for Macadamizing."

Dated August 3, 1903.

VOLCANO OPENED.

Vesuvius Belches Forth Lava, Making a Grand Display.

NAPLES, Aug. 27.—The people of Naples and its environs witnessed a remarkable spectacle when 1,000 feet below the central cone of Vesuvius the volcano opened like a huge mouth, out of which belched a fiery stream of lava which ran down the side of the mountain and at first seemed to menace the observatory. This building, however, is protected in the direction of the stream by a mound of lava 200 feet high which was thrown out during the eruptions of 1895 and 1900.

The eruption occurred without any warning whatever. There was no earthquake, detonation or rain of ashes, nothing but a clear stream of lava and red hot stones, which were thrown to a height of 700 feet, producing an extremely beautiful effect as seen from Naples. The stream of lava, which is fifteen feet broad, flowed like a river for a distance of 2,700 feet. It deviated later from the direction of the observatory, which is no longer menaced. The only danger is for the new electric tramway up the volcano, which, however, has thus far not been touched.

The spectators far enough away not to be frightened stood entranced at the spectacle, but those nearer to the volcano were seized by panic when the eruption began and rushed down from the sides of the mountain and from the adjacent country to the villages of Portici and Resina, which is built over the ruins of Herculaneum. The alarm in these villages was somewhat quieted by the mayors affixing notices declaring that there was no danger and exhorting the people to remain calm.

The chief of police of Naples has gone personally to make a tour of the villages around Vesuvius in order to reassure the peasants and superintend any measures of protection which may be deemed necessary. The superstitious lower classes are agitating for the expulsion of Professor Krull of Munich, who predicted the eruption, declaring that he has the "evil eye."

Orrin J. Towne, Jr., Arrested.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—Orrin J. Towne, Jr., a former deputy collector of internal revenue for the Eastern district of Massachusetts, was arrested here by government officers, charged with the defalcation of several thousand dollars. He will be taken to Boston. The government officers have been searching all over the country for Towne since last February, when he was dismissed from the service for cause. After his discharge the shortage was discovered. His bondsmen covered $3,000 into the treasury, the amount for which they stood liable. Towne had been engaged in the brokerage business in this city for several months.

To Extradite a Deserter.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Provincial Detective Murray of Toronto made an application to the military authorities at Plattsburg barracks to have George H. Stewart, alias Curtis, alias Gudley, turned over to him for extradition to Canada to answer a charge of swindling immigrants just arriving in that country. Murray chased Stewart several hundred miles through New England, finally arresting him in Troy and turning him over to the military authorities as a deserter from the Ninth infantry. Stewart was to have been married to a Plattsburg woman whom he met while in the army.

Cloudburst Caused Great Loss.

FRANKFORT, Kan., Aug. 27.—The damage to farms in Nemaha and Marshall counties by the cloudburst is greater than at first estimated and now is placed at $500,000. Great quantities of hay, wheat and oats in stack, besides wheat and corn in bins, were swept away, while many farmers lost all their cattle and hogs, according to reports brought in from the flooded district. Business in Frankfort is at a standstill. Dozens of bridges are out, and wire communication with most of the flooded points is still interrupted. The Vermilion river has fallen ten feet in the past twenty-four hours.

Murder Suspected at Boston.

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—The police here are investigating the circumstances under which death came to Charles Anderson, who was reported burned to death in his rooms. The relatives of the dead man claim that $1,000 kept in a strong box is missing as well as considerable clothing. It is suspected by the relatives that the man was drugged and robbed and that the fire was set to hide the crime. The body was so badly burned that all indications of an assault had been obliterated.

Cruiser Released From Custody.

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 27.—The United States district attorney has received instructions from the solicitor of the treasury to have released from custody the United States cruiser Chattanooga at the Crescent shipyards at Elizabethport. The sheriff seized the cruiser under writs of attachment issued by the supreme court.

A Long Strike Ended.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 27.—Word was received from Assistant President John Pierce that the long strike at the Ashland (Ky.) sheet mills had been amicably settled. The strike was declared Feb. 6 last. Nearly 300 men are affected by the settlement. The cause of the strike was a disagreement over the wage scale.

Coal Fell, Killing Two Miners.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Aug. 27.—An immense fall of top coal took place in a colliery of the Delaware and Hudson Coal company in Plymouth, instantly killing two miners. Many tons of coal, sand and rock fell upon them, mangling their bodies in a most horrible manner.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad
Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

NEW SUITS FOR FALL.

Costumes That Will Be In Vogue This Autumn—Some Bargains.

Every year at the end of summer the stores endeavor to sell off all the warm weather goods left on hand and thus it is possible for the farseeing woman to get her dress material and many kinds of standard trimmings for less than half what they would cost at the beginning of the season. We shall probably have many more warm days this year, but the object should be to get good standard qualities of such things as do not change from one season to another.

I recently saw silk foulard, taffeta, organdie, pongee, veiling and any amount of white suits, all made, and prettily made, too, but as they were not sold at the first onrush they are now offered for actually less than the material cost. Japanese corded silk, taffetas, brocades and habutais, and no end of the light printed and checked silks may be obtained at a price most attractive to the wise buyer. The fashion in these will not change materially for two or three seasons. I also saw any amount of brilliantines of various designs, all wool cheviots in black and navy, a standard stuff that never goes out of fashion, and veilings without end.

The handsome new fall suits are ready for the trade, and the coat suit is first and foremost. Some have one shape of coat and some another, but I think the coat of the shape shown in the illustration will be the best liked. This shape is developed from all sorts of heavy material, principally cheviots and mixtures, and also in fine broadcloth for dressy occasions. There are so many of these coats varying slightly from each other that it would be a task beyond my power to describe them in one letter, but the standard is the tight waist and skirt more or less long and more or less trimmed. The best style is to have few but very fine buttons and strictly tailor finished. One feature seen in all, except the corset coats, is the pockets, of which there are generally three, two below the waist and the other for the watch.

Walking skirts in plain cloths and mannish mixtures often have the coats to match. But there are many short box coats of the same material that are rather preferred for wear with the short skirts. These box coats are large around the bottom, so that they flare out stiffly. They are stitched several times around on purpose to make them set out. They are all double breasted, have square pockets and are made of kersey, heavy cloth, tweed and many other kinds of suitable stuff. When not made to match skirts they are usually in tan, biscuit, beaver and browns in the lighter shades. Most of them have flat velvet collars, and the revers are of the coat material and stitched in many fancy designs. Some are quite plain across the shoulders and others have fancy capes, but the plain ones are by far the most elegant. All the sleeves are bishop shaped, with fancy stitched cuffs. Nothing could be nattier than these short box coats.

In this connection I may mention the coats for misses from eight to fifteen. They are all in the box shape, but reach almost to the feet, and are intended to allow the child to grow in them and not out of them. They are of the same materials as I mentioned for women's box coats, made very plainly about the bottom, but trimmed considerably at the shoulders in the way of capes of the material with fancy braid, velvet bands and stitching, sometimes all three on the same cape. The majority have the bishop sleeves, but a few have the old fashioned coat sleeve. We also find the latter among the garments for women. Some do not like the baggy things that are so bungling around the wrist.

Dresses for little girls have rather short and very nearly plain skirts. Some have stitched seams down the sides, the fullness falling loose at the bottom. But the waists are very ornate. They are laid in plaits, have many fancy buttons, some lace or pique and velvet belts for every day and handsome ribbon sashes for Sunday.

HENRIETTA ROUSSEAU.

A REAL DAUGHTER OF THE REVOLUTION

By CAROLINE GEBHARDT.

Copyright, 1902, by J. B. Lippincott Company.

Jane had no idea what the note contained, and she grew nervous with impatience as her guests continued to toy with their dessert. If they would only finish and retire to the drawing-room or, better still, the library.

When she had established them there, she slipped out to the kitchen, where the servants were having their dinner in a long, low shed off the kitchen proper. She beckoned to Aunt Rachel, and the negress got up and joined her mistress.

'Where did Master Godfrey go? Did he get away safely?" Jane asked.

"Law bress you, yes, honey. He jes' whirlyjigged 'roun' de yawd in de wet, his face all blacked wid some ob dat berry stuff what him'n you'n Marse Edwahd ustah put on when you wanted to play you was niggahs over at youah Aunt Susannah's, 'n his hair all kinky like it gits when it rains, an' dem fool soljahs tot him wah a real niggah, suah. Dey was jes' splittin' dey all's sides a-laughin' at de funny antics he wah a-cuttin', and' de fust ting ye know he whalked off towahds de woods, and dey nevah suspest nothin'. Oh, he's mighty smaht, Marse Godfrey is; he suah am smaht, Miss Janey, honey."

She looked at the girl anxiously, for she had as much of the match-making instinct as any of her white sisters, and it had long been the wish of her heart that Jane and Godfrey should marry: not that the idea had originated with her, for Jane's Aunt Susannah, who was godmother to them both, had frankly expressed the same desire.

Jane threw back her head defiantly. "He is a very foolish and reckless person," she said severely, "and I wish he would not come to my father's house at all unless he can so time his coming that it will not be so upsetting to our nerves and so hazardous to all concerned," with which she turned toward the dwelling.

The scouts Bessemer sent out came back with doleful tales of the impassable condition of the roads, swollen streams, and treacherous marshes, so that Bessemer was fain to crave from Jane the stretching of her hospitality to cover a night's lodging for him and his men.

"The hospitality of Ellery plantation, dear colonel," she answered, "has never yet been strained until it broke, and I should be shamed indeed were it not sufficiently expansive to shelter you and yours. My only regret is that my father and mother should not have the pleasure of welcoming you in person."

When she went to her room that night she threw wide the windows and looked out. The tents showed little white specks in the dark. She could hear the measured tread of the sentries as they paced their beats along the gravel at either side of the house, and at its front and rear as well. Another sentry paced the length of the long, gloomy avenue. This was war, brought home to her more closely than it had been during all the six years of the conflict.

She drew down her blinds with a sigh. She could not but remember that her brother was on his way to join in it on the British side, and that others, almost as dear to her, were already engaged upon the American.

She crept into bed with an ache at her heart such as had seldom been there in the 19 sheltered years of her life. She tossed restlessly from side to side. Now hot coals were being heaped upon her eyes. Good heavens, what was it? She awakened with a cry of terror. A fierce light was filling her room. There were shrieks and shots and wild commotion. The door between her bedchamber and her dressing-room burst open, and her black mammy ran in screaming, with outstretched arms.

"Oh, my honey lamb, by bressed baby chile. Oh Lawd, presahv dis innocent one from youah mighty wrath."

"What is it? What is it?" Jane demanded, sliding from her bed and staring with wide eyes, first at the reddening window and then at the old woman.

"It's de debbil, honey, de debbil broke loose an' come wid his legions to devour us. De Lawd hab risen in His wrath an' our days am numbered."

Outside Jane's door were shrieks and moans and prayers. Beneath her window she could hear shots and the trampling of horses' feet and the crackling of the flames.

She threw on a dressing gown, supplemented it with a long cloak, dragged her nightcap from her head, gathered her masses of hair into a loose coil, and, with hasty toilet, prepared to descend.

"Oh Gawd," mammy screamed, "dis heah chile ain't nebah gwine down dah to be shot like a trapped beastis? Oh my honey, my honey chile, don't you do nothin' like dat. You stay heah wid youah ole mammy."

"Nonsense," said Jane impatiently, extricating herself from the entangling black arms, "am I to stay up here in truth like a trapped beast and make no effort for the preservation of my father's property? Methinks I should ill deserve the name of Ellery were I to remain inactive at such time."

She unlocked the door with emphatic hand, and, as it opened at her touch she saw the cause of the groans and sobs that had been wafted through her keyhole. There, huddled in disconsolate group, some upon their knees, others weeping upon neighboring shoulders, were the women house-servants in all conceivable styles of disarray.

"Oh missy, sabe us! sabe us! De day of Jedg'ment hab come! Sabe us! sabe us!"

She made her way towards the stairs, the women following at her heels. A door at her left opened and a redcoated figure rushed out, buckling a belt with nervous haste. "Ye gods, madam, let me pass," he cried, and brushing past her with scant ceremony descended the steps at a bound.

Other marital figures, more coatless than coated, were running through the lower hall. Evidently it was the first of the strife which had awakened her, and the British were only just getting into line to repel the invasion.

She had expected to find the rear of the house in flames, for it was from the rear that the red glow came, but the dwelling itself was as yet untouched, though some outbuildings were burning furiously, the sparks flying rather too thickly for comfort. Uncle Peter and Gabriel and even her stepmother's pet, Sampson, with the other men-servants belonging to the house, were standing in a group in the middle of the dining-room peering towards the end window, watching the flames rise towards the starfilled heavens, for the night had cleared and there was a stiffer wind than was agreeable to Jane. Not long was the group allowed to remain inactive. With quick command, she set them to packing the silver and articles of value that could be easily moved, while she herself placed the precious china in a strong box that was kept ever ready for such emergency.

She threw open one of the dining-room windows and stepped out onto the broad side-porch to reconnoiter. The scene before her was a wild one, being a lively skirmish conducted with agility on one side and vigor on the other. The invaders had the tactical advantage, though but about one-fifth the number of the repelling force. They darted hither and thither on their wiry steeds, dealing lightning blows at their adversaries and now and then snatching a prisoner and dashing away towards the woods.

To stay and fight was not their calculation. A dash, a blow, a flying retreat was the programme, and they carried it out well. The Britishers jumped hither and thither on their sturdy legs, fighting furiously, but the horsemen laughed in their faces, peppered them with shot, and were gone—gone so suddenly that Jane, watching, felt her head whirl. One moment she saw them there fighting, and the next instant they had disappeared as by magic, all save one.

He, either too busily engaged to notice his comrades' retreat or unwilling to yet abandon the field, pranced back and forth upon his big bay horse, engaging in combat some redcoats who strove in vain to unhorse him.

Plainfield People Receiving the Full Benefit.

There have been many cases like the following in Plainfield. Everyone relates the experience of people we know. These plain straightforward statements will do much toward relieving the suffering of thousands. Such testimony will be read with interest by many people.

Mrs. M. A. Hall, of 219 Prescott place, says: "For several years I had a dull aching pain across my back, at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position all night and stooping, lifting or bending forward aggravated the pain. Although I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 30, "The Latest News From China."

This is found in the daily press and recent magazines. Events move so rapidly that while a book is passing through the press changes take place which need an additional chapter. The occurrences now stirring China are of great importance from several points of view and have special interest to all who watch the progress of the kingdom of God. Russia, Japan, Britain, France and the United States are the most actively engaged powers. Each jealously watches the others as if its own interests were antagonistic to all others and were antagonized by them. Trade and territory are the prizes.

Every league chapter that can do so should at this time arrange for an evening of study of the Chinese situation. An outline map should be used. By preference it should be homemade, on blackboard, paper or cloth. The Russian railway across Siberia should be shown and described. Some one should in ten minutes give a condensation of the best recent magazine articles on this scheme and its bearing on commerce and civilization through the opening of Siberia. The progress of Russia through Manchuria to an open Pacific port and the attitude of Japan and other powers and their reasons for the same should be shown.

The internal condition of China, with the power and policy of the empress dowager, the Boxers in the north, the great insurrection in the south, the incursion of French troops over the southern frontier—all should be treated in a brief address or essay.

The past progress of Christian missions, the present location and equipment of Methodist missions, can all be given in epitome and made clear by the map.

In many localities missionary meetings are still classed as dullest of the dull. This is more than unfortunate; it is almost criminal; it is surely sinful. With such wealth of material at hand, such thrilling incidents to fire zeal and rouse enthusiasm, there is no reasonable excuse for ignorance and apathy. A little exertion will place in the hands of any league more material than can be used in a half dozen evenings. There is no community having boys and girls of the grammar grade in public schools which has not in them talent sufficient to provide a programme that will open every ear and set pulses bounding. Pictures can easily be had in the illustrated periodicals which can be pasted on cardboard and passed around if no better way suggests. In many places some one will be found with skill to make a few outline sketches and charts on large sheets of paper, or the stereopticon can be used to supplement the addresses and papers.

The result will be deeper interest, clearer understanding, more fervent prayer and more liberal gifts for the work of missions. Every league should own a copy of the report of the Cleveland missionary convention issued by the Methodist Book Concern.

Living Sweetly Amid Trials.

Many of us find life hard and full of pain. The world uses us rudely and roughly. We suffer wrongs and injuries. Other people's clumsy feet tread upon our tender spirits. We must endure misfortunes, trials, disappointments. We cannot avoid these things, but we should not allow the harsh experiences to deaden our sensibilities or make us stoical or sour. The true problem of living is to keep our hearts sweet and gentle in the hardest conditions and experiences. If you remove the snow from the hillside in the late winter you will find sweet flowers growing there beneath the cold drifts, unhurt by the storm and by the snowy blankets that have covered them. So should we keep our hearts tender and sensitive beneath life's fiercest winter blasts and through the longest years of suffering and even of injustice and wrong treatment. That is true, victorious living.—J. R. Miller, D. D.

Ever Upward.

Sin is not cumulative, but goodness is. He who does good has all things in his favor. He who does evil is resisted by all things. If this were not so progress would be impossible. This world has ever moved upward without interruption, and it will continue to do so until God reigns perfectly in all hearts.—Universalist.

"All My Need."

Though I am weak, 'tis strength to know
The arm beneath me is not so.
My weakness renders me secure;
The hiding place it seeks is sure.

Though I get lost and go astray,
My travel guide knows all my way.
My wayward feet may heedless be,
But He ne'er loses sight of me.

Though danger hover by my path,
Defense for me my Keeper hath.
I may not see, I may not know,
But He is nearer than my foe.

Though I lack wisdom—simple, blind—
Of Him I yet may seek and find.
I ask. He always gives it me,
Upbraiding not, abundant, free.

While I can nothing do alone,
Together with the Mighty One
I can do all things, since His power
Sufficient is for every hour.

When tribulation is my lot
The Comforter forsakes me not.
The world brings conflict. He gives peace.
He speaks. The winds and tempests cease.

Though I am poor, He maketh me
Richer than kings and princes be,
For I have all things and abound.
The pearl of greatest price I've found.

Though I the silent vale must tread,
Its shadow hath for me no dread.
Death's twilight sunrise will become,
And wings of light will bear me home.

He who suppleth all my need
As here the pilgrim path I tread
Will be my Guide—and only He—
And this is heaven, I know, for me.

Rev. A. Parke Burgess, D. D.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Aug. 30—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—Our duty to the stranger.—Deut. vii, 7, 8; II Chron. vi, 32, 33. (Home missions.)

There is no more important problem before the Christian church of America today than that of dealing with the stranger or the foreigner in our land. The prayer of the church used to be, "Lord, open the doors of all lands to the gospel," and not only has this prayer been answered, but God has brought and is bringing to our shores thousands and thousands from other lands who are in serious need of the gospel of Christ.

The seriousness of the problem before the church today from the standpoint of the foreigner is evident when we take into consideration several important facts concerning our foreign population.

1. Their numbers. Our population in 1900, not including our insular possessions, was 76,303,387. Of this number 10,460,085 were foreign born and 15,687,322 were the children of foreign born parents. Thus every third person in the United States is either foreign born or the child of foreign born parents. Moreover, immigration is increasing instead of decreasing. It has averaged for the past five years about 10,000 a week, and it has been estimated that there will come to us this year 850,000 foreigners, an average of over 16,000 a week. What a serious problem confronts us from the standpoint of numbers alone!

2. Their character. The nations which produce the most undesirable classes of people are steadily sending larger numbers to us, while the best nations of Europe are more and more sending less immigrants to our shores. Formerly the best nations of Europe gave us their people, and to them we are indebted for much of our greatness. But today this is changed. While Great Britain, Germany, France and Greece are sending fewer immigrants, Austria-Hungary, Italy, and principally southern Italy, and Russia are sending us more. In the calendar year of 1900 we received 111,088 immigrants from Italy, 108,701 from Austria-Hungary and 92,486 from Russia, while in the same year there came from Great Britain but 49,532 immigrants, from the German empire 20,968, from Greece 4,664 and from France but 2,971. The worst nations of Europe are sending us their worst classes—foreign in speech, in customs, in religious beliefs and in character.

3. Their methods of settling in our land. The general tendency of the foreign element is to congregate according to nationalities in certain sections of our country, the chief places of segregation being our large cities, our great eastern industrial sections and the agricultural districts of the west and northwest. Thus our large cities have their "Little Italy," "Little Germany," "Little Scandinavia" and "Chinatown." Crowded together by the thousands, they live surrounded by squalor and confusion and by moral and spiritual degradation. In our great industrial and agricultural centers similar conditions exist. In the very heart of such an American commonwealth as Pennsylvania entire communities can be found where foreign languages are spoken, costumes worn, newspapers read, political and religious beliefs held and practiced.

The problems of such an element in our population are serious and great. These people must be lifted up or they will drag us down. Our social, political and Christian institutions are all endangered by their presence in our land. They must be Christianized and Americanized or their presence here will be a constant menace to our national welfare and Christian institutions. The church should measure up to its responsibility in this matter. Solomon prayed "concerning the stranger which is not of Thy people Israel," and so we should pray and labor for the salvation of the "stranger within our gates."

A Cathedral and Its Chapels.

Dr. Clark says: "No one shall go beyond me in devotion to Bible study or in advocacy of better educational methods for the young people of our churches. I believe with all my heart, as you know, in the quiet hour of communion, in systematic and proportionate giving, in every effort for Christian citizenship and for the home and other similar lines of effort that have grouped themselves around Christian Endeavor as some one has expressed it, "like the beautiful chapels around a great cathedral."

English Methodist Endeavorers.

In England there are 55,605 Primitive Methodist Endeavorers, which is a gain of 4,806 over last year. Two hundred and one new Junior societies have been organized.

BASE ON BALLS.

Gastmeyer, who plays third base for Alis, is one of the best players seen in that position in this city. He has plenty of ginger and he field his position like lighting.

The Hope campers at Lake Hopatcong played a game of ball with their neighbors from Paterson at Camp Brown, Tuesday. Seven innings were played and Hope won, 4 to 2. Banks and Kenny were the battery for Hope and Emmons and Kelley for their opponents.

Crescent Oval was fairly tested at the game last Saturday between Alis and St. Mary, one of the largest crowds of the season being present. Saturday's attendance should, however, be a record-breaker, when Alis and Westfield meet on the Oval for the firs ttime this year.

The Colored Odd Fellows will meet the Colored Masons in a game of baseball on St. Mary's grounds this afternoon. The game is called for 2:30. Ernest Austin, of the Colored Masons, yesterday announced his lineup as follows: Eugene Johnson, p; Ernest Austin, c; William H. Jones, 1b; Arthur Vanable, 2b; J. C. Anderson, 3b; James Dary, ss; Junius Betts, rf; Eugene Coles, cf and Charles C. Irby, lf. William H. Jones is manager of the team.

Robert Stevenson, captain of the Colored Odd Fellows, has the following players slated: A. Smith, c; R. Hopkins, p and manager; R. Stevenson, 1b; William Dempsey, 2b; Tucker Johnson, 3b; Leslie Cobbs, ss; George Anderson, rf; James Webley, cf; James Carter, lf.

FOOTBALL.

There has been a rumor that the Orange Field Club would join a football league in Plainfield next fall, but Manager H. C. Smith denies that this is the case. The club will be run on a strictly independent schedule. The team will play eleven games during the season and almost the entire schedule has been completed. The opening game has been arranged for Saturday, Sept. 26, with the Netherwood Field Club. The management still has four unfilled dates and is holding one and possibly two open for for Alis. The dates open are October 10 and 24 and Nov. 7 and 14.

GOLF.

The last preliminary play for the President's competition at the Westfield Golf Club will be on Saturday, when the sixteen who have qualified during the month, will begin on September 5 regular match play for the President's cup. This play will continue during September.

VOTING MACHINES ORDERED

EIGHTY-ONE VOTING DEVICES TO BE USED IN THE STATE.

Machines to be Delivered by September 15—Approved by Governor and Attorney General.

The contracts for the eighty-one voting machines authorized by the Legislature to be used at the next election, Nov. 3, have been awarded, and the commissioners say they have received assurances that they will be on hand by Sept. 15, the time originally fixed for their delivery. The commissioners decided to purchase fifteen Columbia machines, which the New Jersey Voting Machine Company controls in this State; fifteen Bardwell votometers and sixty-six United States Standard machines.

The necessary agreements were prepared and forwarded to Attorney-General McCarter in order that he might determine whether they fully protected the State from the consequences of any suit for the infringement of patents in the use of the machines. They have received the approval of the Attorney-General. The Governor also approved them, as the law requires him to do, and they were formally executed.

The commissioners have requested Col. Samuel D. Dickenson, Secretary of State, to designate the different polling places throught the State in which the machines are to be used. When he has done so the list will be sent to the manufacturers, who have promised to ship the machines immediately to the places designated.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Rev. L. R. Howard and family, of thts city, have returned from their summer outing.

Rev. J. L. Campbell, of the Lexington Avenue Baptist Church, of New York City, will address the men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 4 p. m. on Sunday.

The meeting at Hope Chapel this evening will be conducted by Rev. F. E. Davis, of West Fifth street. An interesting meeting is expected and all are invited.

AMUSEMENTS.

Rosati's Naval Band continues to play on the Pabst Roof Garden.

At Tony Pastor's are McWatters and Tyson's company, four very clever people, who also introduce one of "Herrmann the Great's" illusions. Miss Jane Courthope in a new sketch, "A Fisherman's Luck," and Harding and Ah Sid, the clown and the Chinaman, also appears. Others are Mlle. Olive, Nelson and Milledge and Harry Thompson.

"Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," the most recent and most costly of all illusions at Luna Park, Coney Island, is proving to be the greatest attraction in the place. Persons who make the trip once in the submarine boat, take the trip again and again in an effort to "see how it is done." Notwithstanding the attendance at "Twenty Thousand Leagues," "A Trip to the Moon" is as popular as ever.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Mrs. Stites Parse, of Scotch Plains, eighty-four years old, suffered a bad fall Tuesday injuring her hip severely. It was thought at first that the bones were broken but examination proved that the injury was merely a severe bruise. Mrs. Parse's advanced age is the principal cause of anxiety.

CHANGE IN HOSPITAL BUILDING PLANS

Women's Ward to be Made Smaller in Order to Have Room for Specialist.

WORK IS BEING RUSHED

INTENTION TO OCCUPY BUILDING BEFORE COLD WEATHER COMES.

Defective Heating Apparatus in Old Building Cause for Haste in Work—Two Rooms for Eye, Ear and Throat Department.

In the building of the women's ward at the new hospital, on which the work was commenced a few days ago, according to the changed plans it will be somewhat smaller than the men's ward, now completed. This change was made in order to provide two rooms for Dr. F. C. Ard for his work in the treatment of the eyes, ears and throat. It was discovered that in the original plans no ample provision was made for this department and in allowing the extra rooms it was found that it would of necessary to take the room from the men's ward, thereby making this ward a little smaller.

The change will not materially effect the men's ward, such as to decrease its efficiency. It is now planned to take possession of the new hospital before cold weather arrives. It is said that the heating apparatus at the hospital now used is very defective, so much so that it cannot be used this winter unless repaired at considerable expense. Besides, on account of the crowded condition and poor arrangement at the old hospital, it is the opinion that the quicker a change to the new institution is made the better it will be. The work on the women's ward is being rushed as rapidly as possible in the hope that it may be completed before the cold weather has a chance to impede its progress.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Which?

A couple of New York journalists are about to spend a heap of money—one on a college of journalism and the other on a Presidential boom. One of them is likely to get his money's worth.—Newark Evening News.

Insane Journalism.

The "Sun" declares that President Roosevelt has created wreck and confusion of the financial interests of the country and the incidental destruction of credit and confidence. It says again that the savings banks are experiencing enormous losses of wage earners' deposits because of the excellent opportunities of Wall Street investment it describes. Incidentally the Merchants' Association reports the presence in New York of the largest number of credit buyers of manufactured products ever known to have been there at this early stage of the season's trade. Such things don't hang well together.—Jersey City Journal.

Off Year in Jersey Politics.

Being an "off year" in New Jersey politics, it will be hard work getting out the vote this fall. The party that does this most systematically and thoroughly will be most likely to win. And as this kind of work costs money, the party that has the largest barrel on tap will have the best chance. There are 1,133 election precincts in New Jersey, and a change of ten "floaters," as the purchasable voters are called, from one side to the other would probably mean defeat for one party and victory for the other. There will be more than double that number of stay at home voters this year is, therefore, very uncertain. Last year the total vote polled for members of the Assembly was only 347,833, against 385,299 polled two years before in the Presidential election, showing 37,461 stay at homes. This year the falling off will be much greater because last year there were members of Congress to be elected, and the campaign was animated, while this year there is nothing but a Legislature to be chosen. The party that best succeeds in polling its vote will carry this year's election.—Trenton Correspondent of New York Herald.

As to Jim's View.

Former United States Senator Smith's letter advocating the nomination of Grover Cleveland is not well received by several Democrats in the State of New Jersey. Farmer Orator James E. Martine, of Plainfield, is strongly opposed to Mr. Cleveland. This is to be expected from the man under whose vine and fig tree William Jennings Bryan once reposed and breathed in the clear atmosphere of New Jersey politics; but what shall be said of the Elizabeth Times, the particular organ of DeWitt Cinton Flanagan, which says that both Mr. Smith and "Staff" Little "are privileged to praise Grover Cleveland as much as they please, but if they think that New Jersey Democrats are going to fall over themselves in the Smith-Little movement to send a Cleveland delegation to the next national Democratic convention they will find that they are barking up the wrong tree." Scarcely less antagonistic is the Paterson Guardian, which significantly says that "Mr. Smith will do well to do more talking with all classes of Democrats in his own State and elsewhere before he commits himself to paper again." It may be that Mr. Murphy, of Tammany Hall, was waiting to hear from the rank and file of the New Jersey Democracy before indorsing Mr. Cleveland's nomination as "the only thing to be done."—Newark Evening News.

SNAP SHOTS.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

Beneath one roof at Peapack, N. J., dwells a family in which four generations are represented, all of whom are hale and hearty. The family is that of Mr. and Mrs. David Brady and consists of a great-grandmother, grandmother, mother and daughter. The first of these, Mrs. Ann Campfield, was one of a family of twelve children. Her maiden name was Disoway. Mrs. Campfield's family consisted of herself, husband and one daughter, Sarah, who at the age of seventeen became the wife of David Brady. Their family consisted of seven children, six of whom are living. The only daughter married Edward Swick, whose daughter makes the fourth generation living in peace under one roof

The Sunday Newark News said in its last issue: "Samuel Hedden, who died recently at his home in Plainfield in his seventieth year, was the pioneer stage driver of that section of New Jersey. Before the New Jersey Central extended its one-track line beyond Plainfield, 'Sam's' stage was the only passenger conveyance between that city and Bound Brook, Somerville, Bernardsville, Washingtonville, New Brunswick and intermediate points. All the farmers along the routes knew him and intrusted all their savings to him to be taken to the Plainfield banks. In his many years as driver he handled very large sums, but never once was held up on the road and was never known to lose a penny. 'Sam's' wit was proverbial, and the passenger was counted lucky who secured the coveted seat beside him on his trips. He was continually joking and ridding himself of sage remarks. With the extension of the railroad to westward points, 'Sam's' business dropped off and he gave it up."

The rumor which was circulated about town a few days ago that James E. Martine had been killed by a maddened bull recalls a similar instance in this city many years ago when Dr. Martin, who lived on West Second street, near Park avenue, fell dead after reading the announcement in the papers of a startling rumor circulated in New York and published in one of the metropolitan papers.

In the account it was said that the wild animals in captivity at Central Park had gotten out of their cells and were attacking people right and left on the streets of that city. Names were given of some of those who had been attacked by the animals and among them was the name of a relative of Dr. Martin's, of this city. The shock was so severe that the physician died from the effects. The death of this man shows how dangerous the effects of such a rumor may be. Many people take up the story and communicate it to others and in that way it becomes greatly magnified. To a relative or close friend with a weak heart the shock of such news is liable to result seriously.

LITERARY.

The Spaniards were the first to bring horses to this continent, though the paleontologists tells us that the rocks abound with fossils which show that Equidoe were numerous all over America in the Eocene period. It is a singular fact, however, that there were no horses in America when the first Europeans came hither.—From John Gilmer Speed's "The Horse in America" in the September Century.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS AT THE PARK CLUB

Alterations and Enlargements Make Clubhouse Practically a New Building.

PLANS FOR OPENING

IMPROVEMENTS COSTING $12,000 ARE NOW BEING MADE.

Some of the Changes in Interior Arrangements—Hall for Enterments—Sketch of the Club's Hisory—Other Details.

The Park Club has long been a factor in the social life of Plainfield, and, with the plans of its management fulfilled as they soon will be by the completion of the extensive improvements already started, the club seems destined to fill a larger and more important place still in Plainfield's social activities.

The club house is being improved and enlarged to an extent that will make it practically a new building. It is now closed and in the hands of the contractors. The changes that are being made are all for the comfort and convenience of members, for increased facilities in the holding of entertainments of all sorts, for the providing of space for the playing of additional indoor games and for a thousand and one other means of perfecting the club life and extending its influence.

The new portion of the building will extend back fifty-three feet from the old portion. The addition makes a thirty-eight by forty-five main hall and a stage seventeen by twenty-four.

There will be galleries at the four corners and balconies on two sides. The accommodations for dramatic presentations will be in every way adequate.

The old committee hall, as it was called, is being enlarged to eighteen by twenty-four feet and will be used principally for a tea room. There will be a big improvement in the dressing rooms for the use of members and their guests, both men and women. In the old part of the hall is a balcony which is also being enlarged.

It is intended to use the hall for all manners of entertainments. The building can be shut off into two sections or when desired the old and new halls can be combined to accommodate 500 people facing the stage. The floor will be excellent for dancing.

The plan now is to "christen" the stage by the presentation of a popular society play on a large scale and given by prominent people. Besides this, the entertainment committee will provide a big programme of interesting events for the winter months, including formal and informal dances, card parties, musicales, and the like. The building will be opened, it is expected, about October 1 and the occasion will be made one of the most important society events of the coming year. The social side of the club life will be emphasized especially during all its future activities.

In the downstairs portion of the building the three old bowling alleys will be changed into a "social hall" from which it will be possible to witness and bowling matches in comfort. Room for billiards and pool, ping-pong, shuffle board, badminton and other games will come under the new 38 by 45 hall. There will be plenty of facilities for the serving of refreshments.

A balcony outside these rooms and under the stage will overlook the tennis courts. The heating of the building will be up-to-date in every particular. With new boilers and other latest improvements in heating apparatus, it is thought the method of producing warmth will be equal to the very best in use in any of the public buildings of the city.

The improvements and innovation will cost $12,000 and the necessary amount has already been subscribed in full by club members.

Although the clubhouse is closed, the tennis courts and golf grounds are at the disposal of members at all times.

The Park Club was founded in 1891 with a membership of thirty, which quickly increased to the limit allowed of 100. Greater prosperity and wider spheres of activity are constantly opening up before the club with the promise of even better things after the new house is put into use in October.

CROP CONDITION IN THIS LOCALITY

Weather Prevailing During Past Week Has Made Growth Rapid.

GARDEN TRUCK BETTER

POTATOES ARE TURNING OUT FAVORABLY, SO IT IS REPORTED.

Apples Yield Fair, But Peaches Are Scarce—Sunshine Helpful—The Rainfall in Union, Essex and Passaic Counties.

Crops about Plainfield during the past week have been doing well. Potatoes are turning out favorably; tomatoes and garden truck are maturing slowly. The second crop of clover is good. There is a fair yield of apples, but peaches are almost as scarce as ostrich eggs.

The weather conditions during the past week have been decidedly more favorable to the growing crops throughout the State than during the preceding week. The temperature was from two to four degrees above the daily normal and the sunshine was more abundant. The rainfall was below the weekly average except in Union, Essex and Passaic Counties where a heavy thunderstorm on the 19th did considerable injury by flooding low fields and blowing much fruit from the trees.

Early planted field corn is earing well and the prospects are for a fair yield, but that planted early in July is very backward, only knee high, and fears are expressed that it will not mature. Lima beans are molding on the vines and many patches have been ruined; late tomatoes have a good set of fruit, but do not ripen. The potato rot is increasing, so much so that the digging has stopped in some places; orchard fruit is not at all promising. Cranberry growers in Atlantic County say that owing to the heavy rains during the past month at least one-third of the crop has been ruined.

ASSEMBLYMAN A BANKRUPT

WILLIAM F. HALL OWES $4,571.10 AND HAS $270.

Hamilton Kean One of His Creditors—Petition Filed at Trenton.

William F. Hall, Republican Assemblyman, of Cranford, has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in the United States District Court at Trenton. He alleges that his indebtedness is $4,571.10 and that all he has with which to pay this amount only $270. He asks to be declared bankrupt.

Among his creditors is Hamilton Fish Kean, brother of United States Senator John Kean, and chairman of the Union County Republican executive committee. His indebtedness to Mr. Kean is $1,500, on a note for money loaned, goods sold and delivered and contracted for individually. Hall is a salesman by occupation.

PLAINFIELDERS' GOLF.

Showing Made by Reinhart and Baker on the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club Course.

In the qualifying round in the invitation golf tournament of the Shinnecock Hills Golf Club, yesterday, Frank O. Reinhart, of this city, led the field, the Princetonian returning a card of 77, two strokes better than the figures handed in by F. J. O. Alsop and C. F. Watson, Sr. J. Whitney Baker returned a card of 81.

In making a score of 77, Reinhart won the medal for the best card in medal round.

Howard, Rahway; discussion; lunch, furnished by the women of St. Palu's Church; devotional exercises—Rev. Dr. J. R. Bryan, of this city; address—"The Successful Sunday-school," Rev. Dr. T. B. Neely, New York City; discussion; address—"Paragraph 284, Discipline," Rev. J. A. Hensey, Paterson; discussion; address—"How Reach the Masses? Rev. C. L. Mead, Hoboken; discussion; tea, furnished by the women of St. Paul's Church; musical service; prayer, Rev. O. L. Joseph; address—"The Necessity of the Holy Spirit in True Evangelism," Rev. Dr. A. H. Tuttle, Summit; Love Feast, conducted by the Presiding Elder; doxology and benediction.

Petit Jurors.

Sheriff McMurtry, of Somerville, has drawn the following names of persons from North Plainfield as member of the September petit jury: Levi C. Kline, Andrew Love, Jr., Richard E. Coriell and Albert Brokaw. Those from Warren township are: Aaron H. Spencer, Diedrich Ehlen, Joel Giddes, Advain Martin, Peter Friday and Wm. H. Codington.

Speech to Farmers.

Assemblyman S. S. Swackhamer and Rev. J. B. Cleaver will be the principal speakers at a farmers' picnic at Pottersville, next Wednesday, and tomorrow evening Mr. Swackhamer will speak at a harvest home to be held at Harlingen.

THEY WANT TO BE CITIZENS

ALREADY FIFTY HAVE SOUGHT PAPERS FROM COUNTY CLERK.

Among the Number Are Six From This City—Many Unable to Speak English Language.

The opportunity offered to obtain naturalization papers at the County Clerk's office at Elizabeth, has been taken advantage of this week by fifty foreigners, thirty-eight of whom were on first papers, and twelve for those who came to this country under age. There has also been a number of first papers granted. Of the final paper applicants, 36 are from Elizabeth, 6 from Plainfield, 4 from Summit, one each from Rahway, Aldene, Garwood and El Mora. Fifteen are natives of Great Britain, 14 of Russia, 12 of Germany, 6 of Italy, 2 of Austria, and one of Denmark.

A number of the applicants are unable to speak the English language, and fourteen were unable to sign their names. The Russians predominated among the illiterate. Of the fourteen who denounced allegiance to the Czar, but one was able to write his name. There was one Italian who could not place his signature to the application paper, but all the others wrote a fair hand. The applicants from this city include Robert W. Ellis and Joseph Cullen, natives of Great Britain; Alfonzo Barney and John Consoli, natives of Italy; William E. Carlsen, native of Denmark; Nicola Brcobey, native of Russia.

MRS. PHILLIPS DEAD.

Wife of William Phillips Passes Away at Her Home in Greenbrook Road—Funeral Tomorrow.

Mrs. Mary E. Phillips, wife of William Phillips, of 78 Greenbrook road, died yesterday afternoon at her home after nine months' illness. Cancer was the cause of death.

Mrs. Phillips was born in Ireland fifty-nine years ago and came to this country when a young girl. She has resided here for forty-six years and in her Greenbrook road home for thirty-five years. She leaves two sons by her first marriage with Dennis Barry, John Barry, a contractor and William Barry, a coachman.

The funeral services will be at the home tomorrow morning and high mass will be said at St. Joseph's Church at nine o'clock. The interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

BANKERS' MEETING.

Plainfield Institutions to be Represented at New Jersey Bankers' Convention.

There will be local delegates at the New Jersey Bankers' Association convention to be held at Atlantic City on Friday, September 25. W. F. Arnold, cashier of the City National Bank, expects to represent that institution and The Plainfield Trust Company, as well. The First National Bank and the Dime Savings Institution will likely have representatives there.

An executive committee meeting of the association was held in Trenton, yesterday, when final arrangements were made for the convention. Secretary of the Treasury Shaw has been invited and will probably make an address.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Choir of St. Mary's Church Honors the Esteemed Paster, Rev. Andrew M. Egan.

In honor of the recent birthday of Rev. Father Egan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, the choir of that church gave a dinner party at the Park Avenue Hotel, last evening, followed by an informal musicale. The affair was in charge of Joseph and William O'Keefe and covers were laid for twenty. After enjoying a pleasing menu, the party spent the balance of the evening in song and sociability. The choir sang several selections, Miss Smith, organist and choir director, presiding at the piano. There were also several selections on the piano.

New Jersey Day.

Governor Murphy and Former Governor Voorhees had a conference in the State House at Trenton Wednesday relative to the fixing of a day to be known as "New Jersey Day" at the St. Louis Exposition. Governor Murphy will probably announce the date within a week.

Benefit Game.

The baseball game played yesterday by two teams made up of Colored Masons and Colored Odd Fellows was for the benefit of Benjamin Johnston, one of their number, who has been ill for a long time. The receipts will materially help to make life more pleasant for him.

MRS. J. E. TOVELL SEEKS A DIVORCE

Asks Court to Release Her From Marital Bond of Chancery.

DESERTION IS ALLEGED

HUSBAND IS NOW BELIEVED TO BE IN ENGLAND.

Husband and Wife Prominent Here—Mrs. Tovell Represented by Newark Counsel—Non-Support Alleged.

Plainfield society folk will be surprised to learn that divorce proceedings have been instituted by Mrs. Annie Prentiss Tovell against her husband, John Edwin Tovell, who is now believed to be living in England. The petition was filed in the New Jersey Court of Chancery on May 25 last and citation was issued on May 28. The fact that such action was taken has been kept quiet.

The petition sets forth the marriage of Annie Prentiss Tovell, of this city, on December 17, 1892, at Evona, to John Edwin Tovell, her present husband; since which time, except for the space of fifteen months, during which she resided in London, Eng., she has resided in Plainfield.

In the second month of the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Tovell went to London, Eng., and lived there for fifteen months. The petitioner claims that her husband has supported her only from December, 1892, to the following September, 1892 and that after that her husband gave her no support whatever. The rest of the time she resided in England she was obliged to depend upon her husband's brother for a time. She returned to this country in the spring of 1894, and at her father's request, thereafter, made her home at his house in Plainfield.

Mrs. Tovell claims that when she left England it was with the full knowledge and consent of her husband, and he promised to follow her shortly and support her and her child, Joseph Wilbur Tovell, who was born September 7, 1892, while she resided in London. She further claims that she has since been supporting herself and that her husband has failed to do as he promised.

The petitioner in asking for a divorce does not ask support for herself and child. This she does in the belief that her husband would not be able to support her as he has never done so.

Mrs. Tovell's maiden name was Annie Prentiss Price. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Wilbur Price, both of whom have died within the last two years. She is a sister of Mrs. E. Arthur Janke, of this city, with whom she now lives. In the petition John J. Hubbell, of Newark, is named as the counsel. It is not known whether the respondent has a legal representative.

FAMILY REUNION.

Editor W. B. R. Mason Entertains the Mannings in His Usual Genial Way.

The annual reunion of the Manning family was held on Wednesday at the home of W. B. R. Mason, editor of the Bound Brook Chronicle, situated on the brow of the mountain about one mile east of Chimney Rock. There were three generations represented, fifty people in all being present. Sociability was the feature of the day, while a bountiful repast served at noon was not the least of the pleasant things on the programme. There were present a number of members of the family living in this city.

Lien Against Cruiser.

A lien representing a claim of about $13,000 has been filed with Supreme Court Commissioner John A. Miller by E. Q. & G. M. Keasbey for the General Electric Company against the cruiser Chattanooga in the Crescent shipyard, at Elizabethport. Sheriff Coriell attached the cruiser just before the Federal government instructed Cortlandt Parker, Jr., acting United States District Attorney, to take steps for the removal of the cruiser from the yards.

Married Eight Years Ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Schenpp, of East Fourth street, celebrated their eighth wedding anniversary Wednesday evening by a pleasing entertainment. Guests were present from New York, Scotch Plains, Dunellen and Plainfield. The couple were remembered by many handsome gifts. An elaborate luncheon was served at midnight.

STATE ENDEAVORERS TO GATHER SOON

Seventeenth Annual Convention of New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union.

LOCAL DELEGATIONS

MEETING TO BE HELD AT ORANGE IN OCTOBER.

Rev. T. E. Davis, of This City, is Treasurer of Organization—List of Speakers—A Large Choir to Be a Feature.

Delegates from the various local Christian Endeavor Societies are planning to attend the seventeenth annual convention of the New Jersey Christian Endeavor Union to be held at Orange on Thursday and Friday, October 15 and 16.

An excellent programme is announced to include several Endeavor meetings in charge of well-known speakers as well as the routine of society reports. The convention will be called to order at 10:30 on the morning of Thursday, October 15 by Chairman Augustus W. Abbott, of the local committee who is president of the Christian Endeavor of the Oranges and vicinity. The remainder of the morning session will be devoted to the various reports of the State officials of the society, including the report of the Rev. Titus E. Davis, of this city. In the afternoon session there will be more reports and addresses; the Rev. Cornelius Brett, D. D., of Jersey City, will preside. The evening service will be a service of song and on this occasion, the convention sermon, "The Personal Work in Soul-winning," will be preached by the Rev. John F. Carson, of Brooklyn.

On the second day the Rev. William D. Stultz, of Manasquan, will preside and there will be various informal discussions upon methods and leading questions of the work. The afternoon services will be devoted to the rally of the junior department of the society and the reports of its work. The closing session will be held on Friday and will be adjourned by the complete roll call by ex-President Rev. Arthur W. Spooner, of Camden.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the music of the convention and there will be a large vocal choir in charge of H. C. Lincoln, director of the Philadelphia convention. Orange Endeavorers are making big preparations for the entertainment of visiting delegates.

ALL READY FOR THE RACES

MANY IMPROVEMENTS MADE BY THE DRIVING PARK ASSOCIATION.

Mayor Newton B. Smalley Actively at Work—Most of the Horses Have Already Arrived.

Everything is shipshape at the Driving Park for tomorrow's races. Those who attend will notice many changes in the grounds. The grand stand is shining in a coat of fresh paint, the old fences have been rebuilt, and the judges' stand has been put in apple pie order. The track is faster than it has ever been before.

Altogether the changes are such as were greatly needed and will commend themselves at sight. The hustling qualities of Mayor N. B. Smalley and his associates who are managing the meet, have made possible what will probably be the greatest series of races that Plainfield has seen yet. The Driving Association has been to great expense to make the improvements in the grounds and large receipts at the gate Saturday will encourage further efforts to provide Plainfield with good sport.

Most of the horses entered have already arrived and the interest is keen. The owners are all confident and ready to back up their belief in their horses' prowess with the "long green." The races will begin promptly at 2 o'clock, music by LaVere's band half an hour earlier.

Farmers to Meet.

The Somerset County Board of Agriculture will meet in the Court House at Somerville, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The speakers will be Franklin Dye, of Trenton, and Mortimer Whitehead, of Middlebush. A large number of boroughites will attend.

John C. VanHorn, of Lambertville, who is now staying with his son, Stephen W. VanHorn, of Summit avenue, is seriously ill.

DEMOCRATIC OUTING A DECIDED SUCCESS

Disciples of Jefferson in Union County Hold Annual Excursion.

MARTINE FOR JOHNSON

GAMES AND SPEECHES FOLLOW A BIG DINNER AT GROVE.

Plainfield Represented—Day Spent at Witzel's Grove, Long Island—Cleveland as a Presidential Possibility.

Six hundred and eight loyal Jersey Democrats went to Witzel's Point View Grove, Long Island, yesterday on their sixth annual outing. The Plainfield delegation was small but made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers. James E. Martine, J. V. F. Dilkes, Hezekiah Hand, Charles L. Marcum and A. J. Nolan composed the local delegation. The steamer "Joh Sylvester" was chartered for the occasion.

The day's festivities consisted first and foremost of a big dinner served directly after the arrival at 1 o'clock, with nothing lacking in the line of refreshments. Then there were athletic contests run off with members of the Peter Hauck Association of Harrison. Hugh Boyle, chairman of the athletic committee provided handsome prizes for the winners of the three legged and relay races, baseball game, tug-of-war, obstacle race and 100-yard race for 200 pounders.

There were no formal speeches at the dinner but there was a general discussion of the political situation during the day. There was much gossip over the new primary law and the proposed Constitutional amendments. Cleveland received a thorough consideration as a possible candidate for the presidency next year, the general sentiment being that his selection would be unwise. Many Union County members set themselves particularly against the opinion of "Staff." Little in regard to Cleveland's standing among Jersey Democrats.

"Tom" Johnson, of Ohio, nominated for Governor, this week had many admirers among the leaders. James E. Martine, of this city, was especially strong in his opinion that if Johnson should be elected Governor he would be the logical candidate for the presidential nomination.

The excursion was in charge of Major Charles Callman, chairman of the reception committee, Chairman Connolly, of the Elizabeth city committee and Peter Egenolf, member of the State committee. Among other prominent State Democratic leaders present were County Chairman John Moody, John L. Crowell, of Rahway, former chairman of the Democratic county committee, Former Mayor Seymour, of Newark; Alfred J. Lane, editor of the Summit Record; Mayor Baldwin, of Summit; Frank Bell, Fred Zior, of Elizabeth, and Leon Abbott. The city officials of Elizabeth were present in a body, the largest delegation going from that city.

COLORED FOLKS MUSICALE.

Given by Women of Calvary Baptist Church for the Pastor.

A musicale and general entertainment was given by the women of Calvary Baptist Church at the home of Mrs. Tucker Johnson, of Webster place, last evening. It was for the benefit of Rev. Scott Wallace, the pastor.

The affair was in charge of Miss Belle Watson and entertainment committee consisted of Miss Jennie W. Watson, president; Mrs. Fernando Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Tucker Johnson, secretary, and Mrs. Louise Simms and Mrs. Lulu Scott. During the evening there were piano selections by James Smith, of New York and Henry Peterson and Howard Hankerson rendered duetts on violin and guitar. Miss Bessie Mitchell gave several piano solos and Rev. J. W. Mitchell gave an address.

Band Concert.

Tomorrow night's concert in the borough by Benj. LaVere's band will be in the shape of a testimonial to Mr. LaVere. A collection will be taken up during the playing. Mr. LaVere has given his time and labor freely for the benefit of the city and borough.

—William F. Arnold, of Third place, has a permit to change his frame dwelling on that street to the rear of his other house and lower it one-story for use as a stable.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

All the fruits in season, best and cheapest, also nuts, cigars and candy, at Alex. Lasardi's Front street store.

"C. O. D." the best five cent cigar on the market, is having a big sale at H. Eggerding's Park avenue cigar store.

This is the best time of the year to paint your houses. If you want durable colors consult J. C. Hansen, of East Front street.

It takes a man of skill and brains to run a drug store as it should be run. Armstrong's Park avenue store answers all the requirements.

Developing, printing and mounting are all done up in the best style by Frank VanWinkle, of North avenue. Cameras and photo supplies.

If you have a valuable picture or painting to be framed, Phillip Swain, of West Front street, will do the work for you at reasonable prices and it will be done in a first-class manner. He only uses the best of material.

Titus H. Laury, the contractor and builder, has been very busy this season with work and he would like to take your contract for all kinds of building or repair work. He employs the best workmen and uses first-class materials.

In the use of hygeia ice there is absolutely no danger of infection from disease. That is the reason the Plainfield Hygeia Ice Company has increased its sales to such a large extent. A postal card will bring this ice to your door.

William H. Pope, the electrical engineer of North avenue, can be depended upon for the execution of all electrical work. Bells and lights. Figure with him before you contract for anything in the electrical line. Investigate next time.

Although Boehm's Front street entrance is closed for alterations, the Park avenue entrance is open as usual and there are big bargains within for those who walk around the corner. They are having a special millinery sale there now at one-third off. Trimming free.

If it's hats you want, go to Bonn's millinery store on West Front street. All manner of stylishly trimmed hats for women and children at prices within reach of everybody, are on his counters. Go and see for yourself. You'll never be satisfied to trade elsewhere if you do.

The Paris Cloak Company, in West Front street, is now showing some natty women's suits for fall wear. They give one an excellent idea of the styles to be worn this season. Mr. Fass still has a small portion of his summer stock left, which he is closing out at low prices.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Johnstown Flood still continues to be the greatest attraction at Coney Island.

The Bostonians in DeKoven & Smith's "Robin Hood" is the attraction offered at the Academy of Music. There's nothing better on the boards.

Miss Fay Templeton has made the hit of the season. She is at her best in "The Runaways" at the Casino. Plainfield's theatre goers should not miss this show.

This is the eighth month for the "Wizard of Oz" at the Majestic Theatre. Two hundred and fifty-four performances at a continuous run speaks well for Frank Stone, the fun maker.

Shakespeare's fairies—those dainty and delightful elves whom the myriad-minded Bard of Avon may justly be said to have invented and immortalized in his "Midsummer Night's Dream," reappear in the new opera, half romantic and half comic, "A Princess of Kensington," which John C. Fisher is to produce at the Broadway Theatre Monday night, with James T. Powers in the principal part.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Emmons, of Prospect place, are occupying Sunnyside Cottage at Lake Hopatcong.

George W. Hayes, Ira F. Randolph and George Fountain were aboard the steamer "Grand Republic" yesterday viewing the International yacht race.

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and development. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE DOING

SOME BRIEF PARAGRAPHS OF A PERSONAL NATURE.

The Misses Abbott, of West Front street, who have been spending their vacation in New York State, are expected home early in September.

Daniel T. Clawson, of Brook avenue, who has been quite ill with typhoid fever, is very much improved. During pleasant days he has been able to take several carriage drives.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Jacob Jones, of North avenue, has accepted a position with M. E. Stephenson, the delicatessen.

—The cornet soloist at the band concert at the Driving Park Saturday afternoon and at the concert in the borough in the evening will be Albert Sweet, who was the soloist in the city concerts.

—Prof. Robert W. Neal will be a member of the faculty at Rogers College, when that institution opens for the fall term. He is an alumnus of Harvard University and has been an instructor in Cincinnati and an assistant in the University of Kansas. He spent the past year at Harvard.

—The Lehigh Valley Railroad Company has lately inaugurated a system by which the baggage of travellers from Europe to Canadian points can be bonded on arrival at the port of New York and checked through to its destination without the necessity of U. S. Customs examination, thus giving travellers the least possible trouble. The same rule holds good in the case of baggage going from Canadian points through to Europe, the baggage being forwarded aboard the steamer without examination.

Sunday Excursion to Mauch Chunk.

The New Jersey Central will run an excursion to Mauch Chunk on Sunday, Aug. 30, 1903. Round trip $1.50; child, 75 cents, from Plainfield at 9:22 a. m. Mauch Chunk is one of the most charming mountain resorts in this section. The trip over the gravity railroad to Summit and Mt. Pisgah is one of scenic grandeur and a trip that will never be forgotten. After the trip over the Switch-back you should go to Glen Onoko where you will find beautiful little cascades, caverns and like attractions. 8 25 td

DeWitt Is the Name.

When you go to buy Witch Hazel Salve look for the name DeWitt on every box. The pure, unadulterated Witch Hazel is used in making DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which is the best salve in the world for cuts, burns, bruises, boils, eczema and piles. The popularity of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, due to its many cures, has caused numerous worthless conterfeits to be placed on the market. The genuine bears the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

Anglo-American Tennis Champion.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 28.—H. L. Doherty of England defeated W. A. Larned of New Jersey and to his title as champion of England added that of champion of the United States. The score was 6—0, 6—3, 10—8 in Doherty's favor, and although in the last set the American player made a heroic stand he was worn out by the British expert and failed to hold him on the eighteenth game. By defeating Larned Doherty completed the clean sweep which he and his brother have made in this country this season. Between them they hold both the singles and the doubles championships of the United States and England, as well as having won the Davis international trophy without the assistance of any other player. The two brothers hold a unique position in the history of the game, a position that no others have ever approached.

Molly Brant Won Saranac Stake.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 28.—The day at the spa was marked by the usual large attendance. In the fourth race, the Saranac stake of $5,000, a handicap for three-year-olds at a mile and a furlong, Africander, who won the Champion stake from Heno and Waterboy last Saturday, never was in with the leaders during the race. Molly Brant carried home John Sanford's colors in front, winning by two lengths from Shorthose, who was four lengths ahead of Gray Friar. Requiter, the favorite, had a close race with Monadnock in the third event, winning by a head, while Race King beat the favorite, Long Shot, in the fifth by a neck.

Judge Himes Was Best.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—Judge Himes proved easily the best of a fair field in the Excelsior handicap, the feature at Hawthorne. The colt was second choice in the betting. Judge Himes ran in fourth place all the way to the stretch and when called on mowed down his field in easy fashion and won with two lengths to spare over Orsina. Serge, the favorite, was third, three lengths back of Orsina.

Billy Buck Won In 2:07 1-4.

READVILLE, Mass., Aug. 28.—Billy Buck won the Massachusetts $15,000 stake race, taking the second, third and fourth heats; time, 2:07¼, 2:08¼, 2:08½. Swift, winner of the first heat in 2:08¼, took second money, Caspian third and Hawthorne fourth. Billy Buck's time, 2:07¼, in the second heat breaks the record for the Massachusetts stake race.

Cresceus Makes a Record.

DAYTON, O., Aug. 28.—A new world's record for a mile on a half mile track of 2:08¾ was made by George H. Ketcham's Cresceus. Cresceus was paced by Mike the Tramp, driven by Dr. A. Scott Ives of Montreal, and by a steam automobile driven by Mr. Denzer. This was an experiment, and its utility remains to be demonstrated. The runner was alongside and the automobile to the rear.

Macey Won at Kinloch.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 28.—The track at Kinloch park was good up to the third race, when a heavy wind and rain storm set in, making it a sea of mud. Macey won the feature from Jordan, the favorite, by twenty lengths. He went to the front on the start and was never in danger.

First Race For Lipton Cup.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—In a twenty knot breeze La Rita, sailing under the colors of the Chicago Yacht club, took the first of a series of three races being sailed on Lake Michigan for possession of the Sir Thomas Lipton cup.

VICE CONSUL KILLED

President Orders Squadron to Beirut, Syria.

NO REASON GIVEN FOR THE CRIME

Dispatch From Minister at the Porte Says W. C. Magelssen Was Assassinated While Riding In a Carriage.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Roosevelt has issued orders that the American European squadron, under command of Rear Admiral Cotton, should proceed at once to Beirut, Syria, in order to be in readiness to support any demand the United States may make on account of the assassination there of Vice Consul Magelssen.

The cablegram from Minister Leishman at Constantinople announced that William C. Magelssen, United States vice consul at Beirut, Syria, was assassinated while riding in a carriage. Acting Secretary Loomis cabled Minister Leishman instructing him to demand the immediate arrest and punishment of the persons guilty of the murder. No demand for money in behalf of the man's family has yet been made, but that probably will follow.

Minister Leishman's cablegram stated that the assassination occurred Sunday, the minister being informed of the crime by Consul Ravudal. The consul stated that the murderer was not seen and is not known.

The cablegram does not convey the slightest suggestion of a cause for the crime.

The porte has been informed that the United States government has sent a squadron to Turkish waters to demand reparation for the murder of Vice Consul Magelssen and the punishment of the assassin.

Magelssen, who is a Scandinavian, was appointed vice consul at Beirut Sept. 20, 1899, by Consul Gabriel Bie Ravudal, who is of the same nationality. At the time of his appointment as vice consul he was a consular clerk in Turkey. Magelssen was appointed on the recommendation of Senator Nelson of Minnesota, who says that he was the son of a prominent Lutheran minister. He was born at Bratsburg, Fillmore county, Minn.

Mr. Magelssen was thirty years old. He was educated in Minnesota and was a student of the Lutheran college at Decorah, Ia., for three years. For a time he was assistant city assessor of Sioux Falls, S. D., and also associate editor of a paper called the Echo published there.

The secretary of state has arranged for a conference with the president at Sagamore Hill.

At the conference the president and Secretary Hay will consider the Turkish situation carefully and probably will reach some conclusion as to the attitude of the United States respecting the late serious phase of the matter.

In the absence of definite information concerning the assassination of Vice Consul Magelssen the president will take no decided action beyond that already taken in ordering the European squadron to Beirut. This action is viewed now as a precautionary measure. It is the determination of the United States to support its demands upon Turkey for the punishment of the murderer or murderers of Consul Magelssen, but until the circumstances surrounding the murder are known officially and precisely the United States, it is stated, will not take any drastic action. A demand that officials of the United States be afforded protection for their lives and property will be made, and the Turkish government will be held responsible for the assassination of Consul Magelssen, whatever may be the circumstances of the case.

President Roosevelt is concerned over the situation as it has developed because it indicates an intolerable condition of affairs in Turkey. He recalls the fact that only recently a Russian consul was murdered in Turkey.

The European squadron is so situated that it will require several days for it to rendezvous at Beirut. Meantime the officials of the state department will be fully advised by Minister Leishman of the details of the crime, and the president then will be in a position to present to Turkey the demands of the United States, with a naval force on the spot of sufficient strength to enforce them adequately.

The belief is entertained that the sultan may seek to temporize, as he did with Russia, in which case the United States will not hesitate to follow the determined course taken by the czar of Russia in regard to the murder of the Russian consul by a Turkish sentinel.

There are two vessels available at Nice, France—the San Francisco and the Brooklyn. The Machias is in the vicinity of Genoa and could be sent with little delay with the other ships to Beirut or some other Turkish seaport. These three ships comprise the European squadron under Rear Admiral Cotton.

Beirut, a city of 100,000 inhabitants, is situated on a bay of the Mediterranean sea fifty-seven miles northwest of Damascus. It is an important center of American missionary enterprise and contains, in addition to a Protestant school for natives, mission schools and convents. The United States consul at Beirut is G. Bie Ravudal.

Vardaman For Governor.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 28.—Returns from the Mississippi primary election tend to indicate the nomination of James K. Vardaman for governor. Vardaman made gains in the delta and Critz in lower and eastern Mississippi. The vote promises to be about as heavy as that of [illegible] election.

NOT BREEZE ENOUGH

Reliance and Shamrock III. Fail to Finish Race.

AMERICAN FLIER HAD A LONG LEAD

Contest Was a Decisive Victory For Iselin's Fleet Winged Wonder. Led by Twelve Minutes at Fifteen Mile Turn.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—With Reliance less than a third of a mile from the finish and Shamrock III. hull down on the horizon, fully two miles astern of the gallant defender, the fourth race of the present series for the America's cup was declared off because of the expiration of the time limit of five and one-half hours, as happened on Thursday last. Although officially it was no race, the defeat administered to the challenger was so ignominious that whatever hope remained in the breasts of the friends of Sir Thomas' boat vanished into thin air. Reliance's victory was in every way more decisive than that of last Saturday. Outsailed, outpointed and outfooted, it was a procession from start to finish.

The Herreshoff wonder beat the Shamrock hopelessly in the fifteen miles of windward work, rounding the outer mark 12 minutes and 30 seconds ahead of her, a gain in actual time of 11 minutes and 29 seconds, and down the wind she steadily increased her lead. The real race of the day was not against Shamrock, but the exciting struggle of Reliance in the last half hour to reach the finish line before the regatta committee fired the gun which should announce the expiration of the time limit. Had the wind freshened twenty minutes earlier than it did the cup series would have ended with three straight wins for the defender, and Fife's famous light weather boat would have sailed back to Albion's shores one of the most disastrously worsted challengers in the history of the cup contests.

Fully as discouraging as the sailing qualities displayed by the challenger was the atrocious manner in which she was handled. The Yankee skipper again not only outmaneuvered his rival in the spectacular battle for position at the start, as he has done every time they have met, but, worse still for the downhearted supporters of Shamrock, Captain Wringe repeated his blunder of Tuesday. He crossed the line in the wake of Reliance with a handicap of sixty-one of the precious seconds for which Fife had sacrificed so much in sail spread for time allowance. Both boats, it is true, went over after the smoke of the handicap gun, but where both are handicapped it is only the sternmost craft which actually suffers.

At the end of the first hour Shamrock was beaten, and interest waned. After rounding the float for the run home and setting big ballooners the wind, which had strengthened to six or seven knots on the beat, died down, and the towering clouds of canvas drifted lazily down an ocean lane a mile wide between the two divisions of the excursion fleet. Even in the light air it was astonishing how the defender slipped through the placid seas. With the gentle breeze distending the surface of her pure white sails and her stern crowded with tars to hold her head up, she moved along as serenely and peacefully as if in a dreamless sleep. Yet the gap between her and the challenger steadily widened until two miles separated them. Half an hour from home, when the spectators had abandoned any idea that the finish line could be reached in time, the wind suddenly freshened, and Reliance came bowling down at a merry clip. But the wind had come too light, and when still a few hundred yards from home the gun on the tug Navigator boomed across the water. The excursion boats held on until she crossed to give her a rousing welcome and then scampered for New York. Sir Thomas, who heretofore has always followed his champion into the Hook, sent his steam yacht, the Erin, ahead at full speed, as if to drown out the memory of the inglorious licking he got.

The next race, which will be like the one attempted—fifteen miles to leeward or windward and return—will be sailed tomorrow.

Not only the Shamrock III., but Captain Wringe, whom Sir Thomas Lipton had pronounced the best racing skipper in Great Britain at getting his boat over the starting line, was defeated. The preliminary jockeying and start was the prettiest exhibition of skill and seamanship in the series. It was a contest for the windward position. Only once did Captain Barr lose it, and then he promptly regained it. For fifteen minutes preceding the start he held the British boat tucked neatly under the lee wing of the defender despite Captain Wringe's best efforts to clear his boat, and when it was over and the boats slipped across the line Barr had a splendid victory to his credit.

Captain Wringe had lost the best part of his time allowance. The Reliance was leading by about 300 yards. Once across the line they held the port tack a very few minutes and then went about, headed eastward. The Reliance was a good bit up to windward and hanging on to her windward position, while Shamrock III. tried to make up for it by footing the faster. At the next tack, twenty-five minutes after the start, Shamrock had lost ground and as they lay about the same course was a quarter of a mile astern of the American craft.

It was evident that the yachts were covering about five miles an hour. They had been approximately three hours in beating fifteen miles, and unless the wind should freshen there was small prospect of their covering the fifteen miles home in the hour and a half remaining. They dawdled along in exasperating fashion while an hour slipped away. Not a change took place on either of the yachts, nor did there seem to be any difference in their relative positions. Reliance was losing her race against time and at 4 p. m. had little hope of getting across the line at 4:32, when the time limit of five and a half hours would expire.

The wind freshened a bit as she neared the line. She was still a quarter of a mile distant from the line when the Navigator gave notice that the race was off. Reliance kept on and crossed at 4:38:45, 6 minutes and 45 seconds behind the time limit.

Meantime Shamrock III. had caught a freshening southwest breeze, taken in her spinnaker and was reaching for the line at a better clip than at any time during the race, but when the finish gun was fired she began to take in sail and did not cross the finish line.

Sir Thomas Lipton said:

"I am willing to repeat what I said this morning. I still have hope, slight though it is. Let us hope for a spanking good breeze for the next race. I called my friends around me and was about to express my regret at my failure when I happened to look at my watch. Then I reserved decision, and I may never have to make that speech."

Boy Was Not Shanghaied.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—"Ship sails; boy at home." Such in substance is the outcome of the alleged case of shanghaiing which has worried the police and Collector Stranahan of this port. Accompanied by his father and mother, Hugh Thompson, sixteen years old, of 260 Front street, Brooklyn, who was taken off the French bark Marechal de Gontaut near Sandy Hook by revenue cutter officers under the personal direction of Nevada N. Stranahan, collector of the port, appeared in the custom house to await the decision of the collector and other United States officials in the case. The boy, whose efforts to escape from the ship as it lay off Tompkinsville led to the seizure of the vessel, admits that he was not shanghaied and was not ill treated, but did not want to go to China.

Extradition of Lynchbaum.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 28.—A continuance of two weeks was granted by United States Commissioner Moores in the matter of granting extradition papers for the return of James Lynchbaum to Ireland as a fugitive from justice. The court room was crowded with prominent local Irishmen. Commissioner Moores announced that he did not consider the documentary evidence submitted by the representatives of Great Britain sufficient evidence of conviction in the British courts, as required by the extradition treaty.

French Oppose American Pier.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 28.—The French commodore on the Newfoundland station protests against the building by an American mining company of a shipping pier at York harbor, on the French shore, where the company is now working a copper mine. The French claim that the pier is an infringement of their fishery rights. The matter promises an international difficulty, as the American company threatens to appeal to Washington if work on the pier is stopped.

Air Ship For the North Pole.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 28.—"If Sergeant Julius R. Frederick recovers from his present illness we will sail to the north pole next year," said P. T. McDonnell of Chicago, who is at the Frederick home in this city. Sergeant Frederick, who is a survivor of the Greely north pole expedition, is in a critical condition. Mr. McDonnell has been working with Frederick in the latter's plans to make a dash for the north pole by using an air ship.

Henry C. Ide Succeeds Wright.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 28.—President Roosevelt announced that Hon. Henry C. Ide, at present a member of the Philippine commission, would be designated as vice governor of the Philippines in succession to General Luke E. Wright when the latter assumes the office of governor general. Mr. Ide has been a member of the commission for several years and is held in high esteem by the president and the officials of the war department.

Train Went Through Bridge.

CRESTON, Ia., Aug. 28.—At Kent, Ia., the engine and seventeen cars of a freight train on the Burlington road went through a bridge that had been weakened by the high water, carrying down with it the engineer and fireman. Both escaped by swimming to shore. Rain fell over Creston and vicinity for six hours, washing tracks out and destroying much stacked hay and grain. The storm was the worst ever known in this vicinity.

Jessie Miles Dead From Carbolic.

FARMINGTON, Conn., Aug. 28.—Despondent because she feared she would become permanently lame, Miss Jessie Miles, aged twenty-three, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Miles, well known and respected people of this town, took her own life by drinking carbolic acid. She was a young woman of much personal charm.

Fire Blocks Tunnel.

ROANOKE, Va., Aug. 28.—A stubborn fire is raging in Craigen tunnel on the Clinch Valley division of the Norfolk and Western railway near Virginia City, Va. The tunnel is lined with heavy timbers and was discovered on fire 300 feet from the east entrance. Traffic is blocked.

A TRAIN DYNAMITED

Insurgents Wreck Budapest Express Near Kuleli Burgas.

TWO CARS DESTROYED, MANY KILLED

Infernal Machine Believed to Have Been Put on the Express at Sofia Timed to Wreck Two Trains.

SOFIA, Aug. 28.—A dispatch from Constantinople says that the appointment of Marshal Ibrahim Pasha to command the troops in Macedonia has been canceled and the command has been given to General Nassir Pasha, a capable officer, who commanded the brigade sent to pacify the Albanians earlier in the year.

The east bound daily express from Budapest to Constantinople was blown up near Kuleli Burgas, about twenty-five miles south of Adrianople.

The bomb which wrecked the train was thrown by a third class passenger who was in the buffet car. Two cars were destroyed. The dead include two Mussulman women, two children and three train men.

The train which was wrecked was waiting for the arrival of another from the Salonika Junction. The railway officials now believe that the infernal machine was placed in the train here and that the clockwork was timed to bring about an explosion on the meeting of the two trains.

A report from Uskub says that the Turks are very bitter toward the Europeans, believing it to be their intention to drive the Turks out of Europe. Hostile action by any European power will be the signal for the massacre of every European in European Turkey. Another serious danger is the fear of a rising in Albania, where there are now only 10,000 Turkish troops left.

Fights are reported from several districts around Adrianople. The insurgents are now besieging the town of Malkoternovo. At Ziknishor, near Malkoternovo, after an engagement lasting eleven hours the revolutionists killed forty Turkish soldiers and also burned the village of Hodgetalashnan because its Bashibazouk inhabitants had terrorized the Christian population in the neighborhood.

The porte is greatly alarmed at the revolutionary outbreak in the vilayet of Adrianople, its proximity to the sultan's capital occasioning much more concern than the extensive insurrection in the more distant province of Monastir. The Turkish guards along the Bulgarian frontier have fled before the revolutionaries, who are now in possession of all the villages around Malkoternovo. The Turkish government is making the utmost efforts to suppress the rebellion in the vilayet of Uskub. Every available man has been called out, from the last lines of reserves to the rawest recruits, indicating the most complete mobilization possible.

The train outrage near Kuleli Burgas will have, it is thought, a very damaging effect on the Turkish government, showing at once the strength of the insurgents and the weakness of the Turkish authorities, who, in spite of the warnings received days ago that the trains would be attacked, have proved themselves unable to protect the passengers. Opinion is divided in diplomatic circles as to the effect the incident will have upon the Macedonian cause. It is thought in some quarters likely to alienate the sympathy of the powers. On the other hand, it is argued that the insurgents do not want sympathy, but intervention, which may come all the quicker if they demonstrate that the porte cannot even protect its own railways.

The Macedonian leaders here are not disposed to offer any excuses for the train outrage. They assert that a state of war exists in Macedonia and that it is not in their interest that the train service should be maintained, as it would facilitate the movement of troops employed against them. They assert that the responsibility rests with the Turkish government, which insists upon the railways carrying passengers.

Forty Turkish officers have been ordered to return to Constantinople to answer for the outrages committed at Kruschevo.

The police have discovered a tunnel leading under the konak of Prince Ferdinand. It is thirty yards long and, it is believed, was constructed with the intention of blowing up the palace.

Populist Convention Nominates.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 28.—The Populist state convention nominated the following ticket: Governor, L. H. Weller of Nashua; lieutenant governor, S. T. Harvey of Des Moines; judge of the supreme court, J. A. Lowenberg of Ottumwa. The Omaha platform of 1902 was indorsed, and the adoption of the initiative and referendum was favored in all state and national elections.

A Bridge Dynamited.

MISSOULA, Mont., Aug. 28.—Sam Cohn, a middle aged man, who says he is from Spokane, confessed that he blew up the Northern Pacific bridge at Livingston last month. When arrested near Arlee he was trying to buy dynamite to blow up the Moran trestle near Missoula.

In compiling that booklet on New Jersey's advantages Mr. Meeker should "forget it" when coming to the subject of Trusts.

"Reliance wins; cup is safe," proclaims The Daily Home News, of New Brunswick, in the bold headlines of its report of yesterday's race.

Every time that cup is taken out of the vault it has to be polished. Those bloody Englishmen should at least be courteous enough to pay for the whiting.

"Sir Thomas Lipton still has hopes," says an exchange. Well, he is welcome to take them home with him but as for the cup—"Nay, nay, Pauline."

The Westerly, R. I. Sun says:

"Mr. Roosevelt will not be re-elected president in 1904. That is so sure a fact that one cannot even make a bet on the proposition."

There's a wonderful man in The Sun's editorial chair.

One of our suffering contemporaries delivers himself as follows:

"The men who spend the most money with the paper kick the least.

"If you expect a man to find a compliment about himself, you must put in on the front page in boldface type."

In its report of the failure of Assemblyman Hall, who was bitterly opposed at the polls by his party in this city, The Trenton True American says that one of his principal creditors is Chairman Hamilton Kean, the amount of the indebtedness being $1,500.

It might be added that he owes Mr. Kean a greater debt than that representing a pecuniary obligation.

Rather a dangerous form of amusement is that indulged in by boys who shoot arrows into the air on the public streets. Some youngsters on Grove street recently were enjoying the pastime, sending the missiles towards the clouds in utter disregard for the possibility of their landing on the heads of passers-by. The only precaution taken against accidents was the shouting of the warning "heads," in tones sufficient to excite the stoutest heart, and tending to induce the victim to raise his head involuntarily and thereby incur the danger of receiving the arrow in his eye. There can be no objection to the arrow shooting; it is doubtless the best of sport. The only "kick" coming is on the choice of the shooting gallery.

SIR THOMAS' GALLANTRY

IRISH KNIGHT PRESENTS SOUVENIR TO MISS MAZIE COLLINS.

Guest of Lipton on Board Erin—Received a Sprig of Scotch Heather.

Miss Mazie Collins, formerly of Plainfield, treasures a souvenir, the gift of the owner of Shamrock III. Miss Collins, a daughter of George E. Collins, of Westfield, who has offices in this city, was the guest of Sir Thomas Lipton on the Erin last Saturday.

The family is spending a short vacation at the "Norwood," Branchport, and Miss Collins was invited to be one of a party on Seaman's handsome cabin launch. The plan included stopping at Seabright to pick up the Alexander family, who are at the Octagon, after which they proceeded to the horseshoe, where all boarded the Erin and spent a delightful day.

The souvenir received by Miss Collins is a sprig of Scotch heather which the genial Irish knight detached from his button-hole and presented to her when she wished him good luck.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

An ice cream and watermelon festival was held in the chapel of the Presbyterian Church last night and despite the unpleasantness of the weather a large number were present. The local band rendered several selections which met with considerable applause. This is the first time the band has appeared in public this year and their excellent showing ought to be an encouragement for them.

The first of the series of five games, which have been arranged between Bound Brook and the Dunellen A. C., will be played tomorrow afternoon on the Madison avenue grounds. The game promises to be a good one and a good crowd of rooters would be a welcome factor in winning the game.

The local fire department held its regular monthly meeting last night in the Town Hall and transacted routine business. The members were summoned to the meeting by ringing the old steel tire, but there was little danger of the sound reaching those who lived over a block away.

The Watchungs have no game scheduled for tomorrow. Several members of the team think that last Saturday's score of 24-1 is about the limit and it is time to disband for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. George Craig, Misses Carrie Heyle, Mary Hunt, Mary and Nellie Baldwin, from the borough, took in the excursion to West Point, Wednesday.

Uncalled for letters in the postoffice are addressed to Mrs. Samuel Mc Mahon, W. H. Farley, Esq., Frank Nyce, Mrs. Marion Russell and Peter McMillian.

A new flag sidewalk has been laid in front of the Lincoln schoolhouse, which adds considerably to the appearance of the property.

Miss Lizzie Hunt, accompanied by some friends from Flushing, N. Y., is spending two weeks at the White Mountains.

Mrs. Samuel B. Merrell has been entertaining her cousin, Mrs. Mary Thickston, of South Plainfield, this week.

The Misses Nellie and Julia Dodwell have returned after spending a week with relatives at Manasquan.

Miss Ella Boice will leave tomorrow for Gladstone, N. J., where she will spend her vacation visiting friends.

Dunellen was represented at the Smith picnic at Peapack, Wednesday, by Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Todd.

Blanchard Gardner has returned home after spending a week with friends in Slatington, Pa.

John Gray, of Irvington, is visiting his brother, Alva Gray, this week.

John McMahon was in New York yesterday on business.

NEW MARKET.

An open-air concert will be given on Nelson's lawn, this evening, by the local band. A collection will be taken up to enlarge the fund which is being raised to procure suits for the members.

The Y. M. A. has been disappointed in its baseball schedule and, as a result, it has no game for tomorrow. It would be an excellent scheme to spend the day practicing.

Rev. L. Livermore and family have returned after spending three weeks visiting friends in Connecticut.

Charles M. Kelley has broken ground on Prospect avenue for a new house.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Herbert Clark, son of H. B. Clark, and Miss Florence Glover, daughter of George Glover, both of the borough, have sprung a surprise upon their friends by announcing their marriage, which took place at the parsonage of the Methodist Church, Rahway, on Saturday night of last week. Their friends had no idea that they contemplated matrimony. The paternal blessing has been received and the happy couple is receiving congratulations of their friends.

The local ball team cross bats tomorrow afternoon on the local diamond with the St. Mary's team, of Plainfield. As this is the first home game the fans have witnessed in three weeks, the attendance should be a record breaker. The visitors are one of the strongest teams Plainfield has, and with Hughes, the ex-league pitcher in the box for them, should keep the locals guessing from start to finish.

Manager Johnston, of the ball team, will present this lineup against St. Mary's tomorrow: Skeggs, lf; Brogan, c; Davis, p; Allen, 1b; Williams, 3b; Cruzius, ss; Bosterli, 2b; Kavanagh, rf; Flannery, cf. Skeggs, who is to cover left field, is a one armed player but comes well recommneded from the lovers of the game in Brooklyn.

The following have been appointed members of the Registry Board for the township by the County Board: William Peniston, Samuel Lee, George H. Johnston, Joseph Clark. The Board meets to organize and start the yearly canvass for voters on Tuesday morning in the town rooms.

After hanging fire for several months, the sale of the Muhlenberg property on Bartle and Stout avenues, has been consumated, the deed being delivered several days ago to H. C. Meyers. The deal was made through Real Estate Agent Thomas M. Paff, Sr.

The St. Mary's team, of Plainfield, who are to play the locals tomorrow expect to have "Terry" McGovern covering second base for them. The only way the locals can get even is to play young Corbett.

Weekly prayer meeting will be held tonight at the Methodist and Baptist Churches, part of the hour's service at the latter church will be devoted to a study of the Sunday-school lesson for Sunday.

(Race suicide—no danger in the village and borough. Eight marriages during the past two months have taken place and several more are promised within a short time.)

Miss Ethel Priest, of Huguenot, S. I., who has been the guest for a week of Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Shott, at "The Manse," has returned home.

Miss Louisa Meyers is spending a week with Mrs. George Johnston, who is spending August at Bay Shore, L. I.

Mrs. Augusta Miller, who has been enjoying a week's stay at Asbury Park, returned home yesterday.

Rev. G. M. Shott will occupy the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist Church on Sunday.

Dr. J. Ackerman Coles and sister will spend part of the fall and winter in New York.

John Johnston, of Plainfield, was the guest of relatives in town Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Medhurst are entertaining friends from New York, for a week.

Miss Louise Robison, of the borough, is entertaining out-of-town friends.

Miss Gertrude Smalley has recovered from a recent sickness.

Mrs. H. Hand, of Plainfield, has been visiting friends in town.

Gere Paff was the guest, Thursday, of friends at Bound Brook.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The Misses May and Lena Pyatt are spending a week with their uncle, Chris Grey, of Metuchen.

Mrs. Gertie Carroll, of New York, is boarding with Mrs. Mary N. Pyatt, of Clinton avenue.

There will be a peach and ice cream festival Wednesday, September 9th in Washington Hall.

—Super-fine peaches at Neuman Bros'. Watchung avenue store. One hundred baskets of Old Mixen, Reeve's Favorite and Alberta fruit on sale early tomorrow morning. White and yellow varieties for table use and canning.

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by L. W. Randolph.

STRAWRIDE FOR CHILDREN

NEW YORK MAN ENTERTAINS FRESH AIR HOME CHILDREN.

Illustrated Lecture at Night by George E. Hall—Now 200 Children at Institution.

One of great pleasure for the children at the Netherwood Fresh Air Home, was an outing given for their benefit yesterday. During the day Mr. Buckstein, of New York, who is spending the summer here, and his granddaughter, Miss Margaret Hayes, gave the children a straw ride in a large stage. There were over one hundred children in the load. A trip in and around Scotch Plains was taken and before the return home all were generously supplied with candy and apples.

After a hearty supper last night, another treat was given the children in the form of an illustrated lecture by George E. Hall, superintendent of the Park Avenue Baptist Church Sunday-school. The pictures were of a varied sort. During the exhibition Mr. Hall gave a talk, explaining the different views. The entertainment proved to be one of much interest to all. There are now over two hundred children and mothers at the Home and all are getting along well under Miss Curry's direction.

Carlos. C. Gallup, of West Front street, is enjoying a two weeks' sojourn at Delaware Water Gap.

Charles Leighs, of West Fourth street, is visiting the Hope Chapel campers at Lake Hopatcong.

—Mr. and Mrs. William McConnell, of North avenue, are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby daughter. The little woman weighs seven pounds and both mother and daughter are doing well.

DEN OF YOUNG SKUNKS

The Naturalist Visits This Odoriferous Animal in Its Home.

Finds the Little Creature a Most Interesting Subject of Study and Not Nearly So Bad as His Smell Would Indicate.

In the early part of last May, I called at a skunk burrow where I was pretty well known, and, as I flatter myself, pretty well liked, since I was in the habit of carry around dainties in the way of raw beef, or a chicken now and then, when I wished to coax the inmates within range of a camera hidden in the bushes nearby. On the occasion I fairly held my breath with delight, when I beheld, just inside the burrow, several baby skunks, two or three days old, tugging away at their mother, who lay on her side that they might have every opportunity. Whether she was dozing, or whether she was regarding her infants with maternal admiration, I do not know, for her head was hidden in the darkness, but her tail was in full view, and as I came nearer I saw it raised slowly over her back with a sort of "clear the decks for action" movement, which was very impressive, since I was well within range of the guns. For be it known to any who know it not already, that a skunk's tail, so far from being used as means of flinging the defensive fluid, is always held carefully up, out of the way, when the animal goes into action. The fluid itself, which is secreted by two glands about the size of hickory-nuts, one on each side of the tail, is expelled in two fine streams through two nipples, with which the glands are provided. I saw that any sudden movement on my part might be misunderstood by the anxious mother, and as I was particularly anxious to avoid any misunderstanding in this case, I sat quietly down and waited. Gradually the expressive tail was lowered, and I began to speak in my most soothing tones. I knew that the animal would recognize the sound of my voice, and I hoped that this would rid her of any fear she might have at my approach. My hopes were justified, for in a few minutes I was kneeling at the mouth of the burrow, and the mother skunk who had raised her head as though to make sure there was no mistake, sniffed at me over her shoulder with seeming indifference. Then she laid her head down again, and I made so bold as to touch her fur with my hand. In an instant the tail flew upward, and I felt that the supreme moment had come.

"Hello, old lady," I said, in the tone she had always heard me use, and at the same time I stroked her fur very gently. The effect was reassuring. Very slowly the tail was lowered to the ground, and as I continued to stroke the fur, the animal stretched herself with an unmistakable air of contentment. Now for the next step. Gently I worked my hand forward, until I could grasp one of the babies, and gently I loosened his hold on his mother, and drew him from the burrow. Carefully I arose to my feet, and once clear of the mouth of the burrow, I set off home, at a rather immoderate pace, to photograph the infant skunk, and to make notes on him at my leisure.

Within an hour I returned to the burrow, and by this time the little skunk was hungry and giving vent to strange, rather shrill, vibratory squeaks. I had no desire to tempt Providence again so soon, so I set the little fellow on the ground near the den and retiring to a respectful distance, awaited developments. The cries of the baby increased when he found himself on the cold ground, and in a moment the weasel-like head of the mother appeared at the entrance of the burrow. She sniffed right and left, and then came out to look for the crying infant. She soon saw him, and advancing, with her peculiar waddling gait, picked him up by the skin of his neck with her teeth, and backed into the burrow with him.

The next time I visited the den, I found the little family much further from the opening, and it was with some difficulty that I succeeded in getting hold of one of the children. When I did get one out, I placed him at same distance from the entrance, and, instead of going away, I remained near the hole until the mother came forth to find him. Then was my opportunity, and, putting in my hand, I brought out the rest of the babies, five in all, and while the mother was busy with them I quickly blocked the far end of the hole with stones. Had I not done this, the old skunk might have spoiled all future chance for observation by carrying the little ones far back out of reach. As it was, I visited the family daily for weeks, photographing the little ones at all stages of their development, and making notes which I hope to publish in a future article of this series. The mother became more and more easy to approach, and before the end of a fortnight she would allow me to pat her and scratch her head.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors
BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.
BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.
LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW
BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.
BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.
LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT
BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.
BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

WHAT IS WORN.

Tailor Mades For the Morning. White All the Rage.

The plateau hat and the French sailor are worn with the walking skirt. Picture hats, with their ostrich plumes, are reserved for dressy wear. Stringa are much worn, and the 1830 hat is by no means out of favor. The latter will be revived again for the autumn, and brown will be again the color, although navy and pastel blues will also be much worn.

In the morning the smart woman still clings to the tailor made, and it is for her that the tailor invents his little softening effects of embroideries, tassels, etc., which appear on even the most useful coat and skirt costumes.

White is still all the rage, and this embraces every sort of fabric from velling to cloth and hopsacking. A white china silk gown seen recently was inserted with medallions of black chantilly lace, with an outer edging of coarse cream crochet. The bodice, made in blouse fashion, had a kind of double pelerine collar cut open to show a vest made entirely of lace medallions. The medallions also outlined the shaped hip piece and were continued down the front. They also decorated the frill flounce which was put in just below the knees.

The picture shows an elaborate gown of chiffon trimmed with fine cream lace and black velvet.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Taffeta Coats—Plaid Dresses Are the Latest Thing.

During the summer some charming coats have been made of taffeta, and of course this is an ideal fabric, for the dust is very easily brushed off, and with a plain silk or satin lining it is beautifully cool. Some of the Paris models are made with a hood.

A good many French women are wearing plaids, and a very effective costume seen recently had a kilted skirt of the plaid reaching just to the ankles worn with a plain dark green silk shirt to tone and a three-quarter length coat, also of plaid, finished with a plain green silk hood which could be brought right over the head.

A TAILOR MADE.

For traveling three-quarter coats are certainly the most useful, but full length ones are often more [illegible]. These, however, are not to drag down the skirts and add to their weight.

The picture shows a serviceable tailor made of gray homespun.

CHAPTER IV.

A QUARREL.

Jane's eyes, when they recognized him, flashed with anger. Godfrey Worthington here, one of this mob who had overridden her father's premises, had destroyed his property, and might, for aught they cared, have slain the members of his household!

One of the mob, did she say? Nay, was it not likely that he was their leader—their instigator—the one who had brought them here? She saw it all now. His visits that day had been but to spy upon her guests, with this very object in view. A note from Mary, indeed. It was but a mere blind!

Meanwhile the solitary horseman was having a pretty hot fight upon his hands. When the Americans retreated, most of the British force gave them chase, and Godfrey was left upon the field with some half-dozen opponents, whom his accomplished horsemanship and his deft use of rifle and sword enabled him to keep at bay. All would have gone well had not an English captain, as he was about to enter the woods with a company of men, turned and seen the conflict. Calling to his soldiers to follow him, he ran to the rescue.

Seeing that he was about to be surrounded, young Worthington attempted to repeat his dash of the morning, but he was too late. Already the British were upon three sides of him, and his only recourse was to back his horse towards the house and thus fight off all comers. Turning his head as he backed towards the porch, he saw standing within its columns Jane.

"My God, Jane," he cried, in a voice in which commingled sharp command and earnest entreaty, "get within the house. You are in danger here."

Jane gazed at him with such cold scorn that, had not the young man been so much heated by his exertions, he must have been frozen stiff.

"Go, go," he supplicated again. "You will be shot if you remain."

But Jane disdainfully held her ground, and Godfrey was forced to turn his attention from her to his antagonists. Taking advantage of his momentary preoccupation, they were pressing him close. The little captain, a bantam of a man, made a pass at him with his sword that barely missed its work. Bending from his saddle, the American, with an adroit blow of his sword, knocked the weapon from the other's grasp and, catching him by the collar, dragged him up in front of him.

Holding him thus, though the other kicked and squirmed and swore in language not choice for Jane's ears, he held him as a shield while he maneuvered his horse, backing and sidling and seeking an avenue of escape.

The soldiers, afraid to fire lest they should hit their captain, and lost too, as all soldiers are except American, without a leader upon the ground to tell them what to do, held their weapons in readiness but used them not, while the captain, sputtering and twisting and writhing, tried in vain to loose the grasp of iron which held him.

Thrusting his sword through his saddle-strap and taking his pistol from his belt with his left hand, the American circled his horse, firing as he did so. In the momentary demoralization that followed, when each of the soldiers felt that he was the target, Godfrey had time to dash away, and though bullets sped after him they did not serve to slacken his progress.

Jane, left alone upon the porch, without further notice being taken of her presence there, felt unreasonable resentment that it should be so.

"Traitorous spy," she said to herself, "little would he care were I slain if he might accomplish his dastardly ends."

The brilliancy had died out of the scene. The outbuildings which had been ablaze were either smouldering or completely out. The only building which had burned to the ground, and which was the one that had accidentally been set afire by the invaders, was a supplementary stable in which had been quartered many of the British horses that could not find accommodations in the main stable. In breaking open the door and releasing the horses a torch had caught the straw in a stall and the conflagration ensued.

The handful of soldiers who had been left upon the premises went about gathering up the camp equipage, which had been badly scattered in the melee, and caring for the wounded comrades who had been left behind in the general pursuit of the Americans. Jane ordered these carried into the house, and made cots for them in the wide hall, turning the residence into a temporary hospital.

She had just finished breakfast when an orderly arrived with a note from Bessemer, filled with grateful appreciation of her hospitality to him and his men, and with regret that it should have caused her to be the victim of an unmannerly invasion by a horde of ruthless desperadoes, upon whose trail he and his soldiers were then hot.

Jane thought it a most mannerly note, and if some of the sentences were so fulsome as to almost draw from her a smile, she was yet accustomed to such gallantries, having spent two winters in Charleston with her mother's Hugenot relatives, mingling in that polite society whose daily conversation was a shower of bouquets; though, indeed, sometimes the bouquets were made of flowers which pricked.

She could not but contrast Bessemer's polished deference with Worthington's more abrupt ways. What had her stepmother so often termed Godfrey—a rude boor? And she, Jane, had ever come to his defense; yet what thanks did she get? He would have roasted her alive in her father's house without a qualm in order that he and his lawless band might slaughter those who were her guests.

The next few days, after Bessemer had sent to take away his wounded and she had no longer their care to occupy her, were lonely ones for Jane. She was tempted to follow the advice her stepmother had given her before leaving home and send for some of her girl friends to keep her company, but the mail brought her such unfavorable news of her father's condition that she had little heart for the entertainment of guests, and, moreover, the war had either estranged or separated from her those whom she liked best.

Even her own Aunt Susannah, to whom her heart turned more warmly than to any of her other relatives and whose affection for herself she could not doubt, had vowed never to step her foot within her brother-in-laws's door as long as his Tory wife was its mistress. This rupture was brought about by one of those caustic speeches for which Jane's stepmother had no little reputation in the neighborhood.

Jane knew her aunt too well not to realize that she would keep her word; but if she would not come to Jane, at least Jane might go to her, so one morning she ordered the carriage and set out for her Uncle Elijah's in no little state, for, though her stepmother had taken the gilded coach with its painted panels and its six black horses to Charleston that she might impress her royalist friends there and overawe her husband's first wife's relatives, yet the equipage in which Jane set forth with its maroon cushions and its two negroes on the box seat in their white-and-maroon livery made an attractive appearance.

The sunlight flashed on its polished lamps and turned into gold such of the hair of its fair occupant as could be seen under her beribboned bonnet. On the front seat facing her sat Aunt Rachel and Mammy Anne. Jane, always a kind and considerate mistress, had not the heart to make a visit to their old home without taking with her as many of her Uncle Elijah's former retainers as she could. Neither of the men upon the box seat was a regular Ellery coachman. One was Gabriel and the other was Absalom, who had been her Uncle Elijah's footman until the reverses came.

The faces of the darkies beamed with satisfaction, except that of Jane's black mammy, who resented having her drive with her mistress shared by Aunt Rachel. In truth, no little jealousy existed between the two old women, and their mistress' affection was the bone of contention.

The day was as brilliant as brilliant could be—filled, indeed, with that sparkling brilliance never seen save after a hard storm, for the night before there had been another of those South Carolina tempests which, having its birth in the sea, augmented its force as it swept across the marshes and threshed itself out among the woods.

JAPAN'S FESTIVALS

Land Where Flowers Are Worshiped and Admired by All Classes.

August Is the Month When the Lotus Blooms and Fetes Are Held in Its Honor—Many Other Flower Festivals.

The dweller in the western hemisphere views the far away island kingdom of Japan as a sort of fairy land, where everything is in miniature, nature is always beautiful and life is one gay, sweet song. That it is a land of festivals is true. It is said that when the old Chinese calendar was in use the twelve-month was actually divided into 365 fete days. The death of former sovereigns, the birthdays of saints and princes, and the days when the favorite flowers budded, were so many excuses for fairs and spectacles, festivals and amusements. But western ideas have pushed their way into Japan and the year has been subdivided officially according to the western way, but flower worship still sways the hearts of the people, and the seasons of bloom and blossom still divide its popularity into the time of camelia, the plum, the cherry, the wisteria, the lotus, the chrysanthemum and the maple. We speak of spring or autumn while the Japanese as naturally say the season of the cherry or the maple leaves, for they inherit from many generations of flower-loving ancestors a gayety an enthusiastic spirit which they only could throw into nature-festivals.

During the present month the great lotus show is in progress. All the pink buds sacred to Buddha over the whole of Japan open at sunrise. The people from the upper classes to the lower are sensitive to the beauties of the blossom and devote much time to visits to the places where the flowers may be seen in their most gorgeous luxuriance. The lotus festival is most beautiful, it is said, at Kamakura. There, in the grounds dedicated to Hachiman, god of war, acres of fields half under water form beds for the great flowers and their bluish-green plates of leaves. In cities like Nagoya, which boast old feudal castles, the triple moats become solid floors of leaves from which the pink and white blossoms rise. The enchanted beholders look down from the little overhanging tea houses into the very heart of them.

A LOTUS BED DURING THE FESTIVAL MONTH

The coming of autumn is heralded by the blooming of the chrysanthemum, and the beginning of the festival of the kiku finds the gardens blazoned with vivid reds, yellows and pinks. The emperor's birthday falls upon the third of November, and by a curious coincidence the sixteen petaled chrysanthemum is the imperial crest, which combination of circumstances invests the flowers with an especial dignity and importance. The second imperial garden party is given when the chrysanthemums are in bloom, but these wonderful flowers are not reserved for royalty. Indeed, westerners never cease to marvel how the most gorgeous flowers, which an American florist would sell for several dollars apiece, are bought by the poorest Japanese for a few coppers.

The early springtime brings with it the starrying of the plum trees with the pink and white flowers, followed very soon after by the bursting of the cherry blossoms, calling the flower-loving Jap to renewed rejoicing and more devotion. June is the month for the iris fetes at Horikiri, where these beautiful, sedate lilies stretch away in long lines. Then follow a host of flower festivals too numerous to mention. But we must speak of the wonderful July flower, the wisteria, which is the finest feature of every pretentious garden. Scarcely a householder but boasts his trellis of purple glory. A peculiarity of the love of the Japanese for the flowers is their recognition and devotion to the different varieties in their turn. They do not enjoy great, confused masses of different flowers, but delight to see each flower group by itself. On this characteristic Sir Edwin Arnold says:

"The Japanese are, perhaps, the only people who do not allow the flowers to embarrass or overwhelm them. Sensitive in every nerve to the glory of line and splendor of color in nature, they economize their admiration and confine it to a profound enjoyment of a few, instead of the wholesale collection indulged in by western people. They would no more regard one of our vast bouquets or bowpots as a proper mode of arranging flowers than we should call the motley crowd of spectators in the pit of a theater an evening party. Their leading idea, entirely opposite to ours, is to get the full delight of shape and outline of natural balance and contrast from one or two floral specimens, and by no means to mass and thereby confuse them so that even the truest eye and most subtle nostrils become bewildered in the tumult of beauty, like the ass of Buridanus between his equal bundles of hay."

PRESIDENT LOUBET

French Ruler Has Attracted Attention by International Visits.

A Little Gossipy Talk About the Present Head of the French Republic and His Predecessors in Office.

The recent prominence given to M. Emile Loubet, the seventh president of the third French republic, because of his recent international visits, lends a new interest to him and to those who have occupied his position before him.

Of all the seven presidents there was not one whose advent looked less promising that that of M. Emile Loubet. Yet it is an absolute fact that not one of his six predecessors managed to secure as much goodwill as he from all parties in the state. The kindly feeling toward him is not due to transcendent abilities or boldness of initiative on his part, for he lays no claim to either of these qualities—if qualities they be nowadays in any but an autocratic ruler. But there is a bonhomie about the man which every one of his predecessors lacked; that which passed muster as such with Jules Grevy being a more or less palpable imitation, according to the degree of propinquity from which one had the opportunity of judging. Gambetta, who approached very closely, called the third president of the republic "Machiavel-Prudhomme"—in other words, a "spurious good sort"—and he was not far wrong.

Grevy suffered, moreover, from the besetting sin of nearly all Frenchmen springing from the middle classes, though perhaps not to the same extent as Thiers—namely, rapaciousness, a fault from which Loubet is particularly and remarkably free. Accident—for it would be idle to call it anything else—has also befriended him by mating him with an open-handed wife, cordial, unpretending, and naturally—as distinct from artificially—amiable to all, but especially to her husband's cronies, for whom she personally prepared her choicest dishes and whom she entertained jovially in their flat in the Rue de Tournon while the official residence of the president of the senate—the Luxembourg—was deserted.

Thiers when he became president of the republic had a very ambiguous political past to atone for; Emile Loubet has never served any other regime. Thiers was the reverse of generous to his relatives, who, it is true, were not very creditable. Loubet is most solicitous about the welfare of his kinsmen, and particularly affectionate to his mother. Family affection counts for much in France, albeit that generally it is based upon greed, which is not the case with Loubet, for old Madame Loubet lived in humble circumstances before her son's political star reached the ascendant, and to a great extent continues to live in a similar manner.

The tragic death of M. Sadi Carnot contributed much to the creation of an exaggerated, not to say a false, halo around him after his demise. His name was of incalculable benefit to him during his presidency. He was a civil engineer of respectable attainments, but nothing more. An act of simple and elementary integrity brought him to the fore when Grevy was forced to resign the presidency of the republic. It became known that Carnot had refused to pass a shady transaction involving the misappropriation of a couple of millions of francs while he was in office. It seemed as if the Diogeneses of the third republic, with all their lanterns alight, were baffled to find another honest man, and Carnot was elected. There was another honest man—there were more than that one—but they had made themselves disagreeable, not only to their colleagues of the chamber and senate, but to the Parisians in general, who would hear neither of Jules Ferry nor of Henri Brisson, mainly on account of their nonsociable qualities. It is a significant fact that, notwithstanding the hints against Emile Loubet in connection with the Panama affair, he was elected to the presidency by a considerable majority. Of course M. Loubet had to stand the onslaught of a great portion of the Parisian press, including not only the organs of M. Drumont and M. Rochefort, but those inspired by such men as M. Jules Lemaitre and M. Paul de Cassagnac. And when all these had exhausted their vocabulary of vilification of the moral, intellectual and political man, they took to criticising his personal appearance and his clothes. They had voted Felix Faure too much of a dandy; they had bantered M. Casimir-Perier about his turn-down collar; they called Loubet a frotteur enciminanche—a "floor polisher in his Sunday clothes." They reminded people of Adele Page, the actress, who at one time voted Henri Murger "too Lacky dressed," and the next "too well dressed."

SPORTING NEWS.

WITH THE PLAYERS.

Cox, who early in the season played short stop for Alis and afterward organized a team of his own in New Brunswick, has been signed by Manager John Owens, of St. Mary's team, for the balance of the season. He will cover thi.d base.

Manager John McLaughlin announces the following line-up for Alis in the game with Westfield on Crescent Oval tomorrow: Kavanaugh, ss; Gormley, cf; Quinby, 2b; Richardson, 1b; Murray, c; Barnes, rf; Gastmeyer, 3b; Lederer, lf; McLaughlin, p. This is exactly the same team that played St. Mary's team a week ago and there is no reason why Alis should not give their opponents from Mount Ararat a good game. There are strong hopes that Alis will win tomorrow. The game will be called at 3:45 sharp.

The local lodges of Colored Masons and Colored Odd Fellows battled on the diamond at St. Mary's Field, yesterday afternoon, and chased each other around the bases at random for nine innings of truly remarkable play. The Odd Fellows swiped the ball more lustily and made fewer errors than their opponents, overwhelming them by the magnificent score of 32 to 12. The line-up was: Odd Fellows—Hoskins, p; Smith, c; Stevenson, 1b; Dempsey, 2b; Johnson, 3b; Cobb, ss; Carter, lf; Webley cf; Anderson, rf. Masons—Johnson, p; Austin, c; Jones, 1b; Venable, 2b; Ramson, 3b; Anderson, ss; Herbert, rf; Connett, cf; Cole, lf. The clubs will meet again id two or three weeks. Jones is manager of the Masonic Club and Austin is captain. Hopkins manages for the Odd Fellows and Stevenson guides the destinies of the team on the field.

TENNIS.

On account of the bad weather, yesterday and today, no more match tennis has been played at the Cedar Brook Tennis Club, and the courts are being put in condition for tournament play tomorrow.

Pleased with the success of the recent singles championship tennis tournament, six members of the senior department of the Y. M. C. A., have neutered a double's championship contest shortly to be started. The men are pairing off in teams and some good tennis is looked for when the match gets under way.

Mrs. Swalm Burried.

The body of Mrs. Maria Swalm, who died Wednesday, was taken to Brooklyn this morning for interment in Greenwood Cemetery. The funeral services were held here at the residence of her son, Albertus Swalm, of West Front street. Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed Church, officiated.

Violated Ordinance.

Charles Barry was brought before Recorder Dond, of the borough, last night, charged with allowing his horse and cows to wander through the streets. The Recorder imposed a fine of five dollars, which Barry paid.

INSPECTING BATTLE SHAFT

THE COMMISSIONERS TO VISIT STATE MONUMENT AT ANTIETAM.

Description of Memorial—Arrangements for Dedication on September 17.

The New Jersey Commission on Antietam Battlefield Monument visits the site this week and inspects the work for acceptance. The monument, from base to the tip of Capt. Irish's sword, is forty feet. It is being erected at the junction of Cornfield avenue and the Hagerstown Pike. It will have an hexagonal die, on the six sides of which will be placed bronze tablets for each of the six Jersey organizations which participated in the battle. The commands that were in the fight were the First New Jersey brigade, at that time consisting of the First, Second, Third and Fourth New Jersey Infantry, the Thirteenth New Jersey Infantry and Battery A, better known as Hexamer's Battery.

The Commission obtained from the last Legislature $7,500 to enable it to finish the work and pay for the transportation to Antietam and return of all survivors of the six New Jersey organizations that participated in the battle. An effort is now being made by the Commissioners, through the several veteran organizations representing these organizations, to notify the veterans of this opportunity to visit the historic field and determine how many will take advantage of it.

The Commissioners will furnish transportation free to such as are entitled to it by having served in any one of these organizations at this battle. A rate of $7 for the round trip, including an opportunity to visit the Gettysburg field will be made for the friends of the veterans or any others who may wish to participate in this dedicatory excursion; tickets good for September 16 to 19 inclusive.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

Rev. T. E. Davis, of this city, had charge of the Rescue Mission meeting last night.

Rev. Dr. Charles B. Mitchell, of Clevelandd, will preach at Vincent chapel Sunday morning and at the Grace M. E. church in the borough in the evening.

More than one hundred deaconesses of the Methodist Episcopal Church, together with five bishops of the same denomination, are holding a conference at Ocean Grove in relation to the work oj the deaconesses.

A rumor was current in New York last night that Bishop Doane, of Albany, was dying at North East Harbor, Me. He is a prelate of the Episcopal Church and is a brother of Monsignor Doane, of the Roman Catholic diocese of Newark.

BEHIND CLOSED PORTALS

HAPPENINGS OF THE LOCAL FRATERNAL ORDERS.

The German Beneficient Society met last night for its regular monthly discussion of business.

There will be six initiates received into the local order of the Knights of the Golden Eagle at the next regular Tuesday night meeting.

Central Lodge, Ancient Order United Workmen, initiated three candidates last evening, after which the members had a social time with refreshments.

Arranging for Parade.

Preparations are being made by the West End Hose Company, of North Plainfield, for the Labor Day parade at Boontown, in which the company is to take part. The hose wagon was today taken to Conroy's wagon shop where it will be repainted and redecorated for the parade.

HEALTH OFFICER EXAMINATION

STATE BOARD TO COMPEL OBEDIENCE TO NEW LAW.

Health Officers and Inspectors Must Pass Required Examination —Soon Becomes Effective.

The State health authorities are preparing to take advantage of an act passed by the last Legislature providing that every applicant for the position of sanitary inspector must pass an examination before he can receive an appointment. "Every such examination," says the law, "shall be in such subjects and conducted in such a maner as the Board of Health of the State of New Jersey shall direct." Under the law it is provided that the State Board shall issue licenses of four classes—health officers, sanitary inspectors of the first class, sanitary inspectors of the second class and sanitary inspectors of the third class.

Although the license system will not go into effect until Jan. 1, 1905, the State health authorities are desirous that the general public been lightened concrening it as soon as possible, so that all who desire may have ample time to prepare for the examinations and may understand the conditions fully in advance.

The primary object of the new law is to remove, so far as possible, the appointment of inspectors and health officers from the sphere of politics and increase the efficiency of the service.

AGED WOMAN INJURED.

While Driving Over Dugway Hill She Was Tossed Out of Vehicle.

An aged woman met with a severe accident while on her way home yesterday afternoon. She lives at Dugway and was returning home in a wagon with a heavy load of supplies when the horse gave out on the way up hill and the wagon slid backwards, upsetting and throwing the occupants out in the roadway. There were several small children riding with her and these were tossed into the bushes uninjured.

The woman struck on her head, cutting a big gash across her forehead. Alonzo Church and Daniel Acker hastened to her assistance. The rig was slightly damaged and the load suffered breakage. The woman is over seventy-four years of age.

Mrs. Belknap's Funeral.

The funeral services of Mrs. Sophia Belknap, who died Tuesday, were held yesterday afternoon from her home on Somerset street. Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of Trinity Church, addressed the assembled friends and spoke feelingly of the departed. There were some beautiful floral tributes. The interment was at Hillside Cemetery.

Death From Typhoid.

Mrs. Phoebe E. Smith, wife of George W. Smith, of Warren street, died at Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday. She and her husband have been ill with typhoid fever at the hospital for some time and her death was expected. She was twenty-seven years of age and leaves two children. Mr. Smith's condition is unchanged and he is still very low.

Quietly Wedded.

Herbert Clark, son of H. B. Clark, and Miss Florence Glover, daughter of George Glover, both of Scotch Plains, were married in the parsonage of the Methodist church, Rahway, Saturday night of last week. Their announcement of the wedding came as a surprise to their friends, who had not known that they contemplated matrimony.

Breaking Ground for Hotel.

Ground has been broken for a hotel to be built on West Front street about 350 feet west of Clinton avenue. Geo. Seeber, of Staten Island, is the owner. The structure will be of three stories, brick with stone foundations, fifty by fifty by sixty feet in its dimensions. It will contain from 30 to 40 rooms.

GIVING HIM A WHACK.

Good Natured Knock at Mr. Swackhamer, One of North Plainfield's Representative Men.

Under a head line "'Rah for Swackhamer," the Paterson Daily Press gives Assemblyman Swackhamer this whack with a hammer:

"'Phoebus! what a name,
To fill the speaking trump of future fame.'

"It is gravely proposed by divers and sundry persons residing in Somerset County to bring out as a Democratic candidate for Governor a man by the name of Swackhamer. Not content with this formidable patronymic, which somehow suggests the Ahkoond of Swat—to whom our State was introduced by former Governor Griggs, and who appears to have been a very respectable personage — the sponsors in baptism of this rising New Jersey political luminary by 'alliteration's artful aid' succeeded in making his name still more remarkable by the additional of two esses, and Samuel S. Swackhamer stands revealed in all his native grandeur. At last accounts, gathered from the opinions of the grangers of North Plainfield, 'the chances of Swackhamer for a nomination are good.' A local paper of the vicinage says.

"'At first the name of Swackhamer as a possible candidate for governorship brought a smile to all within hearing distance but now it is quite different. His friends seem sure that he could make a good run.

"'Well, we don't see why this Somerset County statesman shouldn't swack and hammer his way to the Governor's chair if he can. What's in a name, anyway?'"

Fowler With President.

Representative Charles N. Fowler, of Elizabeth, author of the currency bill that bore his name in the last session of Congress, visited President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay yesterday and gave him his views on the measure to be presented next winter.

Little Boy Dead.

J. Fred Phoebus, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Phoebus, of Netherwood, died yesterday afternoon. The funeral will be from the house at four o'clock and the interment will be at Evergreen Cemetery.

Clarence Brokaw, of West Front street, is expected home tonight from a trip to Asbury Park.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Short-Sighted Sun.

The whole trouble with the New York Sun is that it cannot see one mite farther than Wall street. As an entertaining newspaper it still ranks first, but it can no longer be trusted on National, State or city issues.—Hackensack Evening Record.

On the Sun's Staff.

The Baltimore American suggests that as Carrie Nation is confining her public addresses now exclusively to denunciations of President Roosevelt, and is becoming so severe, she may reasonably hope to secure a position on the New York Sun staff.—Elizabeth Journal.

News Welcome.

Remember, the editor wants news. Jot down the events of your locality and hand them to him or any of his assistants. Or report them verbally. Don't hesitate to give our establishment a visit if there's anything on your mind. A newspaper is not wholly made by the editor and printer.—Hunterdon County Democrat.

Quoting Martine.

"Farmer" James E. Martine, of Plainfield, in a recent interview, expressed the opinion that the nomination of either Cleveland or Bryan would be political suicide, and he does not think that Hill or Gorman would make a good fight. As to Mr. Hearst, Mr. Martine believes he has not "the necessary training and identification with affairs of state," etc. As a prominent Tammany man said the other day, things may take on other shapes between now and a year hence. —Somerset Messenger.

Highly Esteemed.

The Louisville, Ka., Herald, has this compliment for John B. Dumont's son-in-law, Col. Belknap, who is the Republican gubernatorial candidate in Kentucky:

"The Republican parsy in Kentucky was never so confident of success. Its confidence rests on a solid basis. There is the ticket made up of the best type of Kentucky's representative citizenship. There is the party organization, never in better shape than today."

FELL INTO THE LAKE.

Mrs. George Odiorne Met With Accident at Lake Hopatcong—Rescued by Husband.

In the current issue of the Clinton Democrat is this item of interest to Plainfielders:

"The Felmly farm contingent had quite a mishap yesterday at Lake Hopatcong. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Odiorne were on the lake in a rowboat, and when about to land (her husband acting as skipper) the lady fell overboard in some fifteen feet of water. Life preservers had not been provided for the voyage, but the strategic efforts of the captain of the craft effected the lady's rescue. After she was made comfortable at Sunnyside Cottage, her friends made the incident as pleasant as possible by remarks on her sudden conversion to be a Baptist."

Mrs. Charles Schanz, of Park avenue, has returned from Newark, where she has been visiting friends.

PRIMARY ELECTION LAW FORMS EXPLAINED

Certificates of Nomination Must Be Filed Before Midnight Tonight.

FORMS OF CERTIFICATES

CITY CLERK JAMES T. MAC MURRAY THE CUSTODIAN.

One Form for Nomination of Delegates to City Convention and Members of City Committe—Other a County Affair.

There seems to be much confusion about the signing of the certificates of nomination under the new primary election law. All these certificates must be filed with City Clerk James T. MacMurray before midnight tonight. The certificates must be filed with the City Clerk at his office in the Smalley building.

There are two forms of certificates for use this year. One is the form for the nomination of delegates to the city convention and all ward officers and members of city committee. The second form is for the nomination of delegates to county convention and member of county committee for any one district on one certificate.

The form for the nomination of delegates to the city conventions is printed below, properly filled out:

(1) To the clerk of the city of Plainfield, county of Union, State of New Jersey:

This petition, prepared and signed, with their names, residences and postoffice addresses, by not less then ten legal voters of this State who are members of the same political party and resident in the same election district, sets forth:

That the signers reside in and are qualified voters of the —— election district of the —— ward, of the city of Plainfield, county of Union, New Jersey:

That they are members of a political party, to wit, the —— party, and that at the last election for members of the General Assembly preceding the execution of this petition they voted for a majority of the candidates whose names were printed in the first place upon the ticket of such party, and that they intend to affiliate with said party at the ensuing election:

(2) That they indorse the persons herein named for the position of delegates to the ensuing city convention of said political party, that is to say, John Doe, and that they request the said clerk to print upon the official primary ballot of the —— party the names of the persons herein mentioned as the candidates for such nominations:

That the residence of said John Doe is No. — —— street, and his postoffice address is Plainfield, N. J.:

(3) The signers hereof do, by this their petition, certify that the persons so indorsed are legally qualified under the laws of this State to act as delegates: Name of signer, Richard Roe; residence, No. — —— street; postoffice address, Plainfield, N. J. (and nine other persons, names and addresses, all residents of the same district.)

State of New Jersey,
County of Union, ss.

RICHARD ROE, being duly sworn according to law, on his oath says, that he is one of the signers of the foregoing petition; that such petition is signed in their own proper handwritting by each of the signers thereof; that such signers are to the best of the knowledge and belief of this affiant, legal voters of the said election district as stated in said petition and belong to the party named in said petition, to wit, the —— party, and that such petition is prepared and filed in absolute good faith for the sole purpose of indorsing the persons therein named in order to secure their selection, as stated in said petition.

Sworn and subscribed this ——day of August, 1903, before me at Plainfield, N. J.

RICHARD ROE.

CERTIFICATE OF ACCEPTANCE.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY, That I, JOHN DOE, one of the persons indorsed in the accompanying petition, am qualified for the position of delegate mentioned in said petition, and that I consent to stand as a candidate for the position of delegate at the ensuing primary election, and that, if chosen a delegate, I agree to act as such delegate. JOHN DOE.

In the section marked (2) there is space for as many names as may be inserted: also space for the residence and address of each candidate. In the

PLEASURE AFTER BUSINESS

ST. MARY'S HOLY NAME SOCIETY ENJOYS ENTERTAINMENT.

Interesting Meeting in Stafford Hall Largely Attended—The Programme in Detail.

Despite the storm, there was a good attendance at the monthly meeting of the Holy Name Society, of St. Mary's Church, held last night in Stafford Hall. After the routine business was transacted Father Egan addressed the meeting and urged all present to do the utmost toward increasing the society membership.

At the conclusion of the meeting the members were entertained by vocal and instrumental selections by William J. Romain, Bertram Yost and Joseph O'Keefe. Mr. Romain recited Longfellow's "Spanish Student," and Mr. O'Keefe sang two old Irish ballads which were equally well received.

Messrs. Romain and Yost were thanked for the entertainment and asked to assist in an entertainment to be given by the society on Wednesday evening. It was decided to hold the entertainment in the school hall at 8 o'clock in the evening. Father Egan has charge of the arrangements.

WILLIAM CALLOWAY INJURED

JUMPED FROM MOVING TROLLEY CAR ON SOMERSET STREET.

Knocked Unconscious and Considerably Bruised—Physician Revives Him.

William Callaway, a driver for the Natural Ice Company, sustained several bruises while attempting to jump from a moving trolley car in front of Phillip Currin's grocery on Somerset street, at 7:45 o'clock last night.

When his feet struck the ground it was with such force that he was hurled a considerable distance into the gutter. Persons standing about saw the accident and hastened to pick the man up. He was carried in an unconscious condition into the grocery store. Dr. Albert Pittis responded to a call. By the time the physician arrived, Callaway was regaining consciousness. An examination disclosed general bruises and abrasions of the hand. Proper treatment brought the man around all right and he was removed to his home on Westervelt avenue.

FUNERAL OF AGED DEMOCRAT

ANDREW LANE, ONCE A PROMINENT POLITICIAN, BURIED TODAY.

Services at Neshanic, Where He Spent Most of His Life—His Career.

Andrew Lane, seventy-three years old, who passed away at his home at Neshanic Station, Wednesday afternoon, was buried today, services being held at the Neshanic church at 12:30 this afternoon. He was one of the most prominent politicians and business men of Somerset County and was well known in this city and the borough. Mr. Lane was a son of the late John C. Lane, and was born at Readington. For many years he had conducted a grocery store at Neshanic Station, and he was the sole proprietor of the flouring mills at that place. Mr. Lane was a staunch Democrat, and he was honored many times by his party, which often sent him as a delegate to conventions. In 1894 he was nominated for Assembly and made an excellent run in a county that was then Republican by a large margin. He was defeated by Frank W. Somers, who is the present County Clerk of Somerset County. He was, at the time of his death, a director in the First National Bank of Bound Brook. A widow, two daughters and one son survive him.

CATTLE IN DANGER.

Anderson's Poor Aim at a Target Threatened Their Lives.

Francis Anderson was arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman Mattox for shooting off firearms in the street. The complaint was made by Mrs. Weber, of Liberty street, who said that Anderson was endangering the lives of her valuable cows. Anderson explained to the Mayor in the city court this morning, that he had been trying merely to improve his aim by firing at a target. He promised to be more careful in the matter in the future and His Honor dismissed him with a warning.

PLAINFIELD'S CHOICE FOR THE ASSEMBLY

Continuation of Bitter Fight Between Fowler and Kean Factions.

POSSIBLE CANDIDATES

NOMINEE ELECTED WILL CAST A BALLOT FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR.

Booms for Buckle, McCardell and Runyon, Who Are Fowler's Friends, and for Kirk, a Supporter of Kean—The Situation.

Here are the primaries of both political parties little more than a week away and but very little interest shown in the possibilities. As far as Plainfield and the rest of Union County is concerned, the public does not seem awake to the fact that delegates to the county and city conventions are to be chosen and the regular ward nominations made at these primaries which, under the new law, will be held Tuesday, September 8.

There is one important feature of the coming campaign which has already begun to assume prominence. The term of U. S. Senator John Kean, of Elizabeth, expires this winter and the men elected to the Legislature this fall will have an opportunity of voting for his successor. Under these circumstances it is but natural that Senator Kean should be particularly anxious that the three assemblymen from Union County should be steadfast in their support for him. Without a factional disturbance to upset calculations, Senator Kean would be very likely to have the support of his own county but the fight between the Kean and Fowler factions is far too bitter to any possibility of a reconciliation. The result is inevitable. This same old quarrel will be taken into the primaries and the county convention.

Were it not for this factor the coming election of an United States Senator from Jersey, the county convention would be unimportant. The only candidates to nomination are the three Assemblymen and a coroner or two. According to precedent Plainfield is cutilled to one of the Republican nominations for the Assembly to succeed William Newcorn. It is generally understood that there is little likelihood of Mr. Newcorn being renominated but exactly who will take his place on the ticket nobody is quite willing to say. There will be two names presented, one an avowed advocate of Senator Kean and the other choice of the opposing faction. The name of Former Sheriff W. T. Kirk has been mentioned of late as a Kean probability. The Fowler choice is somewhat more indefinite although it is known that Councilman J. F. Buckle has long been favorably considered as a good man to go to the Lower House and his nomination would please many Plainfielders. It has also been said that Andrew McCardell would enter the field if it was thought that by his candidacy the Kean combination could be overthrown.

Discussing the situation, a local Republican leader, whose support to Congressman Fowler is well known, expressed his mind very freely on the subject.

"Is Senator Kean coming up here to dictate to the people of Plainefild who they shall send to the Lower House?" he demanded. "Don't get that mistaken idea for one moment. If he and his friends capture the coming primaries by some of the methods they have used in past years, there are certain of us who will never go inao the convention and when the fight comes at the polls they'll fight out what our strength is. No, you needn't quote me. They'll discover who it is before election day."

Another Fowler Republican was more moderate in his utterances.

"Just because we prefer to select our own candidates to the Assembly," he remarked, "does not signify that these men, if elected, are going to oppose Mr. Kean's re-election. If he is nominated it would only be natural for the Union County representatives to support him. If, however, they saw as the contest progressed, that he had no show of election and the county would be the gainer by the transfer of their votes to another candidate, how foolish would it be to throw away their support even for a man from their county. Now I don't say this is going to happen. It's only a possibility but it goes to show the advantage of sending a man to the

ENTERTAINED MANY GUESTS

COLORED YOUNG MEN'S ORGANIZATION RAN SHORT OF REFRESHMENTS.

More Tickets for Their Dance Were Printed Than Had Been Authorized.

The Young Men's Progressive Club entertained more guests than had been planned for Thursday night at their grand reception in the T. A. B. Hall on West Fourth street. The Progressive Club is an organization of young colored men of prominence in the city and it was their intention to entertain a certain number of their friends at an elaborately arranged dance. They made all their plans for entertaining 150 guests, had tickets printed for that number and provided refreshments for that number, and no more. The affair was in charge of W. Mays, floor manager and H. Nelson, assistant.

When the festive night arrived the committee in charge were astonished at the unexpectedly large crowd of dancers that reported. The hall was hardly able to contain them comfortably and the refreshments were distressingly insufficient to go around. It had been expected that the club would benefit financially by the entertainment but it was found instead that it had lost considerably. This set the committee guessing and an investigation followed. The tickets received at the door were counted and found to exceed the number, which had been ordered printed, by more than fifty.

The committee having the reception in charge reported the matter to the office of The Daily Press. Then they learned that after the first order for 150 tickets had been filled on August 21, an additional order had been received on the morning of the 27th for 100 more This order was given by Harry Mitchell, secretary of the club, who, it is said, was acting, however, entirely without authority. Just how Mitchell disposed of his tickets the committee does not know but it had been noticed that on the night of the dance speculators had been reaping a harvest disposing of the pasteboards before the doors.

FILING NOMINATIONS.

Few of the Democratic Candidates Named—Lists to be Published Tonight or Monday.

Thus far only a few of the local nominations have been filed at the City Clerk's office. Last evening nominations for the first district of the Second ward and the second district of the Fourth ward were filed by the Democrats. It is expected that the Republicans will file their complete list of nominations tonight and the Democrats will probably complete their list by that time. The nominations already filed are not known at present, but both lists will be made public tonight or Monday.

NO BABY PARADE.

Carnival Committee at Asbury Park Postpones Annual Event on Account of Rain.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, Aug. 29—The storm yesterday came as a great disappointment to Queen Titania and her subjects, for everything was in readiness for the parade of the babies, which was to have taken place yesterday afternoon.

It was decided by the carnival committee to postpone the parade until Monday next. The entries number between 300 and 400.

BOAT CLUB CARNIVAL.

Sir Thomas Lipton May Attend Affair at New Brunswick.

Announcement has been made by the carnival committee of the New Brunswick Boat Club that entries will be received up to the day of the carnival. The committee is making plans for the entertainment of Sir Thomas Lipton, who has promised to attend, if his engagements will permit.

Rise and Fall of Dick Jeffery.

"Dick" Jeffery, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jeffery, of 68 Jackson avenue, met with a painful accident this morning, while trying to climb into the loft of the barn on the property. His feet slipped and he fell to the floor cutting the top of his head. The wound was about three inches long and Dr. Albert Pittis, who was summoned, found it necessary to take twelve stitches in it. The little fellow will soon recover.

Twins!

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Winters, of South Plainfield, was brightened last evening by the arrival of twin girls, one weighing seven pounds and other six pounds.

CRACK RIFLEMEN TO ASSEMBLE AT SEA GIRT

Meeting of the National Rifle Association Will Begin Next Wednesday.

TO CONTINUE TEN DAYS

INDIVIDUAL AND REGIMENTAL MATCHES INCLUDED ON PROGRAMME.

Fine Array of Prizes—Greatest Interest is Centered in the National Match for Trophy Authorized by Congress.

Riflemen from many states are assembling at the State rifle range at Sea Girt in readiness for the meeting of the National Rifle Association, which will begin on Wednesday and last for ten days. Some of the finest shots in the country will be there since the array of prizes is an attractive one and great interest is felt in the matches.

The meeting will be the thirty-first of the National Rifle Association, the twelfth of the New Jersey State Rifle Association and the fourth of the United States Revolver Association. The national match this year increases the interest in the meeting. A circular has just been issued by General Bird W. Spencer, the executive officer of the meeting, giving the dates of the various matches.

The meeting will open on Wednesday, Sept. 2, with the "members' match" of the National Rifle Association to be shot at 200 and 500 yards. The next match will be the "Seabury long-range military rifle match," at 800, 900 and 1,000 yards. Nineteen individual matches will be started on the oepning day and continued daily until completed. There will also be four matches of the Revolver Association begun.

On Thursday the individual matches will be continued, and other matches to be shot will be the "Interstate Regimental Team match," the "Columbia Trophy match" and the "New Jersey National Guard" match. The Fourth Regiment of New Jersey won the regimental team match last year.

"The Wimbledon Cup and Inspectors" match will be shot on Friday, September 4, when the individual matches will also be continued. The Wimbledon cup was presented to the home association by the National Rifle Association of Great Britain and is valued at $050. It was won last year by Lieutenant K. K. V. Casey, of the Seventy-first New York, and the year previous by Captain William B. Martin, of the Second New Jersey.

The skirmish team match will be shot on Saturday, September 5, and the revolver team match is also set down for that day. On Monday the Leech club, the Inter club, the company team and the West Point-Annapolis matches will be shot. The latter will be at 200, 300 and 500 yards, and the teams will consist of five men each.

The National match, on September 8 and 9 will attract the greatest interest. It will be for the trophy authorized by Congress at a cost of $2,500, and will be shot on all of the given distances. The team making the highest aggregate score will hold the trophy a year and have $500 to divide; the second prize will be the Hilton trophy and $300 in cash, and the third prize will be $200 and the Soldeir of Marathon.

The Dryden trophy match will be shot on Friday. It will be open to teams of eight men at 200, 300 and 1,000 yards. The team having the highest aggregate will get $150 in cash, and the second team will get $100 to divide. The President's match will be shot on Saturday, and will be at all the ranges except 200 yards. The first prize will be the military championship of the United States and $50 cash.

To Lose Wit and Wisdom?

In discussing probabilities as to the complexion of the next Assembly, The Jersey City Evening Journal says: "Somerset was represented last winter by the only Samuel S. Swackhamer and he had a plurality of 156. If the Republicans in that county have got through squabbling, a Republican will occupy the seat from which last winter's funny stories emanated."

HOPE BOYS IN CARNIVAL

Y. M. A. CAMPERS' ENJOYING LIFE AT LAKE HOPATCONG.

Bad Weather, But Good Visitors—To Break Camp Tomorrow Afternoon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Camp Hope, Lake Hopatcong, Aug. 29—The annual lake carnival is scheduled today and the Hope boys have planned to bear a prominent part in the elaborate programme. They will make a circuit of the lake in Captain Morris Leonard's new "white liner" which is chartered and appropriately decorated for the occasion with the Hope colors. Camp will be broken tomorrow and the train for Plainfield will be taken at 4 o'clock.

There were four visitors at camp yesterday. Mrs. Henry Hoffman and Mrs. John Morton, of Plainfield, came to camp loaded down with good things to eat. Miss Eleanor Riley and Miss Elizabeth Quinn, of Newark, formerly of Plainfield, entertained the boys with some fine singing. The weather of yesterday was not all that could have been wished for but as it was the first disagreeable day of the stay in camp there can be no serious kick coming.

MISS S. E. MACNAIR A BRIDE

SCOTCH PLAINS GIRL BECOMES WIFE OF BELLEVILLE MAN.

Rev. Dr. J. H. Parks Officiates at Wedding—Nuptial Event a Quiet Affair.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, Aug. 29—Miss Susan E. MacNair, of this place, and Nicholas E. Voogd, of Belleville, Essex County, were married yesterday at this place by Rev. Dr. J. H. Parks, pastor emeritus of the Baptist Church.

The story of the engagement and marriage of the couple dates back to a visit Miss McNair made at the home of friends in Chicago last summer. At that time she met Mr. Voogd and the friendship soon ripened into love. A week ago Mr. Voogd, whose home originally was in Belleville, came to this place for the purpose of getting married and it was reported that the event would be celebrated last Sunday evening. The affair was a quiet one, only the immediate relatives being present.

FARMER ORATOR IN NEW LIGHT

FOR ONCE JAMES E. MARTINE OPPOSES SPEECHMAKING.

His Attitude Drives a Rahway Man Into Making "Poetry"—And Now He's "Sunny Jim."

"Prominent among the out-of-town visitors," at the Democratic outing, says the Elizabeth Journal, "was James E. Martine, of Cedar Brook, who has made innumerable attempts to lift the political cup for the Jersey Democracy — attempts Liptonian, as well as Jeffersonian. No outing is said to be complete without the farmer orator, whose geniality is equaled only by his everlasting optimism, and his optimism by his willingness to get out and hustle for the cause. Notwithstanding the presence of the apostle of municipal ownership, there was not a single address during the day. At dinner, when coffee was reached on the menu James C. Connolly, president of the city committee, arose and rapped for order, evidently with the intention of having a little orating, but the clinking of saucers and plates by busy waiters drowned out the noise of the gavel. Mr. Connolly did not attempt to enforce the ruling of the chair, especially when Martine lifted his hand to signify that speeches would be an unneccessary luxury. The occasion therefore passed without a display of that embroidered rhetoric which flows from Mr. Martine 'like water from a mountain rock,' to use one of his own similes. So the philosopher from Rahway was moved to poetry:

"'Democratic picnic—Jim Martine is there;
Mark well! No speech with vigor, vim;
Had Force on him been brought to bear
What silvery speech from Sunny Jim!'"

SOMERSET'S COURT HAS A BUSY DAY

Several North Plainfield Cases in Orphans' Court, However, Continued.

CLICKENERS IN A FIGHT

UNDUE INFLUENCE GROUND ON WHICH BATTLE IS WAGED.

Eugene Horester Estate Continued, As Was Also Mary Bagdley Estate—Judge Schenck Sat Yesterday at Somerville.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, Aug. 29—Considerable business was transacted at the August session of the Orphans' Court, which was held yesterday morning. Judge Schenck presided.

In the estate of Eugene Horster, of North Plainfield, the allowance of account as amended on motion of N. Y. Dungan, proctor for the accountants was continued to Friday next. The exceptions to the said accounts were withdrawn by J. J. Meehan, proctor for the exceptants.

The Mary Badgley estate matter was continued until Sept. 25. About twenty-five years since he separated from his wife and children and took up his residence with his brother and two sisters at the homestead.

After leaving the bulk of his property to his sisters, Ida and Elda G. Clickner, and his brother, Charles W. Clickner, the will stipulates that a "bequest of $30 to be paid to Mary Clickner (my wife of former years) and her children, Eliza J. (Jennie) and Catherine (Kitty), to be divided equally between them, share and share alike."

Miss Jennie is named as the appellant in the case and is represented by Alvah A. Clark. Dungan & Reger are defending the appellees. It is said that the appellant will endeavor to break the will on the ground of undue influence. The testimony already taken shows that there was no legal separation between Geo. V. Clickner and his wife, and that deceased never denied the parentage of his children. The cause of separation, it has been stated on the witness stand, was incompatibility of temper.

In the case of Elizabeth, Barbara and John Nevilos, minors, on application of Chas. Kiszonak, guardian, an order to expend corpus was ordered made and entered.

MR. JOHNSTONE BURIED.

Body of Former Rector of Church of the Redeemer, North Plainfield, Borne to the Grave.

Joscelyn Johnstone, secretary to Borough President Swanstrom, of Brooklyn, and formerly rector of the Church of the Redeemer, North Plainfield, who died last Tuesday in a private hospital as the result of an operation for appendicitis, was buried Thursday after funeral services had been held at his late home in New York. The body was borne from the house to the Roman Catholic Church of St. Columbus, where a requiem mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Curley. The interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

There was present at the funeral a large delegation from the Horatio Seymour Club, which had charge of the arrangements, and several prominent politicians also attended.

PRIEST PUNISHED.

Father Cushing, Formerly Curate of St. Mary's Church, to End Life in Monastery.

Bishop Metz, of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Colorado, has announced that Father Cushing, at one time curate of St. Mary's Church in this city, who has earned much notoriety by his fight with the Bishop during the last twelve years, has been ordered by Archbishop Falconi, the Apostolic Delegate, to go to the Trappist Monastery at Gethsemane, where he will be practically a prisoner for the balance of his life.

Bishop Metz will pay all of Father Cushing's expenses. Father Cushing is between forty and fifty years old and is broken in health.

Plainfielders' Concert.

E. Maxwell Honeyman, Elmer D. Cutting, Sydney R. Titsworth and R. Wilson Derby, composing the former male quartette at the First Presbyterian Church, under the direction of Clifford Braider, organist, and accompanied by Miss Aimee Emmons, reader, will give a concert tonight at Greenwood Lake, West Milford, N. J. This will be their second appearance at the above place.

section marked (3) there is room for ten signers, but one of the ten signers must obtain all of the other nine signatures, so that he can make the affidavit. There are also five blank "certificates of acceptance" on each form, so that, if more than one delegate is named, each one can sign a certificate of acceptance.

The second form of certificate for Councilmen, member of the Board of Education, justice of the peace, etc., is just the same as the above as to the section marked (1). Section (2) is as follows:

(2) That they endorse the persons herein named as candidates for the office herein named, from the —— ward of said city, that is to say:

Richard Roe, for Councilman.

——, for Justice of the Peace.

——, for Constable.

and that they request the said clerk to print upon the official primary ballot of the —— party the names of the persons herein mentioned as the candidates for such nominations:

That the residence of said Richard Roe is No. — —— street, and his post-office address in Plainfield, N. J.

Section three is just the same as the above except that instead of being "qualified under the laws of this State to act as delegates," they are "qualified under the laws of this State to be nominated for said office." There must be ten signers, an affidavit by one of them, and the "certificates of acceptance" must be signed as required. Only one nomination may be made on this certificate or all four nominations may be made, but there must be ten signers in any event.

The second form for members of the —— County Committee is the same as the other two as to section one. Section two reads:

That they indorse the person herein named for the position of member of the —— County Committee of the county of Union, that is to say, John Doe, and that they request the said clerk to print upon the official primary ballot of the —— party the name of the person herein mentioned as the candidate for such position:

That the residence of said John Doe is No. — —— street, and his post-office address is Plainfield, N. J.

Section three is the same as section three of the other petitions and must contain the names of ten residents of district with the "certificate of acceptance" signed by John Doe.

AMUSEMENTS.

HERRESHOFF A WIZARD.

Sir Thomas Lipton Acknowledges That Reliance Is Best Boat.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., Aug. 29.—"When England shall have produced a Herreshoff I will again challenge for the America's cup and not before. American brains and American development in yacht building have England beaten, and it is fit and right that the cup should remain here to crown your glorious achievement."

Thus spoke Sir Thomas Lipton as he stood on the deck of the Erin and watched his Fife challenger, Shamrock III., riding out the storm which swept the Horseshoe. It was the first time the Irish baronet had spoken freely on the subject since the cup races began, and there was a note of pathetic sadness in his voice. Continuing, he said:

"It is not pleasant to say, but it is an honest truth, the brains in yacht building are in America. You have a wizard in Herreshoff. He is as wonderful as his work. Who can fail to call him the prince of yacht designers? His prowess is beyond question. His great work has been before our eyes, and none can have admired the Reliance more than I. She has proved herself far and away the best boat and won upon the strictest merit.

"While Herreshoff is in America it would be impossible for me to challenge for the cup with any hope of success. I see and know that as clearly as I ever saw and knew a thing in my life.

"I will tell you frankly that I am a most thoroughly disappointed man."

Sir Thomas was asked why it was the Shamrock III. was not given more sail area. He replied that he trusted everything regarding construction and design to the best of England's talent. He complimented Captain Barr and said that he had no fault to find with the way in which the Shamrock had been handled.

"I hope," he said, "that we will get a good twenty-five knot breeze and a heavy sea today. Then we will have had all the chances on the calendar to try out the Shamrock's qualities."

Louisville Won Easily.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—At Hawthorne Louisville found the soft going perfectly to her liking and won the mile and a furlong handicap in easy fashion. Byways was second, five lengths in front of the heavily backed Star Cotton, while Rankin, the even money favorite, was fourth. Peter Paul, with 115 pounds up, at even money, ran away with the fourth race in the remarkable time of 1:02 4-5.

Old Stone Beat Rainland.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 29.—Old Stone won the feature of the Kinloch races, Rainland, the favorite, was second and Dr. Cartledge third. The distance was a mile, for two-year-olds. Rainland, although carrying 118 pounds, made a game effort for the race at the end, but was not able to catch Old Stone, who won by a length and a half.

Floods at Council Bluffs.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Aug. 29.—All the lower portions of the city are still under water, which has reached the lower floors of many homes. Rowboats were being used in several of the downtown districts, and that portion of the country between here and Lake Manawa, five miles south, is a solid lake. Street cars were abandoned on the line to Manawa, and launches are being used instead. The lake itself, partly artificial, overflowed, and extensive damage was done. Only one railroad had clear tracks out of the city. Eastern mails are forty-eight hours late.

Farmer Made Murderous Assault.

OWEGO, N. Y., Aug. 29.—William Taylor, a middle aged farmer residing at Candor, twelve miles from here, was arrested at that place charged with a murderous assault upon Charles Warner, aged seventy years, whom he recently took out of the county house to work for him. Warner is unconscious and not expected to survive. District Attorney Gleason has ordered Taylor brought up to the county jail here.

To Connect Colorado and Mexico.

DENVER, Aug. 29.—Frank W. Kinnee, president of the Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado Railroad company, who has just returned from a trip to the east, announces that satisfactory arrangements have been made for the construction of a railroad to connect Colorado with northern Mexico.

Humberts' Appeal Must Wait.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—It is probable that the court of cassation will not be able to deal with the appeal of Mme. Therese Humbert and her husband for six weeks. Only the essential portions of the Humbert dossier, which is large enough to fill a big cart, will be submitted.

CONSUL NOT SLAIN.

Magelssen Fired Upon, but Was Untouched.

FLEET WILL GO TO TURKISH PORT.

President Roosevelt Will Not Countermand Order to Admiral Cotton—Squadron Will Support Claim For Indemnity.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—A decidedly new turn in the case of United States Vice Consul William C. Magelssen at Beirut, Syria, who was reported to have been assassinated last Sunday, developed when it became known that the report was incorrect and that although Mr. Magelssen had been shot at he had not even been injured. This information came to the state department in a dispatch from United States Minister Leishman at Constantinople, who said the mistake in making the original announcement was due to an error in the transmission of the cipher dispatch from Consul Ravudal at Beirut in reporting the incident to the minister. The dispatch from Mr. Leishman followed closely on the bulletin on the same subject which had been shown to the prominent officials of the government. The dispatch from the minister was communicated at once to the president at Oyster Bay.

The president will not countermand the order to Rear Admiral Cotton to proceed with the cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco and the gunboat Machias to Turkish waters. The attack on Mr. Magelssen is regarded as an incident which points to the necessity of a demonstration which will have the effect of insuring the protection of Americans in the Turkish empire.

The president expressed gratification that Consul Magelssen had escaped without injury from the assault of the would be murderer. He announced, however, that no change at present would be made in the plans of this government and that the European squadron, which he last night ordered to proceed immediately to Beirut, would continue to its ordered destination.

It can be said that the president and Secretary of State Hay both regard it advisable in view of the present state of unrest in Turkey to have American war vessels in Turkish waters.

For several hours President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Hay were in conference at Sagamore Hill. They discussed every suggested phase of the situation in Turkey.

Acting Secretary Loomis cabled Consul Ravudal at Beirut inquiring for further particulars of the assassination of Vice Consul Magelssen and also as to the condition of affairs at Beirut. Mr. Loomis also cabled United States Consul Thomas Norton at Harpoot as to reported outbreaks there and danger to American citizens.

When Rear Admiral Cotton, in command of the American European squadron, was seen at Villefranche he was asked to outline his plans for going to Beirut and said:

"The press dispatches give all the information I have. I leave for Genoa at 8 o'clock this evening with the Brooklyn and San Francisco for coal. The Machias is now there."

Later advices state that M. Rostyoski, Russian consul; M. Kral, Austrian consul, and Mr. McGregor, British vice consul, were looked upon with suspicion by the Turks because of supposed sympathy with Bulgarians and that recently an assassin was appointed to kill the British officer as he was taking his customary walk, but that the plot failed because Mr. McGregor, on that day took an unusual route.

The Powers Trial.

GEORGETOWN, Ky., Aug. 29.—Powers closed his argument with an explanation of the pardon by Taylor to him and to his having gathered altogether and taken the mountain army on Jan. 25, 1900, to Frankfort. He declared that it was a peaceful body and went there only on a peaceful mission. Commonwealth Attorney Franklin then began the closing argument in the case in behalf of the state. He declared that Powers had made the best speech on his side of the case, but that it was full of misrepresentations of the facts and the testimony and that Powers had repeatedly gone outside the record in his argument.

Big Deal In Coal Lands.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 29.—The Pittsburg Coal company has just closed the deal for the purchase of all the coal land holdings of Henry W. Oliver except those in the Blaine Coal company, Shallenberger Coal company and the Second Pool Coal company, for a sum approximating $1,000,000. The tract comprises about 4,500 acres, and the purchase gives the combine practically all of the Pittsburg coal in the first pool outside of that held by the Pittsburg Terminal Railroad and Coal company.

Won't Give Up Lebaudy's Men.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—A dispatch from Las Palmas says the French cruiser Galilee, which has arrived there from Cape Jubi, West Africa, reports that the governor of that place refuses to give up the five men who were captured from the expedition landed on the Moorish coast by Jacques Lebaudy, who intended to found there an empire of his own. The Galilee is awaiting instructions from the French government.

UNHAPPY MACEDONIA

Insurgents Destroy Turkish Posts Near Adrianople.

REFUGEES FLEE TOWARD THE PORTE

General Zontcheff Said to Be Organizing a Corps of 5,000 Macedonians to Cross the Frontier.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 29.—About 3,000 insurgents now near Vodena have been ordered to concentrate in the mountains of Movihovo. They are expected to attack Tikvesh and Shevgheli.

A force of insurgents attacked Neveska, where 240 soldiers were stationed, drove them out and killed 200 of the garrison. The insurgents then constructed earthworks. Seven battalions of Turkish troops which have arrived near Neveska are now bombarding the defenses.

The general situation in the vilayet of Adrianople continues alarming. The revolutionaries have destroyed all the Turkish posts along the frontier.

A report says that the Turkish commander in the district of Seres has ordered his subordinates to kill and destroy everybody and everything Bulgarian immediately the insurgent bands appear. The Turkish population is fleeing toward Constantinople. Eight hundred men, women and children have gone to Basiliko, and the Turkish government is arranging to send them to Asia Minor.

A fierce fight has occurred at Passakui, twenty miles from Adrianople, where three Turkish battalions surrounded a body of insurgents. A second band of rebels came to the assistance of their comrades, who thereupon broke through the cordon, killing 150 Turks.

General Zontcheff is said to be organizing a body of 5,000 Macedonians to cross the frontier. The Macedonian committee has urgently appealed to Prince Ferdinand to show greater interest in the Macedonian situation, saying if Macedonia is not soon liberated the position of Bulgaria will become exceedingly critical.

A detailed report of the train outrage near Kuleli Burges says that a package was placed in the restaurant car of the train at Budapest containing the bomb with a clockwork attachment which was timed to explode as the train was crossing the bridge at Maritza. It was intended to destroy the bridge and cut off communication between Adrianople and Salonika.

A large number of troops have been stationed in the various suburbs of Constantinople as a precautionary measure in view of the appearance of insurgents less than a hundred miles from the capital.

A train load of Turkish troops has been dispatched to Tcherkeskoi, vilayet of Adrianople, near which place three Bulgarian villages were recently attacked by Circassians and their inhabitants massacred.

The troops sent to re-enforce the garrison at Kirk-Kilisseh, thirty-two miles from Adrianople, were routed by insurgents, whose number in the vilayet of Adrianople is estimated to be 6,000.

THE CHINESE REFORMERS.

Chinese Viceroy Promises Them "Only Imprisonment."

SHANGHAI, Aug. 29.—The viceroy, Chang Chi Tung, has informed the taotai of Shanghai that if the consular body will surrender the editors of the reform paper Supao, who are accused of seditious writings, the Chinese government will give an undertaking that they shall only be sentenced to imprisonment. It is to be hoped, adds the correspondent, that Great Britain will not accede to the Chinese request, because summary execution would be more merciful than Chinese imprisonment.

The viceroy of Nankin has ordered the rearrest and trial of the four reformers who were recently arrested for delivering subversive lectures and liberated on the American missionaries guaranteeing their reappearance.

Robbers Murdered Bradley.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Minister Squiers at Havana has informed the state department of the murder of Ira C. Bradley near Holguin, Cuba, on June 9. Bradley was about sixty years old and a resident of California and had been trying to establish in Cuba an American settlement known as "Bradley's colony." The only motive ascribed for the murder was robbery, although Bradley was mutilated and badly beaten. The country in the vicinity is infested by a gang of murderers and robbers.

Gibbons Enters a Denial.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Cardinal Gibbons, writing from Montreux, Switzerland, says the recent letter published by a Paris newspaper giving alleged details of his statements to a delegation of the Breton clergy, including the pope's plan for an Anglo-American supervision of the oriental patriarchate, is an invention not having an iota of truth.

Surrender of Chinese Reformers.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Minister Conger has been instructed that he be not a consenting party to the surrender of the six Chinese subjects who were arrested by the authorities of the foreign settlement in Shanghai in July last and put on trial on the charge of sedition.

Humanity In German Army.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—The minister of war has issued a decree with the object of reducing suicides in the army. Officers and sergeants are directed to treat their subordinates humanely and to look after their welfare.

TRADE CONDITIONS.

R. G. Dun & Co. Report No Decline In Trade, as Predicted.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

There is still no indication of the depression in trade and industry that pessimists predicted would follow the decline in securities. Conservatism was developed by the uncertainty regarding the effect upon financial conditions, but legitimate business is able to secure funds as they are required and the more cautious progress of business gives promise of greater permanent gain.

Weak spots have been disclosed, and the technical position strengthened, just as occurred in the stock market. Readjustment after a period of inflation must of necessity bring some losses, yet the outlook is brightened by the removal of threatened industrial clouds. Dispatches from all sections testify to the liberal distribution of merchandise and the disposition to prepare for greater consumption of all the necessaries of life, while the crops are making good progress aside from some cotton districts in Texas.

Lumber receipts at Philadelphia are largely exceeding last year's, building operations are rapidly pushed, but textile markets are unsettled. Trade is quiet at Boston owing to the idleness in textile mills, although paper mills and shoe shops are busy.

The number of buyers in New York is increasing and a heavy fall trade is anticipated. Security dealing is light and prices are lower despite railway earnings for August were 9.2 per cent larger than last year and 17.1 per cent above 1901.

Wheat fluctuated irregularly in response to news from the northwest where rains delayed harvesting, and there is evidence of traffic deficiency in interior arrivals at primary markets of only 4,802,179 bushels, against 6,249,312 bushels a year ago. Exports from all ports of the United States, flour included, were 2,331,253 bushels, compared with 4,295,626 last year and 6,307,302 two years ago. Corn receipts aggregated 3,403,605 bushels, against 1,086,093, and Atlantic exports were 571,105 bushels, against 58,561.

Liabilities of commercial failures thus far reported in August aggregate $9,627,621, of which $7,027,875 were in manufacturing, $2,450,103 in trading and $149,643 in other lines. There is a considerable increase in comparison with the liabilities of $7,043,671 last year. Failures this week numbered 176 in the United States, against 173 last year, and 33 in Canada, compared with 14 a year ago.

SAD DROWNING OF THREE GIRLS.

Accident Occurred In a Suburb of Allegheny, Pa.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 29.—While a party of young people were driving home from a social gathering near Evergreen borough, north of Allegheny, their vehicle was precipitated over a high embankment into Girty's run and three were drowned. Two others narrowly escaped a similar fate.

The drowned are Myrtle Scott, aged twenty years; Nannie Scott, sister, aged eighteen years; Annie Clifford, a cousin, aged about twenty years, visiting the Scotts' home at Evergreen.

Three Deaths From Floods.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 29.—Three deaths are reported as a result of the floods. Two of them were Jefferson Keep and Edgar Hamilton, aged ten and eleven, in South Omaha. They were swimming in some back water and got beyond their depth and were drowned before assistance reached them. The third was Willie Paulsen, who lost his life in the flooded cellar of his home in Council Bluffs.

Letters from Women

Cured by the use of Kodol are received daily. Their troubles nearly all begin with indigestion or other stomach disorder.

If the food you eat fails to give strength to your body, it is because the juices secreted by the stomach and digestive organs are inadequate to transform the nutrient properties of the food into blood. That is indigestion. The system is deprived of the amount of nourishment required to keep up the strength, and the result is that one or more of the delicate organs gradually grows weak, and then weaker, until finally it is diseased. Here a great mistake is made. That of treating the diseased organ. The best doctors in the land make this very mistake. Why should they? It is so easy to see that the trouble is not there.

Kodol Cures

This famous remedy puts the stomach and digestive organs in a healthy condition so that rich, red blood is sent coursing through the veins and arteries of every muscle, tissue and fiber throughout every organ of the entire body, and by Nature's law of health, full strength and vigor is soon restored to each.

Kodol cures indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach disorders.

I have taken Kodol for nearly two months after each meal and it is the only remedy that gave relief from the terrible pains I endured. After a time I would take it but once a day, and now, while I keep a bottle handy, I seldom need it, as it has cured me. MRS. J. W. COOLBAUGH, Milo Center, N. Y.

EUROPEAN SQUADRONS READY

French Official Reports Show Increasing Gravity of Situation.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Official advices received here show that the Russian squadron which was at Iniada, off the eastern coast of Turkey, is at Sevastopol, where it is awaiting further orders. Italy has one war ship, Austria has one and France has one in Turkish waters, but in each case large squadrons are held in reserve for action if the situation becomes acute.

The increasing gravity of the conditions in Turkey is shown by an official report just received from Philippopolis, giving details of the revolutionist plot to blow up the Oriental express. One of the plotters had been designated to sacrifice his life by boarding the train and throwing the bombs. This plot probably was connected with the blowing up of the omnibus train at Kuleli Burgas, but the Philippopolis report establishes the fact that the original plan was aimed against the leading Transeuropean express for the purpose of impressing the world with the magnitude of the disorder.

The reports received here from the French consuls at Salonika and Monastir are very reassuring. They say they have no further fear for their lives unless the Turkish soldiery becomes lawless. The reports add that forty-nine Turkish battalions have been withdrawn from Albania and concentrated around Salonika, as the Albanian disorders have been crushed.

The most remarkable feature of the reports discloses the fact that the Turkish force, which totaled 50,000 men when the troops entered Albania six months ago, has now been reduced to 35,000 men, showing a loss of 15,000 troops. Few of the soldiers died of disease. The loss was chiefly in men killed while crushing the Albanian uprising.

MILITARY TRAIN WRECK.

Italian Troops For Army Maneuvers Meet With Disaster.

ROME, Aug. 29.—A disastrous railway accident has cut short the festivities and demonstrations in honor of the king and queen at Udine, the chief town on the eastern frontier, sixty miles from Venice, where the sovereigns had gone to view the army maneuvers.

A train overflowing with soldiers collided near Udine with a freight train. The force of the collision was terrific. Those on board were thrown in all directions, and the coaches were broken up. Fifteen soldiers and one captain were killed and over sixty injured, twelve dangerously so. The colonel in command of the soldiers was among the injured.

Darkness rendered the confusion about the scene of the wreck extreme, while the terror among those who escaped injury was increased when the trains took fire a few minutes after the collision. Fortunately the flames were immediately extinguished.

King Victor Emmanuel visited the hospital in person later to see the victims of the accident.

Queen Helena accompanied the king on his visit to the scene of the railroad disaster and spoke words of sympathy to each of the wounded, with whom the king also shook hands. With the royal couple were the minister of war and the archbishop of Udine, the latter having received a telegram from the pope instructing him to visit the hospital and assist at the funerals of the victims.

Langley Air Ship Carried Away.

WIDEWATER, Va., Aug. 29.—Professor Langley's air ship houseboat had another dangerous experience in a Potomac gale. Soon after the experts gave up hopes of launching the aerodrome at Clifton Beach a storm broke furiously. The houseboat slipped her moorings and traveled rapidly down stream for two miles, where her anchors caught in the mud bottom. A few men were aboard, but they were powerless, and the storm was too severe for any assistance to be afforded by the tugs. The small steam launch tender, the float and three rowboats were lost. The flying machine was to be launched today, but was so shaken up that it may have to be repaired. The machine was all ready to fly when the breeze stiffened to ten miles an hour, and the experiment was abandoned.

Kaiser Drawing of Roosevelt.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Emperor William met Hans Fechner, the court portrait painter, some days ago and asked him to make a lithograph drawing of President Roosevelt, Fechner's lithograph of the emperor having been most widely circulated in Germany. Fechner did so and showed the result to his majesty, who had two copies struck off. One of these will be sent to Mr. Roosevelt. The emperor kept the other one for himself. No more copies will be taken from the stone.

Wireless Gave Ship Daily News.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29. — Being equipped with special apparatus for receiving wireless messages from long distances, the Lucania was enabled to keep her passengers, among whom was Signor Marconi, in touch with the news of the day during the entire voyage. Bulletins were posted on board the ship when received, and when the vessel was nearing Sandy Hook they were published in a small four paged newspaper for distribution among the passengers.

Starved to Death In Klondike.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—A dispatch to the Inter Ocean from Minneapolis, Minn., says that Edith White, former wife of John White, general agent for the Deering division of the International Harvester company, has died of starvation in the Klondike country and her body probably has been devoured by wild beasts.

MIMIC WAR IS ENDED

Coghlan Supposed He Had Won a Great Victory.

UMPIRES DECIDED AGAINST HIM.

Landing Party of 1,800 Men Was Declared to Have Been Put Out of Action Before Making the Shore.

PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 29.—At noon the mimic war waged off this port since midnight Tuesday with all manner of maneuvers by the navy will come to an end, and the several thousand men hurried to the defense of the city will be withdrawn from the harbor defenses.

The movements in the last attack brought on a fierce engagement, during which a landing party of 1,800 men under Rear Admiral Coghlan captured all the stations and defenses of the Scape and Spurwin. The marines and jackies landed almost at dawn and were engaged until afternoon, when they returned to the fleet, which had remained off Richmond's island.

Rear Admiral Coghlan believed he had achieved the grandest victory of the navy, but Lieutenant Jordan, in command of the engineer corps at the Two Lights, was informed by telephone that the umpires had decided that no landing was effected by the invaders, as the men and boats had been put out of action before the landing was attempted; therefore the capture of all the points on the cape, including the signal, search light and fire control stations at Two Lights, the defenses at Silver Springs and the search lights at Pond cove, was void.

After a stubborn resistance the outer defenses of Cape Elizabeth were captured after a vigorous bombardment by a force from the navy, and 1,600 men were landed. The outpost and signal station at Spurwink river also was taken. The movements of landing parties were covered by the fire of the fleet. With Long island and the cape defenses in their hands the navy now is in position to attack all other points by land as well as by sea.

A former report that the Olympia touched bottom during the maneuvers has been officially confirmed.

An official message from the Olympia to the Kearsarge intercepted at the wireless telegraph station at Fort Preble and made public officially confirms the report of the grounding for forty-five minutes during the war maneuvers of Admiral Dewey's famous flagship. The message read:

"We are on the rocks. Double bottom leaking. Can get off without assistance."

She struck Star ledge in Luke's sound at a point where the chart showed twenty-six feet, but which sounded only twenty-four, or two feet less than the Olympia's draft. The war ship's bottom was damaged, causing her to leak, but the water taken in was controlled by the vessel's dams, and her injuries were not so serious but that she was able to continue to take part in the maneuvers.

The destroyer Worden, flying the white flag of truce, came into the harbor at noon and anchored off Fort Preble. A boat was sent ashore bearing a messenger who carried a message from Rear Admiral Barker, commanding the fleet, to General Chaffee, commanding the department of the east. General Chaffee was at Fort Preble soon after and received the message. He refused to divulge its contents, saying it in no way interested the public."

The signal station at Two Lights has been captured. The ultimate point of the attack is at Fort Williams or Fort Preble, probably the latter, on account of the peculiar range of the mortar batteries which command all the other forts.

Major Duval has abandoned his battery at Williams and is with his command in the trenches to protect his rear from the enemy, who are now 2,600 strong.

The fleet is at anchor at Prout's neck, but it is expected it will come to the support of the land forces and shell the battery at the entrance of the harbor.

Six hundred men are being sent to the trenches at Preble and the trenches of Meeting House hill. It will take 6,000 of the enemy to overcome the force.

Four destroyers which ran in close to the Two Lights and swept the shore with their small rifles were fired upon by Forts Williams and Levett and put out of action.

Five Feet of Water In Many Homes.

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 29.—The town of Fort Crook City, seven miles south of Omaha, is under water, which is five feet deep in many homes. Only five houses remain on dry ground, and the Missouri Pacific station is partly submerged. The sudden flood was caused by a cloudburst above there. Fifty families are being taken care of in tents on hillsides.

Drunken Scuffle Caused Death.

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 29.—In a drunken scuffle for the possession of a revolver between Frank Fahey, aged seventeen, and William Williams, aged twenty-three, Williams was shot in the abodmen and died in a few minutes. Fahey was arrested. The men were close friends and mine workers.

American Dines With Kaiser.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—United States Consul General Richard Guenther of Frankfurt-am-Main dined with Emperor William at Cassel, when his majesty banqueted 10,000 civil officials and prominent inhabitants of the province of Hesse-Nassau at the castle and on the grounds there.

Plainfield, N. J., Aug. 29, 1903.

The Daily Press has a higher circulation rating than is accorded to any other paper in Plainfield.—Printer's Ink.

Remember that nomination certificates must be filed with the city clerk before midnight, according to the new primary law.

Judging from the frequent conferences between the Secretary-of-State and the President, one is inclined to believe that Mr. Roosevelt has the hay fever.

It is reported that the liquor Dealers' Association will fight Mayor Low at the polls if he is renominated. That is the best tribute to the mayor that we have seen.

Isn't a a mistake to naturalize those foreigners when they have little or no knowledge of the English language or American institutions? A political party should not resort to such schemes to increase its vote.

Because her rector refused to countenance a request that the word "obey" be omitted from the ritual at her wedding, a Rutland, Vt., girl, has sought out a minister who is willing to comply with her wishes. That prospective bridegroom must be a chump.

To make advertising pay keep right at it every day—tell what you have, and give the price, and never run the same ad. twice; make some change, and make it strong, and don't string it out too long. Use the mediums that are best (this is one—give it a test).—Business Magazine.

Farmer Orator J. E. Martine, whose fellow citizens here admire him for his optimism, aggressiveness and consistency, believes that Mayor Tom Johnson is the logical candidate of the Democratic party for a presidential nomination provided he wins the gubernatorial battle in Ohio. Mayor Johnson is fortunate in having "Jim" as a friend, but as for a prophet—well he could do better.

And now the editorial guns, far and wide, are directing their shots at the New York Sun. It's a mistake; the Sun's attacks on the President are such that makes it an object of pity. When a brilliant newspaper, and there has never been a more brilliant one than the Sun, resorts to such tactics, one is forced to believe that there is something in the cry that the public press is degenerating.

No comment is necessary on this expression of the Newark Evening News, New Jersey's leading daily:

"Some of the newspapers of the State are talking about the 'rules' that entitle Assemblymen who have served but one term to another nomination. Judging from some experiences during the session of the Legislature, it is high time to amend the rules or make several exceptions."

According to the Union Democrat, of Rahway, Senator Kean and Congressman Fowler are going to fight it to a finish in this county. In an editorial on political gossip it states that:

"The Republican Assemblyman candidate pot is getting a lively simmer on. There are candidates galore in Plainfield, representing the Kean and Fowler factions, which are still 'looking daggers' at each other; and there are some of the same indications in Rahway. Freeholder Tillman is being boomed by Fowlerites, though some are trying to side-track him for Mayor and his friends may conclude a renomination for Freeholder will be sufficient. Tax Receiver Charles E. Reed's name has been mentioned as an Assembly candidate for the Kean faction."

The Jersey City Evening Journal says:

"Last winter the irreverent in the Assembly Chamber got into the habit of saying, 'Oh, Lord, Popcorn and Tackhammer,' but that was as nothing to the liberties which have since been taken the sinuous sibilance of the name of the Somerset Assemblyman. He has been mentioned in print as 'Old Swack,' 'Swackie,' Smiling Sam,' 'Sunny Sam' and other abbreviations, as if he had been a pencil and had been gradually worn down from Samuel S. Swackhamer, solicitor, Assemblyman from Somerset, to a mere nub of a name like Swackie, which is very wrong. Now the Camden Post-Telegram calls the prominent statesman 'Samuel Swingarm Swackhamer,' and is promptly and properly taken to task by the Plainfield Press, which says: 'Call him swingarm or what you like just now, brother; it's just possible that you may feel honored to call him Governor some day—' That's right, Press, stick up for Samuel S. Swackhamer, of Somerset. He hails from Plainfield. By the way, what does the middle S. stand for any way? Was it just thrown in to make the triple S a little more scollopy?"

The middle S stands for Stansbury, brother, and The Daily Press, an independent newspaper, stands for Swackhamer as an able man.

He doesn't live in Plainfield, however, but will (against his wish) when the majority of North Plainfielders vote that annexation and consolidation is to their advantage.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

The number of intoxicated men seen about town on Sundays is increasing every week. This place seems to have become a rendezvous for drunks from neighboring towns who think we have no law or order here. It is about time something was done.

Business is picking up at Levering & Garrigues' Iron Works after the slack period, caused by the strike in New York. Beginning on Monday the men will work the full time of fifty-five hours a week.

The baseball enthusiasts of the borough are very pleased to learn that our crack pitcher, Ettinger, will twirl this afternoon against Bound Brook. With him in the box we have little fear of the result.

Mrs. Sarah Fisher will move into the house which she recently purchased on Washington avenue, on Monday. Paul Tismer and family, who occupied the house, have moved to New York.

The Eagle Eyes will cross bats with a scrub team from the borough tomorrow morning on the Greenbrook diamond. It is reported that several of the best tossers in town will play.

Dr. Gaston is now in Deadwood City, South Dakota, looking after mining interests in that section. Dr. Buchanan has taken his place during his absence.

Work has been resumed on the new aluminum plate factory at West Dunellen and the building will be rushed now with all possible speed.

Do not forget the game this afternoon, Dunellen A. C. vs. Bound Brook. The game is scheduled for 3:30.

Miss Helen Lynch has returned to her home in Plainfield, after a two weeks' visit with Miss Cathy Moynihan.

William Smalley, of Greenbrook road, who has been seriously ill at his home, is now quite out of danger.

A new flag walk is being laid in front of the double house owned by John Moynihan on North avenue.

Miss Louise Lowrie has returned home after spending two weeks visiting her aunt in New York City.

Miss Mildred Gaskill has returned from Jamaca, N. Y., where she has spent a few days on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Herlick have returned from a brief visit with their son, Gilbert, in New York.

The band met for weekly practice last evening in Kuldoshes' shop.

Miss Ella H. Boice is spending her vacation at Glandstone, N. J.

NEW MARKET.

Mrs. H. E. Ahrens and daughter have returned to their home in Stratford, Ont., after spending two weeks visiting Mr and Mrs. Stanley Day.

The new school principal has arived in town and has taken up his abode in the Smith house on Main street. He was formerly of Milford. N. J.

The band concert, which was to be be held last evening on Nelson's corner, was postponed until next week on account of the rain.

Charles Thornton has withdrawn from the firm of Smith & Thornton and moved to New York with his family.

Fred Clawson and wife, of Scotch Plains, have returned home after spending a few days visiting his parents.

HUYLER'S AGENT.

Mr. and Mrs. Whykoff Voorhees have returned home from a visit with friends in Elizabeth.

Mrs. Herbert L. Pierce is spending a few weeks visiting her parents at Montour, N. Y.

There is an uncalled for letter in the postoffice, addressed to Wilson Biedlemann.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Rev. Mr. Todd, of Dunellen, will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist Church tomorrow morning. Mr. Todd is the father of J. H. L. Todd, of the borough. Rev. Mr. Shott will occupy the pulpit of the Park Avenue Church, of Plainfield.

Mrs. Deals, of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp, will have charge of the service Sunday evening at the Methodist Church. A collection will be taken for the benefit of the fresh air work at the camp.

The bush and undergrowth which has been growing wild in the Baptist Cemetery, has been cut, and if it was raked up and burned the impovement would be even more noticeable.

Mrs. Louis Frentz and children, who have been spending two weeks at the home of relatives and friends in town, have returned to their home at New Providence.

The summer boarders' season in the village has been brisk during August. There is hardly a boarding house in town but what has been filled to its capacity.

If the element will permit the locals and St. Mary's, of Plainfield, will clash on the local diamond this afternoon. Game will be called at 4 o'clock.

Prof. Howard D. White, of the public school, who has been spending his vacation at his home at Carlisle, Pa., is expected to return Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Clark and children, who have been spending a week with relatives at Keyport, returned home on Thursday

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Marsh and family, who have been spending the summer at Walton, N. Y., are expected home next week.

Open air song and praise service will be held by Rev. Mr. Shaw Sunday evening, corner of Park and Battle avenues.

Dr. F. W. Westcott has returned from an outing of several days, which was spent with relatives at Bridgeton, this State.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gray, of Front street, have been entertaining Mr. Gray's brother from New York.

Conrad Peltz has moved his barber shop from the postoffice building to the Cook building.

Arthur Haskard, who has been enjoying a two weeks' vacation, returns to work Monday.

William H. Pangborn, of Plainfield, was the guest, yesterday, of friends in town.

Miss Margaret Manning, of Westfield, has been visiting friends in town.

Thomas Sellers has taken a position with one of the Cranford plumbers.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Miss Lou Brown and James H. Cubberley left town yesterday for Los Angeles, California, the home of Miss Brown, who has been spending most of the summer with her sister, Mrs. J. A. Cubberley, and other relatives in the East.

There will be no preaching service at the Baptist Church tomorrow. Christian Endeavor meeting will be held at 7:30 in the evening.

The Township Committee will meet in regular session Tuesday, at New Market.

L. C. Meeker has recovered from his recent slight illness.

PERSONAL.

Watchung Ave. and Fifth St.

Ten Thousand Churches in the United States have used the Longman & Martinez Pure Paints. Every Church will be given a liberal quantity whenever they paint.

Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for Linseed oil (worth 60 cents) which you do when you buy thin paint in a can with a paint label on it.

8 & 6 make 14, therefore when you want fourteen gallons of paint, buy only eight gallons of L. & M., and mix six gallons of pure linseed oil with it.

You need only four gallons of L. & M. Paint, and three gallons of Oil mixed therewith to paint a good sized house.

Houses painted with these paints never grow shabby, even after 18 years.

These celebrated paints are sold by WOOLSTON & BUCKLE, Plainfield. H. C. MEYER, Scotch Plains.

Legislature who is not pledged to support any candidate."

While the active politicians are much interested in the fight now so close at hand, the general public has, so far, thought little about it. It is likely, however, that the next week will see many waking up to a realization of the campaign so closed at hand.

A short time ago James T. MacMurray, the local Republican leader, said that he intended to support Judge William N. Runyon for the nomination. Judge Runyon is now out of town and consequently his position can not be stated at this time.

CITY JOTTINGS.

Doings of Toby, Pet Mine Cat

Boards Flying Trains in the Inky Blackness and Does Other Things Not Sanctioned by Aristocratic Feline Society.

THE smartest cat in all the city of Scranton, Pa., the miners say, lives at the Cayuga mine, a Delaware, Lackawanna & Western property, at Providence, a suburb of Scranton. Toby is a medium sized Maltese, about three years old, and that he has not had his neck broken before this is a perpetual wonder to the 800 miners and colliery operatives at the Cayuga mine. The Cayuga is one of the deepest shafts in the Lackawanna coal fields, the lower working, where Toby makes his home, being more than 600 feet deep. It is a model mine in its equipment, and Toby, apparently, is trying to live up to its reputation as an up-to-date mining plant. Electric lights and electric hauling motors were installed in the mines three or four years ago, when Toby was a baby cat, and he got used to the somewhat terrifying appearance of the bug-shaped motors, with gleaming headlights, darting through the winding chambers 600 feet from the sunlight, dragging after them "trips" of ten or a dozen small coal cars, holding two tons of freshly mined coal. Toby rides on the motors from one end of the mines to the other. The northern end of the lower working is under Priceburg, three miles from the bottom of the shaft in Providence, and Toby makes the trip on one of the motors every day and sometimes twice a day.

According to the New York Tribune, Toby has his favorite motormen. His affection toward them apparently is somewhat graduated according as they save him choice bits of meat from their dinner pails. Toby will blink unconcernedly as some of his more "distant" acquaintances among the motormen whisk by, but when a real good and tried friend come bowling through the blackness Toby will brace himself, exactly time the speed of the motor and then—"Plump!" he will jump from alongside the track to a spot just behind the headlight.

The motormen used to hold their breath when Toby tried this leap, fearing that he might miss. But he never misses. Whether the train is going fast or slow Toby alights close to the legs of the motorman, and then holds on "tight" while the little train, with a deafening roar, plunges forward on its way. He's a sight with his eyes wide open and his tail waving, standing on the front of the motor. The miners from one end of the mine to the other know Toby, and it would go hard with the man or boy who hurt or teased him. Toby pays his way by keeping the lower working of the mine free from rats. A few mules still are used in the mines, and wherever there are mules and fodder there are rats. In some of the upper workings of the Cayuga there are rats a-plenty, but never a rat in the lower working, where Toby lives. He has been out of the mines once or twice, but he prefers the dark, with the rumbling motors and the soft words and petting from his hosts of grimy friends.

The fire boss in the Hampton mine, near by, has a dog named Covey that goes the rounds of the mines every morning with the "boss." Covey is a smart animal, too. His master has taught him to put out fires wherever they are discovered. If a miner in lighting a pipe drops a scrap of burning paper Covey flies at it and paws out the fire. With all his intelligence, however, he is no match for Toby, of the Cayuga mine.

COPPERHEAD SNEERED.

John Burroughs' Tale of a Mighty Smart Reptile and the Man Who Teased It.

The naturalist, John Burroughs, is opposed to nature books that treat of animals too imaginatively—that impute to animals sentiments of love, pity, tenderness and refinement which mankind has no way of proving that they possess.

"Sometimes in reading one of these fictitious nature stories—stories that many persons believe to be true—I am reminded," Mr. Burroughs said one day, "of the story of the intelligent copperhead. This story is quite as true as many that are implicitly credited.

"According to it, there was a man who had the habit of teasing copperheads. He would find a copperhead's hole, and then he would wait beside it until the snake returned—till it had got so far into the hole that only the end of the tail protruded.

"This he would seize and with a quick movement he would throw the snake 20 or 30 feet away. When the snake returned to its hole the operation was repeated, and so on until the joker was weary.

"One day the man did this to a copperhead of unusual intelligence. The snake, on alighting the first time, did not make for its hole again immediately, as the others had always done, but it lay still and regarded its tormentor, thinking. For a long while it thought.

"Then, very slowly it approached the hole, turned round and entered backward—entered tail first—sneering slightly at the man whom it had thus duped."

Odd Piscatorial Discoveries.

A fishing firm of Wickford, R. I., has recently made some odd discoveries regarding the finny tribe. Some time ago a male sea trout was discovered that had in its internal economy both a male and female roe. A day or two since another queer sea trout was caught. When it was opened a stone, weighing over a pound and shaped like a paving stone, was found in its stomach, and how the fish, with such a cargo aboard, was able to swim is a mystery.

RELEASED EACH OTHER.

Matrimonial Bureau Courtship Ends Somewhat Abruptly, But to Mutual Satisfaction.

James S. Good, a wealthy cattleman of Navarre, Texas, and Miss Mary Andrews, of Covington, Ky., who had won each other's heart by mail through the medium of a matrimonial bureau, met at the courthouse at Leavenworth, Kan., to be married. Each had what purported to be a photograph of the other, and it was expected that the recognition would be mutual, but it was not.

The two wandered through the corridors for three hours, passing each other a score of times, without a suspicion as to the true state of affairs. Finally both made inquiries of the marriage license clerk, and thus they met.

The Texan gasped, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, when he realized that the over-plump, none-too-fair maiden before him had for four months been the one object of his heart's desire, and reflected that she had letters from him which would give her a verdict without the jury leaving the box.

The maiden, too, was apparently a bit disappointed in her cavalier. She drew his photograph from her pocket, looked first at it and then at the Texan, finally remarking, evidently referring to the photograph:

"Well, I don't see how he ever did it."

This broke the ice, and in three minutes the matrimonial deal was off, and there will be no breach of promise suit.

NEITHER WAS MUCH ON LOOKS.

"I am not a beauty myself," Miss Andrews remarked afterwards, "and wouldn't expect too much in a husband, but no woman under 50 in her right mind could marry that man."

"She wasn't much on looks, was she?" was the Texan's only comment.

Miss Andrews left for Covington and Good for Kansas City, "to forget about her," he said.

Living Is Cheap in India.

It costs very little to support a family in India. Millions of men in that country live, marry and rear healthy children upon an income which, even when the wife works, is rarely above 60 cents a week.

An Ideal Location
Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE
LINDEN, N. J.
Beautiful and Accessible
2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark,
14 MILES FROM NEW YORK
On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL, or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR INFORMATION concerning lots in these beautiful Park Cemeteries, and FREE transportation to prospective lot buyers, apply at once to any LEADING UNDERTAKER or offices of the Associations:

FOR WARM DAYS.

Linen Morning Costumes—Lace and Net Gowns.

Crash is excellent for morning costumes, but the fine linens are smarter and can be rendered quite dressy with piped strappings or medallions of lace inlet at wide intervals in sloping lines on the skirt and bordering the bolero in suitable points or scallops. The wide lace collar is quite a favorite on linen bodices, but is of moderate size when used on the bolero.

Lace and net gowns are cool and comfortable mounted on batiste or sateen, and, now that the mercerized finish gives a silky effect to these inexpensive materials, they make admirable linings, which under net or lace, with the usual interlining of chiffon, have almost the appearance of silk.

Some of the figured muslins of the heavier type make up delightfully without any lining. They are worn over a low, sleeveless batiste bodice, and the silk petticoat, which is now being worn almost to touch the ground, serves well as a slip. The printed coteline and the satin foulards are quite charming when simply made with a little insertion lace and a few gathered frills, but the plaited skirts are prettier in plain materials.

The picture shows a gown of gray veiling trimmed with gray embroidery.

CHANGES IN DRESS.

Transparent Collars and Yokes. Skirts Are Growing Fuller.

Navy blue cheviots and serges make ideal between season gowns. They are trimmed with Persian embroideries, and the hat has a chiffon veil to match the gown.

Transparent collars and shallow yoke effects are features of the new gowns. Indeed it is rare to see a lace collar lined with anything heavier than thin chiffon even on heavy gowns.

Skirts are growing much fuller around the feet, which is perhaps one reason why the long skirt has been banished for ordinary street wear, as its weight makes it very difficult to hold up properly.

Cape effects and broad collars distinguish the old fashioned gown from the new, but by means of a dip yoke and a wide collar of lace even quite an old dress may be given a modern air.

Short capes with long tabs matching the skirt, with which they are worn, will be a feature of the early fall.

Plaid effects are seen in French sailor hats. They are of braided satin or felt straw and are trimmed very simply with quills or wings.

The picture shows a dressy waist, with a lace yoke and undersleeves edged with velvet.

STREET GOWNS.

Possibilities In Brown Holland—Navy Blue Linen Dresses.

Yellow and white are popular shades this year, and as far as wash gowns are concerned there are great possibilities in brown holland with a baby bodice and a simple skirt eased in at the waist and finished with a prettily shaped wide band and perhaps a suggestion of embroidery. When this is worn with a smart little stock and bow and a simple hat you have a costume which is eminently simple and becoming.

For street wear during the late summer and early fall nothing can be in better taste than simple little gowns, whether of serge, foulard or wash material, made without trimming, and a simple, well cut waistband matching an equally simple stock. Serge gowns in automobile red, blue and cream and prettily plaited silk linens make admirable costumes of this description.

Navy blue linen has much to be said in its favor. Some pretty tailor made coats and skirts made of this are strapped in white.

A smart frock was of coarse navy blue volle embroidered with red. This was worn with a navy blue hat trimmed with scarlet berries. The dress had a wide navy blue swathed belt of becoming proportions which was much to be preferred to a red band.

The gown in the cut is of figured crepe de chine, with the cape of the same material.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION HINTS.

Accordion Plaited Walking Skirts. Hopsackings and Flannel.

Flannel is a delightful fabric in blue and white and black and white. For the country this may be made in simple blouse and skirt fashion, but if it is required for yachting you must resort to the tailor and avoid all imitations.

Coarse hopsackings and white homespun are really smart fabrics for yachting and out of door sports. The prevalence of white will continue far into the fall, and after white navy blue and brown are the favorite colors.

Accordion plaited walking length skirts are among the features of this season. They are particularly smart in navy blue and black and white checks.

The loose three-quarter coat of double faced cloth is a most useful part of the mountain girl's outfit.

A great many plaid silks are being worn this year. They are made up into little shirt waist suits and trimmed with bands of plain silk.

The cut shows a waist of white crape trimmed with yellow lace and white silk tassels. JUDIC CHOLLET.

A REAL DAUGHTER OF THE REVOLUTION

By CAROLINE GEBHARDT.

Copyright, 1902, by J. B. Lippincott Company.

The two stout gray horses had all they could do to draw the ponderous vehicle, and they had not traversed more than a third of the distance to her aunt's before Jane began to realize that she had made a mistake in her choice of coachmen. Gabriel was only a house servant, unused to horses, while Absalom, though a dapper, graceful and sprightly footman, did not compare as a driver with her own Uncle Timothy.

The carriage was rolling along the edge of a piece of woodland, the low-hanging branches sweeping its top and the mingled odors of wild flowers and damp mold drowsing the senses of its occupants, when out from among the trees galloped a horseman. As Jane's eyes fell upon him she straightened up from her lounging attitude against the cushions, while over her face spread an expression so forbidding that it made her look ten years older—but, alas, she did not know it.

"Ah, Jane," Capt. Worthington cried, reining up his horse beside her carriage with the confident air of an old friend, "I am in luck to-day. I have longed to see you since our assault of the other night to—"

If Jane's head could have reared itself higher, it would. "I should think," she observed, "that Capt. Worthington might at least have the decency not to refer to his ruffianly behavior. Absalom, drive on."

"Jane," the captain cried again, "you must permit me to explain. It—"

"Explain? And what, pray, is there to explain? I am not so dull that I need have it explained to me how Capt. Worthington used his knowledge of my father's premises to spy upon my guests, nor how he forged a note in his sister's name to give some color of excuse to his presence there."

"Forged?" the captain gasped.

"And as for what followed, while I know that it must have disappointed you that your plot did not so far succeed as to enable you to burn alive in our beds my guests and myself, yet if you could have heard the moans and seen the wounds of the half score poor soldiers whom I had carried into my house and could have viewed the destruction wrought to my father's property, methinks you might have felt that you had just cause for elation and that you still merited the appellation of spy, bandit and midnight assassin in which I understand you and your henchmen take such well-earned pride."

Young Worthington's expression, at first astonished and then flecked with amusement, had flamed into anger as she proceeded.

"Madam, I congratulate you upon being so apt a pupil of Col. Bessemer. The terms which you have just used are a few of the milder epithets which, I understand, he applies to myself and that band of brave patriots with whom I have the honor to fight for my country. Had I known that Col. Bessemer was an honored and welcome guest instead of being, as I presumed he was, an intruder upon your hospitality, I would have been more loath than I was to make the attack which I felt my duty to make. While I feared that some destruction of your father's property might ensue, I flattered myself that by relieving you of the presence of Bessemer's firebrands and looters—appellations which, I assure you, they have earned quite as industriously as we have our pseudonymes—we might be doing you a service that would in a measure recompense for the loss; but it seems I was mistaken, and that Col. Bessemer is justified in the boasts he has made of the handsome entertainment he received at the home of his betrothed, 'the beautiful Jane Ellery,' to whom his troth was plighted, so he says, in Philadelphia town these three years past."

Jane's treacherous color fled at these last astounding words, and then came back with a brave rush. "'Tis easy," she remarked disdainfully, "to place false speech upon the tongue of the absent. I congratulate you upon the facility with which you have placed it upon Col. Bessemer's," and with that she drew down the curtain to the window on the side next Capt. Worthington, thus shutting out that wrathy warrior.

The soldier reared his horse back upon his haunches while his breath came hard and the healthy ruddiness of his skin gave place to an angry pallor. An insult! such an insult, and from Jane! Had it been from a man, he would have dragged him from the carriage and wiped up the earth with him, but— To first doubt his word and then drop the curtain, as though she had slammed a door in his face! Really, it was too much! He jug his spurs into his horse—that pampered animal that seldom knew a touch which was not gentle—and dashed recklessly through the woods. It was well that his mount was as good a forester as he, else they must have come to grief.

As for Jane, she drove on with her brain in a whirl. What had Godfrey meant by attributing such speech to Col. Bessemer? Pah, it was but some idle gossip which those bandits with whom he associated had picked up at some wayside inn.

She was too experienced in such matters not to have read the sincerity of Col. Bessemer's admiration for herself underneath his ornate speeches and too ardent glances. That he thought her beautiful she could not doubt. Most men did. Even when she was but a raw schoolgirl of 16 in Philadelphia he had singled her out for marked attention during his stay in the city.

True, he had brought letters of introduction to her stepmother's brother, of whose household she was an inmate, and being made welcome with that cordiality which the tories of Philadelphia showered upon the British officers, he spent much of his time at her uncle's house, which accounted, doubtless, for the courtesies he paid her. She had been new to such things then, and she could not deny that his red coat and gold lace, his London manners, and the high esteem in which he was so evidently held by his superior officers had touched her girlish fancy and made her heart flutter not a little.

When the fortunes of war took him away from the city, he had left her with many expressions of undying devotion, and she had believed him. But with the lapse of time it had grown to be a matter neither for surprise nor resentment with her that he had apparently forgotten all about her the moment he was out of her sight, and that she had heard not one word from him, although she had heard much of him, until he had appeared at her home the other day.

It had amused her a little then to note that Bessemer had been willing to make all out of their former acquaintance that he could, and to impress his officers that there had been more between them in Philadelphia than there was. She could easily understand that from this might have arisen some idle gossip which had been exaggerated by the time it reached Godfrey's ears into the words he had repeated to her. That the young American had deliberately lied or that he had even amplified the tale in its telling she knew him too well to believe; but she had been angry enough with him to be willing to give him any slap in the face which came handy, and she was too much a woman to worry herself over injustice.

It was a pity Godfrey could not read her thoughts, for then he might have picked his way through the woods with more care and might not have forced his horse to crash through underbrush that scratched its flanks and tore his own buckskin leggings.

He had gone perhaps a mile in this reckless fashion when a thought struck him that made him rein in his steed and sent the color from his face with as much swiftness as had Jane's cruel stabs awhile back. Good God, if he should be too late! Why had he not thought of it before? He turned his horse about and retraced his way with even more speed, but at the same time with more care, than that with which he had come.

Lights and Shades of Love

Romance That Ended in Deep Sorrow and Sentimental Attachment That Ended in Happiness—Funny Mistake About a License.

NOT all stories are so sorrowful as that of Miss Mayme MacLaren, of Indianapolis. In Chicago a year ago she met Harold Baker, a young Englishman on a visit to this country. He was won by her and proposed marriage. She refused him at first and he left for England.

Not discouraged, he persisted in his proposals, making them by letter, and the young woman reconsidered. It was agreed that he should come to America again and that they should be married.

The young woman was preparing her wedding garments, when her mother was taken ill and died. The young man came across to find his fiancee heart-broken over her mother's death. She was so absorbed by her grief that she did not notice her lover's peculiar actions. It was discovered that his mind was becoming deranged.

His father was sent for and arrived in time to take the son, now unbalanced mentally, back to England.

For three months Rose Bennett, 17 years old, was a wife without the knowledge of her parents, with whom she lived at 332 Evergreen avenue, Brooklyn. She was wedded to Edward E. Richards, 23 years old, on March 23, in the Church of St. John the Baptist, Lewis and Willoughby avenues.

Mrs. Peter G. Bennett, mother of the bride, did not know of the romance in the family until last week, when Rose dropped her wedding ring. Mrs. Bennett forgave the girl, as all good mothers do, and when Mr. Bennett came home she broke the news to him. Mr. and Mrs. Richards are now living with the old folks.

Mrs. Bennett would not permit the bride to talk about the wedding, but said for her: "They are two foolish young persons. They got married on the quiet and we knew nothing about it until a few days ago. Rose is young and he is a mere boy. I have a lot of sewing to do for her. You know girls need a lot of sewing for anything like this, and I am one of the old-fashioned kind who believe in having it done at home. They will go to housekeeping soon, and I must get the sewing done, so you will excuse me. Marriages like that seem to run in our family, for my son went away and came back with a wife."

A comedy of love was enacted recently at Olney, Ill. A bashful young man, Edward F. Bird, of Noble, went to get a marriage license which would enable him to marry Miss Rose Mosser. He approached the license clerk, who had just finished making out a hunter's license. Turning to Bird he asked: "Do you want one?"

"Yes," said the bashful Mr. Bird.

Therefore the clerk made out a document, describing the color of his hair and eyes, giving his height, weight, and age, and other characteristics.

Taking the license, the young man set out to find his fiancee and then to find a minister. The clergyman was about to perform the ceremony when he looked at the license.

"Well," he said, "this authorizes you to hunt various kinds of game, but I don't see anything authorizing you to take a wife."

He handed Mr. Bird the document, and the astounded bridegroom found that he had a hunter's license and not a marriage license. The bride promptly did what all self-respecting brides would have done. She fainted. The bridegroom left other persons to bring her back to life while he hit the pike for the license office again. The Chicago Tribune says that there is now in the clerk's office a detached certificate pinned to the stub of the hunters' license book, and across the face in red ink is written: "Canceled; not needed."

EDWARD HIT THE PIKE.

A Cincinnati couple feared the things which their kind and energetic friends might have planned for them. William Hickey and Miss Minnie Savage dodged the rice throwing and other outbreaks customary on the festive marriage occasion by hiding their getaway clothes in some part of the city not yet known, stealing away from their friends, dressing at this unknown spot, and leaving for parts unknown on some unknown train. The friends still are standing about the house with shoes and rice in their hands waiting for someone to show up at whom they can fire the parting shots.

KILLED BY SNEEZING.

Strange Case of a Kentucky Girl Whose Father Guards Her Grave in the Cemetery.

A daughter of Benjamin Ball, who lives in Dix River bottoms, Harrisburg, Ky., died with an ailment that puzzled the physicians. On the second day of last March the young lady, who was just 16, robust and large for her years, began to sneeze and kept it up constantly for four weeks, the longest interval between any two sneezes being about one minute. At the expiration of the four weeks the sneezing stopped, and it was hoped that she would not again be troubled. Three weeks later, however, she was again attacked with sneezing, and notwithstanding that she had the best of medical attention, kept it up constantly until death relieved her.

During the first attack the girl remained in her usual perfect health, but during the last spell she suffered excruciating pain and wasted away. Her limbs and hands doubled up and it was impossible to straighten them. She made repeated endeavors to bite herself and to pull her hair out, and days before her death it took several strong hands to hold her in bed.

The remains were buried in the Christopher graveyard, and every night since the interment the broken-hearted father has pillowed his head on the mound that covers his girl, with a shotgun by his side, for fear her grave may be distrubed in the interest of medical science.

Pneumonia to the Front.

In Chicago and New York, according to recent statistics, pneumonia has now superseded pulmonary tuberculosis as the cause of greatest mortality.

PAUL WON THE BET.

How a Chicago Hobo Fooled Police Sergeant and Got Free Ride to the Lockup.

Unable to secure a night's lodging through his persuasive oratorical powers, Paul Ernester, of Chicago, picked up a plank and beat his way into at least six months of both free board and lodgings, much to the surprise of the police who had just turned down his well-worded request.

Ernester, who has a club-foot, applied for a bed at the East Chicago avenue police station, but was told that the city's hotel was on the West Side.

"You'll have to furnish me with carriage fare, then," said Paul, "for with this bum pedal of mine I couldn't get there much before breakfast."

"Not so that you could notice it," replied the desk sergeant, "you walk or you don't get a bed."

But Ernester knew a system worth two of the sergeant's, and he vanished from the view of that officer—just for a minute.

A crash just outside of the station aroused seven policemen, the lieutenant and several hundred unsuspecting neighbors, who rushed to the street armed for a battle.

Paul had facetiously waved a plank through a plate-glass window in the front of a saloon, and was waiting to be arrested.

FACETIOUSLY WAVED A PLANK.

"Do I get my lodgings now?" he asked.

"You win," responded a copper, and also predicted that about six months of stonebreaking would help him to earn it.

Forty Legless Veterans.

There are 40 veterans of the civil war who lost both feet in battle. It is as one of these that Corporal Tanner's pension was increased to $100 a month, which is the same as that for the loss of both hands.

Among the golf events scheduled at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club for Labor Day will be stated play for the Holiday cup in the morning and play for the Green's Committe tankard in the afternoon. On the same day there will be tennis play for the Labor Day cups, mixed doubles, scratch.

Sales by Realty Company.

The Investors' Realty Company has sold to the Improved Building Lot Association, of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, lots 19 and 20, block C, a tract of land at the corner of Fourth and Elk streets, in the West End of the city. The purchasers expect to continue Leslie avenue through Elk street and thereby open up in that immediate neighborhood an avenue to West Front street. M. C. Gano, of 170 Grove street, represents the purchaser, and Wm. Jeffery, the real estate dealer, effected the deal.

Unimportant Blaze.

While playing about in the home of their father, the two children of Charles Howard, who live next to Burns' Hotel on Somerset street, in some way set fire to the fringe of the lounge. An active blaze ensued and the burning lounge was, with difficulty, thrown out of doors. An alarm was turned in from box 141 but the services of the department were not needed. The damage was solely to the lounge and was very slight.

On Account of the Weather.

The races at the Driving Park scheduled for this afternoon, have been postponed indefinitely on account of the storm.

IN THE CHRISTIAN FIELD

WORK IN THE CHURCHES OF THE CITY AND BOROUGH.

There will be an ice cream festival at the Coontown Congregational Church on Thursday evening, September 3, 1903, for the benefit of the church.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Scotch Plains Baptist Church, will preach at the Park Avenue Church tomorrow morning. There will be no evening service.

The regular Sunday church services will be resumed at the Congregational Church, Sunday, Sept. 6, when the pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, will occupy the pulpit.

Rev. and Mrs. George Angleman, of Piermont, N. Y., who have been visiting Mrs. Angleman's parents in West Front street for several weeks, will return home next week.

Rev. John McMurray and family, of Monroe avenue, have returned from their summer outing and Mr. McMurray will occupy his pulpit at the Monroe Avenue Church, tomorrow.

Rev. Dr. J. L. Campbell, formerly pastor of the Lexington Avenue Baptist Church, of New York City, will address the men's meeting at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. C. M. Nagle, the local soprano, will sing.

Rev. Dr. J. L. Campbell, a well-known Baptist clergyman from New York, will preach at the First Baptist Church, tomorrow, morning and evening. During the month of September Rev. Dr. Chambliss, of Orange, will preach at this church.

Rev. John Sheridan Zelie, pastor-elect of the Crescent Avenue Church, is now at Mt. Desert. He, with his family, expects to come to Plainfield early in September and will reside in Park avenue, corner of Crescent avenue. The house is now being put in first-class order.

The Somerset County Sunday-school Association will hold its forty-fourth annual convention in the Presbyterian Church, Basking Ridge, Tuesday, September 8. There will be an all-day session and there will be reports from the various departments and superintendents and conferences.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Headquarters for fresh vegetables at Neuman Brothers. Especially fine assortment of table fruits, peaches, plums and Bartlett pears. All seasonable vegetables in fresh consignments every morning.

—The State Tax Board has been lately in communication with the Department of Commerce at Washington respecting the methods adopted by the Board in taxing corporations in this State. The object of the Government is to effect if possible uniform laws for all the States in taxing incorporation.

—The request made at the Ocean Grove campmeeting for prayers for janitors was perhaps not out of place. A Newark woman, of religious proclivities, recently felt called upon to ask the janitor of her flat if he was a Christian. "I used to be," was the reply, "before I became a janitor."—Newark Evening News.

—A dispatch from Sea Girt says: "Captains Horace M. Bell and William B. Martin, who accompanied the All-American rifle team to England, but who, unfortunately for New Jersey's interest, were not selected to shoot on the team, are doing some excellent work on the ranges, and it is probable that the rifle team of the Second Regiment, on which they both will shoot, will give a good account of itself in the contests.

SIDE LIGHTS ON TIMELY TOPICS NOTED IN PASSING.

"There are lots of people living in the country who are afraid of fresh air after dark and sleep in tightly closed bedrooms," says an exchange. "Is is all poppycock that night air is bad air. The more good, fresh air one can have in his bedroom the better he will sleep and the more restorative will be his rest. It is better to sleep out under the stars than to get in one of those air tight rooms. Open the windows, open them wide, and let them stay open all night."

"The eagle looks lively this afternoon, eh? Have you noticed," said one Park avenue pedestrian to another yesterday afternoon, referring to the brass eagle on the city flag pole.

When his companion turned to look he saw a truly wonderful sight. The outstretched wings of the big bird were covered with purple martens and the effect of the living birds perched on the mannikin was a sight to be remembered. The martens will soon leave their West Front street home and journey southward for their winter sojourn and it is thought that these birds were perhaps scouts, looking up the flocks of their gathering southward bound fellow birds before forming their traveling company. The little creatures remained perched on the eagle for some time, turned hither and thither by the wind as it swayed the big vane, and many stopped to see the novel sight.

Mr. Duffy's Funeral.

The funeral services of the late Dominick Duffy who died yesterday at his home on Grove street will be held at the house on Monday at 8:30. Requiem mass will be said at St. Joseph's Church at 9 o'clock. The interment will be at St. Mary's Cemetery.

Funeral of Mrs. Phillips.

The funeral services of Mrs. Mary E. Phillips, who died Thursday, were held this morning from her home on Greenbrook road. High mass was said at St. Joseph's Church at 9 o'clock and the interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Shamrock Defeat Postponed.

J. F. BUCKLE OPPOSED BY THE KEAN FACTION

Nominations for Assembly, Justices of the Peace and Other Offices Filed.

FIGHT TO THE FINISH

CHARLES L. MOFFETT AGAIN BROUGHT OUT FOR ASSEMBLY.

Nominations Not Made in Some Districts—Lists Filed for County Committeemen—Primaries on Tuesday, September 8.

Nominations were completed and filed with the City Clerk Saturday night by both the Republican and Democratic parties of the city. Aside from the question of a choice for the Assembly there does not seem to be much of any great interest, at present. The "regulars" in the Republican party from the four wards have come out in support of Councilman J. F. Buckle, of the First Ward, for that nomination, as predicted by The Daily Press a few weeks ago. In the Third Ward there is the looked-for opposition from the Rushmore-Murray faction. This faction, it is said, will nominate and support Former Sheriff W. T. Kirk, of the Third Ward. There is also some support from the other wards for Kirk, delegates being selected from those wards who are believed to be friendly to his candidacy. Of course, this faction represents United States Senator John Kean, while the "regulars" are the friends of Congressman Charles N. Fowler. It is simply a continuation of the old fight.

As for the Democrats their candidate for Assembly will probably be Lawyer Charles L. Moffett, of the Fourth Ward. It is argued that he ran twice for this office under somewhat adverse circumstances and it is believed that this year he would stand a far better show of an election.

It will be noticed in the two lists that in some wards and districts nominations have not been made, the parties preferring to allow them to go by default. The primaries will be held Tuesday evening, September 8, when the first round of the fight will be witnessed.

REACHES A CENTURY; HALE AND HEARTY

Mrs. Letitia Swartout-Remsen to Celebrate Her One Hundredth Birthday.

DESCENDENTS GATHER

EVENT TO BE OBSERVED AT HOME OF ABRAM G. REMSEN.

Vision Almost Perfect and Hearing Acute—Strong Physically—Sketch of Aged Woman's Life.

Mrs. Letitia Swartout-Remsen, of Sandford avenue, will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of her birthday tomorrow, and in honor of the event, her descendents are gathering at the home of her son, Abram G. Remsen, at 25 Sandford avenue, with whom she lives.

When a reporter called on the aged woman yesterday, a call of "grandma" brought her down stairs, with the agility of a much younger person. She refused assistance and proffers of aid. Mrs. Remsen has an almost perfect vision, an acute hearing and a strong physical body.

Mrs. Remsen told these incidents of her life. She was born at Fishkill, New York, Sept. 1, 1803, being the youngest of nine children. Her father's name was Jacobus Swartout and her mother's maiden name, Martha VanWyck, a relative of Former Mayor VanWyck, of New York. She spent her younger days at the old home in Fishkill and in 1824 she was married to Augustus Remsen, of Brooklyn. In 1876 Mr. Remsen died and twenty-six years ago Mrs. Remsen came to this city to live with her son. She was the mother of nine children, three of whom are now living. She has nine grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren, all of whom will attend the celebration tomorrow.

Mrs. Remsen is a Daughter of the Revolution, her father being a Continental soldier. She distinctly remembers the stirring times incident to the War of 1812, when her two brothers enlisted and served during that conflict without the slightest injury. When a young woman she united with the Strong Place Baptist Church, of Brooklyn, and has always retained her membership there. She faithfully attended at the First Presbytercian Church since coming to this city.

SAD DEATH OF YOUNG WOMAN

MISS ARLINE BELL MARRIED JUST BEFORE SHE DIED.

Became the Wife of J. Linn Edsall —She Was Operated on for Appendicitis.

Marriage and death following close one upon the other were the lot of Miss Arline Bell, who went to New York from Plainfield last week, was taken seriously ill, married to Linn Edsall, of Sandford avenue, and died Saturday night at Bellevue Hospital. This is the story as given Mr. Edsall's father.

Miss Bell, who has received attentions from Linn Edsall, went to New York last week to take a position in a glove house. She was taken sick upon the train, carried to Bellevue Hospital later and operated upon for appendicitis, dying Saturday night at 7 in the evening. Says Mr. Edsall, Sr., in describing what occurred in the mean time:

"Miss Bell had recently been receiving attentions from Mr. Edsall and had expected to marry him at a proper time in the future. Not having any acquanitances in New York she went to Mr. Edsall's address where he found her on his return from business. He at once called in a physician who diagnosed her case as ptomaine poisoning. In order that Mr. Edsall might give Miss Bell his personal attention they were married."

To Become a Landlubber.

George Carpenter, son of Dr. and Mrs. Carpenter, of Park avenue, who has been detained at a New York hospital under treatment for injuries received while aboard a steamer, has almost recovered and expects to return home soon. Mr. Carpenter, who has been following the seas, has decided to remain on shore hereafter.

—Under the auspices of Howell Division, Sons of Temperance, a lunch box social will be held this evening in the rooms on West Second street.

DEATH OF MRS. IDA SIMMONDS

LONG A RESIDENT OF THIS CITY AND PROMINENT IN CHURCH AFFAIRS.

Left a Husband and Seven Children—Funeral Services Tomorrow Morning.

Mrs. Ida Gibson Simmonds, wife of Herman Simmonds, of Park Lane, Netherwood, died at Muhlenberg Hospital Saturday afternoon about 1 o'clock, following an operation earlier in the week for intestinal troubles. During the first few days after the operation the patient seemed to be progressing toward health, but on Friday night peritonitis developed and from that time on there was no hope for recovery.

Mrs. Simmonds had been a resident of this city about fifteen years. She was born in Baltimore and was the daughter of Rev. John Baker, a well-known Presbyterian minister of that place. For some time she and her family resided in Watchung avenue, corner of Ninth street. Her husband, who is a prominent coffee broker in New Orleans, made his home in the South on account of his business. Mrs. Simmonds was an attendant and active member of the Crescent Avenue Church during recent years.

Besides a husband there are seven children surviving, four sons and three daughters. Of the sons, W. L. Simmonds and Herman Simmonds, Jr., live in New York; Albert Price Simmonds lives in Indianapolis, and Graft Watson Simmonds, as well as one daughter, Miss Lucille Kendall Simmonds, lives in this city. The other daughters are Mrs. A. Z. Baker, of New York and Mrs. Mayers, wife of Rev. Dr. D. Campbell Mayers, of South Boston, Va. Mrs. Simmonds also leaves a brother, W. S. G. Baker, president of the Baltimore Car Wheel Works, of Baltimore, and a cousin, Bernard Baker, late president of the Atlantic Transport Ship Company, and now president of the Ship Trust. The entire immediate family was present at the bedside when Mrs. Simmonds died. Immediately afterward, Albert Price Simmonds, a son, was called to Philadelphia, where his wife has been ill with typhoid fever.

The funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from the late residence in Park Lane. If possible, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, formerly of the Crescent Avenue Church, now of the Brick Presbyterian Church, New York will officiate.

A. A. Weeks Dead.

Albartus A. Weeks, of West Seventh street, died yesterday after a long illness. He was a former resident of Brooklyn and was engaged in business in Gold street, New York, as a wholesale stationer. He has lived here for four years. Funeral services will be held from the late residence Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Interment will be in Cypress Hills Cemeteyr.

Fifty Years Wedded.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. George Lyman VanEmburgh, of 331 East Second street, for the observance of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. The event will be celebrated on Tuesday, September 15, from 4 until 10 o'clock. The minister who married them is still living and he expects to be present at the celebration.

Mrs. Phoebe E. Smith Buried.

The funeral of Mrs. Phoebe E. Smith, who died Thursday at Muhlenberg Hospital, was held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of her father, John Van Fleet, on North Front street. The Rev. Mr. Bowers, of the Baptist Church, at Boontown, officiated. Interment was at Evergreen Cemetery.

Buried at Evergeen.

The funeral of J. Frederick Phoebus was held from the house, 110 Netherwood avenue, at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and Rev. George Bowers officiated. Interment was made at Evergreen Cemetery.

Letter-Carriers Appointed.

Robert Goldsack and William Callahan, two of those who took the postal examination for positions of letter-carriers, received word today of their appointment as sub-carriers.

—The cases in the city court this morning were postponed until the return of Judge Runyon tomorrow morning.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT VEILED IN MYSTERY

Herbert Chamberlain, Victim of Unknown Intruders' Vicious Attack.

IS CRITICALLY INJURED

STORY TOLD BY WALTER GASTNER, HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW.

Chamberlain Can Remember Nothing—Police at Work on Case —The Theory of Robbery Scouted.

Herbert Chamberlain, of East Fourth street, was murderously assaulted with some blunt instrument, probably a club, while asleep at his home on East Fourth street, a little before midnight on Saturday night. He is now at Muhlenberg Hospital suffering from severe contusions on his head and is in a critical condition.

The first intimation of the assault was when Chamberlain, still half stupified with sleep, the blood streaming from his face, with one ear almost torn from his head, stumbled half dead to his window and cried for help.

Walter Gastner, his brother-in-law, reported the matter to the police at 12:30 and asked for medical assistance. His story was that he was awakened by Chamberlain's shouts for help, finding him lying in a pool of blood unconscious on the floor, that being the first sign of trouble he had noticed. He claimed that he had been robbed of some $40 in money, which he said had been taken from a trunk, but it is said that that amount was afterwards found on his person. Gastner is being held by the police as a witness.

There is no clue to the perpetrator of the assault. Chamberlain told Chief of Police Kiely that he could remember nothing. He saw nothing, he says, of his assailant. He had always lived peaceably with his brother in-law, he states. Chamberlain is a lineman in the employ of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, well liked, faithful in the performance of his duty and so far as known, without an enemy.

The police have been unable to place any motive for the act It seems impossible that robbery could have been incentive. Gastner, the brother-in-law, told the police that he thought he had seen a colored man sneaking away from the house after he had been alarmed by Chamberlian's outcries but the police do not credit the story.

At 1 o'clock today, Chamberlain's condition was reported unchanged. He has an even chance for recovery.

HE HAS STRANGE ACTIONS

WOODWARD WANDERS AWAY AGAIN AND IS FOUND IN NEWARK.

Kneeling in Prayer on Street When Picked Up—Escaped From Home.

Edward Woodward, twenty-seven years old, of the Babcock flats, who has been mentally unbalanced for some time, was taken to his home from Newark at midnight on Saturday by his stepfather, H. A. Bodine, and his brother, Horace A. Woodward.

He was found in Newark kneeling and praying on the steps of a house. Woodward escaped from his room in his mother's home here on Saturday, leaving the house by way of a fire escape.

Mrs. Bodine, this afternoon, refused to tell a reporter the whereabouts of the deranged man.

Practical Charity Case.

Peter Benford, a worthy man who some time ago lost, and who is thus unable to earn a living on cautches, has been offered work by Capt. William H. Hand, providing he secures an artificial leg. A number of his friends and well-wishers are trying to raise money enough to purchase the leg for him. Capt. Hand has the subscription paper and will receive donations towards the object and will see that the money thus subscribed is used economically.

PAGANISM TO CHRISTIANITY

THIRTY YEARS PROGRESS OF JAPAN DETAILED BY PROF. KNOX.

Interesting Sermon at Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church Last Evening.

The transformation of Japan, was the subject of a most interesting address by Professor George V. Knox, of Union Theological Seminary at the Crescent Avenue Church last evening. Professor Knox visited Japan in '77 and spent ten years among the people.

Professor Knox spoke especially of the rapidity of the opening up of the empire through the willingness of the enterprising Japanese to learn of their western neighbors. He spoke of the condition of Japan before the coming of Commodore Perry in '59, of the feudal barons, the empire gentry, and the masses—the three main classes. This second class, the gentry, known as the Samarii, were about two million in number. They were the educated class, and to them is attributed the making of the new empire.

At the invasion by the powers, these patriotic Samarii uprose to restore the empire and drive out the foreigners. They were successful in restoring the empire but being unable to drive out the invaders, they sent a government embassy to the United States and to the other powers. This embassy was impressed with the uselessness of their attempt when they saw the progressiveness of the foreigners and wisely discerned that the only way to save their country was to submit until on an equal standard of learning with the invaders.

This desire for education swept over the country in '77 and has made it possible for the Japanese to boast of their stride from medieval to modern times in thirty years. Professor Knox spoke of the vast number of Samarii who gave up social rank and standing in Japan to travel in European countries and the United States, to learn all sorts of trades as laborers and to return to their homes.

Those unable to increase their education by travelling have been educated at the various Christian missions where they have learned the English language and in this way, have veritably stumbled upon Christianity. A substantial offering was taken up for the pursuit of mission work among the Japanese.

GAME WARDENS' STATEMENT

MAKE EXPLANATION OF LAW TO PREVENT VIOLATIONS.

Facts Concerning State Fish and Game Laws—Non-Residents Must Take Out License.

In order to prevent unintentional violations of the fish and game laws, and enlighten those who might fall into error and be subject to punishment through ignorance in pursuit of their favorite sport, the Fish and Game Commissioners at the recent meeting made the following statement:

The open season for reed birds, rail birds, mud hens or marsh hens begins September 1, and ends December 31.

The number of mud hens or marsh hens to be taken in a day is limited to thirty. The number of rail birds to be taken in a day is not limited.

Non-residents of the State, before hunting in New Jersey, must take out a license which can be procured from any county clerk in the State, on payment of $10 for license and fifty cents for fee.

For non-residents of the State, who own a freehold estate in any lands in New Jersey, and who pay taxes on it and reside thereon a portion of each year and also for their sons who are members of their families, licenses will be issued by the county clerk in the county where their lands are located, upon payment of only a fifty-cent fee.

The non-resident license act does not apply to hunting on game preserves established prior to April 22, 1902, but applies to all game preserves established after that date. A game preserve is defined as a tract of land enclosed and stocked by individuals or an association.

Holders of licenses under the non-resident license act are not authorized to take from the State game prohibited by section 22 of the fish and game laws.

The provisions of the non-resident license act do not apply to gunning for geese, duck, brant, snipe or mud hens, but reed birds and rail birds do not come under this exemption.

OUT IN THE WIND AND RAIN FOR GOLF

Elements Not Able to Discourage the Hillside Enthusiasts.

SEVEN POSTED SCORES

FINAL PLAY IN HALSTED COMPETITION AT WESTFIELD.

Saugstad Made the Best Score at the Hillside, and Now Leads in Total Standing for Golf Committee Cup.

Despite the driving rain storm and the disagreeably cool weather of Saturday several enthusiastic members of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club braved the elements and made the rounds of the course in competition for the Golf Committee cup. There were just seven contestants who posted scores. Olaf Saugstad won first honors and the lead for the trophy with a total of 15 points. Frank C. Talmadge and H. R. Stockton tied for second, each making a net score of 84 and taking a point and a half each. This makes Stockton tie Peterson for second position with a total of 14 points and gives Talmadge a total of 2 1-3.

These scores were posted for the Golf Committee cup:

Olaf Saugstad, 92, 9—83; Frank C. Talmadge, 86, 2—84; H. R. Stockton, 88, 4—84; Wlter Peterson, 90, 5—85; E. T. Newkirk, 95, 10—85; E. T. Barrows, 99, 12—87; H. D. Hibbard, 97, 9—90.

This is the standing by points for the Golf Committee cup at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club:

Olaf Saugstad	15
Walter Peterson	14
H. Reeve Stockton	14
Augustus R. Fisk	7
H. D. Hibbard	7
Arthur Murphy	6 1-3
W. L. Glenney	6

Westfield, Aug. 30—The final play in the Halsted best-hole competition on the Westfield Golf Club course, on Saturday, was won by R. I. Townley with a score of 35. This competition has been in progress during August. The preliminary play for the President's competition was also completed on Saturday. H. W. Gladwin with a net score of 90 and Edgar I. Serrell with a net score of 94, were the last two of the sixteen to qualify for the President's cup, at match play, during September. This play will begin next Saturday.

The Golf Committee has arranged for Labor Day morning a men's foursome, 18 holes, handicap play. There will be no scheduled event in the afternoon as nearly everyone will attend the horse races at Fair Acres.

Cars Buckled.

Through a mistake of the pushing engine starting up too soon, the rear platform of the caboose of an east bounh freight train was buckled and shattered near the North Avenue station early this morning. The pusher started up before the leader had started and the caboose was derailed. The wrecking train remedied the trouble at noon.

Excursion to Coney.

The fifteenth annual excursion of the Plainfield Grocers' Association to Coney Island, Labor Day, promises to be an enjoyable event. The trip will be made from New York by one of the iron steamboats. The train will Dunellen at 8 o'clock and Plainfield five minutes later. Returning the excursionists will leave Coney Island at 7 o'clock.

Why Sprinkler Was Out.

Considerable surprise was expressed this morning at the sight of the street sprinkler at work on some of the main business streets, which were an inch deep in mud. The action was taken in order to soften the mud and make it easier of removal.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

READY REFERENCES FOR THE LOCAL BARGAIN SEEKERS.

Meats that are meats, fresh, juicy, tender, are what the customers of J. W. Van Sickle, of North avenue, are always sure of getting.

C. M. Nagle's specialties in toilet articles will bear close examination. Like everything else in his store they are exactly as represented.

Continuous performance at Jerry Voss's seafood market of Park avenue. Great bargains in fine fresh fish from early morning to late night.

You don't have to inquire. If the fruit or vegetable is in season, it is at W. W. Dunn's grocery store on Lincoln place. Headquarters for staples. Satisfaction guaranteed.

The best meats that will be eaten tomorrow have come from Smalley Bros. city market on North avenue. All the choice cuts of everything in season. Best delivery service.

Milk is an important and necessary food. Make sure of getting the best and freshest by purchasing of William Lindsay & Son. Send in your orders by mail, telephone or in person. You'll be treated right.

For a good investment there is nothing any better than the New Jersey Loan Company. This concern gives all the advantages of every other first-class association and is conducted along the best possible lines.

The art of cutting one's hair or shaving the face is truly exemplified at E. B. Maynard's hair-cutting and shaving parlors in North avenue. The best work is done and Mr. Maynard always strives to please his patrons.

Pictures of real value, representing the work of renowned artists, are to be seen at the Audsley Art Store on East Front street. If you want a picture framed, Mr. Audsley will do the work in a way that will surely please you.

James R. Blair, the popular men's outfitter, has everything in the line of men's furnishings at his store on Park avenue. He is local agent for Hawes' hats, the popular New York headgear, and is now displaying the fall styles.

J. M. Cabart, proprietor of the New York Painting and Decorating store in Park avenue, will be pleased to quote you figures on first-class painting and papering, and he will also be glad to show you his fine stock of wall papers.

Before you go to New York to buy your new dress suit case, drop in at Shirley & Johnson's store in the Babcock building and look over their handsome dress suit cases, grips and hand bags. You will see just as good an assortment and at prices just as reasonable.

Up the Hudson.

On July 30, August 19, and September 3 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run its usual midsummer excursions to the "Upper Hudson," under personal escort. Special excursion tickets will be sold on those dates for regular trains arriving at Jersey City prior to 10:05 a. m., good to return on same day on any regular train leaving Jersey City after arrival of steamer. A stop will be made at West Point, giving those who disembark an hour and a half at that point, and enabling them to view the United States Military Academy. In order to insure an early return, no stop will be made at Newburgh, although the steamer will run to a point off that city and there turn. Round-trip rates: Princeton, $2; New Brunswick, Metuchen, and Perth Amboy, $1; Rahway, 80 cents; Elizabeth, 75 cents; Newark, 50 cents. Proportionate rates from other points.

—The officials of the Lackawanna Railroad will spend $1,000,000 for improvements in Newark. A viaduct for trains will be constructed, which will do away with twenty-seven grade crossings.

—The new Pennsylvania Railroad bridge across the Delaware at Trenton eliminates seven grade crossings and shortens the distance to New York by 400 feet. The bridge and the land at each end of it cost $2,500,000. The company will endeavor to do away with every grade crossing on its line.

Save the Children.

Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach, and these disorders are all caused by indigestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is just as good for children as it is for adults. Children thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and developement. Mrs. Henry Carter, 705 Central St., Nashville, Tenn., says: "My little boy is now three years old and has been suffering from indigestion ever since he was born. I have had the best doctors in Nashville, but failed to do him any good. After using one bottle of Kodol he is a well baby. I recommend it to all sufferers." Kodol digests what you eat and makes the stomach sweet. Sold by L. W. Randolph.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

STATE OF NEW JERSEY.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

As required by an act entitled "An act to provide for submitting proposed amendments to the Constitution of this State to the people thereof," approved April 8, 1903, notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the twenty-second day of September, 1903, a will be held in the several election districts or precincts of this State, at such places as the clerks of the several townships, cities and municipalities of the State shall provide, to enable the electors qualified to vote for members of the Legislature to vote for or against each of the following proposed amendments to the Constitution.

SPECIAL ELECTION

S. D. DICKINSON,
Secretary of State.

ARTICLE V.

EXECUTIVE.

1. Insert in lieu of paragraph 10 a new paragraph, as follows:

10. The governor, or person administering the government, the chancellor and the attorney-general, or two of them, of whom the governor, or person administering the government, shall be one, may remit fines and forfeitures and grant pardons, after conviction, in all cases except impeachment.

ARTICLE VI.

JUDICIARY.

1. Insert in lieu of Section II a new section, as follows:

1. The court of errors and appeals shall consist of a chief judge and four associate judges, or any four of them.

2. In case any judge of said court shall be disqualified to sit in any cause, or shall be unable for the time being to discharge the duties of his office, whereby the whole number of judges capable of sitting shall be reduced below four, the governor shall designate a justice of the supreme court, the chancellor or a vice-chancellor, to discharge such duties until the disqualification or inability shall cease.

3. The secretary of state shall be the clerk of this court.

4. When a writ of error shall be brought, any judicial opinion in the cause, in favor of or against any error complained of, shall be assigned to the court in writing; when an appeal shall be taken from an order or decree of the court of chancery, the chancellor or vice-chancellor making such decree or order shall inform the court in writing of his reasons therefor.

5. The jurisdiction heretofore exercised by the supreme court by writ of error shall be exclusively vested in the court of errors and appeals; but any writ of error pending in the supreme court at the time of the adoption of this amendment shall be proceeded upon as if no change had taken place.

Section IV.

1. Insert in lieu of paragraph 1 a new paragraph, as follows:

1. The court of chancery shall consist of a chancellor and such number of vice-chancellors as shall be provided by law, each of whom may exercise the jurisdiction of the court; the court shall make rules governing the hearing of causes and the practice of the court where the same is not regulated by statute.

Section V.

1. At the end of paragraph 1 add the following:

The court may sit in divisions at the same or different times and places.

Strike out paragraph 3.

Section VI.

1. Insert in lieu of paragraphs 1 and 2 the following:

The court of common pleas shall be constituted and held in each county in such manner as may be provided by law.

ARTICLE VII.

CIVIL OFFICES.

Section II.

1. Insert in lieu of paragraph 1 a new paragraph, as follows:

1. Judges of the court of errors and appeals, justices of the supreme court, the chancellor, the vice-chancellors and the judges of the circuit court and of the court of common pleas shall be nominated by the governor and appointed by him with the advice and consent of the Senate; all persons now holding any office in this paragraph named, except the judges of the court of errors and appeals as heretofore existing, shall continue in the exercise of the duties of their respective offices according to their respective commissions or appointments; the judges of the court of errors and appeals, except those first appointed; the justices of the supreme court, the chancellor and the vice-chancellors shall hold their offices for the term of seven years, and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during the term of their appointments; and they shall hold no other office under the government of this state or the United States; the judges of the court of errors and appeals first appointed shall be appointed one for three years; two for five years and two for seven years; judges of the court of common pleas shall hold their offices for the term of five years.

Strike out paragraph 2.

FIFE AND WRINGE.

Sir Thomas Denies Any Controversy on Shamrock III.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., Aug. 31.—Sir Thomas Lipton expressed himself forcibly on the allegations that Designer Fife and Captain Wringe were in bitter controversy over the cause of the defeat of the Shamrock III.

"I want to say," said Sir Thomas, "that I am absolutely disgusted with the continual repetition of the story that I have criticised Mr. Fife and that Mr. Fife and Captain Wringe are at loggerheads. I say distinctly and forcibly that I have never criticised Mr. Fife. I had Mr. Fife build me a boat. He built me a beautiful and, I think, a fast boat. He put in her his best endeavor, and I have never questioned his loyalty and his ability. It is not his fault that Mr. Herreshoff built a better one for these waters. It is not his fault that the wizard of yacht building is in this country, and wizard he is. So, too, the stories of Mr. Fife's having any controversy with Captain Wringe are without foundation. Captain Wringe has sailed Shamrock III. in the same manner as Mr. Fife built her—to the best of his ability. I have no fault to find with him, and the statement that I have found fault with Captain Wringe or that Mr. Fife or I have interfered with him is ridiculous. Mr. Fife has done his full duty by me, and so has Captain Wringe. There is no controversy between me and either of them and none between them, I will vouch."

Colonel Neill and Jack Wilson, guests of Sir Thomas on the Erin, were cruising in one of the Erin's launches in the Shrewsbury river when the engine broke down, and they drifted for an hour and a half before being picked up by another launch and towed to the Erin. The accident was caused by suddenly reversing the engine to rescue one of the Erin's "mascot" Scottish terriers which had fallen overboard.

Sir Thomas said that he thought there was a chance for a race this morning, adding that the Shamrock had weathered a stiff gale coming over and that he would like to see her in a good sea.

Hamburg Belle Wins Futurity.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—With the admittedly best colts of the year splashing the mud behind her Hamburg Belle, Sydney Paget's filly, led a field of eighteen home in the fifteenth renewal of the Futurity. Her brilliant victory was applauded by 20,000 racing enthusiasts, who had braved the rain laden northeast blast and shivered through an uncomfortable afternoon at Sheepshead Bay. Hamburg Belle's success was the redeeming feature of the Futurity. The third filly to win the classic for two-year-olds, she stamped herself a truly wonderful piece of horseflesh. When L'Alouette won in 1897 it was rightfully said that her victory was in the nature of a fluke. There were some who denied the greatness of Butterflies, which in 1894 was the first filly to win the Futurity. But Hamburg Belle by her races previous to Saturday had won the right to the position of honor as the speculative favorite before the bugle sounded the Futurity candidates to the post. Then she achieved her victory in a manner that pleased her admirers and proved the soundness of their judgment.

Race of Automobile Boats.

PARIS, Aug. 31.—Great public interest has been aroused in an automobile boat race which has started from Paris to the sea, a distance of 220½ miles. Fifty-seven boats started, representing the principal makers of automobiles. There will be six stages—Paris to Mantes, Elbeuf, Rouen, Caudebec, Havre and Deauville. The journey will take six days owing to the numerous locks on the Seine, the finish taking place next Friday. The contest takes place under the patronage of the minister of marine and three other members of the cabinet. A great crowd, including many notables, witnessed the start of the race. The boats carry motors of from thirty to sixty horse power and are capable of making twenty-two knots an hour. The Mercedes arrived first at Mantes, and the Flora arrived second. All the towns along the Seine are making preparations to enthusiastically greet the competing boats.

Each Got a Game.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Chicago and Detroit each took one game in a double header played under threatening skies before a small crowd at the South Side grounds. A bad error by Green in the seventh inning, allowing two runs, gave Detroit the first game. He made good in the second game, however, by bringing in three runs with two doubles and a single in four times at bat. Score: Chicago, 2; Detroit, 3. Second game—Chicago, 6; Detroit, 2.

Chicago Won, 3 to 2.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—After ten innings of close and almost perfect play, in which the locals outbatted Cincinnati three to one, Chicago won, 3 to 2. The second game was called on account of rain after the visitors had been retired in their half of the third inning, the score standing 3 to 2 in their favor.

Pittsburg Defeats St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 31.—Pittsburg defeated St. Louis in a snappy game here. Pitcher Doheny of the Pittsburg team was in rare form and let the locals down with six hits. A pretty running stop by Ritchey was the feature of the game. Score—St. Louis, 0; Pittsburg, 3.

Cleveland Took Both Games.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 31.—Cleveland took both games of a double header from St. Louis, the first 7 to 4 and the second 10 to 1. Joss did the pitching in the first game against Sievers and Donohue against Sudhoff in the second. St. Louis did some very poor fielding.

SHIPS GO TO BEIRUT

Admiral Cotton, With Two Cruisers, En Route.

AMERICAN INTERESTS AT STAKE.

The Fleet In Turkish Waters Is Taken by the Insurgents as a Token of Sympathy With Their Cause.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Other than advices from Admiral Cotton announcing his departure with the cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco for Beirut there were no developments in the Turkish situation so far as Washington is concerned. No additional information came from United States Minister Leishman, Secretary Hay saying he had not heard further from our minister to Turkey. The orders to Admiral Cotton to proceed to Beirut will not be canceled, it is authoritatively stated, unless the president so directs. Such an order at this time, however, apparently would not avail anything, as the admiral is now on his way to Turkey.

That Chekib Bey, the Turkish minister, is manifestly perturbed over the situation of affairs in Turkey is fully realized here. His uneasiness over the presence of an American fleet in Turkish waters lest it be taken by the revolutionists as an evidence of the American government's sympathy with their cause, it is thought, will not be a strong enough reason for its withdrawal. The administration regards it as a sacred duty to see that adequate and prompt assistance and protection should be given American interests in the disturbed district and for this reason feels justified in having the war ships sent to Turkey.

With the departure of the cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco for Beirut, as was announced by Admiral Cotton to the navy department, the entire European squadron is now on its way to the Turkish seaport, the gunboat Machias having left Genoa. The cruisers are much faster than the gunboat, and Admiral Cotton cabled that he expected they will reach Beirut by Friday.

Cruisers Sail For Port Said.

GENOA, Aug. 31.—The United States cruisers Brooklyn and San Francisco have sailed for Port Said, where they expect to find instructions indicating their future movements.

Train Holdup Failed.

HAVRE, Mont., Aug. 31.—It has been learned here that an attempt was made Friday night to hold up the west bound flier of the Great Northern near Malta. The attempt was frustrated by detectives riding on the engine. Three suspicious looking characters believed to be members of the gang of Harvey Logan, alias Kid Curry, boarded the train, and two of them started to climb over the tender, when they were discovered by the officers, who covered them with guns and ordered them off. They promptly slid off, disappearing in the darkness. For three days the train crews have been heavily armed, and a score of detectives have been riding up and down the line. Several days ago the company received what they considered reliable information that Harvey Logan was back in Montana and would attempt a holdup.

Fatal Wreck on Nickel Plate.

TOLEDO, O., Aug. 31.—A freight wreck occurred in the yards of the Nickel Plate railway at Bellevue, O., at an early hour, in which Engineers James Rodenberg of Bellevue and J. G. Bartholomew of Conneaut, O., were killed. Engineer Rodenberg had charge of a switch engine and was at work in the yards when the third section of No. 37, west bound, in charge of Bartholomew, pulled into the yards at full speed and crashed into the switch engine. Rodenberg was caught between the tender and cab and squeezed to death. Bartholomew was hurled from his engine. He was terribly bruised, and both legs were broken. He lived four hours. Fireman Bradshaw of the switch engine was thrown through the engine cab and slightly bruised.

Passengers In Peril on Lake Ontario.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 31.—In one of the worst storms ever witnessed on Lake Ontario the steamer Chippewa of the Niagara river line was out in the lake and could not make the river channel. She signaled all day with her fog horn. About 200 passengers were on board. The lake is full of shoals at that point, and the steamer was in great peril for a time.

Steamer Tremont Tied Up.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 31.—The steamer Larchmont of the Joy line came into port here having on board the passengers of the steamer Tremont of the same line, which is now tied up at Northport, N. Y. The Tremont left New York for Providence Friday afternoon, and it is understood that she put into Northport harbor during the storm that night.

ALASKAN BOUNDARY

Secretary of War Root Arrives In London.

CLAIMS WILL BE HEARD THURSDAY

Controversy Centers on Canada's Effort to Acquire an Outlet to the Sea—American Position Said to Be Unassailable.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—Secretary of War Elihu Root, ex-Secretary of State John W. Foster, Hannis Taylor and Judge John M. Dickinson arrived at Liverpool on the Celtic for the meetings of the Alaskan boundary commission, which will open in London on Thursday. They were received at Liverpool by Mr. Petherick, assistant United States dispatch agent, in behalf of the American embassy. The Canadian commissioners are also here.

United States Ambassador Choate has arranged to give a dinner in honor of Secretary Root, at which all the American and British representatives will be present. The commissioners are already familiar with the facts of the cases on both sides, which were filed several months ago. At the first meeting of the commissioners the Americans and Canadians will submit their briefs, which will be a condensation of the facts and arguments regarding the interpretation of the treaty. The commission will then announce the day on which the oral arguments will be heard.

The documents have not yet been made public, but it has been learned that the whole controversy centers upon Canada's effort to acquire an outlet to the sea. It is known authoritatively that the Canadian agent asserts that under the Russo-British treaty of 1825 the line properly crosses numerous inlets, including the head waters of the Lynn canal. The contention seems to be that the inlets less than six miles wide situated in the disputed region belong to Canada. United States Counsel Foster vigorously opposes this view, holding that the treaty clearly places the line thirty miles inland, following the sinuosities of the coast, and thus separates Canada from all the arms of the ocean and puts Porcupine creek and the gold district under American jurisdiction.

The American representatives are confident that their position is unassailable. The commissioners expect that the complete consideration of the entire case will take less than two months and that even should the commission fail to render a majority award the facts will be clearly established. This will lead to an easier settlement in the future.

Secretary Root intends to take advantage of the recess between the filings of the briefs and the oral arguments to witness the British army maneuvers.

Ball Players In Train Wreck.

PERU, Ind., Aug. 31.—The ball players of the St. Louis and Cleveland American League teams had a narrow escape in a wreck on a Wabash train at Napoleon, O. Luckily none of the players was badly hurt. Among those injured were: W. Sudhoff, pitcher, St. Louis, right wrist cut and sprained; Sidney Mercer, secretary of the St. Louis team, rib fractured; Emmett Hydrick, fielder for St. Louis, face cut and leg bruised; Napoleon Lajoie, second baseman, Cleveland, face cut and knee sprained. The players were on the way to St. Louis, where two games were scheduled.

Flagship Yankee Afire.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 31.—The flagship Yankee of the naval training squadron, which is flying the flag of Rear Admiral W. C. Wise and which has been engaged in the maneuvers off Portland, entered the harbor with her midship bunker afire. The fire was discovered by smoke on the gundeck. Some 200 tons of coal were removed from the top of the bunker, leaving some 300 tons. Then the fire hose was used, and since that time the fire has been smoldering. The crew is still engaged in moving the coal from one bunker to another.

English Labor Party Organizing.

LONDON, Aug. 31.—As an outcome of the recent successes at the parliamentary byelections the labor party is organizing contests for seats in parliament at the next general elections on an unprecedentedly large scale. Among others Mr. Chamberlain's seat for West Birmingham will be contested by the prominent labor leader, W. J. Davis, a strong free trader.

Row In Saloon Ends In Death.

PASCOAG, R. I., Aug. 31.—An autopsy was held upon the body of James Nolan, who, it is alleged, was struck or pushed through a window glass during a row in a local saloon in such a manner as to cause his death. Death was pronounced due to loss of blood from a wound in the throat. Henry Cruise, the alleged assailant, is held under bonds.

Thomas Lynch, Aged 100, Is Dead.

WORCESTER, Mass., Aug. 31.—Thomas Lynch, aged 100 years and 3 months, is dead at Southbridge, having been in bed only three weeks. He was a heavy smoker, but a total abstainer from strong drink. He was a native of Ireland.

Fatal Eruption of Geyser.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 31.—A terrific eruption of the Waimangu geyser occurred. Several sightseers were swept away by the stream of boiling water.

Prince Ferdinand Goes to Sofia.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 31.—Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria arrived here and proceeded to Sofia.

A FASHION SHOW.

First of the Kind Here—An Exhibition of Stylish Gowns.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—Madison Square Garden will be given over to the display of fine dresses at the Fashion show for the next two weeks. Acting Mayor Fornes, Secretary of Commerce and Labor George B. Cortelyou, United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew and others will deliver brief addresses.

This is the first exposition of its kind ever held in this country. Its purpose is to set styles and to establish a unity of ideas in the making of gowns between American and Parisian modistes.

Successfully to bring about this movement European modistes have contributed to the exposition 150 gowns of every style, while a large number of American designs will be displayed. Otto Adler, delegate from the Parisian dressmakers, will deliver addresses on European fashions. Handsome girls during the afternoon and evening sessions will wear the different styles of gowns on a stage. Every style of garment favored by women in outdoor life will be shown, including golf, automobile, yachting, tennis and bicycle styles. The live exhibit will show the process of making many of the articles of apparel and will include a silk loom in operation.

There will be a display of the proper styles to be worn at various functions, including an ideal wedding costume. The millinery exhibit will be on a large scale, and the display of domestic and foreign laces will be notable.

Another feature of interest will be hair dressing, showing the proper manner of arranging the hair for morning, afternoon and evening and in the most becoming manner in accordance with the style of gown to be worn.

GARIBALDI SPEAKS.

An Old Enemy of Turkey Interviewed on Present Situation.

ROME, Aug. 31.—General Ricciotti Garibaldi, who fought on the side of Greece against Turkey in 1897, has been interviewed regarding the rumor that Greece will support Turkey against Macedonia. He said he did not find it strange that Greece and Turkey should unite in suppressing the Macedonian insurrection. "I myself," he continued, "have urged Greece to come to an agreement with Turkey before Russian Pan-Slavism or Austrian Pan-Germanism gains the mastery over all the eastern Adriatic coast. Greece, Albania and Italy have only one road to safety, and that is a full and cordial agreement with Turkey. Boris Sarafoff asked my advice in organizing the Macedonian insurrection, complaining that I was unfavorable to it. I answered that I could not approve it, because the insurrection was based on the hope of Austro-Russian intervention, which, if it came about, would be in the interest of those two countries.

"My plan is the independence of Albania under Italian protection, with an understanding with Greece, while contemporaneously Sarafoff would appeal to Europe for Macedonian independence, renouncing all idea of Austro-Russian intervention. If my programme is accepted I will appeal to the Italian people, convinced that in twenty-four hours 20,000 volunteers would follow me to the other side of the Adriatic. I am in hopes that the Italian government would not prevent my carrying out this project, but if it did I would renounce Italian citizenship."

The Storm at Norwalk, Conn.

SOUTH NORWALK, Conn., Aug. 31.—During a heavy rain and wind storm the wreck of the schooner Willie L. Newton drifted about a mile southwest of Green's reef light, where she finally brought up on her anchors and pounded badly. At dark she appeared to be all right and will not drift much more probably, as the wind is moderating. The tug R. B. Little lay beside the Newton until the storm became too severe, so two men were placed aboard the wreck to keep guard over her. The steamer Hampton, plying between this port and New York, had a rough time in the sound and finally had to put about. When off Stamford the steamer had two stanchions and a large door smashed in by the seas which came aboard.

Hoolihan Clubbed to Death.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 31.—Michael Hoolihan, a bartender, while sleeping in a chair in a saloon owned by his brother, John Hoolihan, at Sixth and Broadway, in the downtown district of this city, was beaten to death with a club by some unknown person, whose motive is supposed to have been robbery. Hoolihan's skull was crushed, and his pockets had been rifled. Will Lee, a negro, has been arrested on suspicion.

Lost His Life For $10.

MAYSVILLE, Ky., Aug. 30.—A buggy occupied by David Daily of Maysville and William Malone of Manchester, O., ran into one occupied by Clarence Thomas and William Jackson, colored. The colored men demanded $10 damages, but Daily insisted on waiting for settlement. Thomas shot and killed Daily. Both negroes are in jail.

Cleary Choked to Death.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Aug. 31.—Walter Cleary is dead here from strangulation. He was eating breakfast with his family, and a piece of meat lodged in his windpipe. Before a physician reached him he had choked to death.

Getting Even with the Chinese.

Some years ago, when Chinese oppression was intolerable, American merchants had the alternative of wearing the Chinese costume and shaving their heads or leaving the country. A number of Americans, in order to protect their interests, adopted the dress of the land. Capt. B. H. McCalla, of the American navy, serving his country in Chinese waters at that time, encountered one of these transformed Americans.

"Had to do it?" said one of the transformed Americans, pointing to his head and queue.

"I presume conditions warrant this sacrifice of your Americanism?" said the captain, scornfully.

"Let me tell you," said the American-Chinese, drawing closer to the captain, "the Chinese make me wear a pigtail, but in return I make quite a few Chinese taels myself."

Rising Importance of Caoutchouc.

One of the natural products of the world which year by year is rising in importance is caoutchouc, or india rubber. A French writer has drawn attention to the vast and nearly neglected resources of Peru in regard to this substance. The finest rubber produced comes from the basin of the Amazon, the upper portion of which lies in Peruvian territory, and in species of gum-yielding trees. Mainly for want of roads, the exportation is not a tithe of what it might be, and the forests, where these is any exploitation, are being ruthlessly sacrificed without regard to the future—after the manner of South American republics. Probably in the time to come more rubber may be exported from Central Africa than from Peru.—London Telegraph.

FATAL HOLDUP.

Two Railway Men Killed, Two Injured by Robbers.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—Without a word of warning two men were killed and two others wounded by holdup men at the barns of the Chicago City Railway company, Sixty-first and State streets, at an early hour. The shooting was done by three men, who escaped after securing $3,000. Three of the men who were shot were working in the cashier's office, and the other was a motorman asleep in the outer office. The men in the office were shot before they were aware of the robbers' presence, and the motorman was killed as he was rising from a bench where he had been asleep.

The dead: Frank Stewart, assistant clerk in cashier's office, shot through the body while standing at his desk and died half an hour later; John B. Johnson, motorman, shot through the head, died instantly.

Injured: William B. Edmond, receiving clerk, shot in left thigh at his desk, will recover; Henry Biehl, shot in head, will recover.

The robbers took no chances, but disposed of all the opposition of the employees before they entered the office. Choosing the time when the employees were busily engaged in balancing up the receipts of the night just after the last conductor had turned in his money and left the barns, the robbers suddenly appeared at the receiving windows and began shooting. The first intimation those inside the office had that anything was wrong was when they heard the shots. The first bullet fired struck Stewart, and he fell to the floor without a word. Biehl and Edmond, who were sitting near Stewart, turned to see what was the matter, but before they could leave their chairs they were rendered helpless by the well directed bullets of the robbers.

Johnson, the motorman who was asleep in the outer office, hearing the noise, started up to go to the assistance of his companions, but was shot and killed before he could get on his feet. Making sure that all opposition had been removed, the robbers then broke open the door of the cashier's office with a sledge hammer and secured $3,000 in bills which was lying on the desk. They then made their escape. Four men were arrested three hours after the robbery on suspicion of being implicated in the crime, but they have not as yet been identified.

BATTLE WITH HEAVY SEAS.

Governor Chamberlain Has Rough Experience on the Sound.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 31.—After a hard day's battle with the storm and heavy seas on the sound the naval reserve training ship, the converted yacht Elfrida, with Governor Chamberlain on board, has anchored in safety off Roton point, near Norwalk. The governor and most of the party left the steamer there and came by train to this city, the governor continuing to his home in Meriden. Members of the crew, many of whom were green hands and unused to rough weather voyaging, say the experience while pitching and tossing about in the rough water of the sound was frightful and that it was one they do not care to repeat. The Elfrida, with a detail of amateur tars, left the camp of the Connecticut naval militia at Niantic Friday night for a cruise, with the governor on board, intending to join the yacht racing fleet off Sandy Hook on Saturday. On account of the storm, however, the boat was compelled to put into Huntington, N. Y. It was during the run across the sound to the Connecticut shore that the most disagreeable features of the trip were encountered.

Joseph Uncather's Death.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Aug. 31.—Joseph Uncather, aged twenty, was found dead on a pile of ties near his front door with his skull crushed. Young Uncather and Harry Grace, whose attentions to Myrtle Uncather, a sister of Joseph, had been ordered stopped by her father, met the father and mother. A quarrel followed, and Grace threw a stone, striking Charles Uncather, who swore out a warrant for Grace's arrest. Mr. and Mrs. Uncather left the two young men together. Later, after Grace had been arrested, they returned home and saw young Uncather lying on the ties. This morning they found him lying in the same position dead. No arrests have been made.

Raid on Oyster Tongers.

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 31.—In a raid on illegal oyster tongers in lower James river Captain Wynder of the state gunboat James River captured nineteen vessels. Two negroes, George Jefferson and Henry Brown, were in one of the boats. Brown jumped overboard to swim ashore. The gunboat gave chase and opened fire on the man. He stopped swimming when the shots were hitting around him and was captured.

Ship on Execution Rocks.

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—The British ship Charles S. Whitney of Parrisboro, N. S., went ashore on Execution rocks, near City Island, while inward bound from Rouen, France. An attempt to float the vessel by discharging her cargo into lighters will be made at high tide.

INSURGENT DEFEAT.

Bulgarians Fled Before Turks, Losing a Thousand Men.

PORTE ASKS RECALL OF FLEET.

Authorities at Beirut Are Displaying Marked Activity In Their Efforts to Find the Assailant of Magelssen.

SALONIKA, Turkey, Aug. 31.—The Bulgarian insurgents sustained a severe reverse at Smilovo, 1,000 of them being killed.

The insurgents to the number of 3,000 occupied a position on a height which was stormed by six battalions of Turkish troops commanded by Servet Pasha. After losing 1,000 of their number the Bulgarians fled in the face of the heavy Turkish artillery fire. The Turkish losses were insignificant.

Dispatches received from Constantinople, Monastir and Adrianople reveal an equally unsatisfactory condition of affairs in Macedonia. At Monastir the insurgents are said to be masters of the situation. Telegrams from Adrianople declare that the insurgent bands are continuing their ravages.

At the moment that the porte is asking Belgium to supply officers for the Macedonian gendarmery the Swedish ambassador at Constantinople has notified the Turkish government that unless they receive their pay immediately the Swedish officers now at Uskub will leave the country.

The Servian diplomatic agent has notified the porte that two divisions of the Servian army have been mobilized without any hostile intention as regards Turkey, but they will be sent to the frontier to prevent Albanian incursions into Servia.

A new outbreak is reported to have occurred in the environs of Salonika, and several skirmishes have taken place between Gievgyeli and Salonika, and there has also been a fight near Edidjevarda, both sides losing heavily. In the district between Kastoria and Florina, south of Monastir, the insurgents have destroyed all the fortified residences of the wealthy beys. A notorious brigand named Abdul Medjid recently delivered a harangue to the inhabitants of Tetovo, telling them to prepare themselves to slaughter all the Bulgarians upon the first appearance of revolutionary bands in the neighborhood.

Many wounded Turkish soldiers have been brought into Salonika from Uskub, Seres and Monastir. The Turkish troops are reported to be greatly discouraged, and many deserters have been thrown into prison.

It is reported that the hodja (teachers attached to a mosque) in the vilayet of Kossovo are preaching that the time for a holy war has come and that the people must be ready to kill the Christians in the vilayet. Insurgent bands are said to be in complete control of the districts of Demirhissar and Kitschevo and the chief mountain passes in the vilayet of Monastir.

The total strength of the bands in the vilayet of Adrianople is estimated at 6,000 men. The insurgents have blown up the barracks at Ghioktépe, near Malkoternovo, killing sixty soldiers. They also attacked and set fire to the Turkish camps at Egripalanka, Kratovo and Kotcheni. A great panic ensued, the troops firing into each other.

A dispatch from Constantinople says that after an interview with Foreign Minister Tewfik Pasha Minister Leishman requested Washington to recall the European squadron, which has been ordered to Beirut.

Since the representations made by United States Minister Leishman regarding the attempt on the life of Vice Consul Magelssen the authorities at Beirut are displaying a marked activity in their efforts to find the culprit.

Belgrade Sympathy For Macedonia.

BELGRADE, Servia, Aug. 31.—A crowd of thousands of people gathered in the Theater square and demonstrated in sympathy with the Macedonians. Several well known politicians spoke. They condemned Turkish misrule, appealed to the Servians to assist the Macedonians in their struggle for freedom and declared that Servia, Bulgaria and Montenegro ought to occupy and rebuild the Turkish empire. The meeting adopted a resolution calling on the government to intervene in behalf of the Macedonians. Reports are in circulation here that the monastery of St. Prochov, on the Servian frontier, was attacked Saturday night and entirely demolished by the Turks and Albanians.

Steamer Pittsburg Burned.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 31.—The passenger steamer Pittsburg, running between Cleveland and Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., and owned by the Georgian Bay Transportation company, of which W. J. Brown of this city is manager, was burned to the water's edge at her dock in Sandwich, Ont. The crew escaped; loss, $60,000.

Baquerizo Vice President.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Aug. 31.—Congress, which on Aug. 23 annulled the election of Alfredo Baquerizo, Ecuadorian minister to the United States, as vice president of the republic on the ground that it was unconstitutional, has reconsidered its action, declared the election valid and proclaimed him vice president.

New Russian Battle Ship.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 31.—The battle ship Slava, which is one of the largest vessels in the Russian navy, has been launched at the Baltic yard in the presence of the czar and the royal family.

THE FORUM.

Communications from readers of The Daily Press on all subjects of local interest are invited. All such communications must be stripped of personalities, and must be signed by the writer. His name will not necessarily be published. The editor is not responsible for views expressed in this column.

To the Editor, Daily Press.
Plainfield, N. J.

Sir: It was with great pleasure that the residents of Plainfield, especially those who have to press through or live near Watchung avenue, read in your columns that Mr. Durlash, the owner of those old disgraceful buildings on the corner of East Front street and Watchung avenue, is to remove them and a new modern brick building to take their place. Nothing for the benefit of the business section and general appearance could happen to equal this; we all certainly trust that it is not a rumor but a fact. The people, who petitionedthe Council for the completion of the widening, are more then thankful to Mayor Jenkins, that he saw that the matter was pushed.

The buildings are unsanitary and the Board of Health should have condemned them long ago. They are the most delapidated buildings in our "Fair City" without a single exception.

Now that the owner has made up his mind to put up a modern building, we would suggest that he make number one flats will all improvements with private entrance on Watchung avenue. All real estate men will tell him the better the class, the more readily they will rent. If he will come to Plainfield and inquire what the demand is for fine flats, he will be surprised. The owners have to keep a waiting list all the time, and Watchung avenue is a better and more central location than any of the others. The people of this city will be so pleased that they will all lend a helping hand to see that every part of it is rented at once.

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Sold by L. W. Randolph.

SUMMER HAS GONE ⚜ AUTUMN IS HERE.

"In times of peace prepare for war." Thus reads the old adage. All through the quiet of the summer months we have been making thorough preparations for a lively Fall and Winter Campaign. The choicest of many desirable lines of Merchandise has been selected. Already the new goods are arriving and the New Store begins to don its warmer and more seasonable dress. We realize that much will be expected from this store during the coming season. We shall see to it that it shall measure up to the greatest requirements.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is called to our Carpet Department located on the second floor and reached by remarkably easy grand staircases. This department has been given double its former space and its stock has been increased accordingly.

Most of our New Carpets were bought before the advance in price so that we are able to offer special inducements to prospective buyers.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

DUNELLEN.

A census of the borough will be taken this week and it is expected that there will be an increase of at least fifty voters over last year's record. This may materially effect the political complexion of the borough.

The game between the Dunellen Athletic Club and Bound Brook, was not played on Saturday owing to the rain. The next game between the teams is scheduled for September 5 at Bound Brook.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giddes have returned to Philadelphia, after spending a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Giddes, of North avenue.

Stacy H. Opdyke and Florence Opdyke left Saturday for Niagara Falls, where they will spend ten weeks visiting friends.

Owing to the recent rain and the passing of heavily loaded stone wagons, Washington avenue is in a very poor condition.

Not disturbed by the disagreeable weather, several from here attended the Central Railroad excursion to Mauch Chunk.

John Alberts spent Saturday evening fishing at Greenbrook and returned with a long string of eels and catfish.

Henry Rittenbush has been entertaining his brother, Frederick Rittenbush and daughter, of New York City.

E. T. Morrison, of Steelton, Pa., is now visiting his family, who will move to that place tomorrow.

Fred Giddes, of Philadelphia, spent yesterday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Giddes.

Percy Abbott and Abner Corieli have returned after spending a week in Asbury Park.

There will be a meeting of the Checker Club tomorrow night in Cole's office.

Fred Vail returned this morning from a few days' visit with friends in Newark.

Corry Coyle and Harvey Moynihan spent Saturday in New York visiting friends.

Morris Coyle has returned from a brief visit with relatives in Philadelphia.

The local Order of Foresters will meet this evening in Apgar's Hall.

Joseph Kelley is visiting relatives at Danberry, Conn., this week.

Edward Liempeter visited friends in New Brunswick yesterday.

John McMahon has returned from a visit with New York friends.

Alexander Terry visited relatives in New York City over Sunday.

Thomas MacNamara is visiting relatives at Newburgh, N. Y.

NEW MARKET.

Shepherd Randolph, who has been spending the summer on his father's farm, will return to Cornell University. He is taking a course in civil engineering there.

John Nelson and Edson Davis will return to Rutgers College on September 14th and enter upon the duties of sophomore year at that institution.

Regular services were resumed in the First Baptist Church yesterday. Sunday-school will be begun for the winter months in two weeks.

There will be a regular session of the Township Committee at Hotel Nelson tomorrow afternoon.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

A petition has been presented to the Board of Health, signed by about twenty-five of the residents of "Emboye Crescent," calling the Board's attention to the nuisances at Galvin's Park, especially on Sunday night. The petitioners claim that the noise and rabble of the crowd together with the worn out tunes, which are ground out by the organ on the merry-go-round, are a menace to the public health. The Board will meet Friday night of this week and will probably take some action on the petition. It was reported that Prosecutor English's attention had been called to the park for violating the Sabbath, and that he was to make a personal investigation yesterday but as the day was stormy the park was practically closed and no inspection followed.

William Jimerson led the weekly meeting of the Epworth League held last night as the Methodist Church at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Deals, who is interested in "Camp Wolfe," Westfield's Fresh Air Camp, made an interesting address upon the work being done at the Camp and the results obtained. A collection for the benefit of the Camp was taken.

Rev. Mr. Tolph, of New Brunswick, occupied the pulpit of the Baptist Church on Sunday morning in place of Rev. Mr. Todd, of Dunellen, who was forced to cancel his engagement on account of illness. Mr. Tolph is an able speaker and his sermon was enjoyed by a good sized congregation. No evening preaching service was held.

The rain on Saturday was a great disappointment to the lovers of baseball in town. The game between the locals and St. Mary's was the first home game in several weeks and the fans were looking forward to it with pleasure.

Every one remembers the thirteen inning game between these two teams two weeks ago when Westfield finally won by the score of 1-0, and Manager Johnston should have a record breaking attendance.

The Registry Board will meet in the town rooms tomorrow morning, for the purpose of organizing and canvassing for the voters of the township.

No preaching services were held at the Methodist Church on Sunday, owing to the fact that Rev. Mr. Shaw is sick at his home at Madison.

Township Clerk Edward L. Hand is taking a two weeks' vacation at the home office of the Hartford Insurance Company, of New York.

George H. Johnston spent Saturday and Sunday with his wife and children, who are passing the month at Bay Shore, L. I.

John E. Flannery, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. John Flannery, of Westfield avenue.

The local ball team will cross bats Saturday afternoon on the locals' diamond with Westfield's crack team.

Mrs. James Elliott, mother of Benjamin Elliott, is seriously ill at her son's home on Park avenue.

William Alexandra, formerly of the village, now of Plainfield, spent Sunday with friends in town.

The weekly meeting of the B. Y. P. U. was held last night in the parlors of the Baptist Church.

Mrs. Augusta Miller is spending a few days with relatives in Newark.

John Rickerson has returned from a visit with friends at Elizabeth.

Harry Schaffer was the guest, Sunday, of friends in Plainfield.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Mrs. Hall and Mrs Drake, who have been visiting Mrs. Oscar Thorne for a few days, have returned to their homes in Somerville.

May and Lena Pyatt have returned home after spending a week with their uncle, Chris Grey, of Metuchen.

Mrs Mary Whalen, of New York, has returned home after visiting her sister, Mrs. Gearty, of Clinton avenue.

Elmer Ganon and family, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with William D. Clawson, of Clinton avenue.

A coating of cracked stone is being spread on the road towards Plainfield, greatly improving the road.

LINCOLN.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Humble, of Lincoln, are entertaining their cousins, Miss Bessie Case and Miss Jennie Aller, of Trenton.

George Strickland, of Brooklyn, is spending his vacation with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Grafton, of Lincoln.

Edwin Grafton, of Lincoln, has returned from a vist in New York.

BIG EVENT AT WESTFIELD

LABOR DAY RACES FOR BIG PURSES AT FAIR ACRES CLUB TRACK.

Three Events Trot or Pace and a Special Running Race—Prominent Officials.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Aug. 31—The fall race meet of the Fair Acres Driving Club will be held Labor Day at the pretty half-mile track here, when three interesting races will be witnessed by a large gathering of people from all sections of the county and State. The class races will be 2:20 trot or pace, for $200 purse; 2:25 trot or pace, for $200 purse, and 2:28 trot, for $150 purse. These races will be for best three in five heats, and there will be four divisions of money, 50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent. of purse. Records made in any of these events will not bar horses for future sport. The National Association rules will govern the races.

Secretary H. P. Condit has received a large number of entries for each event, and good sport is assured. An additional attraction will be a running race, the jockeys to ride in colors. Five horses have already been entered in this race. All arrangements for a big afternoon's sport are completed. The Raritan Band of sixteen pieces, attired in their handsome new uniforms, will furnish music at the track and give a short parade about town before the races.

Ed. Allen, of Somerville, will be the starter, and in the judges' stand will be found such well known race men as E. E. Bergen, Wm. Tompkins and Wesley Johnson. Refreshments will be served at the grounds under the direction of Arthur S. Flagg. The track is in good condition this season and indications point to some interesting and fast races. A large attendance is anticipated, owing to the fact that this will be the only public event at the track this fall, excepting a horse show to be held in October.

Miss Grace Otteson, of Putnam avenue, returned home Saturday after spending three weeks in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. E. M. Thorn, of East Second street, is dangerously ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. Carson, of Belmont avenue.

WHITE-FOOTED MICE

Little Creature Has Its Own Private Telegraph Code.

The Naturalist Discovers the Way They Talk to Each Other—A Visit to the Nest of a Mother and Her Young.

A few weeks ago, I was sitting on a moss-covered log in the woods, with my back to a standing trunk. I had really come to watch the gray squarrels, but for some reason I could not see any, and I was simply "waiting for something to turn up." I was listening to the only bird voice I had heard all day, that of a red-eyed vireo, and I wondered how even this indefatigable little preacher of "The Gospel of the Open" had energy enough, this hot weather, to continue his address to an empty "house." But was it empty? I suddenly heard a sound which caused me to come to attention. It was quite a slight sound, and might be suggested by drawing the corner of an envelop sharply across the face of a file. It was the vibratory sound made by a white-footed mouse when it signals by drumming with its forefoot on a dry leaf. I say "signals," but I am not sure that the sound is a signal; I am only led to suspect it from certain experiments I have tried. For instance, on one occasion I had a number of white-footed mice in a cage of three compartments, and one day I suddenly drove them all out of their nest, some of them into each compartment. Then I closed the little doors which connected the chambers, and waited to see the result. At first the mice were too much startled to do anything, but presently one of them raised his right forefoot, half closed his toes, and drummed on the floor as one might drum on the table with one's fingers, but so rapidly as to cause a brisk vibration, which lasted for a full second or more. Hardly had it ceased when it was repeated by one of the mice in another compartment, then by another, and then by the first mouse again. They kept this up, first one and then another, for many minutes, after which they resumed their usual occupations. On another occasion, when one of the mice was alone. I stole quietly up behind the cage, and, by scraping on the woodwork with my thumb nail, gave a reasonably close imitation of the sound above mentioned.

"MADAM MOUSE PROCEEDED BY LITTLE LEAPS ACROSS THE CLEARING."

I scarcely had time to give the mouse my attention, when out from a clump of weeds sprang the little creature itself, proceeding by leaps across a little clearing in the woods. As she moved she caught sight of me, and paused at the end of a jump. She was but a few feet away, lithe as a panther in miniature, and I held my breath lest I should startle her and cause the little vision to vanish. Her smooth, soft-looking fur was yellowish brown on the back, becoming brighter along the sides, while her feet and underparts were a pure, almost shining white. Her tapering tail, which was curved gracefully upward, glistened slightly with the short, close-lying silky hairs which covered it; her ears were large, thin, rounded and well-formed, and her whiskers were long and numerous. But it was to her eyes more than to any other one feature, that her beauty was due. These were large and black and very prominent, but they were also soft and lustrous, like the eyes of a flying squirrel. But my observations on her personal appearance were cut short, for she began to move forward again. But she did not advance by leaps as before. With one eye on me, she crept cautiously along, lifting one foot at a time, like a cat stalking a bird. But she soon abandoned this stealthy gait, and, breaking into a rapid one, leaped lightly along toward a small pine tree, which stood alone in the clearing. Up the trunk she went, proceeding by little jumps, until she reached the branches, and then for the first time I noticed an old bird's nest amongst the twigs. To this nest she went, and disappeared through a hole in the side.

Next to hustling, there is nothing in the work like waiting; everything in the woods will come to you if you will only wait long enough. So it was in this case. In the course of an hour or two, out from the woodpile came the little mother mouse, dragging her babies along over the ground. They were blind and all but naked, but they knew enough to hold on tight to mother when she considered it necessary to take them out. Back to the tree she went and up the trunk she started, but she had not gone more than two feet when an accident happened. One of the youngesters lost his grip and fell. His mother paid not the slightest attention, but continued on her way, slowly dragging the other babies up the tree toward the nest. At last it was reached, and the whole party was lost to view. Had the mother forgotten the unfortunate one? Yes. No, she hadn't, either, for out she popped again, and, running down the trunk as spry as a cricket, she picked up the helpless infant in her teeth, and skipped up the tree to the nest with him as easily as she might have done with a hickory nut.

An Ideal Location

Rosedale and Linden Park Cemeteries

LARGEST IN THE STATE

LINDEN, N. J.

Beautiful and Accessible

2 Miles from Elizabeth, 7 Miles from Newark; 14 MILES FROM NEW YORK

On Main Line Pennsylvania Railroad

Why Lots in these Cemeteries commend themselves to Heads of Families and Investors

BECAUSE of the $1,000,000 Trust Fund provided for by the Trustees in each Cemetery, the income from which will keep the properties perpetually beautiful at NO EXPENSE TO LOT OWNERS.

BECAUSE such a guarantee, not found in any other cemetery, assures lot owners that the grounds WILL BE MAINTAINED PERMANENTLY AS BEAUTIFUL PARKS AFTER THE INCOME FROM THE SALE OF LOTS HAS BEEN EXHAUSTED.

LOTS SHOULD BE PURCHASED NOW

BECAUSE MORE ADVANTAGES ARE OFFERED TO LOT BUYERS in a new Modern Park Cemetery than in those established many years and, in most cases, no provision made for perpetual care without extra expense to lot owners. THERE ARE A GREATER NUMBER OF IDEAL LOCATIONS TO SELECT FROM, PRICES OF LOTS ARE ALWAYS LOWER AND TERMS MORE ADVANTAGEOUS.

BECAUSE life is most uncertain and EVERY ONE SHOULD ANTICIPATE THE INEVITABLE BY MAKING A CHOICE NOW OF A FINAL RESTING PLACE.

LOTS WILL PROVE A GOOD INVESTMENT

BECAUSE they are sure to increase in value and can be purchased NOW at the INITIAL or LOWEST PRICE and upon the most ADVANTAGEOUS TERMS.

BECAUSE the properties are ACCESSIBLE TO 4,000,000 PEOPLE, and considering the RAPID GROWTH OF GREATER NEW YORK and its TRIBUTARY CITIES and TOWNS, it is only a question of a SHORT TIME when LOTS in ROSEDALE and LINDEN PARK will EQUAL IN VALUE those of our MOST NOTED cemeteries.

FOR EVENING WEAR.

Gauze Frock With Chantilly Lace. A Striking Princess Gown.

A gauze frock seen recently was in an ivory shade incrusted with large motifs of chantilly lace. The pelerine of this was composed of finely plaited mousseline and chantilly lace finished by a sky blue waistband. The hat which accompanied this was of white crinoline trimmed with blue ostrich feathers.

A striking evening gown seen recently was cut princess, with a triple skirt of black tulle and an overdress arranged in long points of jet paillettes softened by a bertha of black mousseline de soie incrusted with sequined flowers. The loose hanging sleeves were of black tulle studded with paillettes and bordered with black chantilly lace.

White and green and white and rose are combinations much in evidence

among the new frocks. A smart chiffon frock cut somewhat princess was trimmed with rose and pink embroidery down one side of the bodice and all around the hem. It had a shaded sash of green and pink taffeta trimmed with alencon lace, this same lace forming a fichu and tiny chemisette.

A good many hats made of lace and tulle are worn with these light dresses.

For traveling and country hats the neat toreador shape has been revived, while a four cornered hat is offered instead of the old three cornered model.

The picture shows a gown of black crepe de chine, with an old rose chiffon underdress. JUDIC CHOLLET.

MILLINERY STYLES.

Hats With Higher Crowns—Wings and Bird Trimmings.

Later on hats will assume more height in crown. The early autumn headgear shows a return to Tyrolese shapes. Some of the simple ones are trimmed only with fantastic rosettes in moire, with quaint buckles.

Birds and wings will play an important part in autumn headgear. There is a new bolero which is a kind of early Victorian sack coat with a pompadour sleeve. The prettiest model is in very fine cloth trimmed with moire rosettes and undersleeves made entirely of lace applique.

If a woman is to wear skirts which clear the ground she must be careful in the selection of her shoes, as only the smartest should be worn with such a costume.

Linen and alpaca coats are very nice as a protection from the dust, but a fawn or blue cloth coat lined with plaid is useful for cooler days and is always smart.

The black wide taffeta bows tied back on the coiffure are most attractive. Last year they were worn at the back of our hats, but now they are worn as a headdress, and very becoming they are. Of course they do not suit all styles, but a few women look delightful in them. How long the furore for taffeta has lasted!

The cut shows a hat of rough straw trimmed with brown tulle and two brown birds.

CHAPTER V.

AN INTERRUPTION.

Only a little over a mile beyond where he had met Jane she would have to cross a creek. It was a mean stream with quicksand bottom, unfordable except at one place. This ford, partly made by nature and helped out by man, was marked on either side of the stream by a signpost that travelers might not miss it and get caught in the quicksand.

The night before some wild spirits among the Americans, learning that a band of Tories was likely to cross at that spot, and aflame with fury over the treatment Bessemer had given the Continentals at the battle of the 29th of May, painstakingly dug up the posts and placed them a little lower down. The scheme had worked so well that the first Tories who had attempted to cross were caught in the quicksand and one man and two horses were lost. In the confusion which followed the whole band had been well peppered with shot by the concealed Americans. The intention had been to move the posts back the next morning, but Godfrey knew this had not been done, and his heart misgave him when he thought of Jane.

The plot filled him with loathing, at once so wicked and so foolish was it. Such underhand doings were not his idea of warfare, yet it was these same wild spirits who had conceived it that he was trying to weld into a body of recruits.

When the creek came into view the carriage was just entering the stream between the posts. With a shout of warning, he dashed forward. As he drew nearer, he saw that the off-horse was already beginning to sink, while the carriage lurched dangerously.

Flinging himself from his horse, Worthington snatched Jane from the carriage and carried her to a place of safety. His next move was to rescue Aunt Rachel and Mammy Anne, while under his direction Gabriel began search for a piece of rope under the box-seat, where a supply of such things were usually kept in those days of bad roads and frequent breakdowns. Absalom had already cut the horses loose from the carriage, and by means of the lines was dragging the near-horse, which had sunk only a little way, back to firm ground. The off-horse was already nearly in to his belly, and the task of rescuing him was a serious one.

Slowly, doggedly, physical strength prevailed over nature's treachery, and gradually the horse was dragged, all bruised and bleeding and stunned with fright, to the ground.

"I don't understand," Jane said. "I am all in a daze. Here are the sign posts, and yet this isn't the ford. The ford is there. How does it come that the posts have been moved?"

Worthington hung his head. "It was done last night, I believe," he answered unwillingly and falteringly, which was against him, "by some—hoodlums to deceive a party of—Tories, who were coming this way."

"To deceive some Tories? By hoodlums? And what hoodlums, pray, would stoop to a thing so low but those who are your partisans—you, doubtless, among them? Oh, shame, shame! To think that such atrocities could be— Capt. Worthington, I am obliged to you for the assistance you have rendered me and my party this morning, but I hope that this will be the last occasion upon which we shall meet. Never again do I wish to look upon the face of one who could lend himself to a trick so base. Absalom, mount Elam, who does not seem so much the worse for his experience, and ride back home as fast as you can for more horses. 'Tis useless to think of proceeding to my aunt's to-day. If we can but get back home in safety, we may consider ourselves most fortunate in these brutal times. Meanwhile, I will walk to Squire Henry's. 'Tis but a mile."

She started off, Aunt Rachel and her black mammy following, and Godfrey let her go without a word of explanation or defense. He told himself that if Jane could find it in her heart to accuse him of a deed at once so dastardly and so childish, naught that he could say would have weight with her. The loyal girl friend of his childhood and boyhood was dead; the Jane who would once have flown to his defense had others accused him of what she had herself laid at his door was no more.

She could fly into a passion over a deed which she imputed to him, but he had heard no word of condemnation from her lips of Bessemer's barbarous treachery in firing upon an enemy during a flag of truce and of slaughtering opponents who begged for quarter. Nay, had she not received the monster into her house with friendliest hospitality immediately after his outrageous action?

When he had done all he could for the exhausted horse, Worthington mounted his own and rode away, but not through the forest this time. He took the road that lay along the creek, sandy and barren and desolate, better suited to his mood than the close, sweet intimacy of the woods.

Turning suddenly to the right, he entered a ravine along whose rocky bottom ran a swift-flowing stream. Following this for a tedious distance, while his horse snorted and shook his head in frequent protest over the roughness of the way, he finally came within sight of a curl of blue smoke, and it was not long before he was able to see that the smoke arose from a camp-fire.

Scattered along the rocky base and edges of the ravine, at convenient proximity to the fire, were some 25 or 30 men, their horses tethered near. They were a sturdy-looking set, some of them with fierce expressions, some wearing a devil-may-care air, but most of them with phlegmatic countenances that defied the observer, however keen, to read their thoughts. As a rule, they were unshaven and roughly dressed, most of them in doeskin trousers and home-spun shirts. Their rifles were by their sides or slung across their backs. These were the men whom Godfrey had gathered together to help revenge Buford.

His was the only continental uniform among them, and he the only trained soldier, but every man in that company was a dead shot, an expert horseman, and an intrepid spirit. In fact, he had gathered one of those bands of mounted riflemen that were to make Sumter's fame and do so much for the preservation of South Carolina's liberty.

In the ashes of the fire were baking sweet potatoes and hoe-cakes, and Worthington was just in time to partake of the noonday meal.

The next two months were monotonous ones for Jane, despite the return of her father and mother from Charleston and the week's visit which her brother made them. Arriving from England with his commission as a lieutenant in Lord Cornwallis' army, he was assigned by that general to Bessemer's command, and the latter graciously obtained for him a ten-days' furlough that he might visit his home, sending by him numerous messages to Jane.

The morning of the seventeenth of August, 1780, was hot and sultry. Jane's father had been carried out by Gabriel and Absalom, and placed in his chintz-covered arm-chair in the summer-house. Jane sat beside him, reading aloud passages from his favorite Cicero.

His two months' treatment under the famous Charleston doctor had done him but little good. The hands which lay upon the arms of his chair were as tremulous as leaves of the aspen-tree, while the veins stood in thick blue cords above the seared and yellow skin. The face, once beautifully white, was covered with brown blotches, and the silken gray curls hung with distressing thinness upon his shoulders.

Nevertheless, he made an exquisite picture in his flowered chair. His yellow silk-lined coat was thrown open, displaying the dainty whiteness of his ruffled shirt. His brown silk hose were drawn up without a wrinkle over his thin legs and met his brown knee-breeches under jewel-buckled garters. The great magnolia trees, one on either side of the summer-house, cast a luxurious shade, making the wearing of the three-cornered hat which lay beside him unnecessary. The air was heavy with the rich odor of the ripened grapes in the vineyard to the left, while on the right the flower-garden was radiant with hollyhocks and larkspurs and marigolds, and great tubs of flowering oleander. The summer-house itself was a mass of morning glories and passion-flowers.

Jane was not the least attractive bit of the pleasing picture, in her white frock with its puffed paniers, its elbow-sleeves, and its low-cut bodice modestly filled in with a lace-trimmed kerchief that was drawn not too closely about the white throat.

Into the peace and quiet of this scene broke the sound of many horses' feet. "What is it, my daughter?" Mr. Ellery asked, grasping the arms of his chair with trembling hands. "Is it the rebels?"

"Nay, father," Jane answered, "methinks it is rather the British, to judge by the dashes of red I see among the trees; but I will go and find out."

She laid her book upon the table as she spoke, and, rising from her seat, left the summer-house and walked with light, quick step towards the mansion.

SPORTS AND ATHLETICS

A new era in international sport began with the coming of the team of the Oxford and Cambridge Golfing Society to the United States. True, English amateurs have come and played, as did W. Girdwood Stewart in 1897, and English and Scotch exponents, like H. J. Whigham, Findlay S. Douglas and A. G. Lockwood and others less well known, have come and joined American clubs, adding to the prestige of their particular clubs, and professionals, especially from "auld Scotia," have come in great numbers, but this is the first time an international flavor has been given golf matches. The contests are like the international cricket matches, and tours of tennis teams, and are the first international matches in the country, excepting those with Canadian golf teams. The members of the team were: J. L. Low, C. N. Day, H. G. B. Ellis, D. F. Ranson, P. W. Leathart, C. H. Alison, H. W. Beveridge, N. F. Hunter, J. A. T. Bramston, T. M. Hunter and G. D. Barne. The Englishmen showed up to advantage in their matches, showing American patrons of the game several new points about it.

John L. Low

John L. Low, captain of the team, has figured most prominently of any of the men in the British championships and big tournaments. He has won the first scratch medal of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, the first scratch aggregate prize at the Royal and Ancient, the Calcutta cup, Jubilee vase, bronze medal in the British amateur championship in 1897, in which he was beaten after a tie; won a bronze medal in 1898, when he lost after a tie, and in 1901 he won the silver medal, being beaten by a hole. The captain also has won thirty scratch prizes at Cambridge, Blackheath, Perth, Carnoustie and elsewhere. His putting game is said to be almost invincible. Mr. Low's wife died last year, and he has played little golf since, so the undertaking of leading the present team has given his friends great pleasure. Mr. Low has been captain of the Cambridge, Cirencester and Woking Golf clubs and is now captain of the Royal Blackheath Golf club, the oldest golfing society in the world, which dates its ancestry to 1608. Last year Mr. Low was chosen to represent Scotland at Hoylake, but did not accept. Mr. Low is the only one of the visitors who is not of the younger school.

When Dan Patch paced a mile in 1:59 on the Brighton Beach track, at New York recently he lowered a world's record, which was established first six years ago by Star Pointer, which made the circuit of the track at Readville, Mass., Aug. 28, 1897, in 1:59¼. This record stood for five years, until Dan Patch became a factor in the fight on Father Time. The speedy son of Joe Patchen won his spurs when, on September 23, 1902, on the same Readville track, he equaled the best effort of Star Pointer. Star Pointer was the first pacer to get under two minutes, and when he succeeded he beat the 2:01¼ of Robert J., which record was made at Terre Haute, Ind., September 14, 1894. To wipe the name of Star Pointer off the record slate altogether Dan Patch has his work cut out for him. The sheet shows the quarter mile in :28 standing to Star Pointer's credit, the half in :57¼ and the three-quarters in 1:28½. The quarter was made at the time of the 1:59¼ mile, the half was done September 17, 1898, a year later, while the three-quarter was reeled off September 1, 1898. Dan Patch's fractional times were, :29¼, :58¾ and 1:29¼.

Dan Patch

Horsemen are now figuring on a cut in the trotting record, which stands at 2:02¼ to the credit of Cresceus. The speed shown by C. K. G. Billings mare, Lou Dillon, in her trials against the watch this year gives the enthusiasts hope and the 2:02¾ already credited to the mare looks for her easy to beat. With the cut in the trotting mark the three leading turf records will have been lowered this year. The thoroughbreds have twice beaten their best—Allan-a-Dale doing 1:37 3-5, made at Washington park, Chicago, and Dick Welles later cutting it to 1:37 2-5 at Harlem. Dan Patch's 1:59 fixes the pacers and now the fans have their eyes on the trotters.

A turf king was dethroned, a new monarch crowned and a world's record of 2 minutes 58 seconds established when Africander, the 2-year-old son of Star Ruby and Afric Queen, won the twenty-fifth running of the Saratoga cup at Saratoga, N. Y., the other day. Water Boy was the unbeaten favorite, but he ran third to Heno.

M. Walsh, of Boston, Mass., broke the world's record for throwing the 56-pound weight Friday at South Framingham, Mass., hurling the big weight 39 feet.

In the last games of the tournament of the National Roque association, played at Norwich, Conn., recently, C. C. Cox, of Malden, Mass., won the championship in the expert division. Mitchell of Philadelphia won first in the second division, and S. E. Davenport, of New York, in the third division.

DISPUTES WITH UMPIRE.

The Scotch Plains and Westfield ball teams will meet next Saturday at Scotch Plains in one of the series of games between these teams. The last contest was a thirteen inning one and resulted in a victory for Westfield by the score of 1 to 0.

Manager John McLaughlin, of Alis, and Manager Johnson, of Scotch Plains, have arranged to have both the Labor Day games between these teams played on Crescent Oval. The morning game will begin at 10:15 and the afternoon game at the usual hour.

The game scheduled for last Saturday between Alis and Westfield on Crescent Oval has been postponed until Saturday, September 12. Next Saturday Alis will meet St. Mary's on the Oval. It is understood that the St. Mary management will be strengthened for next Saturday's contest.

PLANS FOR MASONIC STATE ORPHANAGE

Home for Poor Children of Dead Masons to be Erected.

SITE NEAR BURLINGTON

TO BE AN ADDITION TO THE PRESENT MASONIC HOME.

Building to be Modern Throughout —To be Finished Early Next Year—Accommodations for Sixty-Eight Children.

The proposed new Orphanage building for the Grand Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons of New Jersey, is to be erected by the members of the ancient fraternity in this State on the beautiful grounds owned by the Grand Lodge near Burlington, and on which is the present Masonic home, the original building of which was at one time, the country residence of former Governor Bunn.

The building itself is thirty-eight feet six inches wide, by sixty-three feet six feet long. Along the front will be a terrace about eight feet wide and at either end are porches twelve feet, six inches wide and extending the whole width of the building.

The first floor of the building has a wide central hall, in which are the stairs and from which entrance is made into a large square hall or sitting room and opening from it is a school room where the young children and those not able to attend the public schools, will be taught. On the other side of the central hall is a large room used as a nursery and two small rooms for isolating sick children. There are also on this floor toilet room accommodations for both sexes.

In the basement, besides the space devoted to the heating apparatus, there will be a room set apart for manual training work and a kitchen and ample accommodation for play rooms. Underneath the large porches, at either end of the building, will also be sheltered spaces which can be used as playgrounds in wet weather.

The second floor is divided into two parts by a large central hall which is partitioned so as to divide the children, the girls to be on one side and the boys on the other. On this floor are four dormitories, two for each sex and with a teachers' room and bath and toilet rooms.

The third floor is similarly divided, excepting that it is proposed to have the older children occupy this floor, and for that reason the dormitories have been divided by partitions, so as to arrange for two beds in each partitioned space.

The building will be heated by steam and lighted by gas from the plants supplying the nome. It will be built of stone up to the first floor line, and then of brick, rough cast, excepting for quoins and belt courses, which will be of grey brick. The roof will be covered with slate, and the cut stone work will be of brown stone and Indian stone, similar to that used in the other buildings.

It is estimated that the building will cost about $30,000. It is hoped to have it finished in the early part of next year. There will be accommodations for over sixty children, besides the matron and assistants.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS.

QUESTIONS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED BY THE PRESS.

Fair Exchange No Robbery.

The Massachusetts canoeist arrested for kissing his sweetheart in a city park was fined $30. At a bank holiday excursion at Hastings, England, the lad that kissed a girl was awarded a month's hard labor. Both cases are similar in just one respect: Neither criminal was permitted to affect a settlement by returning the stolen goods. —Westerly, R. I. Sun.

Distinguished Honor.

President Roosevelt has accepted the invitation extended by Governor Murphy and Senators Kean and Dryden, and has consented to deliver the address at the unveiling of the monument erected on the battlefield of Antietam, in memory of the New Jersey soldiers who fell in that sanguinary engagement. This is a matter of congratulation, for the presence of the President of the United States at any memorial service is a distinguished honor, and New Jersey's heroes are richly deserving of all the honors that can be awarded them. On every battlefield they did their part as men, and not even the words of eulogy that President Roosevelt is so well equipped to utter will over-rate their deeds or inordinately magnify their heroism. At Antietam, as well as at Gettysburg, it is eminently proper that a monument should be raised to New Jersey's soldier dead, and that it should be dedicated by services not soon to be forgotten.—Newark Evening News.

Borrowing Trouble.

In a worthy attempt to better the postal service it is proposed to make every railroad train a special train and every trainman a postal employe.

And straightway the trouble hunters proclaim the very great benefit this will have in preventing strikes among railroad employes.

They might better employ their time seeking a preventative in these climes for Asiastic cholera, for one is as improbable as the other.

There is not going to be any strike among railroad employes, for just two reasons, one being that the men are not going to ask or demand anything unreasonable, and the other being that the employers are not going to refuse anything in reason that the men may ask.

The railroad fraternity comes pretty near being a happy family; many of the officials have grown up from the ranks and know what's what, besides which railroad employes are a mighty intelligent body of individuals, who are not bothered by labor cant, or labor demagogues.—The Railroad Employee.
